Hi,

I have a question about my new RAT/Crpyter... It is completely FUD after initial install.. works perfectly against top 5 AVs. My problem is that when the target is running full AVG with ID enabled, a suspicious behaviour is detected just as the connection is made after startup...

I have the SC for my RAT/Crpyter and have tried a few variables (such as HKCU)... It's currently being copied into Appdata/.../Start after initial install and run from there after re-start...

Any suggestions on how I could tweak it?

Thanks so much for your help!

Request: So im pretty sure i set this up right but wouldn't hurt for you to check. My main problem is that i need crypting because im having problems with data scrambler. i also need help spreading i have tried torrenting & youtube and have gotten no slaves i don't know if that is on my end or just no one downloaded it so some spreading guides would be nice.

Have TV: yes

Rat Client: Imminent Monitor

If you could help me i would love you for ever. (No Homo Tho)

Im also pming this to both of you.

Is there any RAT tool that has reverse proxy? I heard of DC but I heard it didn't work?

espada04 - May 17, 2014, 3:12 am

"Lalit Agarwal thank you very much for your help."

CrypticX - May 17, 2014, 3:39 am

As long as I know Ratting is illegal because you break in someone's computer without permission, right? But let's say I have 1000 computers infected and all I do is mine with them, nothing to severe. What is the punishment for this? And what is the best way to not get caught?

I've also asked this question on other threads, but I want to know your opnion too :)

CrypticX - May 17, 2014, 5:45 am

(May 17, 2014 04:38 AM)Lalit Agarwal Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ratting can be done for Research & for Educational purpose - LEGAL

Break in someone's computer without their permission - ILLEGAL

Right.

Hacking their PC and then Burning their CPU/GPU to mine is also a crime.

Fine + Jail or anyone.

I depends on every country's law.
Just search on google - Cyber law of "Your country name"

You can't be 100% anonymous but to be on the 99% safe side use VPN. Don't fu*k with your slaves too much.

Thanks for the detailed answer Lalit Agarwal ? ? ?

Unfortunately I am having some issues with Imminent Monitor. I am currently trying to port my clients over from an old RAT that, like IM3, requires .NET 2.0. However once I have built and Crypted a stub from Imminent Monitor and load it onto the clients in the other RAT only one or two out of the 10 or so appear. Does anyone know why this is? I know that the stub works as some port over, but others do not, and each RAT has the same dependency so I know that is not the issue. Can anyone help?

The ports and DNS all function perfectly fine..

Thanks

Had forgotten about that, but this was not the problem, just tried it.

I don't get an error or a warning or something. It seems to unzip fine but it's nowhere to be found.

Edit: It was my AV (Avast). Although I killed the process through task manager ~since I didn't find a disable feature~ it still prevented the unzipping. I uninstalled it to make sure and it's good now.

RazorCrypt Problem

The error that MisterSosa had was not just him, I also experienced the problem. People are getting a .NET error or 'Unable to start application, do you want to view information about this problem?' Error when crypting an Imminent Monitor 3.4 stub with RazorCrypter.

Solution

Unfortunately, this is nothing we can do about it. You must contact the application vendor about this problem. It is not on your end but it is the crypter itself. The probability of this issue could be because of the new Imminent Monitor 3.4 update. As thus then it stopped working, you must contact RazorCrypt support about this issue.

A reverse proxy basically just takes the slaves IP and you can use it as your own. I think you could use it for getting on their accounts and such. Some website accounts track the IP and when you go to login and you are using a different IP it will ask security questions or other things, but if you are using their IP it will not ask these questions.

Am i right?

It will close in a sec. If you want to check, edit your .bat,
And go to this:
Code <http://freedns.afraid.org/dynamic/update.php?yourprivatekey=>
It will show your synced IP. Actually It'll run in the background.

Use Darkcomet.

I hope previous queries might cleared by any other mentors.

-Added Lalit Agarwal again old mentor.

CrypticX - July 21, 2014, 5:31 pm

What is the best way to not get caught? Is a VPN enough?

Btw is nvpn good?

Thanks in advance ?

Yamakasi2 - July 22, 2014, 1:23 am well, this is convenient.

I WILL donate some $ if you get mine working, I can't seem to setup my rat. So... if you can get it working, I promise you a nice donation.

I'll PM you now

For normal salves ya VPN is enough.

Special tip: Don't fuck with you salves too much.

nVpn is good but little costly.

If you want good & cheap VPN then use 143VPN

Thanks alot for the answer Lalit Agarwal ?

DC 5.3.1 is automaticaly randomly uploading comet.db and easyredirect.log or windowsupdate.log whats going on? what is easyredirect.log and where it is uploading? I did not select any slave and command. Is this behaviour normal for DC? I have never experienced this. I downloaded DC from official site 2 years ago.

Hi Jinu, this is a great thread. I was directed to it via another user who put me on to your DC setup thread (which is very detailed by the way). You mention spreading methods in that thread and there was a link to this service. Do you still offer any advice on spreading techniques using social media, chat sites etc I'm looking for specific types of people and getting them to download links I send (it's not ideal or that successful) and mostly they know they have been ratted so shut the process down etc

Any advice would be appreciated!
