

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: How to make my PC from hibernating automatically?

ZuGgY - June 10, 2014, 3:55 pm

Every time I leave it or put the lid of my laptop down, it goes into hibernation after I come back like around 5-10 minutes. I want it to just sleep, not hibernate. How do I change this?

Thanks.

Aura - June 10, 2014, 4:00 pm

Zuggy, Google is your friend mmmmmkay ?

<http://support.microsoft.com/kb/920730/en>

?

Jeremy Clarkson - June 10, 2014, 4:03 pm

First head over to Control Panel > System and Security>Power Options

Then you will see your "plan" Click "change plan settings" Spoiler (Click to View)

Change advanced power settings. Spoiler (Click to View)

Then do as follows Spoiler (Click to View)

ZuGgY - June 10, 2014, 4:03 pm

Just did the CMD.

This disables Hibernation on the PC, though. I just want it from stop doing it automatically. Before my reset, it was never automatic, just went into sleep mode (which is what I want).

Jeremy Clarkson - June 10, 2014, 4:11 pm

(Jun 10, 2014 04:03 PM)ZuGgY Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Just did the CMD.

This disables Hibernation on the PC, though. I just want it from stop doing it automatically. Before my reset, it was never automatic, just went into sleep mode (which is what I want).

(Jun 10, 2014 04:03 PM)Carliber Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) First head over to Control Panel > System and Security>Power Options

Then you will see your "plan" Click "change plan settings" Spoiler (Click to View)

Change advanced power settings. Spoiler (Click to View)

Then do as follows Spoiler (Click to View)

There you go, maybe you didn't see it first time. Hopefully you sort your issue out!

Aura - June 10, 2014, 4:18 pm

(Jun 10, 2014 04:03 PM)ZuGgY Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Just did the CMD.

This disables Hibernation on the PC, though. I just want it from stop doing it automatically. Before my reset, it was never automatic, just went into sleep mode (which is what I want).

Well follow Carliber instructions then, was about to post this and it's what you have to do.

ZuGgY - June 10, 2014, 4:35 pm

@Car, thanks mate. Got it.

:)

Appreciate the help.