Thread: Hexicidal's yearly feedback

Hexicidal - June 26, 2014, 12:57 am

It's nearly 3 A.M. as I type this little post up. I have a migraine and am incredibly frustrated about a recent PayPal error after a site member attacked my PP. With that in mind, please keep my perspective in mind while you read the following. I'm not going to promise an incredible thread, or even something possibly coherent. This thread will serve purpose as follows, a partial feedback thread to Omniscient and the community, and a thank you to everyone.

This site is here for one reason, business. When it comes down to it, that's all it is. With business comes professionalism, and when you learn to be professional and when to let go, that is when you have it down. When I refer to "it", I mean just being a good member. It's that simple.

Sometimes I hop on HF, look around for 5 minutes and wish to kill the fucks. Other times I realize I need to have patience with every member. Which is sometimes if you see me post, it can go from this, to calling members out on their ignorance. If you don't know me, one of my main pet peeves is ignorance. I would never demean someone for not knowing something, but if a user knowingly is spouting false facts, I will tell it like it is.

Personally, I feel that LQ posting should have harsher punishments for members. There are constant repeat offenders that get away with murder. All current policy in regards to the site is fantastic, except for the way it is presented. -- I wish the Writ3rs would actually get the Help Documents done. I want them to fully edit them for HF and have them presented in a completely understandable and readable way to the HackForums community. I would also love to see the Writ3rs complete the Wiki in progress for the last decade or so.

This staff team, is the best staff team I have ever seen on HF. I think they will change the way HF is with the skills they bring, and the personalities they have. Bossman does what bossman does, and if you don't like that he will tell you himself to fuck off. That's how a business should be run, and he does it well. F8, compassionate, caring, and wholehearted. He is a great individual and a core member of HF, even if you don't ever see him. He hides in between the shadows. Xch4ng3 has always been very kind to me and tolerated my fruitless conversations, I think its time to send you my yearly PM. JD is a a beast, this is his theme song.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rSMY2CVjCZA>

Virial has deserved staff for a very long time, but I believe his adventures with illness pushed that off. I haven't talked to Virial in quite a while, but I wish you the best. Paracatoxum, nothing needs to be said. Spoiler \(Click to View\)

RDCA is an old friend of mine as it turns out. There are only four other members that have known me as long as he has, and those members are Dil., Saturday, Soulmate, and Cloudy. While we might not have always been close, he's always been one of the fairest members I have ever encountered. I don't think HF will see another staff time like this one again. It's pretty close to as good as it gets. When it's good, and you know it's good, run with it.

With the community, I sometimes forget that the we can experience a set mind of extreme group think. I wish that more individuals would speak their mind for what it truly is, instead of turning it into what someone says and just regurgitating that. I went through some old members that were once huge are gone, some probably on a multi, but I don't know that. When I look around, I don't see that many members that I can say "I know" around anymore. It is quite disheartening that members seem to have a 2-3 year lifespan on HF before they expire per say. I want more members to succeed and take the knowledge they learn from HF and apply it. That may sound absolutely lame and nerdy, but there is so much potential with everything from hands on experience to hidden knowledge. All you have to do is look at little.

Now, let me move onto groups like everyone else. Groups suck, there are so many rubbish owners that make their groups into something they shouldn't, and I don't mean thematically(i.e. gaming group, money group). Out of all the groups, there are only about 4 that are even worth their weight on HF. I think that is such a shame, there is an unlimited amount of potential with groups. I think it could be so much better, and I will start the change if other groups are too afraid to. I've changed my group multiple times, but I always go back to the basics. It works, and I shouldn't keep changing my group into something it isn't. I will be reverting Nexus into a Logic/Void lookalike soon, if I could just find a competent and willing graphics artist that would be lovely.

I guess what this comes down to is, don't be afraid to ask questions, and don't be afraid to speak your voice on HackForums. There is a secret to it though, don't be stupid about it.

Thank you to all my friends that have been with me from the beginning. You guys mean everything to me. Stay safe out there.

-- I will add more to it tomorrow, I just wanted to get something posted. I apologize for the stream of consciousness style writing, it works best for me when I want to get something on the screen. I wanted to get this out while I had the time; something that is getting more rare. Scratch that, I'm going to leave it as is. I don't have anymore to say without everything becoming repetitive. Thanks everyone.

Winners - June 26, 2014, 12:59 am

Nice feedback man. Seems like you're a very HQ member! ?

Bonfire - June 26, 2014, 1:04 am

Looks nice Hex, can't wait to see it all touched up and tidy tomorrow. Here's to another good year.

420 Blaze It - June 26, 2014, 1:05 am

Nice feedback thread, looking forward every year. I've seen you progress from a normal HF Member to a very HQ one around 2k13.

Arsenal Football Club - June 26, 2014, 1:06 am

Well worth the 4 minutes read man. Been here for 3 years or so , i've only been here for 29 days. Let's hope i can achieve as much as you have

Trilonix - June 26, 2014, 1:07 am

Thats a lot for something you "just wanted to get posted". The current staff, while they do have their downs I believe , like you said are very good and I wouldn't change that, But groups are good no matter who leads them or in what direction, they are a way for members to communicate to each other in a more trusted or similar group. Either way, this is a very nice thread so far, and im looking forward to see more. :)

clark.dll - June 26, 2014, 1:09 am

I always thought you were a really cool guy. I really wish you didn't fuck me around when I asked for an interview.

Anyway, nice feedback thread. I agree 100% with your position on groups

Nas - June 26, 2014, 1:10 am

Really nice feedback thread. ?

Fizzie - June 26, 2014, 1:11 am

Very good feedback thread Hex, it will be interesting to see how Nexus transforms into its next generation.

??????? - June 26, 2014, 1:14 am

Nice to meet you Hexicidal, the business aspect of HackForums is the exact reason I joined, so I'm glad to hear a successful businessman give some motivation. I'm trying to find like-minded individuals who are also interested in making money online, and I hope more people start joining for those reasons. Well, have a wonderful day and thanks for the encouragement.

wellager - June 26, 2014, 1:23 am

I'm glad you're bringing Void back - in a manner of speaking -. I'm sure you could consult fbn members, or hire someone off-site (actually looking at all the "userbars" some members post you're better off doing that lel)

Nice feedback, I agree about the groups and posting quality. (well it's not that I don't agree with the rest, I can't relate to the rest since I don't know staff as you do). Without meaning to suck your dick you're a nice guy, I think you should be more severe times to times.

Stewie ? - June 26, 2014, 2:15 am

I've read about Void on the SF, I have no idea how it was since I'm new but I hope you'll manage to achieve your goals with this, sounds like a serious step and if may I add, much needed. Good read overall, ever since I talked with you about joining Nexus I considered you a HQ mofo, and damn I wasn't wrong about it. It's funny how I joined in such a hectic period, the rise and fall of omnicoins (hopefully will rise again after the allcrypts trolls will be out), and now reading about Nexus' future. Good luck in everything you do Hexi and by the way, if you want some graphical services I would be more than happy to help you out free of charge, I have a good few years of experience under my belt when it comes to design and web development. Feel free to send me a PM whenever you want.

Tonight - June 26, 2014, 2:17 am

Never three years ago when we were playing Battlefield together just having fun online did I think we'd ever get to where we are today. You and I have been through a lot, both on our own and together. You're always there for me (even if I have to wait hours for you to respond to my pms or texts) and that's something I can't say for many other members. You're truly a great guy, one of the most caring and understanding I've ever met. I wish wherever your path takes you, I'm either by your side or running to catch up.

Jerral - June 26, 2014, 2:42 am

Nicely said! for someone like a group owner to speak in such manner this is truly surprising. op is hq as they say and has proven it.

"" I want more members to succeed and take the knowledge they learn from HF and apply it. That may sound absolutely lame and nerdy, but there is so much potential with everything from hands on experience to hidden knowledge. All you have to do is look at little. ""

This is very true..i am glad that someone who owns a group cares about others and wants members to succeed using the knowledge they got from hf. knowledge is power and op is right about it.

Darkwin - June 26, 2014, 2:50 am

Very nice feedback Hex, I agree with what you stated regarding groups. There are some groups that imo could have so much potential but they're always ruined by "sectors" instead of just having an group that shares the same interest on an particular subject such as what you guys did with Void.

You offered some very useful advice as well to newer members, We've never really chatted much but you seem like a good member of the of the community.

Vodge - June 26, 2014, 3:07 am

YES HEX. I am glad you're bring back a Void/Logic group. Whatcha gonna do about all the Nexus members though? Without wanting to sound like a sanctimonious cunt, we do have a bunch of varied bunch of people in the group at the moment and I can imagine it being similar to an SRPP mark 2 in terms of content and quality.

ven0m - June 26, 2014, 4:47 am

I still remember the old Logic days after you changed Coders. GG. ?

Vince - June 26, 2014, 5:53 am

Glad to see Nexus reverting. I only talk to some people in there because of some fights that would happen when I first joined. Great feedback Hex, very straightforward.

Talu - June 26, 2014, 6:12 am

Great feedback thread, man. Pretty high quality.

Grin - June 26, 2014, 7:58 am

Seth, I find you to be one of the best members on this site.

Tibit - June 26, 2014, 8:06 am

I agree with you on members expiring after a year or two. There are quite a few members I met when I started on HF that were really good, but no longer come on this site. You should know as well as I do how hard it is to find genuinely good members while owning groups since majority of the people that talk are kiss asses. I've only met a few since starting The Empire that I actually enjoy talking to who aren't kiss asses.

When you don't meet new people that you can enjoy talking to or sell something here, you get bored of the site really quickly. That's usually why members don't last more than a year or two. I've gotten completely bored of the site multiple times before, it's hard to get interested into it again.

Also, good luck on bringing logic/void back, sucks that malachi is closed tho, he was the best debater in those.

Justin Timberlake - June 26, 2014, 8:13 am

I like your opinions, especially about applying the knowledge gained from here. Congrats on all your achievements, I've heard nothing but positive things about you.

ItsATumor - June 26, 2014, 8:24 am

Nice feedback, and I agree with you. Members need to let loose and stay longer. I will and Ill try to take what I learn with me. It's the point of learning, right?

Cyber Saint - June 26, 2014, 8:25 am

Nice feedback thread, Hex. I have a lot of respect for you and many of the things you stated in this thread.

Aceman - June 26, 2014, 8:36 am

I enjoyed reading your feedback. I too have felt the struggle between trying to be helpful and wanting to flaming people for ignorance so I know how you feel. It's difficult sometimes but in the end I'm glad when I'm helpful as opposed to toxic. As much as I like Nexus I do understand the need for change and hope that I can remain or join after the change.

Diabolic - June 26, 2014, 2:08 pm

Looks good, Hexcidal. Very detailed and well written.

Kosmos - June 26, 2014, 4:05 pm

Great feedback Seth. I'm looking forward to that Logic/Void comeback. Thank you for all that you have done for me. You are like a brother to me.

I know first hand what this is like as well. It can be a struggle sometimes, but you'll always find motivation as long as there's something worth sticking around for. Whether it's a product, service, thread, section, or even a specific member. You always want to find something that'll maintain your interest in the forum or else you'll just end up quitting.

Mittens - June 27, 2014, 12:28 am

It's a shame because I never really got to know you well. I'd always be in parties with Soulmate, Saturday, and Nathan in 2011, but when you actually started to show up more in them it was the point when I sold my Xbox to switch to PC. I practically quit Hackforums the past three years, along with "cutting" contact (not intentionally)with my old Xbox friends; and I regret it. I spent the past years trying to get into PC gaming and being determined to make a successful and profitable Minecraft server. Both of which happened, but my knowledge could have expanded so much more if I stayed active with this forum. It's pretty annoying now because like you said, friends keep you on the site, but I haven't spoken to 70% of my old ones that brought me here in years. Being in Infamous is probably the only reason I keep coming on here, I've already met so many good people because of it. If there's one thing that groups are good at, it's meeting new friends.

I also miss Qualia's posts.

I also miss grin debating about words. And Saturday randomly popping in and trolling us. And the rest of the Void members.

If you're not pulling my leg, thanks for this.

Don't worry. We'll be getting the gang back together. ?

?pade - June 27, 2014, 1:38 pm

Nice little feedback thread, have talked to you a few times, you seem like a pretty chill HQ user. Keep it up.

Levi - June 27, 2014, 1:57 pm

couldn't agree more about groups, i didn't expect them to be any better when i got back. not many members last more than a few years which in most cases i think is good, keeps the meat fresh.

Sir - June 27, 2014, 6:48 pm

Good feedback thread bro, glad to see you're still around and enjoying yourself. You've accomplished a lot and look forward to seeing more from ya ?

Roger Waters - June 27, 2014, 7:07 pm

Nice feedback, Hex. Glad to hear that Void is coming back.

Hexicidal - June 28, 2014, 12:29 am

I'm deciding not to add more to it. For the most part, I covered the points I want. I just wish I didn't write it in a stream of thoughts.

Other than that, thank you guys.

Dex? - June 28, 2014, 5:32 am

Great feedback thread, Hex.

Definitely looking forward to the return of Void.

Froggy - June 28, 2014, 6:03 am

I love knowing that I can always expect good feedback threads from you, and this one didn't disappoint. It's upsetting that people grow tired of the forums and eventually expire. I feel like I'm already going down that path. I just want the old days back, but unfortunately most of my old friends no longer talk to me, have changed into a personality that I dislike, or have left the forum. You're one of the few members that I can actually say "I'm glad you haven't expired" to and sincerely mean it.

Hugs for you. <3

I never really talked to you much, but I still remember Void. I'm sure that I barely scraped the edge of it - everybody there always talked of the olden days and how much better they were. If you're truly bringing Void back, then I'm quite excited. Although I barely posted there (due to personal reasons) I still enjoyed the SF massively. Qualia's posts were always entertaining to read. Saturday's trolls were, well, awesome. I can't seem to recall anything bad about Void. It was actually my first group and I kinda felt at home there. I could freely talk about things that actually interested me (it seems that the only place I can do that is in a group). SRPP is not the same.

Anyways, rant over. Bring Void back. Please. I will love you forever.

I never knew you personally so I'm not really in a position to say much, but congrats on another year and good luck.

SomeWhiteGuy - June 28, 2014, 6:59 pm

It's about that time of the year for me as well; I'll be coming up on 3 years in July. ?

Pretty good post even though you willy nilly kicked me out of Nexus after giving you free skins. Oh well, love the gif, great movie
