Thread: Conspiracy Masters Logo

ext6024 - May 19, 2014, 3:11 pm

Just wanted an opinion on my banner, its a conspiracy website so if you don't understand the funky shapes in the banner then ignore it, here it is:

[img]http://conspiracymasters.org/images/logo/logo2.png[/img]

Also check out the banner on my site: HERE

Any opinions on my site would be great! Don't be bothered about giving negative feedback, feel free to sign up if you're into conspiracy theories or anything!

(oh and im fixing the white outline on the menu icons so ignore that)

It's simple, but I like it. The only critique I have would be to make sure the letters are equally spaced from each other. The "I" in conspiracy is a bit too close to the "R". I would also move "Masters" a bit further from conspiracy. Actually, you could probably find a better font, considering it's the logo to your site. Check out dafont.com

Also, I like the concept of the site. I was trying to find a decent conspiracy board a while back. Never found anything worthwhile... Hopefully your site takes off and gets some decent traffic.

Yeah, I really like it. As mentioned, the letters are a little colose, but better than what I would have ended up with.

My Brother-in-Law is a massive conspiracist. I shall get him to join tomorrow.

Look's great!

You should look up the "distribute layer spacing" script and apply that.

Did you download the horizontal and vertical? Still can't wait until adobe integrates that into photoshop.

i like what you've got going on but there are height differences in some letters and it just throws me off imo
