There's this new Facebook infection going around where when you click the message that the bot l.e friend on your account being controlled by a bot sends you it spams your account and ends up doing the same to yours meaning it will start sending spam messages to all your friends. Does anyone know a way to stop this shit or ro I have to change my account. Please help

I didnt really get what you mean but all those facebook things are related to Addons on your webbrowser, apps on your facebook or malware on your computer; check them out and remove anything suspicious.

this is strange

maybe its just spam like the notifications that are automatically sent to you for no real reason

@op check that your PC is not infected. Could be HTML injection or some sort
