Thread: Suggestion for the Suggestion Section

Harbo5 - May 11, 2014, 7:45 pm

Currently, this thread is in the suggestion section:

I would like to suggest that Omni make a thread of a similar manner, doesn't have to stickied. Something like this:

I think it's stupid to have all of these suggestions for a drug subforum, which obviously isn't going to be added.

How about he just add it to the list of commonly denied suggestions.

dude that's a good idea man like then it would stop all the clutteredness

Sorry if I sounded a bit rude, it's just if this were to be implemented people would keep suggesting threads like that for other commonly suggested things.

That would be a pain though, having to constantly add things to one big list. I think just having people search works better.

Having people search works better? If people bothered to search we wouldn't have this problem. Period. Ultimately that's the best way to stop it. Though it won't happen.

Sorry, but you cannot suggest rules nor stickies. The irony.

Even though that sticky is up there, it still doesn't stop people from making notification suggestions (it has decreased it a lot though).

No matter what you do... even if you placed it at the top with bright colors, flashing and bulging... the audience here still won't read it/comprehend.
