About

Introducing JadeJDB, the newest and best Java Drive By on the market. Keeping simplicity in mind, we have created the JDB with the perfect synergy of simplicity and effectiveness. No need to purchase JDB templates or FUD jars, JadeJDB includes everything you need. Our traditional JDB works for versions 45 and lower, however, we're working on making it available for version 51.

But JDBs are patched. They'll only be useful for a little longer. Id invest in coding other drive bys as well, such as browser based ones :)

Complexeon - April 6, 2014, 3:12 pm

may i know if it works for the last version of Java? 7.51? ty alot sir and its looks good tho bro, good luck !

Tuna - April 6, 2014, 3:18 pm

What CVE is this? All JDB's are dead.. like 80% of people don't use java anymore and the people that still do have it updated.

Raddify - April 6, 2014, 3:26 pm

Vouch for this guy, really cool and l3g1t.

GLWS.

Jdb's are only patched on the latest version of java, older versions this works fine with, hence why it's a traditional JDB not a silent JDB, depending on how you spread doesn't matter on Java versions, because a lot of people will still have older versions.

Where is your proof to back up your statement? As I've said, depending on how you spread, you'll get good execution rates, not everyone updates, I don't.
