

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Small advice

Karnan - May 17, 2014, 9:30 am

Hi....!

<https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=2141578>

in this boy are cheated me! so all members are be alert! don't deal with this guy. He is not legit. He is cheated a amount! most LQ user in this community! ?
sorry for my english, English is not my mother language!
thanks,

Mitchell_H - May 17, 2014, 9:32 am

What do you mean he cheated you for an amount? Do you mean he scammed you?

wellager - May 17, 2014, 9:33 am

And we're supposed to believe you because you made a thread about it on the Lounge.

Karnan - May 17, 2014, 9:34 am

(May 17, 2014 09:32 AM)Mitchell_H Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What do you mean he cheated you for an amount? Do you mean he scammed you?yes its right!
don't deal with this guy please!

Duyere - May 17, 2014, 9:35 am

I'll give you some small advice:

Spoiler \(Click to View\)Look down your pants!

Karnan - May 17, 2014, 9:35 am

(May 17, 2014 09:33 AM)Mendicant Bias Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) And we're supposed to believe you because you made a thread about it on the Lounge.Hey friend! i am just telling! be alert that's all

RIPPER - May 17, 2014, 9:36 am

I'd advise you move this to deal disputes section or whatever section is appropriate for this thread.
That's first.

Second, don't post things like that without proof. :)

Third, good luck getting things resolved. :)

Talu - May 17, 2014, 9:36 am

Post a thread in the deal disputes section with as much proof as possible.

Assassins Creed - May 17, 2014, 10:30 am

English may not be your mother language, but you should really learn a bit more of english if you are going to use it during online deals that involve money. It's better than way so you can not be scammed as easily as a beginner(in English).

OT: Get all the proof you can, that includes PMs and transaction logs. And then make a thread in the Deal Dispute section.

Good luck! :)

