Thread: VOTE VOTE VOTE for OMC at CoinPayments NOW NOW NOW

Omniscient - April 25, 2014, 1:08 pm

<https://www.coinpayments.net/vote>

Go vote immediately for OMC to be added to Coinpayments.

If we get listed on their site I will be adding the Omnicoinage award for purchase soon afterwards.

So please go vote NOW. They end the voting in 24 hours. We just got in under the wire but we need the votes. Go vote now.

You can see results here and that we only really need about 80 votes to be #1. That should NOT be hard for this community.

Results: <https://www.coinpayments.net/vote-thanks>

DO NOT vote twice. Your extra vote will not help us and will be discounted. Just encourage others to vote. Also do not send BTC/LTC to members for them to make payments. CP considers that bribes to vote and will disqualify them. Please don't cheat. You can read full rules here:

<https://www.coinpayments.net/help-charity-vote>

Vote can take about 30-60 minutes to confirm and register. Just be patient. Please note that after the confirmations are done you'll get a vote validation email which you'll need to click the link to confirm your vote. Remember to do that.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: Please do not make payments for other voters. Coinpayments is viewing that as soliciting votes and may discount them. DO NOT SEND LTC/BTC for others to vote.

IMPORTANT NOTICE 2: Please do not ask other members for BTC/LTC so you can vote. That's against their rules.

Unrep - April 25, 2014, 1:09 pm

Interesting, seems as if OMC is going to expand

Cyrus - April 25, 2014, 1:10 pm

Why do they make it 0.001 to vote, I know its like only $0.45 but still you shouldn't have to, oh well, get voting guys. ?

Morchid - April 25, 2014, 1:10 pm

My vote has been sent.

Good luck on getting Omni coin on CoinPayments.

Omnicoins are going to be just fine. You'll see. The naysayers are gonna feel like the assholes they are in 3 months.

Squidward - April 25, 2014, 1:12 pm

Darn, it's 0.001 to vote... I gotta sit on the side of the street with a cup to collect them quarters now...

OMC to the moon, yo.

Probably to avoid spamming and fake votes. Not to mention it makes them a few bucks to support their site. CP deserves it imho.

I'm sure the community will make sure that voters that need LTC/BTC to vote will get it.

Cletus Kasady - April 25, 2014, 1:14 pm

Great job, anyways :)To get into the vote they wanted the coin to be on a major exchange website before being incorporated into their payment system. AllCrypt added OMC to their exchange which I believe allowed Omnicoin to qualify to be in the vote.

I don't know how they would feel any more suspicious from that than the fact that howmanypeople have voted in ~15 minutes.

It's happened on websites such as PlanetMinecraft; yes it's different however it is basically the same scenario. People use to use VPN's/proxies to vote numerous amount of times and the owners of the website would reset all the votes.

Votes appear to take 30-60 minutes to register due to confirmations. Mine for instance took 45

Also I've spoken with owner and he knows how large HF is and that I'm pushing it. He likely nice to win by a landslide.

But they may only take top 3 or even #1 this time. We don't know and to be honest I'd be really disappointed if we can't get 75 votes. This is like Obamacare trying to get his 7 million registrations. :)

Also once we shoot into the top 5 other crypto currencies might begin a push to get last day votes as well.

Quote:Just a simple question, Whats the benefit of your coin getting accepted on cp? I dont even know what it is :D

Coinpayments allows merchants to setup accounts to accept crypto currencies like BTC/LTC and a number of other coins. The are like Coinbase except to be honest much simpler to implement with imho a better IPN system. With Coinpayments anyone on HF in our Marketplace that accepts crypto currencies can get an account and take their payments through CP which once we're listed I will be greatly encouraging. This is all part of my master plan to integrate OMC into HF.

With Coinpayments I can setup an auto buy for the Omnicoinage award very easily. And other integrations will also be possible.

Lastly if we're added to CP then every merchant that uses them has the option of adding OMC as a payment option too.

No one is certain yet. From what I've heard last time they took the top 5, but it could just be #1. Also, I don't think most if any of those coins have the backing like OMC does. I could be wrong on that, but due to HF's size it is doubtful.

Forezza - April 25, 2014, 3:37 pm

We are tying fourth, hopefully third soon. I think OMC should be added regardless because it was able to pull off that many votes within two hours when all of the other coins took days. Come on guys, 50 cents to vote, it's not going to hurt your wallets.

Mainly just because BTC is the most expensive and most popular crypto-currencies. If BTC fails in the near future before other currencies really find themselves, crypto-currencies likely will follow suit.

Quote:Well he needs help getting an IPN for it. Using Coinpayments is his choice so technically we're helping him more than ourselves. For all I know he could've waited for Orgy to release his instead.

Yes, because I'm sure the HF community wants to trust a service Orgy runs. :)

And members want integration and CP is going to make that possible. Also all the existing merchants using CP will now have the option of accepting OMC as well. That's a growth in the eco-system of Omnicoin.

btw Vertcoin which is #1 has an 8k post thread at Bitcointalk.org but analyzing the thread as well as most Announcement threads there shows that the OP and the coin team are doing constant replying and updating to the thread. What OMC has going for it is a very dedicated and committed community. We are also not fractioned in our crypto currency passions. You can read threads there and just see them openly post about pumping and dumping everything new. It's seriously why I feel they're toxic for OMC and it's the last place I want us to be advertised. Vertcoin infrastructure does appear pretty good though. I hope top 3 get added.

We're now #2 with 54 votes. We need just 20 more for #1. I'm hoping we can do it in the next few hours before I log off tonight.

#butimjustadumbidiotwhatdoiknow You vote for the coin so that payments can be accepted through CP so that Omni does not have to process it or create a shit ton of new code to allow integration into HF. Litecoin is already able to be paid through this (Litecoin award) and adding Omnicoin to CP's accepted currencies would allow for it to be as well. Basically it makes everything easier for the coin's integration.

As far as creating your own coin? I'm thinking it's not even worth responding to you since you probably cannot grasp the concept of forking and creating a reliable coin backed by a community.

Again...I didn't name the coin but if you have a hangup that it was named after me that's your fucking problem and you're just being an asshole. Dogecoin is obviously named after some stupid meme and that hasn't stopped it from being a success. I'm not sure a hackforumscoin is catchy or has a wide appeal anyways.

I'm sure they're cheating and I'm sure the owner of Coinpayments knows it. If not he'll figure it out. Anyone reading this thread can see the dozens of members saying they voted and showed support. They had 17 votes last time. How did they get 80 this time? I have a feeling no matter how many more votes we add that they'll cheat and add a couple more. They had one vote all day up till they noticed our votes and panicked at Reddit. They miraculously got more votes than comments. Serious cheating.

What a bunch of pansies.

Yes it will be allowed because he's purchasing the BTC, he's free to spend it how he likes.

What isn't allowed is giving members free BTC/LTC/DGC to vote with.

Its just as you said.

Its like PP but for Crypto Currency (by paypal i mean a payment processor).

Will make it waay easier to use OMC for example sell stuff for OMC etc.

Omniscient - April 26, 2014, 2:54 am

Quote:It's true,HF community is very supportuve and i wish OMC the best,but i would realy like to see Vertcoin to win this,that's all i have to say,and you guys are hating on their subreddit....thats very childish.

It's childish to cheat.

And like I said...I'm putting my faith in CP owner to spot cheating. I just get the feeling he's aware and will disqualify some votes including maybe a few of ours but I have a lot of confidence we will win.

Quote:If they keep cheating I'm going to attempt to hack their website

Please be civil. This isn't some war. It's a vote. So please don't act like assholes about it.

Quote:When I reported the dude who made 5 votes earlier, CP emailed me back stating that they "marked them to be deleted after the vote is over since he used the same email pattern on all of them."

Exactly. He'll check it and he can see this thread as proof of how many legit members are voting. I'm sure at least 60+ separate members have stated just in this thread they voted. While Vertcoin has like 8 people that somehow created 88 votes.

Quote:I think we will surpass them, the size of this community is capable of destroying their votes, no matter how many fake ones they add.

Correct.

Quote:I'm actually quite disappointed in HF (Maybe disappointed is the wrong word). The amount of users we have online, and the size of this community can only bring in 82 votes after this length of time?

I was also hoping for maybe 100-150 votes as well but 88 as of now isn't bad.

Quote:Wasn't CoinPayments supposed to shut down at the end of March? What made them change their mind? What changed?

Owner changed. Website was sold.

Thanks to the community for your support btw.

(Apr 26, 2014 12:18 PM)Chargen Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Will the value of each coin increase?

Yes more than likely due to the fact CoinPayments will add it as a payment processing option for all of their clients, meaning it will be more widely accepted & used.

This is basically a huge step to take OmniCoin out of HackForums & start introducing it to the world of Crypto Currency that exists outside of HackForums.

I wouldn't be surprised if it became something like $1:25 though as the difficulty increases.

I wouldn't be surprised if it became something like $1:25 though as the difficulty increases.

I think more realistically though as this has moved forward that the market is setting a much higher price than I expected. Again, I don't set the price per se but I do encourage certain pricing structures with HF integrations that are likely to come very soon.

I love to argue and debate and personally I view this as practice for what's to come. HF and OMC are going to be very criticized over the next year or so. Historically speaking the Reddit comments I'm making today might be read in the future. So to me it does matter in that regard. What happens if that page gets indexed by Google in top results for Omnicoin or OMC? I want to make sure that we come out in a good light and that it's clear what we are and what we're doing. I'm a forward thinker when it comes to long-term strategies and marketing. Unlike so many here that make ridiculous posts then 3 years later beg me to delete them because they look like an ass.

Congratulations, Omniscient and the dev team, you've done a bang up job, reap the rewards of the success that OMC will surely get.

I know. I saw that a few weeks ago. But we were certainly first. Anyone know when OMCv1 was released? Certainly I think as CC's become more popular you might see more custom ones based on merchants or communities. Sort of like how Macy's has their own credit card. There could be a day when Amazon runs their own crypto currency. As far as I know, we're the first to have a custom currency devoted to our own community. Not that OMC is a walled-garden concept but the intent is internal adoption with external use as secondary.

Shit happens ;) We came out on top regardless. I've been off most of today driving around, so when I woke up, OMC and Vertcoin were still neck and neck at around 88 votes. I was nice, and rounded down ;)

It's okay, dirt flows down, and we came out on top, so we should be clean. ;) But the fact that we were able to leverage this entire community to vote over 100 times, and each vote costing 0.001 BTC, providing nobody paid more to CoinPayments just to be charitable, we raised .108 BTC (almost $50) for charity. (Price may have changed and turned that into more than $50, so don't call me on that). In fact, depending on how the chips fall, I may work on an OMC only charity drive. Raise as much as we can, exchange it to BTC, and donate it to some charity. I'll run that one by Omni before committing to anything though.

I agree.

Their "ploy" over at the VertCoin Reddit subforum was that OmniCoin was faking votes because our votes came in so fast when it took them days just to make 70.

The simple reason for that is because as soon as Omni stuck that thread to the entire forum everyone saw it at once, but those bone idle twats over there can't seem to comprehend that.
