Thread: fuck you Stresser owners.

takedown. - July 1, 2014, 6:37 pm

Alright, im sick and tired of this whole bullshit going on.

I know that this thread wont help against Stresser owners who are just lying about their stressers using other people API BUT, maybe people who want to purchase will look twice before buying.

Lately ive been contacted by a few Stresser Owners, everyone of them wanted to buy an API off me, well, not a problem though. BUT i dont like it when u got 0 knowledge in managing Servers, just buy an random API from people u dont even know (or APIs from users who are already banned from HF) without getting a DSTAT. Why would u open a Stresser without any fucking knowledge, u are basically getting Credit for other people's work.

However lets start off exposing a "Stresser & API Seller named 0x68"

He is selling "Network-Stressing LLC", advertising a Stresser & APIs combined together. Vouches were getting pretty big on his Thread so i decided to Contact him about a DSTAT via PM. He agreed to do a dstat with me on skype, he were literally hitting NOTHING on the graph itself, i myself tested the graph and it did actually work, ive been hitting 15Gbps on the graph, and he was like wow, can i buy an API off you. Well, you sell APIs why would u buy others people APIs if you are already selling APIs ? fuck logic.

here are a few screenshot of the skype convo & the dstat we took.

Sales Thread

Spoiler (Click to View)

ive got nothing to say about that anymore, decide for urself if you purchase this or not.

This isnt any Sales Trashing at all, i am basically just speaking the fucking truth, if you cant live with that, go on and hate me i dont give a single fuck.

Im out.

Kind Regards

I got my account and my package. I hit a few IPs didn't down nothing. They wasn't big sites or nothing. Sites I can normally take down with the shittiest of booters. I then got a quick dstat and well no power. Legitly NO POWER.

Anyways Good luck :)

I'm not sure if you noticed but I did state even on our stresser page that it hits 1-2.5gbps per attack that can be found here -> <https://puu.sh/9T00J/2884bb1464.png>

Then you make me hit your dstat server and it comes up with

So no, we did not lie about our power. We were specific that it hits 1-2.5gbps per attack and the proof is all around you.

You're just pissed off that you're hardly making anything because you don't put any work into your project.

PS: Don't expect to do a dstat when we know the attack is 1-2.5gbps because it won't be calculated properly since there's so much traffic. That's why you need to dstat on an actual UNIX Dstat

I'm actually surprise you have no idea how a Dstat Graph works. You CANNOT dstat a stresser that hits 1-2gbps on a GRAPH. It's common sense.

Please show me where I lied? Did I say it hits 10gbps? No I did not, I specified 1-2gbps and it is hitting that

We just started, use your head for 1 minute. We're working our way up and there's a reason we're limiting the attack length due to the reason we do not what to cluster our servers. The longer we're here, the more we'll grow and that's what we're doing.

Read my top post, I just stated that there's a big difference. The graph at the time was idle and compared to the OPs graph, his idle traffic is spiking up to 7GBPS.

Anyway, I'm not going to sit here and argue with someone I have no reason to argue with.

i hope that u know that the Graph is just the same, and its not a fucking problem when its around 7Gbps normal traffic because the traffic is always there, if you hit 2Gbps it would have shown 9Gbps. however i wont discuss this with you since u have no knowledge about everything u talk of.

The initial problem with the stresser was nobody thought it hit. Why? Because it doesn't hit hard enough to actually alter the Zabbix graph OP's been using.

I thought Thr's graph was composed of 8 different routers?

@OT An API hitting at 300mbps top while advertising 1-2.5 sounds like false advertising to me. Not our fault if "Lots of boots are running right now" (my god how many times have I heard that excuse), it's your duty to manage all your attack servers and ensure that the servers aren't overloaded.

Something like that. It's a small network within Akamai, and that's just about all I need/want to know. Seems like you're probably one, if not the only person who's actually got an idea about the Zabbix graph. Not a "Dstat graph" ?

Bad idea. Everyone will start hopping on the advertisement train the moment you ask for a "decent booter". If you really want power, buy your own servers.

2 lazy to post again

@person under this post

Most stresser owners go for public sources that have been edited to seem custom (or they actually buy a source like Clubs) and then drop a few shared API's into their server page in hopes of making mad cash. Not all stresser owners are like that but the majority are.

You forgot to add in a few things

3: Purchases some servers, has good business for 1 month.

3.1: Makes money - neglects project - uses money for games or some shit not relevant to the project

3.2: Complaints come out from customers - no attack power anymore and servers cannot be paid off

4: They get hacked

5: Then they shut down.

6: They either ditch HF or create a new "V2" booter that gets shutdown after repeat 1-5 reBOOT's 1 year anniversary was yesterday ?

Out of the whole year of me doing support and running it; it was only down for 2 weeks out of the whole year.

You're one of the biggest retards in that section

You trying to impress by showing off your "knowledge" (and I use that term loosely) is quite embarrassing.

I wonder what will be next.. RATs?

Gitty Brothers - July 3, 2014, 5:32 pm

It's kind of ironic how these stresser owners don't even know how to setup and manage their own servers. ? Booters and stressers, in general, should be eliminated from this site and elsewhere. It's almost cancerous.

corrupted102 - July 3, 2014, 5:35 pm

i have owned 4 stressers.. (vbooter, titanium,ipstresser,darkbooter) they all failed me :D not one worked. was pritty funny.

Before you ask (yes i do know how to use a stresser) ?

I liked the colours better of the old 1337 dstat graphs made me feel like a true haxker.

Not sure how that's relevant to the amount of time a product has been running for, but whatever ?

Can you remind me how many owner's it's cycled through - including banned or "arrested" owners?

"Running" for a year seems like a pretty apt description.

Yup, the year has flew by and I will not let the project go anywhere. I have learned so much from when I started managing the project to now.

You have a shoutout on our homepage btw.

I believe two people have owned the project before me?

There's nothing wrong with saying we've been running for a year lol.
It's not like these other competitors who randomly get a sticky for their thread after their site has been offline for the longest then claim it's been online for 2 years; I won't name any names but if you go into the SST section you can see a bunch of them xd.

Difference between them and reBOOT is that the website has been online for a majority of the time (2 week downtime in February). Other than that, you can't really claim to say it died or went "off" when we've been online for a year.

It's clear the owner of the product cannot provide the features he advertises. It's just retarded to say that a 2 Gbps won't show on a graph that is measuring a nic with 2Gbps traffic, because if the actual dirty traffic would reach the nic, the graph would show 4 Gbps. "DSTAT" is also just a UNIX tool that is not made for high throughput measuring of networking equipment.

Plus, the user is lying about his LLC status, afterall this seems to be a false and bogus product that should be removed from this forum.

That guy(@LLC owner) went on team viewer with me.He tried to boot me,but nothing happened.I was not affected at all.Then he tried to boot my website (you can take it down from 1 client using torshammer(for example)).It took him 5 minutes..After that he said that he showed me the power of his stresser ?

Member 0x68 gave me negative rep for spreading false info.Well,if that is true,mind going on teamviewer again? This time,i will record it.You will show us YOUR desktop(like you did last time),and we will see how long will it take to take down my lowly website,and will you fail to take me offline again.

Right when i wanted to take screenshots conversations i found out that my account is banned =)

If you created a limited liability company for a "network stresser", you've got to be a pretty fucking stupid. Someone could file a FOIA request pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552 with the SBA and forward any pertaining information to the IRS, who will proceed to destroy you after subpoenaing PayPal if you haven't been following proper tax procedures.

stressers should be made for kids, not by kids.

You cant blame all stresser owners mate , Everyone doesn't run with API , they do have their various private methods to get more power , Professionals can be found less in numbers , Just find the right Demons :D
