Thread: Scammed by Acroz \(UID=1417555\) | Illuminati Group leader for 1100\$

The GRim - April 14, 2014, 7:56 am

Profile Link : <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=1417555>

Proof : Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Story : He agreed to buy my 2 BTC for 1100$ and I went first and sent him the BTC. Once he got the BTC he told that the paypal payment he sent got held by the paypal and he will call them. Also I asked him to refund my BTC and he told he don't have it anymore. I really hope at least Anonymous pays me back because this is too much money for me and I only went first because he was illuminati's leader and that group is supposed to be filled with marketers.

This must be the first scam done by the leader of a official group.

Also he isn't compromised because that exchange thread was open from the last 3 days. He was planning on scamming.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

I'll happily close this thread if he pays me back my money.

Edit : He changed his username and my last hope is Anonymous. I really hope he wont turn me down.

Check this post by Shadow.

Haha! Dumbest excuse ever :-)

Sorry for you being scammed, 1100$ thats a fucking lot! :-)

Good luck gettin your money back!

iNuke - April 14, 2014, 7:59 am

You should post more proofs, maybe a picture where it clearly shows you sent 2 BTC to the address.

Good luck, hope it gets resolved guys.

He was lying man, he closed all his sales thread and he just changed his username but I'm sure Anonymous will do something about it cos this is the first time a group leader has scammed while he was still in the group leader position.

Lold. I always felt it that Acroz was a little bit sketchy. Wouldn't surprise me if he actually scam-quitted. Who the fuck devotes so much time to a forum and then scams only $1100? I mean, fuck, one can earn that in 3 days.

Soz for your loss, Grim.

Why does everyone keep saying Anon will refund Grim, that's like saying Omni has to refund Grim because Grim was scammed by a member on Omni's site..

This was bound to happen, some random guy coming out of the blue, being overhyped, and now quitting HF, HMMM where did we see this before?

Also, Grim, quitting HF just because of this is a bit over reacting, you never knew this could happen, and tbh, what does it matter he's a leader, I wouldn't even go first if I had to deal with 1$ with him..

One would hope that a group owner like Anonymous, who has spent alot of time and money on building a good reputation on HF would take responsibility for his own actions(making Acroz a group leader, and therefore putting him into a position of trust) but who knows. I would hope he does, they should cancel all the $500 give away's and use it to pay back the people that have been wronged. I certainly hope Anonymous steps up as the adult and takes care of business, as making Acroz a trusted person on HF was his doing.

Acroz made a feedback thread in which he stated that he thanks anonymous for all his success here on HF. Is anonymous responsible for what Acroz did? No, but he is responsible for cleaning up after the children, you don't just let them run the house and then walk away.

Doesn't make sense though. You can't really blame him for making him leader. How would he know if this kid just went all chaos? He trusts him because they've had [I believe] a good relationship with business together. Wouldn't be fair if all group leaders were to scam and the owner of that group gets blamed for it. It was your poor decision on going first.

It's pretty obvious his account wasn't hacked and just like most scammers they use the "I got hacked excuse"

What active member on this forum waits a couple days to report his account has been hacked?

He also made a chargeback on Bugga/JD a few days ago since he brought a spot in infamous. I honestly doubt he was hacked, but I'm confused on why he thinks using that excuse will justify this? If you were hacked it's still your responsibility to pay back everything.

There is always a risk while doing deals on something that open like this, I don't want to offend you, but it's the truth. Everyone who's using the marketplace to utilize deals & exchange money should be cognizant about the side effects.

That's why I abhor to do deals over a open board like this, small deals holds yes. Anonymous are way too amiable if he really refunds you 1100 dollars to appease you, when he was not involved in the deal in any way that matters.

I'd call that very gratuitous to ask for such a thing. I think the reason behind OP asking Anonymous is because Anonymous made Acroz a leader of one of the most prestigious "money-making" groups on HF. Are you going to state the same thing for Bellagio then? You're fractious to say such thing.

Anonymous knew Acroz for a very long time (BEFORE HE MADE ACROZ A LEADER). I'm not taking sides, but I doubt Acroz had any intentions to scam back in the days & Anonymous are way to busy with his business to take care of two groups at the same time.

Yea like Anon is gonna give OP $1.1k. It's not Anon's fault, anyone could simply decide to quit HF and scam as much as he can to get something from his account. That's exactly what Arcoz did.

Our deal was not regarding BTC. He was going to do a job for me (dump a site) and it became obvious from day 1 he was trying to scam me as he kept asking me for more money (last time was today). I did not ask Anonymous for a refund as he probably didn't get the money. I do think that he probably should finish this though as he is the reason I contacted Acroz. In my opinion Anonymous gave him credibility and it's the only reason I contacted him at all. kk, you're in Respawn, I'd hide in shame, nothing to be proud of and wear. Respawn shows how shit you are, how desperate you are for a UB, and how much ass you can suck on a daily average. They don't play anything but inactivity, and they came back with a triple platinum there.

Anonymous has to do nothing, he has nothing to do with this transaction. This is against Acroz, and rightfully so, not against Illuminati. First off, why on earth would I cover your loss when you didn't deal with me whatsoever?

In addition, I did at no point state that his account had been compromised; I solely stated that he had emailed me stating it had been compromised.

I told you exactly what I knew - which was close to nothing as I had not been online..

I asked when you exchanged to figure out whether it was a hijacker or himself.

Furthermore, I want to make it clear that Acroz got no connection to # whatsoever - he's not working for me or have access to anything at all.

The sole reason why he got an @#.net email is because he asked if he could get one.

I've sent Omni an essay including all details I have and I think he's the one best fit to make conclusions.

I'm sorry for your loss and hope Acroz will cover it - which he stated to me through email that he actually intended to initially -, but stop acting like an asshole and threatening me when I got nothing to do with this and only tried to help you solve this..

The account was stolen this morning, not yesterday.

Everyone making these assumptions has no proof of anything, and all you're doing is causing drama, so just shut up, and let staff resolve this one, because you don't know any better than them.

First off, why on earth would I cover your loss when you didn't deal with me whatsoever?

In addition, I did at no point state that his account had been compromised; I solely stated that he had emailed me stating it had been compromised.

I told you exactly what I knew - which was close to nothing as I had not been online..

I asked when you exchanged to figure out whether it was a hijacker or himself.

Furthermore, I want to make it clear that Acroz got no connection to # whatsoever - he's not working for me or have acess to anything at all.

The sole reason why he got an @#.net email is because he asked if he could get one.

I've sent Omni an essay including all details I have and I think he's the one best fit to make conclusions.

I'm sorry for your loss and hope Acroz will cover it - which he stated to me through email that he actually intended to initially -, but stop acting like an asshole and threatening me when I got nothing to do with this and only tried to help you solve this..

Omniscient has confirmed that Acroz' account was hacked and password changed by a specific IP. "Furthermore, I want to make it clear that Acroz got no connection to # whatsoever - he's not working for me or have acess to anything at all.

I would like to say that I have seen this happen so many times.

This is a simple tactic with faking a compromised account and running with cash. Upon return, if he is not closed, he will just play it off like nothing happened and attempt to push off the responsibility for his actions. If he is such a great blackhat, why can't he keep his HackForums account secure? While that argument isn't necessarily fool proof, I still believe it has some validity to this discussion.

From the idea of Skypes with just the words switched, to Paypals with the emails backwards, I feel as if this is just all to close together.

How can it ever be Anonymous fault? This deal was in no shape or form associated or related to Illuminati.

My opinion about Anonymous is completeley unbiased as I have never interacted, nor been in a group with him.

I could maybe, just maybe, see the right in Anonymous having to reimburse him if Acroz and Anonymous ran an exchange service together where they had Illuminati graphics all over the thread. But no mention of Illuminati was made during this deal. It's easy to say afterwards that you only did the deal because he was a leader, and then hope for someone to cover his losses.

I completely understand that Anonymous isn't about to shell out 1100$ from his own pocket, because the two of you did an exchange.

All we can do at this point is just cross our fingers and hope he'll pay it back.

With this being said, if it was the hijacker who scammed The Grim, then Acroz isn't obliged to cover the loss, but I'm quite confident he would as he did so for others in the past when a skype imposter scammed users, however I'm also sure he'll pay back myself and others who he owe money before covering the loss of scammed users - it may take some time before he could cover your loss, but it's better than nothing.

Of course he's obliged to pay back OP, just like anyone is if there account has been hacked and people get scammed. It's his responsibility to secure his shit and it's his debt. It's pretty obvious if he doesn't pay back OP he wasn't hacked.

Also like I said before it doesn't take a genies to change there email and use a sock5 proxy in a different country.

If you get hacked you wouldn't pay back $1100 because someone came onto your account. The Grim wouldn't either.

We can send that Acroz sent 0.00015873BTC to the address
17U4ymcUd5itgpEci214G6tFJBxHvqTNVH

So this is the transaction

Which MEANS that Acroz MUST own this BTC address

<https://blockchain.info/address/14GPsVqNcFcqHqXR3jgR7f2DKwqT3DNZvR>

(Notice how much BTC is in the address)

But whaat? A closed HF account owns that address as you can see here:

But wait, Could this be? Another closed account is ALSO linked to that address?

It's his account and he (leet hecker he's...) can definitely fucking protect 1 email and 1 hf account from being compromised...

And yeah it's his account and if he really got hacked he should pay the grim back...

Strange thing is how come every time someone gets compromised there is a load of money involved?! Explain?!

Also I think that Anon has no "force" to pay the grim back but he CAN definitely help him to get his money back.

I know you think Anonymous should give you the money back, but he has nothing to do with Acroz's exchanges. But if he scammed the service, its something different.

I totally agree with everything you have said but Anon is supposed to pay me if Acroz has a paid leadership position on Illuminati.

Ok i have just read the full 50 pages (2 hrs) I also was about to do a job with acroz for $600 today. 30 min before i was about to make the transaction , i emailed him to confirm if he was still able to do the work and should i use the same bit coin address , he got back to me (6 hrs ago) with a differant bitcoin address. During the time waiting for his reply i was hunting around the forum for deal disputes cause my whole dealing with him had made me feel uncomfotable. Found a thread , read a bit , then thought i should check acoz profile , the saw all the bad reps from this morning, anyway i ended up here on this thread , so i sent him an email saying "well that was close , i was 30 min from sending and i read a post"

Acroz Offline

Exiled

he replied an hr later (Tue, 15 Apr 2014 14:15:10 +0200) saying "Not even going to allow me to explain that? "

1 hr after that he wrote again (Tue, 15 Apr 2014 15:36:49 +0200) "The Hf was hacked. Glad you can take time to read the full story. Anyway, sorry we couldn't do business. " Return-Path: acroz@#.net

If you want email headers or something just PM me , Personally i got no idea , but over 10 emails with him i never felt sure, just one or two word replies to my page of text, Just never felt Right. And the only reason i had an ounce of trust in him was because of his position and association with Anon.

Once again proving people right, If your account gets compromised and then scams members out of thousands... Wouldn't you immediately make another account warning everyone about what has happened? and/or at the very least telling your side of the story on these disputes?

Instead he chooses to continue doing business as if nothing every happened, Which is partially why i think he did it. Also the evidence that @Shadow submitted seemed more than enough to confirm that theory imo.

What a scumbag...

Think about it, let's say you're the leader of the most well known money-making group on HF. Let's say that OP is the owner, and OP is the one who made you the leader (putting all his trust in you).

Now, me and you are about to do a $2k transaction. Of course, you would expect me to go first, right? (Don't try to deny this, of course you will).

Now, you being the leader of the most well known, most established money making group on HF, I would obviously go first to you, knowing that the owner of the group trusted you and made you the leader. You scam me, some one should pay me the money back. In this case it would be the person who put all his trust in you.

However, on the other hand, of course seeing as Anonymous had nothing to do with the transaction, it's unfair to make him pay for Acroz' mistake. So I see where you're coming from too.

Blakey - April 15, 2014, 2:25 pm

I honestly don't understand why anonymous would pay anything back..

Yes he trusted him with a leadership position but he didn't have anything to do with the deal.

It's like saying just because a trusted person gave someone a positive rep saying 'trusted'.. If that person scammed would the person who gave them that rep be responsible?

Of course not.

If acroz was honestly hacked he should be paying back in full. It's his account and his responsibility to keep it secure.

I don't understand why people are saying it's not his responsibility..

Hoping to see someone from acroz about paying op back.

Going to post a response to this and (hopefully) Omniscient can review the IPs and verify I never accessed those accounts.

First, These 'Scam' reports are nothing more than ignorant children demanding money when most if not all agreed to ToS. Now, there is the exception of AXiS whom got repaid now with the PP dispute. Madmanco and the other are results of failing to adhere to the ToS and being ignorant and impatient, I will not refund them for that.

Secondly, Anonymous has NOTHING AND I MEAN NOTHING to do with this. I acted on my own behavior. I didn't scam Grim, Omni confirmed my account was infact stolen. I wouldn't throw the reputation I had at the time away for $1000 USD (lost my rep anyway.. go figure.) Anonymous shouldn't be blamed for me having a @#.net email. He isn't and won't be responsible for my 'actions.' My account was hacked, nothing I can do. Madmanco broke ToS, end of discussion. AXiS got repaid.

Third, I don't multi account. The ONLY thing even close to a multi I have EVER had was someone I know joining under my referral. I don't multi, and won't, and most of you know, I did infact 'quit' HF.

Lastly, I'm sorry some of you got upset regarding this, but I won't go out of my way to change anything, as well, the only thing directly my fault is AXiS's investment, which was returned; unfortunately, not in full. I lost over 3k in paypal limitations, and can't/won't refund everyone. Sorry.

madmanco - April 15, 2014, 4:39 pm

I touched on this in my thread, but I'm gonna quote myself. You clearly broke my ToS as well:

Quote:I contacted Anonymous around three days ago regarding my concern. Anon told me he knew about our deal and that Acroz was quitting but he would finish his job.

The next day I get a PM from Acroz who had magically came up with a ToS that we had not discussed. I had breached it when I contacted Anon. Funnily enough, Acroz himself had broken my ToS that I also just came up with since he too had talked with Anon about it. In my newly created ToS I came to the conclusion that Acroz had to pay me $3k. However, I managed to find some kindness in my heart and only asked for initial payment refunded. It was not granted, unfortunately.

Jokes aside, you really think it's fair to scam me because I contacted the owner of your group because I knew you were scamming me? Like I said, I'm not looking for a refund. I want my job done.

This is 100% proof he knew he was going to scam BTC and mostlikly that account users knew he was qutting so him denying it and saying he got hacked ? LOL GG he hacked him self, " User is quitting HF " . He had intention of scamming people before he left 13th of april 1 day before this happened so he didn't hack him self.

Qutting is different from hacking, But also could bring in the fact he could have sold his HF account.

Even if he IS deemed a thief what the fuck does it matter? Convicted or not this will effect Acroz's dealing credibility enough that it wouldn't even be worth it trying to convince others he is not a petty thief; right now Acroz has some thinking to do, does he want his internet-pseudonym to be labeled as "THE "blackhat" moron who had his account stolen" or that guy who stole a few thousand dollars.

It's quite clear Acroz will not be returning to the Hackforums community as he's tarnished his reputation. At least he wont be returning under the same alias, I'm sure he'll be back, he's a bum. Slandering Acroz's name is just flogging the dead horse. This deal dispute has been manifested itself into a community alert if anything. Sadly, OP, I don't believe you'll be reimbursed for your losses.

I called Acroz on his counterfeit "businessman" persona a while ago. It really was quite pathetic, how could anyone buy into that bullshit? When dealing on Hackforums you need to release 99% of the time you're dealing with a prepubescent child or that university attendant trying to make ends meet. You. Are. Not. Dealing. With. Exactly Especially so for a high profiled user like Acroz he is not only well known but very clever so he could do all that easy. Thus he scams on a "stolen account" and then he gets off scot free.

Furthermore such a knowledgeable user would know better than to get his account "stolen" he just wouldn't let it happen that easy.

Even if his computer was stolen I am 101% he would encrypt it with truecrypt.

I haven't really seen anything impressive from Acroz and judging by his threads it looks like he was more a monetizer than a blackhat and considering his dox is public it shouldn't be that hard to get his accounts jacked.

1. Scam a somewhat big amount.
2. Wait for scam report to be opened.
3. Claim that your account has been compromised.
4. Update Signature saying that you've quit, and don't care about reputation.
5. Get banned.

This seems like a nice scheme for some members here in HF.

The Grim, you shouldn't have gone first, according to me you're more trusted in terms of exchanges and related deals.

Peter DragonSlayer - April 17, 2014, 8:54 am

Sorry for what you lost, but you won't get it back because on HF nothing is being done against Hahah, what I assume is = doing exchanges is like taking hockey in your ass lol. Why ? In between 1-12 months you'll 100% get scammed, And will lose everything you earned. Its totally worthless. Its a suggestion don't do deals in rush, and if you have even 1% chance to get scammed. (don't deal or use middleman) And grim brother I am really sorry about your loss. I can understand how it feels :(

I hope you'll get your money back :)

He was the leader of illuminati bro, how could I not trust someone who was the leader of a marketing group. Worst part is Anonymous never learns from his mistakes, just see the new leader he has added to illuminati. What if the new leader scams someone and run away. People would deal with him thinking that as he is a leader of a group and he can be trusted.

I wouldn't suggest anyone to make any big deals with that illuminati member.

I have to agree.

The fact Anonymous hasn't even done anything yet is really upsetting.

Cyrus - June 16, 2014, 1:04 pm

Well The GRim, you know now never to go first, everyone here trusts you, so they can go first or fuck off. ?

DrSpy - July 10, 2014, 4:55 pm

i m really sorry to hear that i hope he will return your money but as far as it is a BTC transaction and account is closed he must be using another account on HF to scam some one else because once someone learn how to get easy money they never leave that track and they become thieves like him all he deserve is HELL because 1100$ can't make him rich even he will lose them one day and also all he got in his pockets because the person who cheat others for anything he can't be happy in his own life and no one cares about him because they also know he is a cheater maybe in his past he cheated his mother, father, or maybe the whole family because that is the place from where cheaters learn HOME peoples from families like these don't care about anything but they deserve to be killed with a bullet in their brain :) maybe i used harsh words and maybe some people will think like it is something personal to the scammer NO i also got scammed not for 1100$ but i got and i know what time i have seen because of that scammer so i can understand OP's situation maybe he sent that money to scammer by borrowing from someone else or anything like this could be happen.

Why this long lecture?

SCAMMER if you read this then read again it is for you and i am trying to make you understand have you forgot about your future? what you will tell your kids that you were a thief? come on you don't wanna let your kids have that money which is being stolen from someone else.

SAD..... :(

I have no intention of scamming anyone, nor do something to sully Anon's name and Illuminati as a group. You're more then welcome to take this up with a staff member, they will verify that I am not "Acroz". As far as making big deals, I've done several and you can go and ask every member I've done business with if what I do is legitimate. Thought I'd clear things up, thanks for reading cheers!

I have nothing against you or illuminati...

But Acroz could have come and said the exact same thing the day before he's scammed Grim.

I don't think you are him (as I believe anonymous), but I'm just saying.

I wouldn't consider it as off topic as accusations are being thrown around a long with you blaming an entire group.

Sucks you lost so much, whats even worse you wont ever see it again ?

Anyways, Acroz is a scammer, wonder if he ever came back on the forum..

That group is filled with scammers. Even the owner is a scammer so couldn't expect anything better from the leader.

Justin Timberlake - October 2, 2014, 8:38 pm

It's kinda your fault for agreeing to go first with BTC. You either should've used common sense or a middleman. But dsucks that you lost that much money anyway.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Ok so from this thread here: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4060527>

We can send that Acroz sent 0.00015873BTC to the address
17U4ymcUd5itgpEci214G6tFJBxHvqTNVH

So this is the transaction

Which MEANS that Acroz MUST own this BTC address

<https://blockchain.info/address/14GPsVqNcFcgHqXR3igR7f2DKwqT3DNZvR>

(Notice how much BTC is in the address)

But whaat? A closed HF account owns that address as you can see here:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3887838>

But wait, Could this be? Another closed account is ALSO linked to that address?

<https://bitcointalk.org/index.php?topic=408846.msg4477644#msg4477644>

Ahh ok, So it wasn't him it was just some random pretending to take the BTC address, But then what is this?

<https://bitcointalk.org/index.php?topic=408846.msg4479201#msg4479201>

Lets hope there isn't a transaction on Blockchain that matches up with that

<https://blockchain.info/tx/7512d088ddd7c64331054361c17d951a242a6d6c274ca2a55f7fa8baf632b837>

It's funny because he's gambling his BTC on luckyb.it that's what I see here.

Today too!
