

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Doge coins to the rescue Jamaica bobsleigh

Sanka - May 6, 2014, 12:49 am

? Its amazing what doge coins and etc can do, us Jamaican's wouldnt get anywhere if it wasnt because of them now were back to the bobsleigh 2014, not been in Olympics for bobsleigh since 2002.

Quote:A group of supporters has raised more than $25,000 in the internet currency Dogecoin to let the Jamaican bobsleigh team attend the Winter Olympics in Sochi.

On Sunday, news broke that the team had qualified for the Winter Olympics for the first time since 2002. The two-man sled will be piloted by Winston Watt, a 46-year-old Jamaican-American who also competed in 2002, with Marvin Dixon as the brakeman.

I just felt to share this to see some other people opinions.

[img]http://d.ibtimes.co.uk/en/full/1358065/dogecoin-raising-funds-jamaican-bobsleigh-team.jpg?w=500&h=376&l=50&t=40[/img]

Edit- this was about an couple months ago but still a great share.

Done some research shame that happened.

"Winter Olympics 2014: Jamaican bobsleigh team earn one love from Sochi but last place beckons."

Shenanigans™ - May 6, 2014, 12:56 am

That is actually kind of remarkable. Dogecoin is really getting its name out there. I wonder how theyll perform in the olympics

Sanka - May 6, 2014, 1:07 am

(May 6, 2014 12:56 AM)AbusiveExBoyfriend Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That is actually kind of remarkable. Dogecoin is really getting its name out there. I wonder how theyll perform in the olympics

I know right hopefully they do good, they had to raise another $40,000 to even afford training and transport and etc im just hoping this is not an waste.

MrCortex - May 6, 2014, 2:23 am

This isn't a lost in any way, this is good advertising for crypto-currency and for Jamaica. Of-course it should be beautiful if they finished in the top three.

diiiaz - May 6, 2014, 2:25 am

It's funny that the winter olympics were like 1,5 months ago. This is old news.

.slash - May 6, 2014, 3:37 am

Saw this on /r/dogecoin like 5 months ago.

Sanka - May 6, 2014, 3:47 am

(May 6, 2014 02:25 AM)diiiaz ????? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It's funny that the winter olympics were like 1,5 months ago. This is old news.

Old new or not my friend still an nice thing to share.