

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [\[Help\] Minecraft change e-mail without receipt or current e-mail](#)

notmebitcoin - May 6, 2014, 8:17 pm

So I was able to get the passwords of a few Minecraft accounts, I proceeded to change the passwords. However I have no way of changing the e-mail so that the kids don't have the ability of changing their passwords back due to the limited info I currently have. Anyone know what to do? I greatly appreciate any advice, thank you!

MrAwesomeness - May 6, 2014, 8:50 pm

What you shouldve done is not changed the passwords. Changing the password lets the user know that you have hacked him. Which will make him want to request a password reset. You can still use the account without changing the password. Only change it if you have access to those emails.

If you dont have their emails, there is pretty much nothing you can do. Just hope they dont use the accounts anymore and dont decide to go change the password back.

notmebitcoin - May 6, 2014, 9:17 pm

Yeah, the issue is that the hope is to sell these accounts on forums for half price and only one person is allowed to be on these accounts at a time. Hopefully I can figure out a way, oh well.

MrAwesomeness - May 6, 2014, 9:23 pm

(May 6, 2014 09:17 PM)notmebitcoin Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah, the issue is that the hope is to sell these accounts on forums for half price and only one person is allowed to be on these accounts at a time. Hopefully I can figure out a way, oh well.

Well you can still sell them. Just inform them that the accounts may stop working at any time, and thats why they are so discounted, but this is a very unlikely chance. Or just forget to put that part in. Unless you get those emails, there is really nothing else you can do.