Thread: Thread Creation for Ub3r Only

Omniscient - May 19, 2014, 12:16 pm

This section has now been changed for Ub3r only to create threads. The amount of scams by regular and even l33t members has been increasing. So this new policy is in immediate effect.

Those with existing threads posted by those who are not Ub3r may have their threads closed by staff at their discretion. Paid stickies from non-Ub3r will remain open and stuck until they expire.

Thank you.

Perfectionist - May 19, 2014, 12:17 pm

Damnit, I hope we'll see 3p1c get this feature aswell ;)

Dankrupt - May 19, 2014, 12:21 pm

i honestly hope 3p1cs dont get this feature.. cause that means all they would have to do is buy it and go scam again new member have it atm if im not mistaken so im actually glad its only Ub3rs

SWS. - May 19, 2014, 12:23 pm

Very happy to see this implemented.

Hopefully it will cut down on some of the scamming that happens in this section.

???? - May 19, 2014, 12:24 pm

Hey Omni, I was going to PM you but did not want to irritate you. I have been denied ub3r twice which I am sure you have your reasons. However can I suggest this is l33t+3p1c available? It would be worth the upgrade. I am willing to buy ub3r however if I am not accepted I can't. So it makes it a bit difficult for me to create threads when I show no interest in scamming. Perhaps even a subsection for l33t/normal members for exchanges?

AAKASH - May 19, 2014, 12:24 pm

Great idea Omni, Hopefully there will be less scammers now.

Promethazine. - May 19, 2014, 12:24 pm

Rubentastic - May 19, 2014, 12:25 pm

I think this is a good thing. There are a lot of scammers in this section. This should lower the amount.

Nicodemon - May 19, 2014, 12:31 pm

For me this is a double edged sword as i'll no longer be able to peddle my wares :/

But obviously any way to cut down on scammers is great, and i hope this drastically reduces the amount we see.

Pity this wasn't in force before i joined, could have saved me from a few scams.

This is a fairly nice exchange to see, hopefully it'll reduce the amount of scams in this section since I too recently just got scammed by a l33t member.

Infer - May 19, 2014, 1:18 pm

I completely disagree with this decision, L33Ts are being slowly pushed out of the marketplace and this severely limits competition. Not to mention the large majority of scams I've seen in here were by UB3Rs. I think pinning a few members actions on a whole group isn't the right thing to do, however I have been loving some of your other changes just not this one.

Chargebacks are the problem? Well L33Ts could still go buy from exchangers and just chargeback, it would have the same effect. I get that an UB3R is on most occasions more trusted but they have the same capacity and a little less probability of scamming.

This has simply cut down on scamming. I'd say 7/10 scams are performed by L33T members with less than 50 reputation.

Chargebacks will still occur, but now members can't create threads saying they're buying BTC for PayPal, and go on a huge scam spree.

Already applied twice, but that's beside the point. UB3Rs are slowly monopolizing the marketplace but just watch the scam reports from the currency exchange won't drop by more than 5%, if that.

I don't really agree with that, a lot of new members just upgrade to l33t, gain reputation and trust fairly quickly and just scam for more than what they paid l33t for and it would be more than worth it for them.

On top of that I've gotten scammed more by l33ts regarding currency exchanges than Ub3rs.

Most of the time it's ban evaders who make a new account, purchase L33t, do a few 5-10 cent BTC or OMC giveaways, get 50 positive rep, do some exchanges from PayPal to BTC, and then charge back on everyone who they exchange with.

I've seen it happen way too many times.

Obviously you aren't around the currency exchange section very often. I am there every day and I witness almost every scam that's happened lately. It's just about always a L33T member who uses stolen information and the owner charges back.

I did not agree with you. I said that it will cut down on the chargebacks by not allowing scammers to create their own threads. This forces us to act on our own judgement whether or not we should accept the persons PayPal offer. Rather than a L33T member being able to scam anyone who replies on their thread, they are now mostly limited to trying to scam seasoned UB3R exchangers.

If a person decides to trade with a guy who recently joined, upgraded to l33t and got most of their rep from giveaways, then its their own fault for being stupid

For every Ub3r account I close that was involved in currency exchange scams there are 3-4 associated l33t accounts. All purchased on scammer websites devoted to ripping off members of this community. They buy accounts and l33t are the cheapest. They'll get as many accounts at once as they can then use them all to vouch for each other. And while there is often 1 ub3r account involved there is more often 3 or more regular or l33t accounts involved.

I'm the only guy that sees this type of pattern from the backend and I'm the guy that makes the policies here. If you feel the Marketplace is pushing you out and you can't get Ub3r then so be it. That's not my problem if you can't conduct commerce here.

My problem is dealing with the systematic victimization of our whole community.

Quote:There are some HQ l33ts on this forum who I trust more than ub3rs

That's such fucking bullshit I don't even know how to respond. It's like saying in high school there are way more mature students than teachers. Only reason is because there just happens to be fuckload more students. Not that percentage wise they're more mature. There are over twice as many l33t as ub3r. l33t requires no approval to upgrade and members can join and become l33t that day. So for you or anyone to try to say l33t overall are higher quality and more trusted than Ub3r is fucking bullshit...serious fucking bullshit. I should demote you and see how fast you beg to be ub3r.

Most of the ub3r accounts that you find untrustworthy are often sold or stolen accounts. They are sold and stolen only because they offer a better value to scammers. But that's like saying banks are unsafe places to keep your money because they get robbed. Well duh...

And you nor anyone has any idea of the amount of sold accounts I closed every day...every single day. I spend hours upon hours checking IPs and reviewing account history. And most of the time they target this section for easy scamming. I'm fed up.

I should require every single fucking Marketplace post to be manually approved and every single fucking seller required to post their DOX. How would you like that shit?

Stop being irresponsible and I won't have to deal with this crap. Know who you're dealing with. Do your fucking research.

The major word in your sentence is Some. Omni wouldn't waste his time by going through all of users to decide who can and who cant have access. You have to believe that possibility of ub3r scamming is way way lesser than anyone else. This is actually a betterment of HF imo.

Edit: Moreover, omni hasnt banned others for exchanging. You just can not create threads. You can still exchange with others who can create threads or post in "official exchange threads" by few big exchangers.

The reasoning for UB3R only thread creation is the inspection of accounts before approval. Anyone can hop on a new account, do a few things and buy 3P1C/L33T. They gain a few reps and do a few legit exchanges, then go on a huge scam spree.

There are a lot of l33t members that don't deserve this. And we know if they have 3pic they have at least SOME experience with crypto currencies.

All purchased on scammer websites devoted to ripping off members of this community. They buy accounts and l33t are the cheapest. They'll get as many accounts at once as they can then use them all to vouch for each other. And while there is often 1 ub3r account involved there is more often 3 or more regular or l33t accounts involved.

I'm the only guy that sees this type of pattern from the backend and I'm the guy that makes the policies here. If you feel the Marketplace is pushing you out and you can't get Ub3r then so be it. That's not my problem if you can't conduct commerce here.

My problem is dealing with the systematic victimization of our whole community.

That's such fucking bullshit I don't even know how to respond. It's like saying in high school there are way more mature students than teachers. Only reason is because there just happens to be fuckload more students. Not that percentage wise they're more mature. There are over twice as many l33t as ub3r. l33t requires no approval to upgrade and members can join and become l33t that day. So for you or anyone to try to say l33t overall are higher quality and more trusted than Ub3r is fucking bullshit...serious fucking bullshit. I should demote you and see how fast you beg to be ub3r.

Most of the ub3r accounts that you find untrustworthy are often sold or stolen accounts. They are sold and stolen only because they offer a better value to scammers. But that's like saying banks are unsafe places to keep your money because they get robbed. Well duh...

And you nor anyone has any idea of the amount of sold accounts I closed every day...every single day. I spend hours upon hours checking IPs and reviewing account history. And most of the time they target this section for easy scamming. I'm fed up.

I should require every single fucking Marketplace post to be manually approved and every single fucking seller required to post their DOX. How would you like that shit?

Stop being irresponsible and I won't have to deal with this crap. Know who you're dealing with. Do your fucking research.

Dope. This is a reasonable section to put something like this into place in. Definitely satisfied with this implementation.

I would argue, however, that something more secure could be used as a catalyst rather than having contributed. This section is built upon credibility and seeing prerequisites reflect that would be pretty comforting.

Buying l33t is like saying "I kinda like this forum and I don't want to see ads" but buying ub3r is more like "I am at least somewhat dedicated to this forum." I just don't see why someone who, for example, is really interested in cryptocurrencies but doesn't have money to blow on being blue should suffer at the hands of the minority of asshole scammers.

There's no chance anymore to exchange currencies without beeing UB3R.

Why can't we just create another Marketplace and rename this to "Premium Currency Exchange"?

This would still give other users a chance, and still would decrease the amount of scams.

UB3R's are supposed to represent a lesser chance of a scam during a trade, as they have had to spend more to get to their current rank, etc.

We can't create another Marketplace and rename this to the PCE because Omni doesn't want that.

Either way limiting the section for only Ub3rs to create threads won't stop scamming in that section. I'd be fine with regular members being limited but to limit people who've donated money to the forums... Incredibly ridiculous.

Maybe if Omni wants to lower the scam rate he should have staff become more involved in deal disputes... One guy who scammed me 38 LTC was Ub3r and is still around, even with un-doubtful proof... <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3872952>

It won't stop scamming obviously. This was intended to cut down on scamming, you can't stop it altogether.

I've seen the majority of scams coming from L33T, everyone who's not UB3R says we scam a lot because that's the only people you trade with. Most L33Ts try to scam but fail because they don't have the trust an UB3R might have. I get so, so many offers from unverified PayPal scammers who are regular or L33T members.

Omni is not going to involve himself in deal disputes. Do you realize how much time that would take up? He could work almost 12 hours a day and still not cover all members issues in the deal dispute section.

what about a option for other user groups to create threads here

He can still exchange with people who create threads or PM users who post on those big exchange threads.

restrictions.

Such as;
Must be in positive reputation.
X months active on the forums.

This wouldn't help if scammers buy account, but they can also buy Ub3rs account.
I have not been here too long nor I am in the backend to see everything but from what I have seen the people that scam in the currency exchange are either new account with bad reputation or bought accounts/multiple accounts.

Perhaps you can make a subforum for everyone to trade their currency like secondary and primary section.

Just my personal opinion.
I will update my post if I feel I have missed something.

Thank you for reading & have a great day!
If I remember correctly, last time you posted here that now you will only have to apply and get ub3r.
Were you denied or?

Not going to happen.

And it won't stop Ub3r's scamming the section, but it'll stop regular and L33T members scamming, which has to count for something. And you're only suggesting that regular members be banned, because you're a L33T, making you automatically bias.

It's still limiting a subscribed member of the forum, seems ridiculous regardless of me being L33T.

I know Omni isn't going to change his mind because that's not how he rolls, but my opinion stands.

-StuffSneakI did not apply yet. I was asking a question, if I could go from normal to UB3R.
I will have to check this soon when I get some free time.

Not happy with this, I seen to many Urber's scammed and I agree I did not pay L33T to be limited from these section's I brought L33T to get more sales and trust in the section.

I know Omni isn't going to change his mind because that's not how he rolls, but my opinion stands. L33Ts are already limited, just not as much as regular members. The whole point of having different categories of groups is that each group opens up a new door. In my opinion, there should be a larger disparity between the 3 main user groups, which can only be achieved by stripping more of the rights of L33T members.

Kinda shitty that the people who are l33t have to do the most work to keep themselves clean yet are constantly getting their selling smashed on here. Most of the higher value scams on here are done by ub3rs and getting scammed can be easily avoided by being careful.

Imho, people will just start scamming in replies to threads rather than making their own... ?
