Why do you think you should win? (Min 100 words): Hello, my name is Andrew. I know I've only been around hackforums for about a month now, but getting l33t and ranking up in this community is really something that I've always wanted to do. I keep trying to find ways to make money around here but haven't really succeeded, and don't know if I ever will so no doubt this will be a huge thing for me, and something I would honestly love to receive. If I won I would giveback to the community no doubt in any way I could, not only with giveaways but with helping members and things and to that I swear upon my word. I really do love this place, and some of the people I've meet through hackforums honestly have really not only changed my outlook on certain views but it has also changed my outlook on people. Before I joined hackforums I really was just a nerd who liked to play games online and didn't really have any friends online (all though I was pretty popular irl, not very) after being here I've already met so many great friends, and I just can't wait to share memories with them for the rest of my hackforums career (which will be a long time I'm sure.) Anyways not only would I give back to the community through what I've stated, but being able to give members a nice juicy +1 for people that deserve a positive reputation for what they do for the community as well. Plus now I could give bad people (scammers) a bigger juicer -1 to let the members of hackfourms know that this person isn't really "the best" and should be "dealt with caution." Moving on one of the final reasons I think I deserve this is because I'm a hard worker here at hackforums and this is just a community that I will stay at for a long time. I know I've said it over and over but giving-back as well as helping are not even close to all I would do If I were to receive this.

I guess that's all I can say really. I really appreciate you doing this man, and I am hoping I am a serious contender for being a winner even though it is early in the competition. I tried to keep this HQ as possible but my grammar is pretty bad so hopefully you can manage!

God bless man- Andrew

One more thing incase you were wondering if this did happen to me and I logged in one day with l33t, this would be my reaction.

Why do you think you should win? (Min 100 words): I think I should win because I have been trying my best to be active and being L33T would help me accomplish that. Also I want to be able to have more credibility for any services I start. I want to be able to explore the VIP area again. I want to be able to fix up my profile with a nice signature from one of HF's many talented GFX artist. Lastly I want to be L33T again, because I was so lucky to win another upgrade contest , but after about two weeks they had to revoke it from me because the person who had bought it for me had to turn out to be a fraud.

Thanks for this awesome contest.
Hopefully I win but Good Luck to everyone who enters.

make a good friend. I never really win contests (I swear there rigged) but I need the money. I will be truthful and say I'm going to use the money on Call of Duty: Ghosts so I can buy the Makarov and Price legend pack. The only way I ever get money is by hacking others accounts or hard labor. I would really appreciate winning this competition and I would like to say good luck to all the other contestants. Even if I don't win I will some how find another way to get that money.

In this time, I have learned many things about coding, blackhat activity and much more. If I become a leet member, I will be able to help the community by giving +/- REP to deserving people. If I may... I would have to say that it is a cake for 2 reasons...

1.It's in the name

2. It is creamy like a cake, so Boom it's a cake.

Why do you think you should win? (Min 100 words): I believe I should win because I'm a helpful member of the community, as well as an active member of the community as of two months ago. I've had an account here for nearly two years now, but for the longest time I would only stalk the threads here that were to my interest. I regret hardly posting at the beginning of my journey here because there is so much more I could have done to help some of the users, or to even just befriend some of the epic people here. Anyways, back to how I've been active for a while now.. xD For the past few months, I've been quite active! Posting in most sections of the forums excluding a few certain sections that I don't want to be involved with. I've even given back to the community, by giving some small things away when I was able to, or just offering the slightest bit of advice. I've even been able to befriend just a few people here, and I'm glad that I've made some friends here! Makes this place just a little less toxic, and a whole lot more enjoyable. A friend of mine even vouched for me to be upgraded to L33T, so I'll leave that here, if that's alright. c: The topic I hang out mostly in, would be the League of Dorks section, where I've made my home so far! After a while, I left the safety of my home and explored to other areas! I browsed around often, made posts when I felt like I wouldn't be a nuisance, and recently started to offer more and more advice to people. ^~^ One of my goals since I became active (as in started posting and whatnot instead of lurking like a lazy bum) here was to become L33T. I've been trying to save up the money to get there, but I'll be honest that I'm struggling with it.

I've seen several people just give things away without a second's hesitation and I'm quite envious of that. If I was in their place, I'd probably give it a second thought before doing so, but do so nonetheless! xD Hell, I see people giving away a hundred plus dollars like it's nothing, it's like they don't even bat an eye, and I know I would have a difficult time doing that, but that does make me respect them more, regardless of who receives the prize.

I'm glad to be posting here, and I honestly hope that I win! But still, I wish luck to every single participant who posts here.

Thanks a lot for the opportunity for the L33T upgrade, you can't believe how thankful I am to even have the chance to win this. You're a great member of the community, and I hope you don't leave us any time soon! ?

If you ever need anything, don't hesitate to ask me! I'll help if I am able to. ^~^

Why do you think you should win? (Min 100 words): Gradually, I'm getting more and more addicted to HackForums. It is becoming a part of life, the community is unbelievably supportive and friendly. I love coming onto HackForums to learn (for instance: I now understand what OP means! :D) and simultaneously have a little laugh while I'm online.

Now, excluding posts from the lounge I attempt to be as HQ as possible. It's an achievement to help other members. I try to support others as much as I possibly can. Becoming L33t has been a desire of mine for a long duration of time and even though it is rather cheap - I could not afford to buy it myself. I would love to elaborate on each statement to a great, detailed extent but I'm admittedly slightly intoxicated currently and trying my best to keep this together. Before I go completely off-topic, I believe L33t's and UB3r's are judgementally respected and trusted more than other members so with the extra trust I would be able to infect other HF members without question - oh my sarcastic banter.. One of the key features I would like to obtain from becoming L33t is the ability to give reputation points. I would begin by giving reputation to each and every member which has helped me through each issue. Every person which has been supporting me and being friendly. L33t would be my opportunity to make more of myself. I would feel even more included with my 2nd home - my family. I would try to the best of my potential to be as HQ as possible to advance the expected L33t's standard and represent the L33t's status in a positive way. If I were to become L33t, I would want to pay off to other members in my innovative methods to repay HF back for what they have given me. I have done few giveaways which were as simple as link clicking, sharing my work and helping others not just through HF, but by communicating with other members which I have met on HF and interact with them with other ways. HF is a gateway to not only education, but also friendships. I have never felt more included with something than I have with HackForums. Now before I go off on a complete tangent about how much HF means to me, I need to keep this as brief but as detailed as I can before this is too much to read.

Extra: I wish the best of luck to every individual participant in this contest and I can not thank the OP enough for this competition. Good luck to everyone! Hats off to the OP ?, although I do not wear a hat I will just use my imagination and take it from there. ?

Why do you think you should win the money?: First off I would like to thank both of you for this amazing Giveaway!

I could definitely use this money to help me get my new headphones that I so desperately want/need! I consider myself a HQ member and I am apart of The Brotherhood CPU sector, I spend the majority of my time on HF assisting other members in the computing sub-forums (mainly White Hat Help and Windows). This money will goes towards The beats By Dre headphones, hopefully I will get a pair of these soon but they are pretty expensive and being a poor college student all my money goes towards textbooks and rent payments.

Good luck to all who enter this contest and thanks for hosting!

Why do you think you should win? (Min 200 words): I think I deserve the Ub3r upgrade because I'm a very HQ member of HackForums I spend a ton of hours on this forum learning new stuff and passing my knowage to other. I also try to make people happy on this forum by being nice and helping them when they need to. I think if I would get the ub3r upgrade I would become even more active. Currently on good days I post around 20. I might be able to improve this to 30 or maybe 40!

Is cheesecake a pie or a cake? It could be either, because it can have a crust, which pies usually have, or it has "cake" in the name, so it's personal preference. But I'd go with it being a pie.

Is cheesecake a pie or a cake? -

I would say that a cheesecake is neither a cake (which requires a significant amount of flour) or a pie (usually a significant amount of fruit), but a pudding, or a cheese flan if you will. The ingredient of the largest amount in a cheesecake is of course the cream cheese (or ricotta cheese or other dairy variation), which would suggest that it falls into neither cake nor pie category.

Furthermore, the cheesecake is often baked in a water bath, which is a baking process more like that of a flan, to achieve a pudding-like texture. Perhaps you could call it a cheese pie.-

Why do you think you should win? (Min 100 words): Good question. Have I done anything to deserve to be upgrade? Don't think so. Am I a well known member? Doubt it. So why would I want L33t? Well, I joined the forum nearly 2 years ago, but my computer couldn't access this site. I barely was able to post as I usually had to browse through my phone. But yesterday, a miracle happened! I was able to browse on this site through my laptop! I had about 40 posts yesterday and in less than one day, leaped to 150+. And I'll be posting way more in coming days, I'll hit 1000 before this month ends. And if I am chosen, I will one day return the favor not only to you, but the HF community in gratitude for my acceptance.
