Influential? Am I the only one who doesn't know who the fuck Buddy Belaire is? When I search his username in title there's nothing, when I search his username in posts there's only one thread. And I don't even mean to trash the guy.

Anyone care to explain to me how one can suck his own dick so much without breaking his spine?

EDIT: I'm dying at the last part of the text. Yeah, he's helping.

Obli - April 12, 2014, 12:50 am

I know that he has a few scam reports on him. Just some guy who wants to be a hotshot on HF.

Talu - April 12, 2014, 12:50 am

I've never heard of or seen someone called "Buddy Belaire" in this forum.

Etho - April 12, 2014, 7:30 am

This guy is such a great member, all he does is scam people.

Pepper Pig - April 12, 2014, 4:42 pm

He is a complete scammer. He sells ebooks that he knows are public and low quality, and ignores his customers who are upset when they got scammed. Its disgusting that he hasnt been banned yet, and I would advise anyone who is thinking of buying his ebook to PM me instead, Ill gladly give it to you for free since its public :)

Uh, where did you even find that at?

Yeah, I have no idea what that guy is. If I don't know you, you're basically no one.

I like how he tries to act all professional. Ha, fuck off this is HF, not a "Firm".

Vaksar - April 13, 2014, 1:08 am

Influential meaning having influence. Notice how I set design trends for eBook threads. I don't even have to link to any nearly all sellers follow suite. Any why wouldn't they? My tactics work, hope the other sellers are also having success with their product.

I have no problem with any members here, making this such a big deal is just immature.

Deathscythe - April 13, 2014, 1:11 am

Deal with Caution.

Friend got scammed by this guys bullshit book.

Tries to play the nice guy card 24/7 like nothing is wrong.

Influence? Oh please. Your thread design is none other than those pseudo-minimalistic thread designs with a blurred image and simplistic geometric forms. You don't set the trend; you follow it. Your tactics got you two open scam reports, toplel.

I don't have any problem with you don't get me wrong, you're actually quite funny. The image in the OP made my night, how you think of yourself as a hot shot is quite laughable.

You don't have influence. There are plenty of eBook sellers on the market, and they all present one thing: A method on how to make money which costs money. This stratagem is not working well. An influential member on HF is one who donates for a good cause, writes legit methods, makes giveaways and most of all is high quality.

You have scam reports opened on you. All I can see in your threads list is "BUY MY EBOOK TODAY!" threads where you encourage users to buy your eBook with designs taken from these fake websites which sell fake eBooks. Your only giveaways was of a mere 25 cents. I would be ashamed if I were in your place. You're using HF as a niche to make money. At the very least, give them a method which works. You, sir, are the cancer of HF. Do not take this as an offense, take it as an enlightening reality.

Glad you've got some enjoyment out of it. Of course I have a couple scam reports. When you've got immature kiddies spending daddies money on guides they can't even read, what can you really expect?

I've helped dozens of members make money online, but you know what? I can't help people that don't want to help themselves.

// Not here to argue. Done with this thread.

Immature kiddies? Don't make me laugh! The vast majority of your customers are complaining about your eBook. Half of your vouches must be fake.

You have not helped anyone. Oh, forgive me. You did. You helped them loose money.

This kid needs a reality check.

How you're acting like you're perfect and everyone is wrong is a delicious sight for my eyes. Thank goodness there are still people like you.

Look, it's that simple: they demand a refund on scam reports which you continually ignore, that's solid proof. You have screenshots of "payment proof" which were most probably edited with inspect element, that's not proof.

Anyone in their right mind can see what's going on. You are a failed eBook seller, and your fall is nigh. Don't take my word for it, you'll get eaten by your buyers soon enough. I'm just here to savor it.

You haven't helped anyone, don't fool yourself. The only person you've helped is yourself and you helped yourself in making money on the back of ignorant and naive people, desperate to enhance their revenues.

You're not a messiah. Calm down, your methods aren't working or else no one would ask for a refund or even open a scam report.

I'm not the only one to trash you, just look at your Firm thread. ?

Don't think that you are some kind of special jewel. This style is mostly used on scam websites. You know, these eBook sites with a PayPal payment gateway ??

Everyone uses minimalistic thread designs nowadays. Don't believe me? Check the whole ebook bazaar, you'll find all kinds of minimalistic thread designs... all similar to yours - no, yours are similar to theirs, they're not different.

The thread of the other guy was created six days before yours, approximately a week. Who's the influential figure in thread designs now?

_daniel - April 16, 2014, 8:42 pm

Buddy Belaire is a joke of a "marketer", "entrepreneur" or any other term that defines something successful with business. He lies to the masses, cons customers using methods found in the public ages ago.

He will not give support or refunds despite any requests.

Checkout my signature threads. :)

Dastardly Emu - April 16, 2014, 11:18 pm

I am so glad i stumbled upon this thread started by you Black Soul, i was thinking about getting his eBook then i saw a link to a scam report and another link brought me to this one. And what really got me was him straight up ignoring everyone that complained about his eBook in that very same thread he would quote someone that posted before that person posting about him scamming, shit made me laugh so thanks to all of you out there

Jamie. - April 21, 2014, 10:52 am

I have heard of this guy a lot recently. His e-book, then about 3 scam report threads about him, and now this.
