Thread: [\[Strange\]Two months ago, blackshades, now no-ip?](#)

Since i`m not in ratting shit i was reading some posts about blackshades customers police raid. Don`t u think is quite strange that now they seized no-ip? They could easily find blackshades customers, but those who are using those free/cracked/custom made rats most of them are using no-ip and i saw some quite big botnets networks with those rats. So should we expect to new raids in few weeks?

They never said they are going behind ratters with the no-ip things

And I'm quite sure they never will

They already desinfected 10000's of computers why spend more money in a succes operation.

Because you see some faggot posting a thread more skids to be arrested doesn't mean that will happen

They aren't doing anything with no-ip. They just want to get rid of the hosts that have malicious intents. I highly doubt they're going to start tracking down thousands and thousands of people.

Idk..for me is quite strange. Then why to go for almost every customer of blackshades? same things can be done with the free rats also

EDIT: also sniffed traffic are proves for illegal activity, so they don`t really need to search through your entire pc
