Thread: computer monitors loose connection to computer/and computer trys to shutdown

redneck for dayz - May 12, 2014, 10:01 pm

well im not sure if this is right place to post.. ok so recently my computer has been loosing connection to the monitors and then it comes back like 10 seconds later on the shutdown screen.. it started off doing it not very often, now its doing it alot today and i don't know what to do. iv been monitoring the temps and its not overheating...

What is your current setup ? How are the monitors connected to the computer (both ports and card as well as cable used) ?

i7 2600k and gtx 550ti both connected on dvi but one is through a adapter but iv never had this issue until this month... like i said it loses connection to the monitors and then comes back on and its on the waiting for programs to close for shutdown screen. im beginning to think it only does it on certain programs/games so far iv noticed it does it with bluestacks and payday 2.. but it may not be relevant Right-click on Computer and select Properties. Then click on Advanced System Properties and click on Properites in the last box (3rd one). Uncheck "Automatically reboot in case of power failure".

(May 13, 2014 03:22 PM)redneck for dayz Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) are you saying my power supply is failing? It could be yes. But this option is to prevent Windows from misidentifying a short power drop for a power loss, therefore preventing it from rebooting from it.

Yup.

Somehow I suspect that you are RAT'd and that someone is trying to remote shutdown your computer.
