Yeah I have, over the period and over time of HackForums I have marketed loads of things from virtual goods to physical. One of my current projects is LoL Skins (

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4013828>) I've got a website in the progress where I'll boost it and montinize it to the max another project I've done is physiscal called "Water Speakers" (<http://www.Waterspeakers.co.uk> / <http://www.waterspeakers.se>) This is a business me and my buddy have done and we have made allot of money doing so. This is our UK site that is still in the making!

<https://i.gyazo.com/5e0dbfec1011514de5f5489b598093c1.png>

Look at the past 90 days + it gets higher as we have been up for around 180 days just not completed.

During the course of HackForums I have sold virtual items to the members and so far in 2014 I have made around $2,000 + more is to come over all of my time of HackForums I've earned around $3,000-$4,000 which is quite good for a hobby I'd say.

Tell us a little about yourself (50 Words Minimum)

My name is Louie I'm 17 years old and I love to make money and get a job done. I love to make something perfect even though it's not gone to plan, if it fails it will still be a perfect product in my idea. I'm a fun and cool guy that likes to learn new things everyday and make friends.

I love to make new projects and doing them properly like having a plan, website and a lot of extras. I feel like if your doing something why to do it properly and give it your all. That's what I've done and it's has a good return so far.

Business and Marketing experience: I've had some ebooks/shops/services on HF for a long time, I personally think I made more sales than anyone else providing the same service (if someone else did have a similar service/shop) because of the layout of my threads and the persuasive text. Recently I made a origin shop where I could get any game for $10. The person who taught me the method was looking for a partner as he did not have time to run this shop. In the 3 days he ran the shop he made $50. When the method was taught to me and I made my own thread and ran the shop by myself I made $100 in the first day because of my marketing skills. In real life I have also worked into many businesses like a frozen yogurt shop and a news agents. In both of these places I have known the owner and got to see and experience how to they run a business in all aspects (like money/profit/ordering items/marketing and advertising).

Tell us a little about yourself (50 Words Minimum): I'm 17 years old and live in England, I study Business, Economics, Maths and ICT (A levels). I mainly go on my computer in my spare time to make money online. I enjoy it very much and like making my own services and methods to make money online. I recently opened a origin shop were I made $100 within 24 hours of opening the shop, sadly I had to shut down the shop as the method took to long to keep up with all my orders (around 10 orders a day which is $100). Lastly I just wanted to say ever since I was little I have enjoyed marketing and business hence why I chose the A levels I'm taking, I think I would be perfect for this section of the group as It's what I love the most.

Business and Marketing experience: Online: I've ran multiple projects off HF which include; Grimbooter.com, Xanity RAT, Infinity Crypter and been apart of a few others.

Off HF I run my own minecraft server network which generates approximately $3,500/m on average but this is really dependant on the time of the year, what donation packages we have recently brought out and the current magnitude of the 'on-going events' happening.

Offline: I work in a Law firm as a Senior Associate which above my general role, I assist the managing partner in the general administration of the firm. I also run my own conveyancing business as a side deal which has a decent clientele base.

On top of all else, I have a Diploma of Law, Advanced Diploma of Marketing and I am currently in my 2nd year at Law School.

I was also the Business/Marketing sector coordinator of Complexity for a while until I got moved up to leader.

Tell us a little about yourself (50 Words Minimum): My name is Peter, I'm 18 years of age and I live in Sydney, Australia. The first question that is probably going through your mind is "Your in Law school and only 18? Bullshit." Let me address that. In Australia, our education system doesn't go; High school - College - Specialised school. We have High School (which for the majority finish at 18) then University (which contains the specialise schools that students partake on a general length of 4-6 years). I didn't go behind year 10. Instead, I sat 3 exams (general maths and mathematics, a Law entry exam and a Marketing entry exam). I then got into these two courses (studying Law during the day on full time and Marketing part time 1 nights a week on part time). Completing both courses, but in particular my Law course gained me admission in Law school (I still needed to be assessed and all that but I was accepted). Anyway, if any of that is unclear, let me know.

Besides my general love for the Law and business/marketing, my greatest passion drives into sport (how common). I favourite sport in itself is a Rugby League which I essentially live for.

A little bit more about me.... I don't know what else you really want to know. I'm also engaged to my gorgeous fiancée (a bit early? Your opinion) which I've been together since the near start of high school, so coming onto 5 years (we had an issue around last year but it hasn't been a problem since).

So yeah, that's me.

Business and Marketing experience:

I have lots of experience in business and marketing on HackForums. I've been involved with products for almost two years now. It's an ongoing learning experience, but I've been doing it for quite some time now. I have participated in every aspect of a product: support, sales, advertising, and even managing licenses.

Tell us a little about yourself (50 Words Minimum)

I began on HackForums by helping other members. Since I always enjoyed helping, I realized I should probably be a support member for a product. Once I worked my way up to actually becoming an official support member for the product, I got close to the owner. Due to being trustworthy and in general being useful to the product, I gained access to the licensing and eventually posting the actual sales thread. From this point, I learned more and more about the product I've been supporting and began to actually get into computer programming. I have a great passion for computer programming and it lead to me actually creating a product similar to the one I was once supporting. Through all of this, I learned many skills that will always be useful in my life. I've enjoyed the whole process very much and I now have a passion that I never had before.

Business and Marketing experience:

First off, Hi :)

I have experiences in multiple fields of marketing and online monetization

I specialize in Affiliate Marketing and in selling, I sell at least 8 products and have 3 accounts on Clickbank each making me a nice sum of money each day.

I also am not bad in PPD, I make an extra 350-400 a month using PPD as I do not focus on it at all and this is autopilot.

I also run a few software and eBook publishing businesses and have many partners that we help each other out.

Tell us a little about yourself (50 Words Minimum)

I am 19 years old, I live in USA.

I've been a gamer since I was too young. Started playing professionally and in tournaments at 14.

At 16, I lost interest in being a gamer but I'm still a player that plays every day some games.

However at that age I started needing an income and discovered online monetization, I can safely say I've tried many, many fields of monetization and have been good at them.

I'm a really friendly guy with my customers and with my friends and will help in any way possible.

Business and Marketing experience: I have lots of marketing experience, on and off the computer. In real life, my Dad owns an insurance agency, and I work there part time during the summer, and do all of their IT work(can show proof). I use some of the methods that I find here on hf to sell things to friends for a huge profit. I also have a buissneess with my friend, and we build PCs for fends, and people in our area. Online, I have been marketing since I was 12 years old. When I was twelve I played a lot of minecraft, and realized the huge amount of money server owners made. I then decided that I wanted to create my own server, and earn off of it. I basicly ate up the server exactly from a tutorial, but I made the server center around donations and money. Now I use my own method to earn(Leaders pm me), and I sell products on Hackforums. One other thing I do to make small money is resell items I buy at garage sales on ebay. I currently am looking to get some money to start either a stresser or a crypter, and I want to find a partner in The Brotherhood.

Tell us a little about yourself: My name is Brad, and I am 15 years old. I live in California, and I love to play lacrosse and surf. Whenever I'm not hanging out with friends, surfing, or playing sports I am on the computer. I get really good grades, but I am currently only a freshman, so my classes are not that hard. I am the kind of person who is always willing to learn. I would love to join The Brotherhood to learn about how some great marketers earn, and to share knowledge. I would just like to add on that when I first joined hf, I purchased Ridge's ebook, I would really liek to learn from him how he markets his products so well.

Business and Marketing experience: My experience in marketing/business varies between offline, and online. My offline experiences include buying bulk iPhone cases off eBay for a very cheap price, and reselling for almost 50x that price. Offline I also have ran numerous fundraising events for my school, and other organisations. My latest fundraiser for my school raised close to $10,000. Online experiences include: My quite successful social shop, it nets me 4 digits monthly, numerous slightly black hat operations, which I will disclose in private, if necessary. I have also dabbled in PPD, CPA, Adsense, and Crypto Currencies.

I am currently in the process of writing an eBook or two, to sell in the eBook Bazaar. I also have a XBL store, when I have stock it becomes very profitable. I am also currently in the process of getting a stresser set up. My partner is almost finished on the back end. We have invested a lot of money, and time into it.

(my DOX is already public :P) Ever since I was a little child, I have been interested in making money to purchase things for myself. I guess that is why I am so interested in making money. Once I have completed high school, I plan to go to law school, and to invest money made online in IRL ventures. I am online 12 hours a most days, and the only thing that gets in my way of being online/making money is my social life, and family.

Business and Marketing experience:

Well, I would like to consider myself a part of the HQ marketers on the forums, but that is certainly debatable. Though I'm still learning the ways, I have thought of starting a business relating to buying and selling accounts. (Not limited to HF).

I have the sources to create an account shop, but alas, I am not Ub3r; therefore, I do not have the permissions to create an account store. I would love the opportunity to market and advertise my product, but that will come in the future.

But for right now, I'm making my income off my Minecraft server. I learned how to advertise using business techniques, and I've funded a successful server. The server is thriving, and I'm making the cash flow that I desired.

Tell us a little about yourself (50 Words Minimum)

If I can summarize myself into one sentence, this would be it: "I'm the kind of guy you want to have a beer with."

But in all seriousness, I'm just an average guy trying to market himself and forge a steady income off the Internet. I certainly enjoy the sight of money, and I certainly love it in my wallet. As greedy as I seem, I'm also a pretty "go with the flow" person. I could certainly improve my disposition.

I'm a design enthusiast who tinkers with all the artsy software he can get his hands on. "If you're good at something never do it for free." That's me. I've sold GFX in the past, but now I'm taking them to a more recreational hobby.

Well, as I said, I currently don't have any shops up on the internet. But, my Minecraft server website is up and running smoothly..

This is my opinion on the Business Sector. It is a good Sector, original to The Brotherhood, and has Leaders that know what they're doing.

The only thing I disapprove of is the Cost. The Brotherhood doesn't have a SMF, so this is just a bought membership that you get nothing out of (Yes I am in Illuminati, I understand that).

Otherwise, this is a great group. If there wasn't a cost, I would love to be a part of it.

Edit: I have been informed that the members will not be charged until the SMF is released. Good luck to everyone applying.

Business and Marketing experience:

I have proven sales making ability & marketing skills, this week I've made over $700 from my ebook sales alone.

(not including offsite activity) I host competitions, invest in sticky's & conduct special deals to boost sales, I'm also involved in offsite sales and marketing I can't really discuss in this application but would be more than happy to via a private message. I conduct research on my potential ROI% before investing into any projects / partnerships. I think I fit the role of 'The Brotherhood', and would be grateful to join this prestigious group.

Tell us a little about yourself:

My names Matt, I'm 18 and reside in Sydney, Australia. I live with my girlfriend of a year and a half. I'm also out of the 'party' scene and focus more on Family, Friends & Finances. (The three F's as I like to call it) I'm not really into the 'gaming' scene as much as your average young adult. I focus more on investment opportunities and potential earnings, and experiment with different products & self made methods to expand my knowledge in online monetization.
