We are an art collective.

To join, show us your creations. Whether you are accepted or rejected relies on your portfolio.

More (Click to View) Fly by night, previously Graphic Masters, is the group for creatives. We discuss different areas of art and design whilst sharing and criticising each other's work. Members are mainly in the top tier of enthusiasts on site.

Good luck to everyone applying. Seens the works of some of the members in this group, and I got blown away by it. These guys are fantastic, and will teach you a lot about graphichs.

Zabuza? - April 14, 2014, 8:26 pm

Good luck to any applicants. FBN is incredibly HQ, and make incredible art.

SIM-2059193 - April 14, 2014, 8:29 pm

Is this only art?

I would think all the groups on a hack forum would be about hacking but there have been sectors.

Jaxon - April 14, 2014, 8:32 pm

Thank you unrep for the very complex and sophisticated thread layout.
Good luck to everyone that applies! ?

Cody - April 14, 2014, 8:33 pm

Really an amazing group, had fun being in Graphics Masters.

Whoever joins will have a fun time!

phybe? Jr. - April 14, 2014, 8:40 pm

Nice!

I may apply, but I'd be nothing compared to some of the talented designers. S/O to BagHead.
EDIT: Does FBN accept MSPaint artists?

Trust - April 14, 2014, 8:45 pm

I was informed you accepted musicians as well.

Is this still true? And if so, is this recruitment thread only for artists, or can musicians apply as well?

Thank you. ?

Always wanted to be apart of FBN, never thought my designs where worth it though.

Not the most talented out their, but enjoy it a fuck ton.

DEADPOOL - April 14, 2014, 10:47 pm

I would love to apply but my work is no where near as good as FBN members. Maybe in the future I will apply, Good Luck to everyone that does.

_wind - April 14, 2014, 10:56 pm

Some great designers in this group, good luck to all applicants!

Some people have a high ego though.

Writing: Chapter I of my first book: Spoiler (Click to View) Arena of ruin
Chapter I (Introduction)

We marched, we marched within the shadows of our fallen city, the city of Ruin. The silence shattered beneath our feet like glass, we marched toward the heart of our broken city, we knowingly marched toward our death. This City was once a great world of things, it was the kingdom of life, a haven of sanctuary and prosperity, and now it had just become this fallen kingdom of death.

For the last eight years, Humanity has been on the brink of extinction. What once was an overly populated and defiled earth, had now become a wasteland of war and death. The world reduced to nothing but a pile of ash and bones, the only city that remained though it all, was the city of Ruin.

Eight years ago, the world erupted into crossfire, the sky began to fall and ground started to split in two. And from both worlds came a legion of Demon's & Angels. They chose our earth as their arena.

It was something so beautiful and sad to see the first Angels fall from the sky, we'd only heard Whispers of their existence, no actual evidence. They came from a world so unlike our own. For those who were lucky enough to see it, could now tell you that it was a something of a sadness, to see the Angels leave a world like that, to save what was left of ours. For their first moments here on earth, the Angels had become the most beautiful sight humanity had ever seen. They were all white and gold. Their skin, white like polished stone. Scripture, written in an ancient language that looked like liquid fire, marked their perfect bodies. Their eyes burned with a golden incandescence, they were what you would expect an Angel from heaven to look like, only more beautiful & real.

When the Demon's first came, the world turned dark and began to split in half, it was something to be expected apparently. A wave of misery and sadness had hit the Earth, and we began to die even before they arrived. The first Demon that entered Earth, looked like it had come from a twisted boy's nightmare, only it was real and standing 15 feet in front of humanity. They were all different shapes and sizes, glowing red eye's, burnt & twisted, scales or skin, whatever it was, they had now become our embodiment of fear. They all wore the same stench of death, and carried with them a desire to see everything burn.

At first, the only thing that stood between us and the annihilation of our race & world, were the Angels. But as the war raged on, as cities burned, Humanity had found a chance at Hope, they had found the City Of Ruin.

I enjoy photography, graphic design, painting, digital painting and writing! All things art really. I love learning, I love creativity. I strive to better, I'm constantly interested in improving my work and constantly seeking to exploit my artistic side. I'm also an avid writer (I'm working on 4 books at the moment, and doing writing work for a few members on here too!) and a psych enthusiast. I love music, absolutely. I wish to learn the piano and violin in the upcoming months hopefully.

As a person I wish to be successful as a writer (By future career choice) designer and a musician.

Anything else:

I love art & I love learning. I'm motivated to be the best I can be. I don't know where my suitability stands and what area of graphic design I specialize in, so I'm constantly moving around and learning all different styles and arts. I just want to keep learning new things!

Hello, and thanks for viewing my application!

I will show you a portion of my portfolio and tell you a little about myself.

My Work

My first work that will be shown here is one that I designed for a customer. It was all created in HTML, CSS, and JavaScript.

First Work (Click to View)

The next is a thread design I co-created on another forum.

Second Work (Click to View)

Last is a loading screen I created for a forum in HTML. JavaScript, and CSS. I was unable to embed this one, so you will just need to click the link.

Third Work (Click to View)

Go here for my last work.

About Me

I am Grimm, an aspiring web developer in addition to being employed in Customer Support. I joined HackForums at the beginning of this year and do not regret it in the slightest.

The people here at HackForums have treated me well and I attempt to do the same.

I hope to get accepted into Fly by Night due to my profound love for graphic design.

Thanks for reading my app! Please feel free to leave feedback and tell me things I can improve on!

You shouldn't put yourself down like that. Your stuff looks fine, but there is always room for improvement. Everyone has different strengths/weaknesses, even most FBN members.

I'm not really putting myself down, I'm just recognising the fact ive only been doing this for a short time, and that I need to keep working and to improve a lot more if I'm ever going to compete / work alongside designers such as yourself/fbn.

I also understand that improvement to that level will happen, but only if I work hard and give myself time.

Well that's very kind of you to say so, but you should definitely apply too! There's no reason not to, and at the very least you can say that you made an effort; these kind of recruitments don't come around too often nowadays, so you might as well go for it now so you don't regret missing out later. However joining a group won't help you, no one will teach you techniques that aren't already public. You can very well learn by yourself, you just need to look at online tutorials.

About

I'm a 15 year old male attending a top school in England. Born in London and raised in London, I've never lived anywhere but here - although that's not to say I haven't had some extremely adventurous holidays to places including California, Dubai, Portugal and Pakistan. I spend a lot of time coding in HTML, CSS, and PHP, and I am currently designing my school's website and working on a text-based MMORPG which will be an airline sim. I have little musical background but I'm able to use my ears to decide what sounds right and what sounds wrong when it comes to the creation of music.

I first started using computers when I was 8 and I spend a lot of time listening to music - specifically electronic dance music (hence why attempts at producing it. I'm someone who wants to try and make everything I enjoy doing - for example when I first started playing text-based MMORPGs I wanted to create my own... and so I am now. When I started listening to electronic dance music it made me again want to create my own, and that's what I'm doing now. I'm both stubborn and persevering person which, while sometimes a problem, really allows me to go after my dreams without giving up.

Experience

I began to listen to electronic music just prior to the Olympics, in early 2012. I predominantly listened to Skrillex and I remember on one occasion going to see the triathlon in Hyde Park with a friend, where I played the song "Weekends" for almost two hours straight. As I listened to it more & more, I began to look deeper into the realms of electronic dance music, and eventually I stumbled across Monstercat in what I believe was late August 2012. Their first song I listened to was "Live it Up" by Stephen Walking and I've been in love ever since; I follow Monstercat all the time and listen to every one of their songs within hours of their release. Anywho, onto when I actually started producing music. I think it was November 2012 when I began to ponder over the production of music. I'd watched the biggest DJs performing at concerts such as Tomorrowland and I wanted to get into producing. I downloaded Ableton Live onto my crappy desktop PC and messed around a bit with it but never really got anywhere and abandoned all hopes. However, in 2013 I built my own PC and decided to give music producing another shot. Again, I messed around on a DAW - this time FL Studio - a bit but similarly to before, never really got anywhere...

...until October. In October, I managed to produce my first "real" song. It'll be linked at the bottom of this section. From there, I talked to some other people producing music at my level and we progressed alongside each other. I produced more and more music until where I am today, and I enjoy it a hell of a lot. I spend a lot of time producing and I have no intention of stopping. :)

Yes, I know I'm new to HF and I know I've only made 8 posts. But that's not to say I'm here to spam. I'm here to fit in and enjoy myself and I thought it was worth a shot to apply. If you, for whatever reason, feel as though I'm just re-uploading other peoples' works I have the FLPs and I'm more than willing to show you them upon request. It'd be very much appreciated if you did not judge me on my rank here and post count and actually considered me for a genuine spot on your group. Thank you very much.

First off, I'd like to say that I originally intended to create a fancy smancy thread design to accompany my application, but my craptop(laptop) crashed about an hour ago and now I have no access to Photoshop or any resources. So, I'll be presenting this in a lack-luster, professional way. So without further-a-do, here are some of my recent pieces.

About:

I'm a 16 year old kid from Alabama in the US. I'm in the marching band at school because I love music, whether it be listening or making it. I've always been artsy, and when I discovered HF I saw some of the crazy things that could be done with PS and other programs and immediately wanted to start practicing using it as soon as possible.

Experience:

I've been working with PS for about two years now and it's my main thing I use to do all my work. I've never really branched out of Photoshop unless it was required. I've used Cinema4D and Apophysis before after seeing some cool things be made from both of them. I draw a lot of abstract stuff on paper and ever so often try and trace it by eye onto the computer. I was in GM two times before and both of them were for the student program. I had to drop out once because of me having to focus in school, and the next because of an illness in the family not allowing me to be fully focused and committed to the assignments.

More:

I'd like to say thank you to FBN for doing what you do best. Graphics. You've inspired me to heavily contemplate doing art in my life and perhaps even going to school for it when I'm able. Good luck to everyone else who applies.

Sincerely,
Ethereal.

Sajuuk - April 23, 2014, 6:11 pm

Of course. I mention Graphic Masters and the thread's title changes. Now it includes "Formerly Graphic Masters". In addition, Sasori's signature image now contains the string of text "for graphic design" (and some other relative things).

Graphic Masters was fine when it was still here. And now, it changes to an art-based group. Art is a generalization of ideas. Graphics is a form of art. And, in my opinion (which I might be wrong), graphics are creations of art on a computer or electronic device. If I'm wrong, inform me.

I'm not bitching about FBN or GM, I'm just here to point out the (quite obvious) conclusions members can come to. If I am somehow incorrect about any, and I mean any, of this, enlighten me about what's true in a form or fashion that actually makes sense (not some bullshit answer about me being a crybaby like). I'm expecting some legitimate reply soon. We'll see what happens.

I know we as a group get a lot of flack for being seen as "arrogant" and "assholes", but I gotta say, if you ever have the chance to be in the group, you won't regret it.

A lot of our bad rep comes from people who don't like being told with what's wrong with their work and IMO, they're the people doomed to fail.

Speaking personally, fbn means a lot to me. Thanks to the group, I was able to get into the most competitive art programs in the province/country, some of which have a 6.7% acceptance rate.

It's an amazing experience and if you are actually serious about what you do and love your craft, it'll be perfect for you.

Of course. I would like if you kept to one artistic genre though. I don't want to judge 1 rap piece one 'DJ' piece and 1 graphic design.

Baked - April 25, 2014, 1:01 am

If I was to apply as a rapper? (You could take this post as an application, unless it has to be formal.)

Do you want me to record stuff? I have all my raps written in a notebook.

I'm kinda just starting but already I've kinda stunned myself with my capabilities to freestyle off the top of my head.

I would be posting a lot, I think a group pushing me to write is exactly what I need.

I've been writing right now for about 3 hours straight, I'm working on just getting my metaphors right and stuff.

I have lots of friends who rap to, so I don't know if it'd be allowed but could I submit some of their work as my piece to be judged? We're trying to do something with rap in our small town it'd be really helpful to have a nice connection online with a group of artists that could criticize and construct us into something amazing, I know my "group" has the potential I just need the push and I think this group could really help.

I'm 19, from Canada; Ottawa. Not the most active member but I post when I can; been trying to find a good group and I like the vibe this group gives off. I got a group of 4 rappers, 2 producers (One is in jail for 2 years tho) that would be working with me to produce things to be judged, I just don't have a studio mic yet, which I'm getting soon.

If you think I could make it in this group, let me know; I'd love to join.

Thanks.

About:

I'm Adam, and I'm 19 and I still like to draw when I'm bored.

Experience

Not sure what this refers to, but I got an A in art when I was at high school. I also lead the Graphics Masters and Fly By Night but was removed due to inactivity cause I was busy with college. I can also draw and use Photoshop on an irregular basis. I prefer the old traditional pencil(s) to paper though.

More

Y'all know I like to doodle when doing exams, this may re-jog your memory I drew this ages ago in a maths exam and think I posted it in the subsection.

Experience

Like 5 years of artistic experience, probably a lot more if you include traditional stuff.
5 years of Photoshop experience, I consider myself professional, though I haven't done any paid work because I'm too shy and self depreciating for it.
~1 year of Cinema 4D experience, I'm pretty good with it, I guess.
I'm familiar with Illustrator, InDesign, GIMP, InkScape, and a shit-ton of other programs that aren't important.

I've made a lot of MLP-FiM related fan-art in the form of wallpapers. I don't know why that's important, but this is the extra section that you won't be reading unless you're actually impressed, so it doesn't matter.

I think I'm best at making abstract grungy backgrounds in Photoshop.

If you don't export your work in 16bit color mode, I think you're either new or stupid; the only exception being you're trying to get smaller file sizes.

I'm pretty sure I overdid it, sorry. I like making big posts, it makes me feel important.

This is my youtube channel. I teach people to do art!

About

Well, I've been doing graphic design, Digital and Traditional, for about 9 years now and I will not stop. As you can see from my works above, I am VERY versatile when it comes to art. I never stick to one style and I hope to master them all by the time I'm...old. That's why there is so much variation. Art should be fun and you should enjoy it. And I enjoy tasting a bit of everything. I am currently learning Concept Art. Been wanting to get into it for a while and so I am. The transition was Photomanipulation > Matte Painting > Concept Art. I am also a part time YouTuber. Some of you may know me by my alias, BakaArts. On HackForums, Signature because I have this signature shop going on.

That should be it.

About Me

I'm 25, I've been using photoshop on and off for about 6 years. It's been a while since I've created anything, and I've recently found some new inspiration to create. I love to do graphics, play video games, smoke, and listen to music.

Experience

Like I said, I've been using photoshop for about 6 years. I've taken several breaks in that time due to personal life and other interests. I've never taken any classes on gfx, and everything I've learned I've learned through applying different tutorials to my own work, and listening to comments and criticisms. I've improved a lot since I first opened the program. I know there's a lot more to learn and that's what I'm here to do. Get better and help others get better too.

Hello once more :) I don't know if anyone remembers me, but I was in FBN a while back, with the writer's group. If the writer's area is still active, I would like to re-join.

Your work:

On HF: (warning: erotica. Very adult content)

Forbidden Paradise

The Resort, chapter 1 (which is now scrapped, as The Resort has undergone another revision and has been heavily changed from this version)

Second Thoughts on Silk Sheets (this was actually posted in FBN first, before Innuendo)

Control, chapter 1

Control, chapter 2

Control, chapter 3

Control, chapter 4

Control, chapter 5

Control, chapter 6

Off of HF: I am a self-published indie author. Shadow Assassins, my first novel for the Second

Realm Trilogy is available at <http://www.amazon.com/Shadow-Assassins-Second-Trilogy-Volume/dp/1494494787/> or <http://thesecondrealm.net>

About:

I am a 24 year old author who has been writing since age 11. My last hiatus on HF was due to medical problems with my husband Viral and due to me releasing Shadow Assassins and wanting to focus on its release and the next two books. I am still in love with the idea of a creative community like FBN and would definitely appreciate a place back within its ranks, if permitted.

Experience:

Been writing since I was 11. I started off doing fanfics for Harry Potter and various anime, then moved to erotica and fantasy, sci-fi and romance. Currently, the Second Realm Trilogy has my priority, thus I've mostly been writing fantasy and magic-related stuff, but I still have major projects on the back burner that span through erotica, sci-fi, teen/college age drama and more.

Really hope to see this group again. I've always admired all of the talent found within it ?

This is an example of a proof of concept model, its primary aim is to ensure that the gearbox would fit into our standardized mounting ring. This model has now gone into prototype production and is nearing completion. Inset you can see how this fits into the overall assembly (sorry for lack depth and quantity, but anything more would be a breach of contract for releasing sensitive information).

I am a 25 year old engineer based in the UK. I am currently employed as a concept designer for a large multinational company. I also undertake a certain amount of freelance designing for private citizens. Spoiler (Click to View)What is life?

Is it wrong? Is it right?

Why do I die to live, when I actually live to die?

Maybe the 'f' is placed to disguise life as a lie

Gravity kept me grounded, but now my soul weeps to end in the sky

I think about you in the night as I let out a sigh

No presents, but your presence: I'd buy

What is life?

In a world full of dark thoughts, can I see the light?

Propaganda made me think that my future is bright

In reality I only see disaster in sight, but I realise as I write

That life isn't guaranteed, I might not make it back tonight

Life can be pain, scarring mentally. I want you before and after I die

But I feel you slipping from me, you might just be worth the fight

What is life?

Life can be beautiful, life can be joy

Trying to achieve my dreams: Wife, kids, a stable income from being employed

Like seeing a newborn baby with us, girl or boy

Perhaps seeing our ecstatic child after receiving a new toy

What is life?

Is it the truth, or is it a lie?

I found out the answer when I fought for you

Life is oh so gold, that life is actually truth

I saw the light, the opportunity, I chased it too

I done it for the connection of me and you

The cold wind slapped my face and awoken me, I discovered love

The hairs on my neck stand up from your touch

You are a blessing for me, sent down from above

A beautiful sight and a serene sound like a dove

The waves of compassion, crashing through you and me

Passion intertwined, we connect with such fluency

You're priceless compared to diamond jewellery

Passion. Trust. Love. Ingenuity...

Life in the end is like you, something of rare beauty.

About:

I love music in general as well as writing poems and songs in general. I know quite a few people who make professional music aswell, some of them known quite a bit in the underground scene. It's really how I get through my days happily as you can almost always catch me listening to music or even writing. I'm 16 years of age and I currently reside in England and you can reach me by PM'ing on HF or Skype also.

Experience:

I've been writing creatively for a long time, although it may not be professional. In English, I managed to pull off two A's so it's not a problem whatsoever, and for Poetry an A* due to the fact that I love to analyse pieces in general and go into amazing depth when viewing them - a reason for me choosing essay based subjects as I'm able to write well in such a short time span. A few of my friends are also music producers and writers so we get together sometimes to chill and let creativity flow and they sometimes produce tracks for me to write to also.

More:

I'd love to get into such a creative group as this one. I'd love to share ideas, get brutally honest feedback on how I am to improve my poems, etc... and be with a group of talented people in arts. Perhaps I could learn a few things off of some of the members here. Being creative is a big part of my life and I like to express true emotion into what I write. Furthermore, I'll be happy to write a new poem for you if you may request it be done.

After my exams, I'm hoping to get into this even more so to be able to finally get some stuff onto Youtube so many more people around the world are able to witness it which would be a great thing. This could also make me achieve one of my goals of getting recognition for doing something that I love doing.

- I look forward to hearing back.

I'm a graphics designer and a member of a team which have around 3 shops on different countries and we always wanted to expand and have our own shops on the internet, as some of the team members have profiles at several forums which support or have a graphics section. So I'm one of the team member, they call me Flex and I wanted to help out and join such a group like FBN, or any graphics related group to learn more and teach the skills I've gotten which is basically based on Pen Tooling, Cartoon Art, and Logo Designing. I know everything about Photoshop, and some basics on Illustrator. Worked on AutoCad and Cinema 4D for college related. Basically I don't have much things I can say, since most of my stuff are based on designing for people. I'm the Co-Leader of the Egyptian Shop.

I'm 22 years old, lived in United States for long time and came back to Egypt on the late 2005' and stayed there until now.

This is my simple story, maybe it'd help me to get accepted in the FBN recruitment. I promise that I will be high quality, and active member of the group and offer help to whoever wants it on a part which I've skills on.

I don't have anything else to say except, I'd always love to be a part of such a group like Fly By Night to contribute under its name and be active on its section with friendly members. It is your decision. You can always contact me if you want to see more works which are done by me.

My Work

Warning! Large Images!Spoiler (Click to View)

About: I am a gamer and artist from San Francisco. I am in college right now studying Marine Biology. The four pieces of work, are only the ones I have put on the internet, you can see my profile on Newgrounds (same name as on here) if you need proof they are mine. As you can see by the images I've posted, I am very much into abstract design. Going through the list from top to bottom, the images are entitled: London, Dubai Cityscape, Sunset in Singapore, and Pseudo-Spider.

DescriptionsSpoiler (Click to View)

For London, my motivation came when I saw a picture of london at night. I took the colors from that picture and wanted to create an image that used a lot of opposite color matching, and felt surreal, like a bird (there several birds in the painting btw. Most noticeable in the top left corner).

The second image you see, Dubai Cityscape, I wanted to be brighter, I wanted it to pop. It took me about three days to get it just how I wanted to look, and I have to say that this is one of my favorites.

The next one, Sunset in Singapore, was my very first abstract piece. I was experimenting with this new style and decided That I wanted it to be dark, and almost ominous, like it could swallow you whole. I was inspired when I saw a picture of the Singapore coastline, and saw so many different types of people, all coming together to this one spot. It was beautiful. It was as if no one cared who anyone else was, they all just meshed together and were having a great time. I wanted to capture this, which you can see in the brighter swirls. Those swirls are those people, rushing up to mix with everyone and have a good time, swallowing them whole into their fun.

The last one, Pseudo Spider, came when I found a picture of cool looking thing. That thing turned out to be a Tropical Harvestman (not really a spider), and I just needed to recreate it.

Experience: I have several years of experience with painting, drawing, sculpture, and digital arts. I play the cello, and have experience creating electronic music as well. I have never taken a formal art class, and have never been to art school, although I wish too at some point in my life. It all started for me, when my grandfather got me into architectural drawings and sketches. I had always loved trying to design buildings, and from there, went on to draw them. I got better and better at it, and decided to try my hand at painting. Most of paintings are landscapes though, not architectural.

Yes, I have seen your latest works, and I wanted to suggest that you were also ripping here and there, but I have no valid proof so I'll stay quiet on that

If it's not a rip-off, why did you close the thread?

Even if it's not a rip-off a real designer does not buy a thread design and claims that he made it (which is what you did when you made the thread in the first place). A thread design is supposed to reflect your work and skills

Fetz's Fly By Night Application

Hello Fly By Night, my name is Fetz (Fetz) and this is my application for the group. I have been a member of HackForums since 08-06-2013. I found out of the forums by Googling "How to Hack". Read around on some blogs, noticed "HackForums". Thought I would join and learn to hack. I started out learning RAT's. After this I moved into the world of booters, DDoS, and that section. After learning as much as I could gather from the forums, I began to see more and more how this wasn't really hacking at all. This was simply using other people's programs and work to infect people. Of course most normal everyday people would consider it hacking, although it really isn't. I decided to move into the era of programming and development, as that seemed the best way to go. Unfortunately I have not been active on that section of the forums, although I plan to start.

I would like to join Fly by Night not only because I want to meet new people, but because I want to meet new people in an environment I enjoy being in. I would not enjoy meeting new people in a group dedicated to the tricks and aspects of pedophilia. Not sure anyone would, unless they were a pedophile. I want to be in a group where I am learning about whatever it is I enjoy, things like art, graphics, music, development, etc. development.

Moving on to about me. I am attending an art academy (highschool), and my major is communications. Communications is all about, of course, communicating. Although with computers... graphics, videos, presentations, etc. My favorite aspect is computer graphics. Working in Photoshop, After Effects, 3DS Max, etc. Unfortunately the only program I can work with at home at the moment is Photoshop, as my computer is rather low-end. Although I am upgrading very (very) soon. Another thing I do is music. I have been playing/learning the piano for 5 years now, I will be updating my application with a recording of me playing this Saturday. I plan on moving on and learning the guitar aswell. Away from computers and technology I enjoy hanging out with friends, paintball, and chilling with the bae.

Thank you for reading my application and giving me a chance. I hope to see you guys in the Fly by Night sector of the forums!

Anything else: I love giving and getting feedback on work, as it's the main way by which we can all improve. Seeing other great designers' work also motivates and inspires me to go and try new styles and push the envelope of what I thought I could do beforehand. The work I've posted above is varied in order to show the breadth of stuff that I do. No, I won't pretend that in every style I'm amazing, but at least I try to make as many varied and different pieces as I can.

Art is something performed by an individual with passion for it, someone who took his time to obtain their individual skill.

Art combines skill, creativity and the mind of a person with one of his or hers works.

Art does not follow a template, art does not have boundaries, art is to be appreciated, criticised and in some cases perfected.

Art might be the black line on white paper, a sound breaching through a musical pieces mix or just simply the words coming from someones mouth.

You are not an artful person, you do not appreciate art, because someone is new to something doesn't mean he should be blocked from going his path.

You should not try to break someone's creativity or passion, you are free to have an opinion and criticise someone else's work but you should also learn to appreciate that he is trying to pave his way.

Hello everyone, my name is Tizzy! However, you can call me Chris or Christopher. In my 12 years of being a computer addict I've learned a lot and I specialize in multiple fields such as marketing, social engineering and coding but, above all I'm a graphic designer. I have over 3 years of experience in digital designing programs such as Adobe™ Photoshop and Maxon™ Cinema 4D. I used to be an excellent drawer and always doodled in school when I had the time or when I was bored however, I always frustrated that it took so much time to make something precise or perfect. I remember I had a cousin named Blaze and I always looked up to him and he used to constantly talk about how he was a graphic designer and I decided when I was 6 or maybe 7 years old that I wanted to be a graphic designer like him, of course I completely forgot about this and one day I started thinking about him and the promise I made him on being a graphic designer when I was little, I then downloaded Adobe™ Photoshop and afterwards I watched tutorials and was so amazed how you could make perfect and project easily. From that point forward I studied everything about Photoshop and three years later I'm a great designer and currently do digital design as a part time job. I know this isn't a super detailed story but I wanted to sum up what I'm all about. I'm currently 15 years old and I make a fair amount of income from graphic design and I'm a very relaxed and sincere computer nerd. If you would like to see some of my work you can check out my old Behance Portfolio as well as my new Behance Portfolio. Currently I'm running a Graphics Service and I've already made around $300 with it in just a week. I don't expect to join Fly By Night just yet, but it is one of my goals for in the future. ?

About :

I'm from The Netherlands, have been playing alot of instruments on the path of finding my final instrument, I have attempted to play Piano, Guitar, Drums and a handfull of other instruments, I discovered that playing and actual instrument wasn't my thing. I ended up producing in 2008, from then on I've been doing alot of work to pave my path. I barely do own work nowadays, I usually finish work for others or work together with them to obtain the best result.

I am more of a SD and AE person than a arrangement person.

I also DJ and it's pretty much what I live for, I have played with the likes of Dyro, Dannic, Blasterjazz and many more. I also release a mixtape every now and then.

Experience :

As mentioned above, I'm in the field for quite awhile, I have been following this path for like six years and will keep doing so.

More :

I am passionate about my thing, I end up sleeping in the studio I work in and stuff like that, I also have a few people that I mentor via Skype.

Messaged Sasori a very long time ago regarding student programs. I would love to get into graphics, being a web designer. It's difficult for me to create logos, images, etc.

I really don't have a strong portfolio for graphics, but here are a few of my (somewhat less shitty) creations:

Warning, some large images:

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

The following images are from a website I did for a client. All images are created from scratch.

<http://bitcube.co/portfolio/box>

[img]http://bitcube.co/portfolio/box/images/multi.png[/img]

[img]http://bitcube.co/portfolio/box/images/collab.png[/img]

[img]http://bitcube.co/portfolio/box/images/guard.png[/img]

[img]http://bitcube.co/portfolio/box/images/enterprise.png[/img]

I've been doing graphics for about a year. I suck. I haven't dedicated myself to learning because I don't have anyone to learn from. I know Unrep is amazing at flat design, and I'd love to learn from him (or anyone else who can teach more about flat design).

I'm also a web designer. Granted, I'm probably a shitty designer because you all are graphics gods, but here's a list of what I've designed.

<http://bitcube.co> - portfolio site; haven't updated since Jan

<http://bitcube.co/portfolio/box> - client website

<http://ui.bitcube.co> - a conglomeration of random elements I was working on. Haven't worked on it since.

I'd like to join for a community where I can be pushed to create better designs and pick up new skills. It's part of my job to do this and I only want to do it better.

To people who don't know design at all, my designs look like something made from the hand of God himself. But I know that I design like shit and I could do better.

Dunno if you noticed but if I've been doing graphics for a year it means I'm still giving it my best shot. I simply haven't DEDICATED all of my time to learning. It's not worth throwing out my salary to spend a year learning graphics on my own when I could have a mentor help me out while I can still manage my job and education.

I do work for enterprise level clients and I make graphics whenever I can (usually my clients tell me they want better icons so I hire graphics guys). Kinda screws my self esteem as well.

But don't take it as a statement that I won't try my best to learn by myself. I learned every skill I have in web development by myself without a mentor. It just took me eight years to master everything. I could speed up the process a lot by having mentors or a community to learn from.

Why would a mentor help you learn graphics when you won't dedicate time your own? You simply cannot be taught how to design; you must learn it yourself. And you really can't use time as an excuse for not being able to learn a subject. If you're truly passionate about something, I'm sure you can cut 30 minutes - 1 hour everyday to learn a material.

Your attitude on both design and development is corrupt. Your lack of self confidence on design, and overconfidence on web development will both not get you anywhere. Everyone has room for improvements, and it's quite evident you have yet to master your coding abilities.

I personally do not think your pieces are not shitty compared to many others, but it definitely could use some work. Look for inspirations on sites like Dribbble, Behance, and Pinterest; and work your way up from there.

Although you have potential, I think you'd receive better feedback if you work on it a little more. I already know you possess great work ethic, so that should be no problem. Good luck.

Thanks for the feedback. And I truly do not have any extra time given the responsibilities I have between juggling two jobs (security & freelance website creation), university education, girlfriend, having somewhat of a social life, and taking care of HF-related activities.

Any extra time I have is left for using the bathroom and sleeping (less than 4 hours a day). But thanks again for the feedback, I'll probably attend some Photoshop courses at uni instead.

You make it sound like we have no life. xD

But IMHO, uni courses aren't worth the waste of credit if you're not taking it as a career path.

I think it's only good for building connections with the industry, since a lot of the shit I've seen from grad shows aren't anything TOO special. They're good, and some are great and even amazing, but I think it's hardly worth the 4 years of education and 40k+ tuition.

I think the best way for you to learn, is to take it at your own pace, and frequently post for feedback. Find an area of interest and focus on it until you've become competent enough, and then move on to another area.

I don't do thread designs, I'm a tagger, I didn't make this. I'm in a big omc skype chat so we have quite a few members in it, one of them made the design

If I host a thread, does it mean that I made the design? I'm an admin with .Matt

If I sell my signature space to someone (which is what I did), does it mean that I did the signature?

deal with it

EDIT: And yes I did give advice about it. Look at my fbn application, if it contains any thread design let me know

Your work :

Alot more but it's not open to public yet, might arrange something in PM.

About :

You do not care who I am, pretty much not alot to say here but, I make music for a living, I sleep in a studio and I mainly live on energy drinks, coffee and fast food, when I'm out I usually play for crowds. No, with a studio I do not mean my fucking bedroom or any room at my house, a fully geared pro-grade studio with about 600.000 Euro's worth of equipment in it. Sometimes I derp so deep into my work I just fall asleep on a mixing table or the couch that is there.

Experience :

Doing an education to sound engineer, been mixing stuff for ages and I've been messing around with the production of electronic music for about five years. Followed a shit-ton of courses, two years of live mixing (bands, theatre productions etc).

More :

I make music, mix music, dance music, write music, know quite a few influential people and yeah. I like to work with other people, teach them and be teached by them.

Last application as I never get any critique/answer/whatever.

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=KJRycYOsW4w>]

About:

I am 19 years old. I have been playing guitar for 7 years, the piano for 5 years, and singing since I was 10. More recently I have been interested in Hip Hop, but I will center this application around what currently interests me. I'm more passionate about music than anything else.

Experience:

My mother owns a dance studio, which has exposed me to all kinds of music from a very young age. I used to teach intermediate Hip Hop classes when I was in highschool and I learned a lot about choreographing routines and stage presentation. I love everything from hip hop to classic punk because each genre offers something the others cannot. Music aside, technology is my other passion. I love working with computers, phones, tablets, or anything with a processor. I know a few programming languages and I primarily focus on web development. I'm studying Computer Systems Technology and prior to that I was a first year Business student (Marketing). I find the only way to truly express yourself is through art. As mentioned earlier I've been playing guitar for 7 years, and I used to take lessons along with piano lessons and a few vocal lessons. I have also dabbled into music production, and video editing. I used to play a lot of classical music on both guitar and piano, but later moved to the more modern tunes, and I love to remix songs. I am in the process of buying recording equipment for my room, however I'm a student and naturally money is tight. I am by no means the best at what I do, but I am passionate about all of my work and I ALWAYS have fun with it.

More:

Photoshop has recently sparked my interest and I will be developing my skills Cs6, which is actually another reason I'd like to join fbn aside from sharing and building my music with others. My license has expired and I'm currently trying to find a copy of Cs5/6 for free on OSX. I am very new to Photoshop, thus my skills are lacking but again, it's something I'm very interested. At this time, I can honestly say fbn is the only group I wish to be in aside from Writ3rs. I gave up on applying to groups unless I really wanted to be apart of them. I left the Empire, and Complexity so I could dedicate more of my time to the groups I actually wish to contribute to and I'm really hoping fbn will be one of them. I have a great respect for the artists in this group as I've seen what they're capable of. I know I could learn a lot from the community and represent the group in a positive manner.

I'd like to thank you for reviewing my application which I tried to keep short for your sake.

About:

I am an aspiring GFX artist, skilled VFX and consider myself adept at doodling. I usually end up drawing in class whenever I'm bored with lectures and my ideas are completely from the mind, which is usually my logo for the graffiti art I create (hence the "m"). Also, since I consider myself to be relatively smart i thought that mind would fit perfectly for pretty much every activity I do. I'm extremely chill in my opinion, and love helping others and am extremely creative all the time. My creativity is usually rendered in my entrepeneural ideas or in art such as these. I love editing gameplay, hence why I'm driven by VFX and is a strong reason for why I even play games still.

Experience:

I've been drawing since around the 7th grade (4 years ago almost) and have been doing VFX since the 4th grade (7 years). I began drawing because it was a way to escape and because school has never been challenging for me, and I began by being extremely left-brained persay. I also used to be bullied for my weight, which has changed now, and drawing was a way for me to escape the bullies. This was elementary school, and things drastically changed in middle school when I had more friends and started taking more art classes out interested in drawing. I learned how to do perspective drawings and am working on a huge project for my art class right now; a city scape. I'll grab a picture of it's progress on Monday when I go to school, but my portfolio posted here is some of the stuff that I am capable of doing.

More:

I am not just a VFX/artistic enthusiast. I enjoy gaming, business, and math. Drawing is my middle ground, and I always do it whenever I am bored of anything else. I would deem myself to be pretty good at art, and have been pounding my way at learning GFX as I think it brings a whole new game to art. One of the reasons I play games is because of video editing, and I'm still improving, but I have improved so much over the years, which is evident in the progression of my videos.

About:

I love business and games, but i'm too right-minded to keep out the inner artist in me. This is why I design shirts, do ceramics, etc. Being able to design shirts allows for me to use the business side of me (number-crunching, econ, etc) and also allows me to work with other people and create cool designs. The t-shirts I've posted above were my designs/creations. Liberty is a group of high school students.

Experience:

Art has been natural for me. I've always loved drawing and expressing myself. Fortunately, so had math. I started drawing for fun after being introduced to art in the 7th grade. I then designed shirts because I got compliments from my friends, and now I sell them with a group of friends. I also did GUI for the game I produced, LightRunner. I've used coding, gaming, and business to syncretize my work and highlight it with art.

My name is Drew, and I'm 20 years old. I've been designing since I was 14. I wasn't too fond of designing at first, and originally only got in to it so I'd require less people to run a website, etc. I didn't actually start profiting from what I did until a few years ago, when I started freelancing. Every single thing I create for myself or my clients, I learn something new. There's always more to learn, and that's one of the reasons why I still design. I've fallen in love with designing, and the idea of it itself. I'll continue to do what I do for a long time!

About:

My name is Josh, I'm 16 years old, and I have been designing for over two years. I like focusing on animation and illustrations mostly while also having the basics in grasp.

I look at graphic designing mostly as a hobby. Something I can do to find more styles, and get better with over time.

Hopefully if I make it into FBN, I can help and learn from others.

Experience:

I'm mostly based in Photoshop and Illustrator. I have been trying to get into After Effects to get better with my animating skills.

Hello my name is Josh! Im only 16 but I really like the idea of this group. I have always been into art, photography, Fashion, creative works etc. And it would be awesome if you guys could accept me into your group.

My Work: My most recent work can be seen here:

<https://m.facebook.com/profile.php?id=717202818309614>

Second work: I also just recently this June got My (EF) "Exotics Fashion" graphic logo copyrighted. This is the Profile picture as seen on the Facebook page you just saw.

Third Work: On the Exotics Facebook and Instagram -http://instagram.com/exotics_fashion (Incase you've missed it) I have a thing for creating video spinners or re-edited videos. The videos are more so based on the late 90s shows/movies and for some time I've been doing these videos to promote my vision and vibe for my brand. I am sorry I have to direct you to my links instead of strait forward posting my work but I am doing this from my phone and it has limited options. Well I hope you enjoy my application and think about choosing me as a member of Your group!

About:

I'm a 16 year old kid from Alabama in the US. I'm in the marching band at school because I love music, whether it be listening or making it. I've always been artsy, and when I discovered HF I saw some of the crazy things that could be done with PS and other programs and immediately wanted to start practicing using it as soon as possible.

Experience:

I've been working with PS for about two years now and it's my main thing I use to do all my work. I've never really branched out of Photoshop unless it was required. I've used Cinema4D and Apophysis before after seeing some cool things be made from both of them. I draw a lot of abstract stuff on paper and ever so often try and trace it by eye onto the computer. I was in GM two times before and both of them were for the student program. I had to drop out once because of me having to focus in school, and the next because of an illness in the family not allowing me to be fully focused and committed to the assignments.

More:

I just wanted to say that I really appreciate the opportunity the leaders and the FBN's members are giving me to prove myself to them. Thank you for taking your time to read this, I appreciate it. Whether or not I'm accepted, I look forward to seeing more from the group and will strive for the ability to be a part of such a great opportunity at all times.

Sincerely,
Ethereal.

About:

I am 18 years of age, though I am competitive in any line of work I do, more so for graphic design purposes due to my drive and passion to become very experienced, and well known. I try my best to produce high quality work no matter what for, or what product it may be associated with.

I strive to compete with the other top names in the community, such as Daemon-Inkz.

Though I am unknown in the design community, I wish to change that and produce tutorials or anything I can to enrich users on design work, and my own knowledge to learn more about Graphic Design.

I try to steer away from over-used designs, and create new design to appeal to people. I try to do what I think looks best, and what the customer CNC's on.

Experience:

I have about 3 years experience with Photoshop & Illustrator.

I have basic knowledge in Cinema4D, but I am learning as I go.

I'm learning new things in After Effects to expand my animation designs.

More:

I am a self-taught, freelance graphic designer of about 3 years. I have worked for multiple parties, including: Game Servers, Personal Use, Virtual Companies, as well as Community & Clan Sites.

I'm an intermediate level photo shop student who's taken classes in high school (2 years). I've done many projects for people in real life and don't have much on here to show. I've made a few signatures and almost all my thread designs. I'm not the greatest but I figured that's why I'd join this group right? I love making things from scratch in photo shop and I can't help but think about new ideas. If I'm accepted I'll try my best to show you that I'm improving.

I not only think that I'd be a great addition to the team but to the hack forums community. I'm very interested in this group and photo shop in general. I've been using it for a few years now and I'm pretty familiar with it but just need that extra push on ideas to create things. I hope I'm accepted and you like some of my work:). Before I take the time to format any of my projects for this space I would like to verify that they would even be considered as art. I am a programming addict who enjoys abstracting and obfuscating code to create unique designs that you wouldn't expect to see in code. It is kind of a rare and archaic art that may not mesh well with this group, but I deemed it worth my time to confirm that.

About: Hello, I got by Knight on here now and also on Tagfreak. I highly enjoy tagging as a stress relief but also because i am getting better and better everyday. I feel as though throughout the times that I have quit and come back, I always knew that I wouldn't be able to quit fully. I am back now however, perhaps for good. I realize that I would strictly be in the tagging sector if I am accepted, but I would also eventually like to branch out to web design, and vectoring.

Experience: I have around 6 months total time of experience in Photoshop and can't get enough of it.

More: I would just like to thank you for reviewing my application, and I totally understand if I don't make the cut, and will work on getting higher quality work so that I can get in.

Thanks!

My work;

I do not have much to show, my work is limited on what I have left, as 90% of all graphical work I've done has been wiped along with my hard drive. However, what I have to show, should hopefully be enough.

About me:

There's not too much special about me, I like to try new things, I like to make things pretty. I have OCD, so things tend to take longer to get perfect.

Experience:

I've been playing around on and off with photoshop and gimp for several years, Nothing professional or educational. I recently bought photoshop, (you didn't pirate it?! what! nonsense!) I have plans to expand my knowledge.

More:

Most of my work is based on Gaming communities, the things I create and run. I picked up graphical design a long while ago, once I realized how important of a skill it was for community owners/workers. Sorry if my application is bland, I don't have photoshop yet, I'm waiting on newegg to email me my Photoshop License code >.<

Your work:

Firstly, alot of the FBN guys know who I am, they have critiqued my work and some have said I am learning at a ridiculously fast pace. I started vectoring on illustrator about 2 weeks ago, here are 3 of my favorite pieces of work so far.

1. Keyboard & Mouse.

This was really my first piece of work, it was a project given to me by mjaj as I am in the graphics sector of The Brotherhood. I personally love the colors I had used and the style in which I presented it.

2. Monkey Life

This piece was created by taking reference from a picture online, this piece was just to get me on track, more practice for vectoring, its not that I couldn't draw, its that it didn't mean that much to be as, again, it was just for practice. The final result, in my opinion came out nice.

Reference picture can be found on this thread:

2. What.. is.. it?

This piece was done today, the say I am posting this application, I spent hours last night drawing sketches for it and stayed up almost all night on illustrator, I couldn't sleep when I had fresh ideas for a new piece. Not much to say about it, as it speaks for itself.

Enjoy.

Portfolio here.

About me: My name is Dark, my real name is David. I am 19 years old, I have spent that past year in a graphic design course in college, this turned out to be a waste of time, the facilities were terrible, we didn't use any adobe programs, just free ones. So I had to make due when I was at home, the course mainly revolved around sketching, not even computer graphics so that didn't benefit me in any way, everything I have learned I have learned myself and with the help of some threads on HF. Not much else to say as I have gotten about 2 hours sleep and my brain cannot function properly.

Experience: As mentioned previously, I have just finished a year course in which I learned nothing, I then made it my goal to teach myself and learn from others and honestly, to a certain extent, I think I have succeeded.

This is a very small amount of work. If you would like to see my website designs or my other Graphic designs please contact me! I've thrown this portfolio together while working on a website project, heres a little preview of what I'm currently doing:

I also have tons of other projects on the go if you need some more influence that I am worth having in the group. I really want to be Fly By night so I'll be adding more work when I have the chance, if you've been active in the market you'll see some userbars that I've created for competitions, or logos for competitions, aside from that I deal privately with people!

About

I'm 19, my name is Jay and I'm from the UK. I love graphic and website design, it's my passion and my work, I have little boy whose two years old so working is a must, and instead of following the sheep and working for a big corporation I'm doing it my way, earning money on my own and being my own boss, I work 10 hours a day and come out with over a normal job rate (Sometimes a lot more) being apart of this group would just help me more.

Experience

I've been doing Graphic and Website design for over 10 years, I'm 19 years old, I have tons of work, and I can offer so much to the group! What I have shown you in my portfolio is an extremely small amount of my work, if you view my thread you can see how much work experience and happy customers I have.

Why'd you choose me?

I feel like I should be chosen because I have been doing Graphic Design for well over 6 years, I also do website designs and website developments.

I have run multiple services on this forum that relate to this, the most recent being this service has been extremely successful and I've had over 500 happy customers throughout my time on HackForums.

From the moment I saw FBN I wanted to join, but I also wanted to make sure that when I did join people were impressed with what I had to show, I have been compiling my latest work for around a month (I have no job so I do Graphic design daily, all the work I will show you is less than 30 days work) I hope you appreciate what I have done and let me join you. I'd love to be in FBN it's one of the best groups I've seen on HackForums.

About

I am 22 years old and have been photographing for about 3 years now. I shoot Nikon but looking to make the switch over to Canon sooner or later. I have been doing portraits, engagements and now I have started doing Weddings. I'd love to be a full time Wedding Photographer and I will one day. I use Lightroom and Photoshop to edit. I want to start learning how to make graphics in Illustrator and other programs soon.

Experience

I've been shooting for three years and just this past year have been getting serious about this as a career. I use Lightroom and Photoshop CC for the most part. Lightroom I am very proficient in and Photoshop I'm learning but have a good understanding of it as a whole. Soon I will be using it and Illustrator to become even more diverse in my knowledge of the programs and their full functionality.

More

I live in Florida and went to college for Recording Arts at Full Sail University, I do have to admit that has made my search for a job in my field quite limited but this hobby has become a part time job and I hope to make it a full time job soon. I'd love to join a group that can help further my knowledge of art and teach me things I don't know yet as well as be able to help share my knowledge with others seeking to make a hobby or side job out of Photography.

Thank you for your consideration.

Your work: I have not been as busy as I want to be with my GFX/Drawing work, but here are some things that I have been creating. These are Userbars that I am working on for the new "Void" Group.

These are just some of the things that I have come up with, the final copy will be coming soon, and hopefully you will see it on the Userbar! Yes I did Watermark it because I really don't want to deal with people stealing my work. Also, these are not just pre-made images thrown together with Microsoft Paint, I made this from only a blank page. These took me quite a bit though, probably because I was working on them at around 4:00 AM, but nonetheless, I am happy with it. More to come in the future, this is just what I have done recently (Two days ago)

About: Hello, I am not sure if we have met or not from me not exactly knowing who will be reviewing my application. I am BlackVeilBrides, a 17 year old in High School who mainly does things that involve computers such as programming/coding, but also GFX. I have been doing art related work since I was maybe 14 years old, well that's when I was actually serious about it and not just drawing something on my homework and going around saying I was an expert artist. I do other things besides sitting on the computer/Hack Forums all day. I drum/sing/guitar/piano, and listen to music constantly. I have been working on writing a few things actually, and hopefully finding out a way to put everything together since I don't quite exactly have a recording studio in my house. I used to play organized sports such as Soccer/Baseball, but I have stopped doing them for school, and now I just play recreational soccer every so often.

Experience: I have been doing GFX since I was 14 years old. I started out with just a pen and paper like most, basically drawing out whatever weird abstract things came into my head. Soon, things started becoming clearer what I was drawing, and I found myself drawing "Graffiti" style words, making really cool designs. I started doing other styles of fonts other than graffiti to expand my knowledge basically, and found myself getting into Calligraphy. The more and more I drew, the more confident I felt in myself, so I attempted drawing people. I was absolutely terrible, and it was probably one of the worst experiences in my lives when my friend completely thought my work was a joke, which I do agree, it was terrible. Then I realized that maybe drawing realistic people just isn't my thing, so I started watching various Anime with my older brother, who introduced me to the starters such as Naruto. I started drawing Anime Characters, and they turned out to be really good honestly. I was extremely picky about making them look exactly like they did in the Anime, without tracing them of course, and started drawing those characters. After a while, I soon was introduced to Photoshop by my brother, and he gave me a bunch of basic tutorials and basically everything I knew for a while. I got better after watching various YouTube tutorials on how to do things, and the knowledge just basically sank in. I wouldn't say that I am an expert, but I can assure that I definitely know my way around.

More: There's not much more that I would like to say really other than I would be honored to join the group if I was accepted.

Also, thank you for taking the time and reading my application!

I started doing other styles of fonts other than graffiti to expand my knowledge basically, and found myself getting into Calligraphy. The more and more I drew, the more confident I felt in myself, so I attempted drawing people. I was absolutely terrible, and it was probably one of the worst experiences in my lives when my friend completely thought my work was a joke, which I do agree, it was terrible. Then I realized that maybe drawing realistic people just isn't my thing, so I started watching various Anime with my older brother, who introduced me to the starters such as Naruto. I started drawing Anime Characters, and they turned out to be really good honestly. I was extremely picky about making them look exactly like they did in the Anime, without tracing them of course, and started drawing those characters. After a while, I soon was introduced to Photoshop by my brother, and he gave me a bunch of basic tutorials and basically everything I knew for a while. I got better after watching various YouTube tutorials on how to do things, and the knowledge just basically sank in. I wouldn't say that I am an expert, but I can assure that I definitely know my way around.

More: There's not much more that I would like to say really other than I would be honored to join the group if I was accepted.

Also, thank you for taking the time and reading my application!

I updated the application with the version that I am content with.

I was unable to decide which one to use, so I used all four of them, sorry.

Bans and closures don't affect a skype based group.
Please refrain from posting non applications, thanks.

I believe this thread should be somehow closed and opened up by a new leader.

It would be better represented if it was.

Travs - July 8, 2014, 8:22 pm

i'm the new leader of fbn

everyone has been denied

Anything else:

I'm not a huge fan of editing, and I try to keep it minimalist. No point in trying to make a bad photo good, but silly mistakes can be fixed. Almost all of the above photos are unedited.

Thanks.

I somehow see this thread going to trash.

Shame, what a good group it is/was.
