If I challenged you to dox someone just with knowing a gamertag think you can pull it off? a doxing service ain't a service if you need address and number to start off with.To make it harder the gamertags name isn't used cross site so it would be interesting to see how you fair at this given very little info.Doxing takes skill so Im curious to see how you would think outside the box and do the request.I would obviously pay but I just want to see if your service is capable of any type of request no matter the challenge because alot of people are still claiming to be able to dox tags and im not seeing anything come to fruition.I have a nice decently tested method for jacking them but I still would need the info on the tag so let me know.

You provide me with any information you have on the target no matter what it is. I will then pull info off of what you provided me with.
