Thread: I can't stand anime.

SewDough - April 17, 2014, 11:40 pm

I hate anime more than anything. What the hell is wrong with you guys?

Like, why do you like it? Can you explain what it is that you like about anime so much that it becomes a hobby?

I'm so confused. I don't even know where to begin. It's like cartoons in a foreign language right?

Flummox - April 17, 2014, 11:41 pm

I seriously don't get it either. I have never watched it and really don't plan on it. It's like watching a cartoon.

?Amazing - April 17, 2014, 11:42 pm

Now i dont really watch anime and dont really seem that interested in it, but i wouldnt say i "Hate it" just would say its not my type

SewDough - April 17, 2014, 11:44 pm

No like I hate it. I hate anyone that watches it because they're usually hikikomori's and never go outside, just staying in all day, watching anime, never getting out. Like wtf dude.

Br?ndon - April 17, 2014, 11:44 pm

I guess for the same reasons you watch the shows you do?

Because you like it ofc.

FeaturedBMX - April 17, 2014, 11:44 pm

You should actually watch it before judging. I personally don't watch it though. You have to think of it like if someone is gay, and maybe you like something different. We all have different interests that please us.

Never said I liked it.

Just defending those who do.

But I do enjoy dragon ball z if you consider that anime.

12Chainz - April 17, 2014, 11:47 pm

I watch it from time to time, it's just like any movie, or tv show that's not animated. Has a plot, it's all chronological, etc...

It's basically a story.

With that said I absolutely hate anime culture , it's led to me never telling anyone irl I watch anime. I don't like it, my HS used to have an anime club full of weirdos who would dress up and "express" themselves. It's all utter garbage, just enjoy the movie/ tv show and stop trying to incorporate the things you see in anime into who you are as a real person. Stop buying "death notes" and wearing weird gloves, stop being a fucking idiot, you aren't being different, you're being a jackass with no originality.

All of that said, I enjoy watching SOME animes, some of them are just plain stupid, others are thought provoking and true pieces of art. Just like any tv show, book, or other form of entertainment.

I clearly don't spend enough time here as you have "3362" posts in this section, damnit OP I wanted a non trolling discussion.

wellager - April 17, 2014, 11:51 pm

1. Anime has more possibilities than series
2. More attractive and charismatic characters
3. Most of the time, anime has interesting plots
4. I don't have any kind of social life
5. It's a good way to pass time

I'm not saying conform to what society wants you to do, I'm saying stop being assholes and weirdos about it. It gives anime a bad name, and makes people who genuinely enjoy it hate it at the same time.

I'm basing this on my experience, I had this fat 250 pound chick who would have a death note, and every week this fat jello piece of sub human filth would sit next to me with her degenerative unclean ass and write in her death note. Yes she had a death note(a black journal that she over paid for). And EVERY SINGLE DAY, she would write my name(in the black journal), and leave it open so I could see it. Why would she do this you ask? I didn't join their shitty anime club and decided to make real friends. This thing and her friends would be out in the soccer field playing pretend, they would call each other things like "baka", things that made my ass hole pucker up so hard it felt like I was gonna suck my asshole up through my mouth and throw up everything ass first. Mind you she wrote the name of everyone in class who didn't wanna join her anime club, so it was basically everyone. Her and her shitty friends would run around the school screaming in Japanese and constantly telling everyone about how japan was better than the US. There was a guy who wore a fedora, cowboy hat hybrid, and this hero of all the women would try to run on walls and stupid shit. The stupid fuck ended up getting seriously hurt one day when he tried to do parkour with his 350 pound body and it imploded, leaving him looking like jabba the fucking hutt. Either way these kids stayed and grew over my 4 years of highschool, it was disgusting. My school had gangsters, gays, you name it we had it. But oh my lawd, these fuckers, they were the scum of the world. I enjoyed watching anime, but I can't go around discussing it as it groups me up with these fucks.

SO DONT TELL ME NOT TO HATE THOSE FUCKERS. And if you're like those fuckers, and you're sitting here with a fake tail you bought for 500 dollars sticking out of your ass, FUCK YOU. Stop being disillusioned and join the rest of the fucking world.

ROFL, the example you gave made me lose my shit. Don't you think it's a little extreme to judge the whole anime culture and fandom based on this... thing?

A fake tail would be less than $500 but I don't do that shit, no one knows I watch anime IRL so yeah. You just have to find the right people to discuss with.

I graduated a few years ago, I have good friends I can mention a thing or two to, but there are tons of anime "casuals" who don't wanna be grouped up with degenerative pudding girl. And no I don't, are you in school? Be honest whose the weirdest kid in your school? Now ask yourself does that fucker watch anime? 8/10 times the answer is yes.

Why is this? It's because these fucks think that watching anime means you have to pick a favorite character, and then pick a female character so you can call her kawaii. It's not a matter of them trying to experience a different culture, it's a matter of them grabbing anime by her pig tails, ass raping her with their cringe worthy behavior and then taking a break to shove yogurt up their ass so they can repeat the process.

I dunno where I got the yogurt thing from, I regret nothing.

Stay Plural - April 18, 2014, 12:21 am

Most don't have a social life or really love Japanese culture among other things. Anime is weird, introverted, and completely out of the norm for regulars. Perhaps you should strive to not be a regular and respect other people's preferences? You may hate it (as do I) but it's like how you don't get it, other people do. If that possibility of you not understanding it is around, then the opposite of that exists too. Niggr

Your posts are gold. Don't get me wrong, I'm not mocking you, it's just that the content is so funny. You're just stereotyping now.

Being weird? As in doesn't talk to people and keeps to himself/herself? You're talking out of personal experiences, that's not the case everywhere.

I don't really get it. I mean I get that it's just a show that's animated but its how they turned it into porn kind of or deals now. I never watch it but when I hear/see someone talking about anime.. It's like they are all the Asian/Chinese, that part I do not get. I mean thats the only difference to me from Anime and Cartoons.

Sorry if I sound very stupid, which is most likely the case of the scenario. I am just talking from my PoV.

No being weird as in has a fucking cat tail sticking out of their ass, and running around with what I can only assume is Japanese turrets. It's like these fuckers try to be boxxy all the fucking time. It's exhausting, I'm mostly just kidding around, but pudding girl, and captain fedora really did go to my school, and I don't like people like them.

Tell me this, which sounds more socially acceptable? If everyone in school were to know which club you were a part of which would you pick?

A book club or an anime club? A movie club or an anime club? A tv show club, or an anime club?

Why is it that a club for ANY other sort of entertainment is acceptable and okay, but when me and most other people think of an anime club we imagine pudding girl, and captain fedora?

Honestly to god, I would never choose the anime club. I don't like that society judges people based on how the weirdos act but that's how it is. So unless you wanna change society I'd suggest you get to work on pudding girl.

Hell you could have a sex club and it would have more socially acceptable behavior than what goes on in an anime club.

Lol half of this is from a stand up act I did a while back.

I hope you ignorant fucks that are replying to this thread with all your negativity take time to realize that most (all?) Japanese cartoons are considered Anime.

You're pretty much criticizing an entire nation for their culture. Anime has way more of a plot and meaning than some American cartoons here (I mean you Spongebob and Family Guy). Some of the American TV shows make my brain cells cry for the brain cells of the creators and all the viewers that actually think such shows are good and worth watching.

Right because Japanese culture revolves around anime. That's the only reason their one of the most powerful countries in the world. Their anime. Lol, what are you talking about, watching anime is fine. I watch it, lots of people watch it, but when you import Japanese culture to somewhere where its not the norm and try to act like fictional characters are real, you open yourself to some criticism. The only difference between cartoons(american ones) and anime is that there are some anime that actually require you to use your brain to actually understand the plot(looking at you Evangelion(ending)).

It's like this.

Cartoons = Call of Duty Ghosts or Final Fantasy XIII(which I like, but can't be compared to older ones)

Anime = Half Life or or Final Fantasy VII

I watch anime because of the sheer fact i love it, It has a story and can gives so much more to offer than most shows that i see aired in the U.S., It's all based on what you like and watch, and anime is just a medium or "art style" its just a different form of entertainment, like it or not it's here and no need to hate on it just because you don't know what it's like. Honestly, you should watch something and see if you enjoy it!

Jeff Winger - April 18, 2014, 12:19 pm

Because I enjoy it? I want to be entertained, so why would I handicap myself and continue to watch American television shows when I don't even enjoy all of them? The plots are good and that's all I need to be entertained. I enjoy more anime shows than I do with American Shows.

If you're not a fan of anime, that's cool. Some of my friend's don't like anime either, but they like certain shows which got them to like some of it like Fullmetal Alchemist.

Howl - April 18, 2014, 12:22 pm

Heck, I enjoy anime but I never tell anyone about it because I'm afraid of being associated with the people who do. In high school, they had this anime club that met every Wednesday and read manga/watched anime. People on that day would wear cat ears, tails, and even cosplay at school; they were the entire laughing stock. You can hear them in the halls between class saying "Kawaii Desu~~". The weirdest part is when they act like characters that absolutely anyone who is anyone is unfamiliar with. I walked in to see what it was all about and left within 20 minutes. They'd sell "pocky sticks" claiming it was the "Best food of japan", and the room would always have this badissy smell. Oh my god.

I wish they would STOP ruining the reputation for everyone else who watches it. It sucks having to watch anime in secret because you're afraid of being affiliated with these people. In that aspect, anime is terrible. If only you watch it and don't take it to the next level, it can be great.

I watch it, it's great to pass time, it's like any other television show. Just don't take it out of the room.

Anime can save life it can inspire people. If there weren't anime we could see people kidnapping children all the time. Anime prevent that. Anime shows pedophile that their better stuff then kidnapping a girl and using them for there own good. Anime saved well over than 95% kids from being kidnapped by pedophile. There are less and less CP posted now that we have Anime. Pedophiles think that Loli are CP but they wrong if we keep making them think it is then we won't have children to suffer no more. We can bring peace to the world. If there peace I will take the peace and use it. I will take all the hatred out of the world! Also, Clannad is love. Clannad is Life.

BiosMyst - April 19, 2014, 9:51 am

Neverminding that OP is a troll,

Because there are some good serious anime which provide amazing plots, character development and more space for creativity? What movies nowadays can't provide. Not to mention longer than movies, usually.

It's same question why people watch cartoons like Archer and Family guy? For black humour, lots of it, what movies or tv series can't provide, at least not enough. Same thing with anime, be it black humour, action or whatever. Something they can't get enough of from other sources of entertainment.

I don't give a fuck what it is, if it's drawn or not, if it's in japanese or chinese or hindu or russian, as long as it is interesting.

Not everyone watches hentai or ecchi stuff, I personally don't watch any of that stuff, it's boring and plotless, but like I said there are plenty serious and good ones anime. Or adventurous ones, which will satisfy your childhood's fantasies and make more of them.

That said, I haven't watched any anime in few years now... And even before that, around 5-6 a year. Why? Because there's no interesting ones left, same as with movies and tv series. And they barely produce anything good, maybe 1-2 a year of good ones, and even then sometimes not my type, same as with movies and tv series.

It depends on personal preferench suppose. I'm not the type of person that obsessives over anime and you're right there are a lot of people who take it way to seriously as a result become weirdos. Though the few anime I did watch just leaves you like what the fuck wanting you more. A lot of the anime leaves you thinking or wanting more. not to mention a lot of anime has a really good story line.

I'm so confused. I don't even know where to begin. It's like cartoons in a foreign language right?

Reasons why we watch anime;

1. Time-filling.

2. Bored.

3. Grew up with cartoons such as anime and watched them every single day before going to school and liked them such as Pokemon, Yu-gi-oh, Digimon, Shaman King, and so on.

4. Getting Attracted to Hentai, goes watch ecchi anime's such as High-school DxD.

5. Makes you drunk of emotions.

Viral Dragon - April 23, 2014, 10:33 am

Lol OP. ...

WhatI like most about anime is a few of the aspect of it. I like the storyline/plot (they're usually very good, save for quite a few of them.)

I like the characters they make. I like the animation styles, I like the dialogue, just overall, I love watching anime to the point I've seen a good 1100 anime or so.

Despite the constant cliches, little tidbits that make me wanna throw a chair. What I like most about anime, is that you can get "lost" in anime. Anime, for some people (or maybe a shit ton of people) is a way to escape reality for a bit. Sometimes you can feel like you are

"that" character in the anime. Or you start telling yourself what you would have done instead or yell at the character for doing something stupid. Etc etc.

It's just an escape. We know it's not real. We know some of it is quite unrealistic (like being stuck in a video game.) and we know some people just completely fuck it up for us, but over all, it's because we get lost in the episodes of XX.

Characters show qualities you wish you had, or do have and therefor you feel like you could be that guy. The drama, love storyies, cliches, it all makes you feel like it could be real if you were there.

And if you're basing this off people whom dress up like anime characters and speak broken english/japanese (an example would be using japanese and english in one sentence (e.g.: konichiwa joey-san, how was your day sempai) or some other stupid sentence like that) then don't please. Those are people who are either new to the fandom of anime. Completely obsessed to the point that they really do believe they are that anime character. In other words, weeaboo (a derogatory term). ._.

M?.M??? - April 23, 2014, 11:52 am

Have you ever thought of some of the shows that you like on TV like for example. Walking Dead, Game of Thrones etc? and many people love it right? Same with anime. Some anime's have great stories that's highly addictive to watch and you can't just get enough of it. Walking Dead: Many people can't wait until a new episode arrives, and I hear many conversations about it.

It has different genres like ones you see on TV. Action, Adventure, Comedy, Drama, etc. I see anime as a regular show I like to watch just like when I was a kid and watch Cartoon Network everyday.

Thats right! Btw trolling is bad for your health but you got me with this. There are good and bad Anime just like any other show, movie, game or what ever.

Funny thing people tend to watch films like Iron Man, Batman, Thor, Captain America, X-Men and so on. Those are all adaptations from comics. Comic is the american complement to japanese manga. Its all about telling a good story and there are a lot good stories to be told. So enjoy what you like but don't judge if you know only part of it!

Anime is a form of entertainment. So is gaming, going to the cinema or going for a swim. I can like swimming because I love the sea, I can like swimming because I love hot woman in bikini's and so on. So it is with all forms of entertainment.

I personally watch anime because its fun to see adult stuff in a drawn perspective; reminds me of my child years and that i didn't loose it when i grew up but it was reborn into something else.

Lewa_Kieteh - April 26, 2014, 12:13 am

Why do I like anime? For me personally, alot of anime have good artwork and stories. Not to mention it's usually a story worthy of being written as a book. Not that there us anything wrong with American cartoons, it's just that alot of our cartoons have no real plot and are just to make us laugh or poke fun at political crap or life. Other than that, I find it interesting and I enjoy the stories. If most anime were a book without pictures, I would still read it. Basically it all boils down to personal preference. Whether you are obsessed with football, or anime; it's your choice. I won't give a fuss. Just enjoy yourself.

Not_Anonymous - April 26, 2014, 12:34 am

I've seen a handful of overly popular anime episodes and used to watch and play Pokemon up to when I was a preteen if that counts. (My avatar does not mean I'm still into it, fyi.)

I don't see how it's different from any other cartoons, aside from art styles.

What drives me up a wall though are all the nerds who define their IRL person off of it and anyone who fits the definition of weeaboo stereotypes. But the franchise itself? Nah.

D3tr3x - April 26, 2014, 2:48 am

What makes you learn code, what makes you watch movies and enjoy it a certain degree to it becoming a hobby? Because you enjoy it.

In case you haven't noticed there's a lot of different genres and therefore a lot of variety in the anime selection.

And in japanese animation they put so much work in some animation so it looks amazing compared to let's say western cartoons.

And what's wrong with watching cartoons too? There are some cartoons you enjoy watching even as an adult. I just feel like you're pretty ignorant with this thread.

There's a huge difference style between western and japanese story telling too, including animations. It's far from just "cartoons in a foreign language". Well, not far per se but it's a simplified understanding of anime if you use that explanation like that. That's like saying movies are just moving pictures.

EDIT: and now I read the things you've said..... Well. Don't write a thread like this <.<
