Ph1sh - May 15, 2010, 6:58 pm

Since we have PM'd you, without response, we decided to just leave this.

There is a wikipedia member, who apparently has edited a lot. And has brought an admin into the situation, so unless Hackforums.net has won an award by a note-able organization or program, the wiki won't exist.

Solidify - May 15, 2010, 7:01 pm

I dont quite follow what it is you are trying to explain...

What is the situation exactly?

The only way Hackforums can have its own wiki is if Hackforums has one an award.

If you don't know what hes talking about it means its none of your fucking business

Basically, Lunagron and I were accepted by Omniscient to work on the Wiki, basically create it.

Now we have this guy Drmies, who is a WikiWhore, and he has decided to ensure there will never be a Hackforums wiki. So he has marked it for deleted, contacted staff, reverted all of our add-ons, etc.

The admin basically said if the site has not won an award, it will not get to exist.

A lot of work :/

HF the biggest My-BB forum on the net.

And i know omni is a large figure in the my-bb community, he could just pull a couple strings to get an official award.

It also depends on what wiki considers as a legit award, maybe ask them to give some examples.

Written, and released here by KØRRUPT.exe. Also write about how nearly every AV company has an account here(That video proves at least Norton does)

Mordacai - May 15, 2010, 7:07 pm

I'm quite sure HF has won an award already. Search the forums or Omni has some stuff of his won somewhere.

We are trying. It's difficult.

CharlieSheen - May 15, 2010, 7:08 pm

Well back up all the work so if it is deleted you still have it and can work on it until there is an award.

Omniscient - May 15, 2010, 7:08 pm

Jeez...this is exactly why I didn't want an amateur making the page. Now you gone and got us blacklisted. Way to fucking go!

How is this OUR fault? We tried forming the page legitimately, and following the rules, but you made it mighty difficult.

Omniscient - May 15, 2010, 7:11 pm

I made it difficult? How?

The Elite - May 15, 2010, 7:11 pm

Oh shit, I smell a fight.

Ph1sh - May 15, 2010, 7:12 pm

We PM'd you about it, then posted in the Wiki thread in this section about the problems we were incurring. We also posted that we NEEDED a notable reason to have a wiki page.

According to Wikipedia Hackforums.net is not notable enough to have a wiki.

Momiji - May 15, 2010, 7:13 pm

Please calm down, all we need is an award with a source to prove it and we'll get to keep the article.

Xch4ng3 - May 15, 2010, 7:14 pm

They want awards/achievements?

<http://www.mybb.com/donation-drive> -> Omni got that price for the domain.

<https://hackforums.net> -> Uh duh? Biggest myBB forum ever.

<http://www.google.co.uk/search?sourceid=chrome&ie=UTF-8&q=hack> -> Should be the 4th result for the word "hack" and the first for "hacking forum"

R1chard™ - May 15, 2010, 7:14 pm

I'm sure if Omni pulls a bit of strings he can get myBB.com to give him an award :P

Thug Life - May 15, 2010, 7:14 pm

Didn't Omni used to have a "HACKTopSites.Com" Link in the footer? With HF as #1 (Of course, he owned the site I believe, but w/e)

Momiji - May 15, 2010, 7:15 pm

It needs to be an award from a notable organization or publication.

The Elite - May 15, 2010, 7:15 pm

Honestly, we can pull of around 2 awards easily, this is one of the biggest maybe even THE BIGGEST MyBB forum there is, isn't there?

Ph1sh - May 15, 2010, 7:16 pm

Basically, here is what happened;

Lunagron and I worked along the guidelines slowly to make sure it appeared legitimately, sourcing, looking up proper context, etc. He had to go, and I had to go.

We both came back to Vandalism, followed by Drmies editing everything away. As there were edits in progress (due to constant vandalism), we couldn't undo it and had to c&p it back. Then we went to Drmies asking him to stop while we fix it, and he got the admin to come into it and bring the award up (which we had been trying to find.)

I already tried prompting that. Stating that they were proclaimed the #1 hacking website, as well at a top 3 MyBB forum.

Not an award.

The Elite - May 15, 2010, 7:21 pm

Are you serious?

We got beaten by Yugioh Card Maker Forum...

That's fucking disappointing.

Well, must remember, China has over 1 billion people.

Joke!

No but seriously, it shouldn't be hard to get an award. Vorfin already put a video up of Norton talking about HF.

Fallenour - May 15, 2010, 7:24 pm

Ok, I have an idea, My first sergeant needs a page made for the unit's softball team, we need an award, aams get handed out like candy, but its the army :3, if thats not legit, they can fucking kill themselves XD

The problem is that it's not a largely proclaimed award. Therefore they won't accept it.

I fought constantly, and we got told that if we don't get the award, we are fucked.

and Omni is mad at us for making us, getting raped by vandalism, then by wiki staff, so it's our fault apparently.

According to Wikipedia Hackforums.net is not notable enough to have a wiki.

I don't recall telling you to start a page.

And of the most noteworthy items is the Anti-Sec hoax.

<http://seclists.org/fulldisclosure/2009/Jul/164>

It began when the real Anti-sec penetrated imageshack servers with a message against the security industry then a couple weeks later that was posted at Seclists but it was a hoax only exposed after some digging and they finally admitted it. However it was widely spread and at the time many regarded it as a serious threat to the website. I still receive PMs about it from members telling me to "watch out".

Also mentioned in 2008 for The Register here:

http://www.theregister.co.uk/2008/08/22/accessing_restricted_sites/

Which points to this post: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=25040>

Make sure that the description links to both Milw0rm and Antisec for that statement.

Milw0rm <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Milw0rm>

Antisec http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Antisec_Movement

I'm going to go apeshit if you blow my opportunity to have a wiki page for this site.

Omniscient Wrote: Ph1sh Wrote: I'd be interested in making the page. Although, I have never made a BRAND new page, only added on to older ones to update. Plus, since I've been around for a fair amount of time, I could fill in some "history of" HF.

Up to you pal'.

Well do your best and keep me updated.

That's not saying to make the page?

And they don't care about the notability anymore. We tried that. They want to see an award.
