Before i used hack forums i was a daily user of hackforums and SE'ing was big with them and it worked really well, after they shut down i got recommended by a friend to check out hack forums but was disappointed to find out it had no SE'ing forums... What is the reason for this?

1. Your grammar sucks
2. It's blackhat activity
3. I'm angry after reading this thread, for no given reason.

What does his grammar have to do with anything..?

Social engineering = fraud

Fraud = blackhat activity

Blackhat activity = not allowed on hack forums

I understand it's 4 am, but you have to realize its 5 am for me and if you want a response that's serious on the thread, that means I have to read the thread. If it's difficult for me to read the thread, then I may not comprehend what he's saying. However, I figured it out and the price of me having to re-read it twice is me telling you that your grammar sucks.

I hope this isn't too much for your brain to take in.

You are a prime example of someone who stays on Hf a little too long?

Night!

You're also a prime example of an idiot.
Google Expert is right! SE'ing is black hat and black hat isn't allowed on HF.

I hope this isn't too much for your brain to take in. I see, that makes sense. But at the same time it doesn't because when seeing the name hack forums one would be drawn to believe it would be a thriving hub of all types of illegal activity.
