PLAY ROLLY COIN NOW AT:

https://googledrive.com/host/0B_oJ9fmrJVHeRzhyMW94ZEFJWEE/Rollycoin%20online.html

<http://zeldondrift.itch.io/rolly-coin>

The BETA stage of Rolly Coin has now been completed. As of the 9th of June 2014 Rolly Coin V1 will be released as a complete browser game. This means that you don't need to download it in order to play it.

Please make sure that you 'Go Fullscreen' before starting the game and press 'Esc' to exit. Edit: Game has been updated to allow keyboard controls.

We are currently working on implementing the game into one of the big 'free games online' websites like Miniclip and are working on making it an android app.

Have fun and reply to the thread with your high scores.

Any donations to the creators would be appreciated. We will continue to update and fix any glitches that occur.

soon.

Would you want it as a desktop game or an Android game?

Aceman - May 23, 2014, 7:32 pm

That's sick, I'd play it as an app.

GamerBoy1499 - May 23, 2014, 9:01 pm

I'd say that it should be a desktop app and also an Android app. But the video was cool and the concept was just amazing. Hats off to you guys.

RDCA - May 23, 2014, 9:23 pm

That's kind of cool actually. Kudos to the devs of the game. The intro is a bit ehh though, still, high props.

Flashy. - May 24, 2014, 2:03 am

You really should hire a designer to design the game, it can have such a simple style and still look good and play well as an app

Zuse - May 24, 2014, 2:06 am

I'd play it if you could accumulate points which you can exchange for actual OMC, like some BTC games out there.

That would be cool.

AngularJS - May 24, 2014, 2:08 am

If you create it as an android app, I'll play it nolife @ school.

How is this style not simple? And it would play well as an app.

zeldondrift - May 24, 2014, 4:12 am

This game is a standalone executable Blender Game that can only be played on a 64 bit pc. Well at the moment

It looks like a collage, the bg is high detail while the hand and objects are low poly

If it was all done in one style (such as all low poly) it would look better and be more attractive as an app

zeldondrift - May 25, 2014, 12:57 am

Yes I agree. At the moment its a game that my nephew and nieces can play, thus it being a prototype and work in progress but helpful feedback like Flash's is welcomed

Justin Timberlake - May 25, 2014, 8:36 am

That's really cool! I wouldn't mind playing it every once in a while either.

KING KING - June 7, 2014, 11:13 pm

Production is still underway. It is now being tested as a browser game. Sort of like Miniclip games.

Crypto™ - June 8, 2014, 2:55 am

Okay. That is badass :) It's not what I was expecting :D

Pillows - June 8, 2014, 3:17 am

When I heard the first word Rolly, I was expecting a dice game and prepared my report button. Not what I expected so props to you for that.

KING KING - June 8, 2014, 3:34 am

It has actually changed a lot since this BETA preview video.

Jaatinen - June 8, 2014, 6:12 am

Looks good. Actually it looks like it's from my childhood :D

Nonon Jakuzure - June 8, 2014, 6:38 am

Well my opinion of this game hasn't really changed. Is there a preview of this supposed new version?

KING KING - June 8, 2014, 8:51 pm

The game has now been released. Enjoy it and reply with your high scores.

Sorry it took so long but I made the original in Blender and I had to learn how to use Unity, convert all the logic to Unity, to get it to be cross platform you have to play in full screen. Just press to go to full screen. If you try and play in a smaller window when you try to go forward the go to full screen keeps popping up

Moen - June 9, 2014, 3:00 am

(Jun 9, 2014 02:54 AM)zeldonrift Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Try Holding it down rather than clicking

It comes up when i release the button

Oh it does not show up when in fullscreen

Fullscreen is to big :/ and it streches out so it is too wide.

Edit: I would love to see a mac user play this hah :P

Il try and add Keyboard function to stop that from happening and you could play in window mode

Thanks for the feed back

Ok you dont have to play in Fullscreen mode I have added UpArrow (or left mouse press) as the jump and the RightArrow key as to go forward.

Hope that helps
