Thread: Is it against the rules of HF to hack a member who chargebacks against you cause TOS?

Sennheiser - June 14, 2014, 2:27 pm

Would it be against the rules on hackforums to hack another HF member knowingly.

Because they chargebacked against your product for whatever reason it may be.

Because Your TOS Says action will be taken if you chargeback?

Another member i talked to said it would be reasonable because the TOS says so yes, its against the rules.

We recommend you take the time to read the HF Help Documents section. The answer to your questions should be contained in there.

i wouldn't, A member a while ago, when i chargebacked because the product was not as described, threatened to hack me over skype before,

I eventually did cancel the dispute, and was asking this thread from a perspective as if i was that member

I wouldnt even consider threatening, since Omni treats HF as nazi concentration camp!

HAHA i know right,

ill let it slide, because ill never buy the products again,

but still just wanted to know this

If "action will be taken" is in the form of battling the dispute and making a scam report then there's no rule breakage there.

i have skype logs admitting it from whoever says it and it is linked to their acc

anyway ill close it

if i ever have problems like that ill report it but i said ill let it slide
