Thread: [Showing off + sorry about the difficulty. \[MINING OMC @ 3GHs\]](#)

~OMC~ - May 27, 2014, 9:13 pm

This thread is for showing off my mining + apologising about the fact I just doubled the OMC mining difficulty.

Mining at 3GH/s - <http://prntscr.com/3nac96>

Pool statistics - <http://prntscr.com/3nacn7> (270k OMC daily, lol)

Pool (credits to Doctor Blue) - <http://pool.omnicoin.cc/>

I guess someone profited from my help finding blocks, right?

xflat - May 27, 2014, 9:14 pm

Dam that is a lot of OMC, try to spread that around and not keep it all in one place.

kooper87 - May 27, 2014, 9:16 pm

How long are you planning to mine at that current hashrate?

~OMC~ - May 27, 2014, 9:17 pm

I mined for ten minutes and got myself 5,000 OMC. Stopped now.

(May 27, 2014 09:14 PM)xflat Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Dam that is a lot of OMC, try to spread that around and not keep it all in one place.

I've stopped mining now. I mined for ten minutes in total.

Damn bruh 270k a day is crazy.. hit my sig up

If I mined for a day straight I'd make $3,600. I stopped now, though.

You wouldn't make $3,600 a day. You would destroy the entire OMC economy.

In theory I would, but you're right. I only needed 5k OMC anyways.

So what is your mining rig like? Would be interesting to see what you have to churn out 3GH/s.

Nah, you'd just crash OMC and lose the money you spent mining

Snapple Tea - May 27, 2014, 10:02 pm

I traded my OMC to BTC while this guy calms down with his rig. Idk why you wouldn't use that in a more developed crypto currency while OMC gets settled in...

Not if he doesn't sell the coins or brag about it. As long as they're sold in smaller chunks it's still possible to get them traded without crashing anything. Alternatively you could also just create a stupid big wall on Allcrypt which would more or less stall the value for a long time.

Regardless of the 'chunks' you split it into, selling an enormous amount of anything drops the price as it saturates the market.

It would be best if he sold it off not in chunks but in periods where there is high demand. For instance, say he set a quota that he needs to sell to make a profit back. He would wait for a time when the price is high, let's say 5 cents per coin. Say he sold 500 coins during that period. Then he'd make $25. If he sold another 500 when the price was 10 cents he'd make $50. In this instance of selling in chunks during high demand he could possibly multiply his profit by x amount.

SIM-888979 - May 28, 2014, 2:26 am

That's nice, if only my 15 GH/s SHA256 miner mines scrypt coins.

Yes, it does saturate the market if you're too impatient. The price doesn't drop as long as you allow others to sell something every now and then. They will still be able to sell, and they won't be aware that you are covering a lot of the buy orders.

It's not that hard, as long as you moderate yourself. Naturally there's not enough demand to actually be able to sell it all, that's not the issue I'm discussing.

This guys just posted a thread that he found an exploit on omc wallet where he can get unlimited OMC lol. Not sure if anyone else saw it but it got junked I think.

First off, it's true, one of the wallets have been compromised. He never claimed to be able to get unlimited coins, and it has nothing to do with this thread.

www.omc-wallet.com

And actually Doctor Blue, I can... It's simple too. However, I don't intend to abuse this. I've reported this but the owner hasn't been online in nearly 2 weeks...

CrypticX - May 28, 2014, 11:48 am

How can you mine that much? Just curious?

Renting rigs, nothing special.

Head to: www.NiceHash.com

Doctor Blue, he actually can. He's able to send any amount and get back what he sent. He could repeat this however many times as he wants, hence "unlimited".

So far I've only accumulated 20,000.

It's a long process due to confirmations.

Well, if what you say is true that the owner hasn't responded in 2 weeks, keep doing what you do. Punish the owner for his ignorance. Fully justified.

$2,000.

I doubt theres enough coins on that site to let you do that

Lol, Im kinda curious as to how 'simple' it actually is. Because from how your talking it almost seems like its something as simple as a tamper date, or something along those lines. And if the owner let something like that happen than hes just an idiot

Quiver - May 28, 2014, 2:55 pm

How much did it cost you to rent that rig for 10 minutes? Or how every long you were renting it for?

No, i dont care and i also wouldnt want to steal omc from a fellow hf member, thats just wrong. I was just wondering how simple it actually is

Doctor Blue - May 28, 2014, 4:18 pm

In the world I live in, unlimited means that there is no limit, not that you can keep doing it until there are no more coins in the wallet.

I'd love to see you exceed the market cap that way.

Boys Don't Cry - May 28, 2014, 5:03 pm
