

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: How to keep Avast keys from being black listed or Elegal without cracks..

wikid1337 - May 28, 2014, 4:30 am

I know this may seem impossible and I know there may just be some narcs out there that tell off on this because you have nothing better to do and you think you get brownie points for reporting sh*t, but I have found a way to make every license key you get from lets say a forum site like this one and might I add to the website creators you are doing a fine job maintaining this site.

but anyways I will give you guys the secret so that no keys will be black listed much longer or anymore and I ask those who are narcs to please have some respect for your fellow internet brothers and sisters especially if you have heard of Anonymous and what it stands for so please don't report this because people need help with some security because some people cannot always afford it so have some respect please, anyways on to the secret and it's not really a secret but here I will go ahead and tell you all, okay you know the license files that some people share right? okay well ever noticed that when you insert that license file it then says your using an illegal software license or something like that, and it usually means it's black listed right?

not so much like you may think, here is a trick for yaw to do I guess you can call it a simple Hack, but with the license file you downloaded which is the key and in that name of the key it will say the name license.

avalastic or something similar but before all that you want to right click on the license file and click on rename but don't rename it because what your going to do is put this word without the quotes in the very beginning separated by a dot like this..

Encrypt.Avalastic.key and just leave the name like it was but add the Encrypt at the very beginning of the license key name, and what this does I have noticed is it actually Encrypts the key it's self to where it's fully undetectable so anyways I hope yaw enjoy this and please don't report thanks..

if you like this please keep this thread going thanks..

and also for this dis believers try it your self before you say this won't work thanks..

SnowCloud - May 28, 2014, 9:25 pm

This tutorial could use some pictures. It doesn't matter (anymore) for Avast if you're license key is illegal or not, it'll work just fine. You should move to Kaspersky/Bitdefender if you can.

wikid1337 - May 29, 2014, 4:56 pm

(May 28, 2014 09:25 PM)SnowCloud Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This tutorial could use some pictures. It doesn't matter (anymore) for Avast if you're license key is illegal or not, it'll work just fine. You should move to Kaspersky/Bitdefender if you can.

Your right but my screen shot program isn't quite working well right now so i can't really get pictures up, but if I do soon I will, and also, and yes license keys from other people are usually black listed to where Avast says something like your using an illegal license so yes on some license keys this does happen, but using my method stops the detection and somehow it works by encrypting the key. ?