I'm gonna have to say the same thing.

However I was just using normal methods + my own specific small details.

Bit random, but only around $50 a day probably. Not making much since I spent all of it on Enterprise. Once I get more ill invest it and make more.

Mr..... - June 25, 2014, 12:23 pm

What PPD would you recommend? I'm looking for one with a good payout. I am currently using sharecash but the payout is pretty low.

Thanks in advance.

Although blackhat - survey lockers or cryptolockers would be a good thing to use.

PPD? Then File Ice is slightly better than sharecash.

I would start CPA though. You can control the offers and they payout more and have the same offers as PPD networks.

Ad Works Media is very good. If not that then CPA Grip.

May want to look into survey lockers - can be found in the premium sellers section.

But I suggest you stray away from making money with ratting I wasted a lot of time on it myself.

Certainly. I'd recommend looking at the current market and looking at what is popular and copying it but adding something they all don't have.

Either that or try PPD/CPA - all I can suggest is if you are gonna do something, make it amazing. (I tried steam logging before, I didn't go straight away, I made it look as good as I could, I used friends to check if it looked legit, I'd pretend I was hacked and use the method I was going to use, if it worked on them, it would work for others.. Yes it is. Some ways could be something like <https://www.slicethepie.com/> - You get paid to review music. Works out around $10 an hour, if you go fast. But I suggest you do 2-3 reviews then take a break, they ban quite a lot if you just sit there and constantly do reviews.

What do you mean by looking at the current market? Sorry, I'm just a bit confused what you meant by this.

PPD/CPA sounds interesting.

How long does it usually take to set everything up?

Also, what is the age requirement to start this? (I'm not 18)

I've used that site before but I quit after a while, it gets boring.

My favourite way of making money is misc :p Just random ways of making money that aren't really popular. For example atm im running some bots on websites that reward you with points for doing certain things. Then you can cashout the points for money. (not selling this method or anything so don't ask)

I'm just starting with earning money online. I really don't have any money to invest in to start profiting.

I would love to get your product, but I do not have the money to buy it nor do I have the money to invest.

I'm just starting out with nothing and trying to make something. I know it's going to be hard. I've tried Probux, but that requires a lot of investing before you start gaining any profits.

Do you have anything else for me to check out? I'm sticking with only legal activities here. I don't want to do any blackhat activities like e-whoring.

Well I suggest you get $10 from slice the pie and invest that into something like <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4173178> - get a $6 VPS from him and then use it to run hitleap/jingling and send traffic to - <http://harshalptp.com/> - Around a $1 a day maybe. Then use money from that to invest into something bigger or just upscale the method.

InspectorGadget - June 25, 2014, 12:53 pm

My #1 suggestion - do the small trivial shit to build up money. Like $500 or so, hire coders, deisgners etc and fill a hole in the market.

You manage it, you take the profits - give some to the people who work for you... use the profit to develop bigger projects.. that is how to make a business!

hmm thats a tough one :) I would of said BTC, but thats more of a long term investment.

I suggest maybe investing into a product?

Hire a coder and make something unique but it has to be simple as $180 is not much for a advance product. Keep $20 left over for Thread design/signature.

Sell the product on HF and find 1 or 2 other forums for that extra bit of money.

Depends on what you think you're good at.

Personally I can invest $5 in PPD and turn it to $100 in a week.

If it's BTC, loaning it to companies or specific individuals on coinbase can be a good option.

However you do need to have previous experience.

You can also purchase resell rights for products on HF based on your field of expertise.

Yeah PPD/CPA is good to invest in if you have a good niche. Also buying products from people who are selling resale rights is a good idea if you find a good one.

Be a student, show your skill, get accepted as a full member and become a mentor.

I'm gonna be honest here, and HF might not want me to say this but ah well.

I see Enterprise as a group of members who are willing to work together, talk to each other, be friends and support each other.

We don't like messing around or drama. So if you are likely to mess members around, cause drama and be negative, don't expect to stay.

IF you are a person that looks out for others, is able to make connections and are a nice guy - you are likely to exceed here.

Tested it. It's not worth it if you're buying the referrals. Rented referrals may be inactive users and you'll lose out of money. If you are doing direct referrals they might be more profitable.

I have no active direct referrals and I'm making a few dollars a day from probux. No investment, getting some easy money.

I'd say it's worth it if you have the patience. It starts slow and pays better later on.

You end up putting a lot of work into it and the amount you get in return just isn't worth it.

You can make much better money doing other things with all the time you put into PTC.

Without app maybe CPAGrip its not ppd but I don't know any PPD's without app's.

Best CPA network = CPAGrip or AdWorksMedia

Is there a certain age you have to be to sign up?

Well all CPA/PPD's require you to be 18+ but you don't have to put real info or anything.

What if they require you to fill in a Tax ID Number?

I heard ShareCash makes you fill in a Tax ID number once you hit $600 in earnings.

I done it once and just used fake info from <http://www.fakenamegenerator.com/>

But I think AWM don't require you to do that.

So it would be okay if I sign up on AWN with info from <http://www.fakenamegenerator.com/>?

I'm actually feeling a bit fued :p

I signed up on ShareCash and I gave my real info (stupid). I mean I know there's nothing that can happen, but anyways I tried to remove it but I can't :p

Is there anyway? Or do I just have to leave it like that?

Thank you for helping the community!

I would like to ask something PPD/CPA related.

Do you think Facebook (Sponsored Posts/Page) is better than Youtube for promoting niches?

lolwutt - July 11, 2014, 4:06 pm

What ebooks are actually useful and totally whitehat?

Where does one start to learn how to do affiliate marketing?

I have access to a university. Thinking about leaving paper ads in places. What is the best thing to write on them? I was thinking neobux/clixsense/probux referral links.

Where can I find pay per survey sites that offer incentive to surveyors (free ipad etc.) for Canada?

nextera - July 11, 2014, 8:20 pm

What CPA network do you recommend to sign up to and use?

Compulsive - July 11, 2014, 8:22 pm

What is a good starting website to monetize? Recommend me anything.

Why the fuck would you use fake information on a site that asks you to fill out a tax form?

There are no working whitehat books on HF that are worth the investment.

Hi I am 16 and looking into getting into moniziting I am currently working with someone to get a huge PPD project going hopefully it works. Right now I am currently just trying to find random jobs that I can do. I find all those surveys sites to be full of BS. So I tend to stay away from them. I saw u mention the HitLeap + jinling site idea I do intend on trying that once I get the cash. Hopefully it pays off :) I do have experience in photoshop and I am taking a HTML Coding class once high school starts. If u could give me some tips On getting stRting cash for projects that would be helpful.

Ty
