?nonymous - May 7, 2014, 12:55 pm

Threads:

1. The Story - A Look Behind The Mask

2. The Consciousness - The Darkness Within

These are thoughts - our thoughts.

Whether or not you believe it to be true is of no relevance to us.

If you feel nothing from reading the title; if the meaning of the title is unknown to you, then we suggest you disregard this thread and go on with your daily activities..

However if you understand what we mean; if you feel as we feel; if you've been seeking as we've been seeking, then I ask you to read this thread in its entirety, and we'll then walk through the valley of the shadow of death, while fearing no evil, because we'll both know that nothing could possibly be worse than the darkness within us.

Exactly two weeks ago, we posted a thread titled 'The Story'.

We've waited patiently until that thread received 666 replies, to release the next part of the story that is '#'.

Being Different

"You don't need to work for anything!" ----- "You've received so much money."

"You don't realise how lucky you are, I swear"

There's several faces behind the mask that is '#'. - Skids

My success - and that of # - has got absolutely nothing to do with luck; I've sacrificed many things in order to get to where I am today, and even though I wouldn't change anything, it saddens me to know that I won't ever experience the life of a normal person.

All of this didn't just magically happen, but is a result of hard work and dedication, but more importantly, it's only possibly because of specific traits in my persona.

I've heard personal and emotional stories from numerous members on here, and it's clear to me that none of us are alone with our struggles. This thread is dedicated to some specific people I've been talking to over the course of the last month; I'm not going to point out people - you know who you are when you're reading this.

Why Did You Join?

Take a second and ask yourself why you joined these forums..

Did you come to get free games and other bullshit? Did you want a stresser to be l33t h4x0r and DDoS people on xbox? Did you come to learn how to spy on your cheating whore of a girlfriend?

If either of these are true, then we're in no way alike and you could never even start to understand the inner struggles myself and countless other members are having each and every day..

We're cursed.

Are you a kid who never goes into the darkness of your basement? Who can't sleep after watching a horror movie? Who rush to the security of your blanket when you turn the lights off?

Consider yourself lucky, because the rest of us stopped checking for monsters under our beds when we realized they were inside of us..

Are We Alike?

I don't mean to be mean, but that's all I can be when these skids seek me out, while trying to act tough even though they're ten years old with a near perfect childhood.

No, I don't know them, but I know I don't owe them a thing and if they offend me, I can guarantee that I'll be a prick. I don't care who's there or who'll see me destroy them; give me even the slightest reason to fuck with them and I'll take it.

I quite simply don't give a fuck..

There's an idea of me, but there is no real 'me': only an entity, something illusory. Even though I can hide my cold gaze, and people can shake my hand and feel my warm flesh gripping theirs, and maybe they can even sense our lifestyles are probably comparable.. I simply am not there.

Now to the most important question of this thread; can you relate?

I'm Not Crazy

From reading what I've already written, you must think I'm a complete sociopath, but the truth is that we're only just getting started..

I don't feel empathy nor do I feel sorry for people. To be honest I rarely have any positive feelings when it comes to strangers..

On the contrary, I have this urge to control and manipulate people solely to drag them around in the dirt for my own pleasure, just to prove that they're below me.

My urge is constant and sharp, and I do not hope for a better world for anyone; in fact, I want my pain to be inflicted on others - I want no one to escape.

I despise spoiled, arrogant people, which is also why I'm so fond of computers; they do what you want them to do and if it generate errors, it's probably because I screwed something up myself.

I despise all those idiotic kids who brag about their amazing skills; real hackers don't brag about being real as long as he knows it himself.

Redemption

Just how sick are you? How many barriers would you cross simply to satisfy your own urge?

I know you don't care about others and feel no emotional bond towards the individuals, who would consider themselves your friends; I know the only reason why you don't steal from the nearest electronics shop is because it would cause too much hassle if you got caught; I know you want to have complete control over the situation, enabling yourself to be the smartest person in the room and always be on top.

If you can't follow my line of thought up until now, you might consider myself and others alike inhuman, but that's also far from the truth; hacking is my tofu when I actually thirst for steak:

We've all got families. We've got friends. Some of us got kids.. Simply letting our urges run wild would be fatal for the lives of those few people we love - because even though we don't care for strangers, we'll sacrifice anything for those we love - and more importantly it would disable us from continuing our hacking spree.

The most important thing in my world is to continue satisfying my urge, meaning that the worst that could possibly happen would be that I somehow got forced to stop; this is the exact reason why it's crucial, that I solely do keep to hacking people and not the far worse things I can only dream about - despite how delicious that blood-dripping steak would be, I would rather eat tofu for the rest of my life than throw it all away for just one steak.

But even after admitting this, there is no catharsis for me; the reason for my urge continues to elude me, and I gain no deeper knowledge of myself..

It's survival.. and in the end, that's what it's all about.

The Consciousness

This section is what this thread is all about.

In order to have success as a hacker, you'll need to cross barriers that normal people wouldn't, and this exact point is something most people don't understand when they want to get into hacking. In hacking, there's no room for sympathy or empathy; it's not personal, so don't treat the activities that way.

By hacking your school and modifying your grades you shit on the system simply to benefit yourself in a way that's unfair to everyone else, but you shouldn't care about that - it's nothing personal.

By wiping a server you destroy what some worker has spent countless hours constructing, in a matter of seconds, but you shouldn't care about that - it's nothing personal.

And then comes the things we can't discuss on here..

How would you feel knowing that you stole everything from some old couple, who can do nothing about it? Would you be able to sleep at night knowing they may lose their house because of your actions?

Before even starting to learn about different topic within hacking, you should figure out what type of person you are and where you have your limits; now write this conscious decision down and keep it for the future - this'll allow you to look back and see where you shouldn't go any further, otherwise you may just be tempted to do something you'll later regret.

Now there's those of you, who would end up regretting actions because of your sympathy for the target, and then there's those of us, who doesn't even have sympathy in our dictionaries..

Not Afraid

If you understand what I mean; if you feel as I feel; if you've been seeking for a solution as I've been seeking, then don't hold back, but share your thoughts and your experiences, because if I've learned anything, it's that there's dozens on people on these forums who're just as psychologically different as myself.

But let me be clear when saying, that I do not consider this a weakness nor an issue; the darkness is a part of me and I embrace it - I've learned to utilize the lack of emotions and take advantage of my situation, and so should you if you haven't already.

Whatever your parents, your teachers, your colleagues or your psychologist says, I tell you now that you're in no way 'sick'.

You are unusual. You are special. You are different.

I am 'different' and I say it proudly.

Are you?

We are #, and this is a look into our consciousness.

Business will go on as usual.

We can only hope that one of you will find this thread interesting and hopefully learn more about yourself from reading it.

We are #; we are legion.

Nice thread. Dealing with the "evil" dark part of me is often challenging. I will read the entire thread when I get home and am able to listen to the music videos in the background.

Wow! Another awesome thread for Anonymous!

Astral™ - May 7, 2014, 1:05 pm

Still confused as to whether or not Anon is confirmed dead.

Also, I can actually relate to some of this. I do feel empathy and do try my best to help others at all times.

Banish - May 7, 2014, 1:06 pm

Another big thread. I look forward to reading this through.

EDIT; read it through. Fascinating read.

I personally cannot empathise fully with you. I feel sympathy and pity far too easily. Maybe that's my hamartia.

I suppose this isn't important for you, but I'll just leave this message.

Your threads are amazing to read, and I can relate to alot of it.

Hopefully I can walk in your footsteps one day, wheter those footsteps are footsteps of a thousand people, or even just an idea.

Thank you.

UkVenoM - May 7, 2014, 1:25 pm

I completely agree with this, although i don't know you nor any individuals at #, I dare say i relate to this. Hacking shouldn't be deem as a personal attack, It's just business.

About the lack of emotions, I am at a stage in life where i have full control over emotions. Recently i was told a member of my family died, i felt nothing. No pain, no sorrow. Is that sick? i don't believe it is, i can provide you with an illusion that i care. But it's not real. Am i sick? I don't believe so, i can simply control emotions to a certain level higher than those of other individuals. It developed as i went though deep depression but rather than see it as a flaw, i see myself improved. People often question my motives, I have none. Its just business.

Great read as usual, Keep up the insanely HQ post's Sir. ?

Guardian™ - May 7, 2014, 1:44 pm

It's weird how much I can relate to the story. I often though there was something wrong with me, a sickness or something, but this thread have given me something to think on. I'll continue to cross barriers.

And to answer the question; I am different and I am proud of it!

Vizzeh - May 7, 2014, 1:46 pm

666 replies? Thats not weird at all...

EDIT: You know hacking doesn't affect everyone. It only affects those who rely on computer. I don't know why you are acting like your hacking will destroy everything and anyone.

I have respect to you my friend. You have the drive to do anything you like.

Krew - May 7, 2014, 1:51 pm

This thread made me go from happy to sad. No one has a monster inside him that does those 'bad things'. It is a excuse for the weak and the morally not right.

Wiak - May 7, 2014, 1:52 pm

I've been going through some deep shit, everyone have. But are you strong, can keep yourself together and show them that you are

F*C*ING BETTER THEN THEM. THEN DO IT.

No one should have the right to say that you suck on that or talk shit to you.

I just smiled and showed them that I can. I can do it better then you. I'm atleast better at not caring than you are.

Everyone will always try to push you down. But if you stand strong and stay above them. They will stop care about you. Just stay strong. Take some hits mentaly and physically cause in the end when you showed them that you are strong. They will be suprised and stop.

I don't know if this means anything to you guys. But as respect for Anonymous. I did what he said.

"I've been seeking, then don't hold back, but share your thoughts and your experiences"

So yea. REST IN PEACE my friend. You'll be remembered.

You're telling me that you've never been compelled to do anything mischievous, dastardly or sick? Even if its stealing cookies from 'Mommys' cupboard.

The monster inside is very real. it places dark thoughts and ideas in your mind, it shows how you can get away with 'wrong' doing; How you could make this situation benefit you. People define the monster differently and it will effect each individual uniquely. Not everyone shares the same demons. But be aware it is very real. Those that refuse to accept that it is part of reality simply don't understand and/or have never experienced anything like it.

It's not an excuse Nor does it make you weak, It molds you as a character. In fact if controlled it makes you stronger. The advantage of having a mindset which is based upon manipulating situations for your own benefit is mindblowing. Your moral values work well in society, But eventually you'll be put in a situation where you will have to choose between getting the job done, or taking the morally correct route.

This way of thinking does not make an individual sick or twisted in anyway shape or form. People are not perfect. In this generation where from a young age you are told how to act, how to feel, how to conform it should come as no surprise that some people break away and do what they need to do, rather than what they are told to do. ?

From what I gathered in the thread, his morals are to his true loved ones, his family, his friends. False.

Hebrew mistranslation.

Actual "number of the beast" = 616.

Get it right.

JustHayden - May 7, 2014, 3:41 pm

I joined this forum to sell a 12 month Xbox Live membership code, which I was immediately scammed of, but I stayed because even though I was an immature kid that got ripped off, I saw the potential and knowledge of the community. I can greatly relate to what has been said here, but the only thing I don't share with this consciousness is the view of Humanity. Although there are shits that will rip you off and torment you in life, I see the knowledge and potential of Humanity, which I've fallen deeply in love with.

But I see what is being done here, and kudos.

I know that it is a mistranslation and actually thought about that when I typed it, though even still many people believe that 666 IS the number of Satan (and I didn't know which number it was and didn't want to look it up), and when that number is used generally that is the feeling the user is trying to get across.

Littleooostturr - May 7, 2014, 9:17 pm

Do you think your life is over Anonymous?

You have come far, sacrifice is your choice, you are doing it for someone or something, hopefully you are doing it for both. Your life is yours and this world is for taking, everyone like minded will see that and know that it's the truth, it matters not how much we achieve but if we can really find out who we are because everyday we change because of people's decisions, creations, inventions, emotions and lack of sacrifice for others.

Sacrifice is a way of seeing the true side of people, you will notice others more and you of all people, from the description above, would know what I'm talking about. I am a stranger or a Skid but I do care about the sacrifices you've made, for us people and most importantly, yourself.

I'm not your enemy or your fear, we know you because we are apart of you, I'm a stranger that wants to listen to your story, your sacrifices and your greatest achievements because you are a model, an icon, a teacher, you can choose what you want to teach us "normal" people because we will listen, look above. look below, people have seen your story, maybe not about how you feel but with what you've done with your life, to be like you, doesn't that mean something to you?

Our opinions shouldn't change how you want to be, Our opinions shouldn't create something that is not in your heart or desires, Our opinions are your greatest fear and your greatest tool, without us, you wouldn't be you.

I care about you stranger, you and many others have showed us what people can achieve in their life and more. Everything is possible with sacrifice.

I can relate to this: "On the contrary, I have this urge to control and manipulate people solely to drag them around in the dirt for my own pleasure, just to prove that they're below me."

This is one of the things I struggle with daily. I seem to really only get pleased when others get successfully manipulated to doing something they really don't want. This may sound really sick but this applies to EVERYBODY. Even my "best friends". It doesn't always have to be that serious but if somebody does something (IRL) I often intentionally mislead them for my own amusement, whether it would be something as simple as getting somebody to answer incorrectly on a test or something like going into a relationship with somebody who is obviously a dick. (This has happened and it's not something I am proud of).

You've overstayed now...

Also - if this is another person, then Omni should ban your arse.. I'm not allowed to sell or give away my account - neither should you.. Either die, fake death and leave or stay.. Stop with this drawn out shit..

If anything, you are ruining the accounts name..

We don't need another Black Shadow...

Exactly! That's what i'm saying, If this would've been anyone else not a group-owner i'm sure he would have been banned rightnow. If we're not allowed to share our HF accounts how the fuck is he able to, What makes him so special?

You died? fine rest in peace, Now kindly fuck off.

Driz. - May 8, 2014, 3:15 pm

I loved reading this for some reason.

I have no words to describe my feeling right now.

InspectorGadget - May 8, 2014, 4:07 pm

So.. Had a PM from "Anonymous" detailing why the two threads have been made and that it is perfectly OK to have the account...

Fuck that. If I died and my brother took my account, it would be closed in 5 minutes.

I see a huge scam coming - With Acroz or w/e the fuck his name was and now this.

I don't give a fuck if he's dead or not, The account WILL be used for scamming eventually. I can see it coming.

Roger Waters - May 8, 2014, 5:04 pm

I talked with Anonymous yesterday and he is thinking of releasing a novel with an audiobook version being read by Morgan Freeman and he may release it as an eBook to HF members.

Another great thread, really makes you think about.. everything.

?ain - May 9, 2014, 8:40 am

Sympathy and emotions are overall a burden, but I only feel them for very few people. The rest, they don't matter. None of them.

He is dead.

Have you not read the first thread?

Frivolity - May 12, 2014, 12:47 pm

Another nice read from Anon.

First one was better tbh, but ey, this one wasn't bad either.

I can relate to you but the parents have beaten me to within an inch of my life so I get scared of the consequences easily now. I always dreamed of inflicting pain on those who annoyed me and would stop being that kind of person you always remembered as the good guy. I've never wanted to be like that. :(

crossera - May 12, 2014, 12:55 pm at first thread i read . the first one that you waited to got 666 replies .

I was amazed by you . Now i honestly believe you are a retard ?

Sorry to say it . But I do think it

You are not unusual or different . You are just sick

?y??rion - May 12, 2014, 12:56 pm

These threads are so fucking gay. The whole eminem and poorly made hip hop thing is just cringey. Don't get me wrong, eminem is alright and e-dubble can make good songs, but you're trying way too hard OP.

MysticParadox - May 14, 2014, 10:39 am

Vexane - May 15, 2014, 1:34 pm

Eh, this 'series' is turning into a typical "I'm a hacker, and I'm proud to be different" series.

The first one was good, but this is kind of stereotypical to see from someone who's been treated as a "L33T H4X0R" for so long.

Arse - May 20, 2014, 3:16 pm

It was a good read but normally I can't stand self-centred people.

cantbeatme - May 20, 2014, 6:54 pm

Can I get download links for all this XD

Nah, just kidding, just feel like buying a hard book copy to read when I need once everything is released. Its still amazing story!

Only thing I can ask for is the text to be larger (I need glasses, sorry..)

0x03a8 - May 20, 2014, 9:44 pm

I didn't really find it interesting nor learned much about myself from this, but I can really relate to it. Life hasn't been easy for me but I don't care much about that.

I'm not the emotional kind of guy and I don't have a lot of positive or negative emotions at all.

Example: only smile when required to look 'social', not cry or feel a bit sad when one of my parents died (this year).

I'm not the cruelest either and my life could have been worse.

I don't feel like typing anything else -.-

(or fixing any grammer I might have missed)

x41N - May 23, 2014, 5:51 am

It was a nice read, I am enjoying these stories that you are faithful enough to share with us.

Thanks.

A very well written story. I am really enjoying these stories; and I cannot express my gratitude for the fact that you are willing to share it with us here at HackForums.

It was very, very interesting and I actually learned a couple of things just from reading this.

Thanks.

Ombra - June 8, 2014, 3:01 pm

V for Vendetta's speech always come to my ears when reading your introductions ?

I can't deny that your threads are useful.

Usually, after deep discussions, i have the feeling that skids coming across these may understand they're skids and may start growing; that certain threads can provide a mental growth to somebody, even if we will never know in which way they've been influenced.

About the topic, thanks for the advice to look for our borderline. I myself am still trying to understand who i am and that paragraph allowed me to go a step forward. I'll remember this when i'll feel ready to start learning something more about computers, which i hope will happen soon.

shoup0198 - June 8, 2014, 7:24 pm

I just shot myself with the amount of eminem in this post....

3lectricWave - June 8, 2014, 7:24 pm

Wow. This was a really great read. Because it's shocking how much I can relate too this. Making sure everyone feels my pain, dragging people down with me, dragging people down on their own... holy shit. My whole life, I never really had emotional reaction to horrible things. I can remember the Sandy Hook shooting. We were driving and I remember seeing my dad tearing up as the radio played, over and over again. The whole time, I never cried, never thought, never felt any emotion. I remember the Tsunami in Japan. No emotion came from me, as I watched others crying. I always look at myself and wonder why I couldn't be a normal person, with feelings, who cried, who had a reaction when I saw brains splattered across the floor (real ones on the news), or who could sleep after watching terrible things on TV. Some of the things you have said I wouldnt be able too do. I wouldnt be able to make somebody homeless. But the amount of relation that I can realize here just shocks me. Thanks for posting.

(May 7, 2014 12:55 PM)?nonymous Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't feel empathy nor do I feel sorry for people. To be honest I rarely have any positive feelings when it comes to strangers..

On the contrary, I have this urge to control and manipulate people solely to drag them around in the dirt for my own pleasure, just to prove that they're below me.

My urge is constant and sharp, and I do not hope for a better world for anyone; in fact, I want my pain to be inflicted on others - I want no one to escape.

I've read it all and accept most of it but this part needs more explanation.

Are you talking about a certain group of strangers or all?

Is it just an urge you have or do you actually go for it?

Whom is this "1. The Story - A Look Behind The Mask" story about? Omniscient?

Is "2. The Consciousness - The Darkness Within" about Omniscient too?

Eclectic - June 10, 2014, 4:20 pm

After reading the whole thing, each section after the song is played, I have to say: well written.

To leave behind things that can have such an impact, or be an eye-opener, thanks for that.

Being able to embrace 'that part' of myself? I don't know, I'd have to stop lying and stop living a fake reality.

But again, thanks for giving us this. Even when you're not among us anymore, you still are with us.

Thanks or letting me have something deep to think about for a while.

What really mind fucks me about your stories is. If you're dead then why isn't your HF account banned? We can't share nor sell accounts... so if you're dead then... ???

FinnTheHuman - August 11, 2014, 10:23 pm

I litterly cannot sleep after I have read this thread, it is making me ponder upon whether I give fucks or not, or whether I should, or not. On one side I do care if I steal from someone who didn't deserve it, and is just living an innocent life, because I am about peace, but there's a part of me that doesn't really care even though my continence knows it's wrong. I wanna raise hell, but at the same time I don't want to hurt the innocent. So this thread is really fucking with my mind and making me reconsider my whole life.....fuck

Edit: it's been ten minutes and I wish I never read this thread.

Tahh - August 11, 2014, 11:32 pm

There is one thing i don't understand what is it that you are trying to say?

are you saying that 'i am on the bad side so what side are you on'

or

'being a hacker is truly something special'

MysticParadox - September 26, 2014, 8:42 am

Will this thread get 666 replies too then he posts something else? Or nah.

ohghost - October 13, 2014, 1:01 pm

Hackforums is just such a happy community.

I think the whole idea of what Anonymous is doing is great, The Lounge is for exactly this. However the fact he must wait for 666 posts really dilutes the power of what he is saying as it makes me feel like it is a desperate plea for attention. Why would you need such a specific number of posts to continue writing? You either enjoy writing about your life and experiences and continue writing or you dont. I dont understand how the number of replies your receive could have anything to do with your stories?
