Thread: Scammed by Oak uid=516774

Oak is probably one of the biggest hypocrites I have ever faced. His user title is "I hate scammers" but scams me? Anyways, the deal was he license transfer from my account for a $10 pre-paid PSN card. I went first of course since a bunch of Ub3rs and L33ts made me look all shady even though I never scammed before.

The thread where I was offering a trade: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4293819>

As I said before, I went first and things took a turn when I caught him playing a game on my account because supposedly he is to download my game off my account, right? Guess not.

^ Game he was playing.

Here's the messages when I call him out for it:

He says he needs 2-3 hours to get a code though that's just plain bullshit because I have ordered from Amazon plenty of time and I have gotten it right away. Then later on he replies saying he needs to go to a store so I gave him the weekend to do it and yet gives me an excuse he can't go.

Spoiler (Click to View)

^ His previous message confirming he can due it by then.

After the weekend he gives me an excuse he doesn't have a car and another one claiming his mom broke her elbow.

So I waited ANOTHER week for this guy to deliver his part of the deal which is today.

Guys, please do not deal with this user anymore unless you want to be scammed and deal with excuses. I have waited more than enough.

I will have your code by today.

I have not scammed you yet.

Just sent him his code.
I did not lie about anything above.

Good job Oak for resolving this. Always be patient and wait 24 hours at least.

Glad to hear it.

OP, you should close this.

Oak? - July 10, 2014, 9:38 am

You should really close this since I sent you the code, OP has refused to respond to my messages.

Yes but it's not a scam if I gave it to him eventually is it?

This is resolved right, Oak gave you the codes, That's not scamming.
Just having a slow service.

I was thinking the same exact thing.
I also agree with Devour.

Yeah but did I scam him?
No I did not.

Thomas Jefferson - September 20, 2014, 1:15 pm

Can we fast forward in time and see if he scams him? I am really confused of this thread

Comedic - October 7, 2014, 3:33 pm

OP you can close the thread now since it's been resolved
