Wait, let me get this right. You want a tool or other form of application that allows you to somehow change prices of eBooks here on Hack Forums? This isn't exactly possible nor clear. The prices are set by people here on Hack Forums and there isn't some program that will allow you to change the prices, while some are autobuy - they are operated by real living people. Same with products here on Hack Forums.

Are you looking for an exploit to abuse an autobuy system? This entire thread is very hard to comprehend.

You have one post on here. You're not being clear. You are possibly trying to exploit sellers here on hackforums? You aren't going to get much help
