If the images are too large, click them and they will open in a new tab for monitor-size readjustment.

I've been to many places in the U.S. and this is the only subtle, dynamic place to live that is not polluted... overrun by homeless people (LA, NYC, Chicago) or overrun by a huge ass population. There are lots of businesses here and it's the perfect place for kids to grow, and for teenagers to roam around downtown. Many different bands have started here, along with novelists. I don't know what the hell you're talking about. Also it's not expensive here, the gas is firmly fair, the tap water is safe, the sea is close by, Canada (the best part of Canada... Vancouver B.C.) is close by and Microsoft, Costco, Boeing, Valve (Steam) and many many more other brands are centered here.

well you're right in here... its just I had lived in Washington for 8 years now, used to live in New Jersey and Philadelphia still like the Washington better... I guess I just got tired of this place. I guess I would try something new like living in the countryside. Anyways I am from Europe so I've been in many different countries there but I still love US

I can get how it gets boring. It's a great state compared.

Some days I have nothing to do here because I've done everything, lol

Great pics and fairly original idea, May I ask what camera you are using?

Cyber Saint - July 10, 2014, 12:52 pm

Amazing pictures. I really like the one featuring the Mustang as well. Nice shots, Stay Plural.

Yeah, I'll be driving all the way south of Oregon. I'm staying at a Lake resort there, not sure what it's called though, but we're planning.

Straight after, we're driving down to San Francisco, staying for 2 nights (will get hundreds of pictures) and then down to Santa Monica is where I'll be staying in LA-- then San Diego.

I did this twice but never brought my cameras, totally regret it lol
