Yeah www.ioffer.com is a great website with some REALLY cheap prices. Check it out! Bought some stuffs from there as well so it's legit, even though it can take some time to receive the item. :]

But ok its my opinionInstead of going on this subforum asking for favors and saying google doesn't come up with any results, then respond like this to a user that i trying to help you should ACTUALLY go to google and search yourself. Your laziness just got you a neg.

Check out Aliexpress.com

They have very cheap prices, as well as great wholesale prices--and no minimum buy!

CtrlAltDestroy - June 2, 2014, 4:35 am

Aeropostale or American Eagle have some nice prices on cloths, plus there HQ.

Akrapovic - June 2, 2014, 11:12 am exportclothes.us

They have nice clothes ;)

seanhi2 - June 2, 2014, 11:19 am

To be honest, I would get up and go to the high street or if you live in the middle of nowhere, pop down to a mall and try on some clothes rather than go to some random sites hoping that you get clothes, let alone nice to wear clothes.

I recommend superdry as they have top notch cotton clothing but they are expensive. They are really comfortable and I think its all about the comfort when wearing clothes, if you get cheap clothes, they are probably gonna itch like hell.

Seriously, just get some nice expensive clothes and wear them all the time- it's worth it :P
