I'm pretty sure you are not allowed to open shops for other members if they can't post in this section on their own.

You could say this is a dual shop though since you have to contact him until 5/14 it's considered as his shop even though he can't post in this section.

Not sure if it's 100% official though a couple people told me about this.

It is his shop and mine. It's a dual shop but since he is currently busy i will be the main support line. Feel free to link me to the source of this information. Also you can go and post this on other duel shops. I love how you're almost trying to make me feel bad.
