Sneak peak of my recent web design concept. The text is random gibberish, still debating on what it should be. But could I possible get some CnC on what I got so far?

My only problem in your layout so far is the text looks unevenly rounded. Besides that I really love the design, good luck with your concept! I'd love to see the final product when your done!

Looks blank.

You need to add more items.

For a landing page it looks great, I can't help but assume you got your inspiration from tumblr tho

Visually looks cool. I think you need examples of your work front-and-center or something. Or if you don't have that, then make the sign up button bigger so it's obvious that's what people are supposed to do on the page.
