Thread: What are the best paid RATS atm?

goodman0226 - April 10, 2014, 12:27 pm

Hi, guys.

Was offline for some time. Is BlackShades still worth buying, or is there something much better now?

What are best paid RATs out there at the moment?

I have read bad things about blackshades lately. I wouldn't go into that if I where you

All RATs have different features and can be used in many different ways.

RATs like PlasmaRAT are mainly there for monetizing. It has the best miner, but it doesn't have a screen capture system or anything for trolling. It also has amazing stability.

If you want an all-round RAT for monetizing and trolling I recommend Imminent Monitor 3, but there are some HUGE stability issues. I lost many slaves within my first day of spreading.

Thank you for your time and answers, guys.

However, I would like more people to tell their opinion.

Plasma RAT is very good, I also heard Imminent Monitor is very well also.

I would strongly advise NetWire if you just like messing around with them has mostly all the stuff IM3 has but with amazing stability.

As many said Imminent Monitor is great. Has a lot of functions but has stability issues (as with most rats). Don't expect to keep rats long and not all the functions work. It crashes randomly but is overall great (after all it is still in BETA). Hope this helps.

There are many different ones out at the moment, it depends what you need. I think Imminent Monitor is good, so is NanoCore.

Bots and monetizing is what I'm interested in. Shell is definitely enough for trolling.
