Do you have any samples of what you have created?

3Thirty3 - May 3, 2014, 8:05 am i did once upon a time how ever ive just got a new computer as my last one gave up and i lost 1 terabyte of media including my photos, im in the process of installing all new programs, i will make some samples up when i have done so

If you're getting back into website development, I'd suggest you learn HTML, CSS and JavaScript to avoid using WYSIWYG programs.

If you're looking for some good resources for getting started, here are a few.
