Thread: Prime's phone suggestion thread - seek phone advice here

Twitch? - May 3, 2014, 3:44 pm

I will be giving advice for those of you looking to purchase a phone. Here's the format you'll need to post in.

Quote:Budget: [STATE IF IT'S ON OR OFF CONTRACT AND CARRIER]

Requirements:

Are you a power user, or average consumer?:

Additional specifications or things I should know:

Keep in mind, I will be more biased towards android, but if your budget permits and it's really your wish, I'll lean towards any direction which I believe might suit you best.

I will try to keep suggestions in the thread so people can take the same advice, but for a quicker and more in-depth chat about your decision PM me for my Skype, AIM, Kik, or Hangouts.

The LG G2 is amazingly cheap on amazon on-contract

It has a 3000MAh battery which always lasts me outstanding times, and it has a snapdragon 800 and 2GB RAM.

Rooting and flashing a ROM to it took me about 15 minutes tops. I'll even help you do it! ?

Well, if the OnePlus One is available for you, go for it. It seems to be an amazing device.
