The wonderful thing about the internet is that no one has a gender or nationality / skin colour. I prefer it that way.

Never met any fellows of African descent on here who weren't whiny assholes.

I agree. I like anonymity because even if you aren't what you say you are, you can imagine, and feel better. I hate rate me threads also, because it kind of shows how HF is really just a bunch skinny white kids.

Wtf does it matter if hes black or not .. :S

Shape - May 26, 2014, 5:38 pm

Just curious, everyone you have ever met on HF, do you personally ask every one of them if they are black? Or how do you know no one you have met here is black? :3 and why does it matter? :P

This, it really isn't that shocking that it would be a black person feeling like he is the only one here when nobody needs to know.
