Not trying to trash your thread though, you think this is high quality? I'm sorry but the About Us selection is even overlapping in the text area. Before posting something that has the title "High Quality" maybe look up some examples before and proof read the entire thread. Once again this is constructive criticism, not trying to bash your thread.

I made this in about 45 minutes, and I will be completely remaking it in a day or two. Just because my thread design isn't as good as you would like it to be doesn't mean my previous work & portfolio isn't.

Kiosi is currently working on a t-shirt design with me.

He never fails to deliver HQ work.

I've given him a deadline and he always met the deadline.

Also I can work with him real time via skype so there's basically no misunderstandings.

I've vouched for him before but I vouch for his services again.
