Thread: The Empire - Official Group - General Recruitment

Troye - July 9, 2014, 9:19 pm

Introduction:

Make sure to read this entire post, it contains valuable information that you can not miss if you are applying.

Welcome to The Empire's recruitment thread. The Empire is a group of dedicated, active, and friendly members. We are currently looking for members to join our group. All members are welcome to apply, as long as you fit the requirements. There is a list of basic guidelines for you to read to know if you are eligible to apply. This application is made to find out more about you, your hobbies, and your skills. It is HIGHLY recommended to make a video application. Applicants who go above and beyond tend to get accepted more than those who stick to the basic application.

There are many applications that leaders read through or listen to. These can get boring to view or read, especially if they are very minimal and monotone. Add design to your application and make it pop out. To catch members who do not read this, I want applicants to use either guy or gal as their gender. It must be clearly visible to leader reviewing your apps. Please make sure you use English in your application as well as your video. Speaking loudly and clearly will benefit you a lot. Best of luck and we can not wait to see your applications.

Userbar:

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/images/modern_bl/groupimages/english/empirev3.gif[/img]

Basic Guidelines: Around 60+ posts per month of the account's age

Must have acceptable grammar

Usually an upgraded member or a very committed non-upgraded member

No LQP or Harassment Warnings

No legitimate open or unresolved scam reports

No trolling or flaming other members

Application:

Note: To elaborate on the general information, we want to know more about you, other than how "high quality" you are. Be sure to be truthful and honest in your application, this could make you or break your application. Remember, video and voice applications are highly recommended and those that create that type of application tend to have a higher chance at being accepted, but it is not necessarily required. The minimum time length for both are 3 minutes, you may do more but keep in mind quality is better than quantity.

Be sure to answer all the questions, regardless if you're also doing a video/voice application. You may reformat the layout of the questions however you like; you may use GFX.

Once again, good luck to all applicants. This Recruitment will be closing July 20th.

Tom's Quick Tips:

- Make sure to put effort into you application. Prove you want to join us.
- Make you application lengthy, but full of quality. Do not add any unnecessary filler sentences to make your application seem larger.
- If you can't fully answer a question, give us a story of your life and how it effected you and changed you.
- With video applications, DO NOT SPEAK IN A MONOTONE VOICE. If I can watch more than 30 seconds of your video, you did something good.
- Make sure you are understandable in your videos. Try to minimize background audio and review your video multiple times before posting it.
- Make your application as personalized and unique as you can. Apply all of your skills to your application.
- Finally, make your application organized. If you are doing a text application, make sure all points are addressed and easily readable. If you are doing a video application, try to refrain from skipping around and using "um" a lot.

Tibit - July 9, 2014, 9:19 pm

Good luck to all those who apply. If you have questions about recruitment please message 'Sin.

Kosmos - July 9, 2014, 9:20 pm

Good luck to everyone of you who will apply. This is an amazing group to be apart of.

Ulysses S Grant™ - July 9, 2014, 9:21 pm

Good-luck everyone. This is definitely an amazing group was one of my first groups to be accepted into. The Leaders are amazing and the members are so involved you'll have a great time. If anyone has any questions or wants someone who's not involved in the recruitment process to look over your application feel free to pm me.

Fix Yo Bottles - July 9, 2014, 9:24 pm

I will be applying shortly , good luck to all!

Fox™ - July 9, 2014, 9:25 pm

My favorite group, and one of the best.

Spend time on your application and you'll be rewarded. I spent 2 hours on mine across a period of two days. Go into details, and if you have skills to aid your application, use them.

PM me if you want me to look over your app.

SIM-1729678 - July 9, 2014, 9:34 pm

This would be my 3th try if I make a new app, not really going to put time into something that would be denied, sorry :/

Which section are you most active in and why?

Tbh, I just click View New Posts and post in threads I find interesting. I post here, there and everywhere to be honest.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Tibit owns it, find him interesting and spoke to him a good few times, and The Empire has been around for ages, has good member base.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I'm chill. ?

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I sit in my room most of the time nowadays, I'm not fat like most people that sit in there room 24/7. Before I joined HF I was hugely into modding PS3, was in with people such as DerekTrotter and other people who were first to mod MW2/PS3. Yeah, I always get stuck when it comes to this part when applying for The Empire, not much else to say. ?

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?
Becoming a huge somebody. ?

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?
Hmmm, not to sure actually, maybe to learn more, I honestly can't remember, I remember winning L33T not to long after I joined, then a few month ago my account was closed because who ever I won L33T from chargebacked, Vinnie kindly paid it off for me because I was in Instinct, but missed a checkin, but yeah then Omni opened it back up the same day, so maybe winning L33T made me get right in amongst Hackforums. ?

Anything else you would like to say:
Come on Tibit baby, babyyyy. ?

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: I've proven myself to be very creative on blackhatting in the past but do not have any desire to practice any form of hacking anymore. I am a part time gamer and full time HF member. I have extensive affiliate marketing experience.

Which section are you most active in and why? The marketplace, and SRRP. Because I enjoy a good debate.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: Because I haven't joined a group since the gamers still existed and I would enjoy the group communication.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: Because I've proven to be a valuable member of HF, I would fit in perfectly in your group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: I speak multiple languages, and I'm trustworthy. I'm mainly here for the community. I do not expect anything from this group, just a friendly environment. I'm always someone to talk to.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Enjoying life while it lasts :).

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?
I've been away for periods before. But I've always returned because HF is the greatest community

Anything else you would like to say: Have a great day :)

Matrix Programmer - July 9, 2014, 9:36 pm

Name: Ron

Gender: Guy

Religion: Christian who believes in Theistic Evolution

State/Country: TX/USA

Time Zone: Central

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I like making money. Made a lot off of cryptocurrency for example.

I like programming and know Java and C.

I'm a good talker and tend to get what I want done simply with the words I speak.

I know how to manage things. The site that is in my sig? I managed that whole project.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm most active in the Sports World because I love football (as in soccer) and that's pretty much all I talk about there because it's World Cup season. I'm also active in the Omnicoin section because I'm a huge supporter of OMC.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I've seen the group around and the members are very high quality. I want to be apart of a high quality community and be a role model to other people.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

The Empire is a group that I would love to be apart of. The people in it are great and the message they bring around is also inspiring.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well last year I was looking for a way to make money. I got introduced to litecoin by Reddit so I, kid you not, dropped a few thousand on litecoins. Well we all know the rest of the story. Litecoins shot up and that was that. Totally went beyond my wildest expectations. I realize in life that sometimes you have to risk take. The future must be considered if you want to succeed. The present predicts the future. That's how I roll. I look at data and I listen to my guts. If my guts says something should be this and this, I go for it. There is no waiting. It's all in or nothing. That's my motto and that is also my favorite soccer player's model, Messi. You either go big or go home. That's how I roll now and that's how I will continue to roll.

Where do your priorities in life life? What is most important to you?

I prioritize my family first. They are the one who raised me and they will be first people to get rewarded. The most important thing in my life is rewarding my parents. They are the ones who made me who I am and I will forever be in debt to them.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Many things. The people on here are awesome. I like the Sports World. I also like how people love OMC on here and that aspect gets me hooked for sure. There's always something to do on here and I'm rarely ever bored.

Anything else you would like to say:

I'd really love to join and be apart of this awesome group. It would be an honor to wear The Empire bar and represent the highest quality there is. ?

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: Web-Design, Graphics, Idea's and Quality thinking. Hand Drawn Art, Painting, Eating, Building, Running, Literature is a pretty high skill for me. I'm a skilled BMX Rider, I'll be sure to entertain the members.

Which section are you most active in and why?

<https://hackforums.net/postactivity.php?uid=1698730> The Lounge, Website Construction, Anime Adventures. I'm a huge Anime fan, I've said and proved it on more than one Occasion. I post a lot or did in Website Construction because I'm constantly working on Website and Forum Projects in general. I stay Active in The Lounge because well, that's the most Active Board so I try to stay tuned with everything and everyone.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I've been in it about 3 times and I have 99 posts in there, one of my most active posting boards. I Love the Empire, it's the most friendly group I've been in. It's easy to be in, Activity is High, etc etc. Tibit is a great leader/owner as well, Couldn't be replaced.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: Because I'm a Mast3r L33t N00b. Duh, I mean, duh. no, Seriously though. I only ever really Apply for The Empire if you actually take a look at it haha. I could bring a good attitude and activity.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Tbh I'm too lazy.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? BMX is Most Important to me, that's it, and that's all.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? TIBIT, IT WAS ALWAYS TIBIT, Noob.

Anything else you would like to say: Tibit's a Noob, 'Sin is a Noob, we're all noobs.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: Well I am a very competitive gamer! I play a lot of games! I am getting into a bit of Ratting etc because I am fairly new on hack forums,

Which section are you most active in and why? Probably Gaming Lounge because I am avid gamer!

???

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: because I think it would be a great opportunity to experience new things, make new friends and learn off experienced members.

???

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I personally feel I should be accepted into the group for my honesty, loyalty and encouragement!and for future teaching when I learn some things!

???

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: I love gaming and I also am aiming to go Professional in the sport motorcross. I have raced motorcross since I was 9 I am very good at my sport!

???

When I was 11 after racing motocross for 2 years and achieving nothing really in my sport. Dad made the decision to take me to the Queensland titles. It was a really big event for me and I was very young. While at this event it was very challenging and many hardships such as stress and fear of being on a starting line of 40 riders, I didn't do to well that year and every year we went to this event!

???

Last Queensland championship we went to was last year I did very well! I got 14th on my 125cc out of 40 riders that was the highest achievement I have ever got! That was my Motorcross career summed up. One of the scariest things that has ever happened to me was that I made the choice to do sky diving when I was 9 :/ very scary!

???

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My future career in IT and hopefully making it to professional in motorcross!

???

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I find this forum very interesting with all the new things on this forum and I love the community!

???

Anything else you would like to say: I would love to join this group and I would like to say thanks for the opportunity to letting me tell my story and joining such a great group! Good luck of everyone joining! And if any mistakes I'm sorry in on my phone! And I learn Chinese! So Zaijian means goodbye!

Other hobbies I do -

I beatbox like every 5 minutes I come up with a new tune :) It's a way to enjoy boring moments of my life

I learn the language Chinese i find this very fun! I always try my hardest in the subject at school so later on I can go over to china for vacations :)

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

A very experienced marketer- (I have spread and started several major monetizing projects such as Vutra Network which is now a build of Bentpixels one of the biggest networks on YouTube)

Led numerous fund raising activities earning $10k + (School market days, etc.)

Taken multiple business courses at school:

Business Essentials.

Market Managing.

Stock Support and much more.

Created multiple very successful projects (Stresser, social media shop)

My major proof is below:

Network Stressing, LLC. has redefined the SST marketplace section. We have earned over $4,000 in two weeks.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

Which section are you most active in and why?

For this I am somewhat split so I assume it would be better for me to speak on both

The Lounge:

Reason being is I am a peoples person and I like to try and learn as much as I can about the members of HF and just people in general. Through my time on HF I have encountered different types of people so I am always interested in the topics set in The Lounge. Another reinforcing push that keeps me in The Lounge are the low quality members in other sections here solely to leech and distribute LQ products. I also feel the members are generally very chill and knowledgeable at the same time.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

The biggest reason for me wanting to join The Empire is I have had several encounters with members and each time they came off respectful, informative, and very relaxed which doesn't tend to fit the average group on HF(in my opinion).

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I think I deserve to join The Empire because I have a lot to offer this group and vice versa. I feel being in this group I will not only get the chance to meet some cool people, but also pick up a lot of new trades which make me a more reliable asset.

[img]<http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png>[/img]

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: My name is Isaac, I am a 16 year old student, although I believe that I am much more mature than the average 16 year old. I reside in New Zealand. (my DOX is already public :P) Ever since I was a little child, I have been interested in making money to purchase things for myself. I guess that is why I am so interested in making money. Once I have completed high school, I plan to go to law school, and to invest money made online in IRL ventures. I am online 12 hours a most days, and the only thing that gets in my way of being online/making money is my social life, and family.

[img]<http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png>[/img]

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? #1 Family and friends #2 Education #3 Success

[img]<http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png>[/img]

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? The reason(s) I remain active on HF are as follows: members who don't know much but will stretch out and ask assistance or guidance.
A place where I can truly enjoy learning and profit.
The connections and friendships I have built over my time here.

[img]<http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png>[/img]

Anything else you would like to say:
Thank you for reading my application, and giving me the opportunity to be part of this wonderful group. Thanks guys :)

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: I like to do backend stuff with PHP. (simple stuff I am not super advanced yet.) When I'm bored I like to make Proxy scrapers or random applications in C#. Account generators, etc. If you would like to know more about what I can do in C# shoot me a private message.

Which section are you most active in and why? If you look it says Junks but I am trying to fix that, I like to post in the market place and in the coding sections.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: It looks like a nice group :) I'm always open to joining a new group and trying something new. Pretty sexy userbar you have there.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel like I am a HQ member, and I would like to be in you're group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: I made a mistake whenever I was 14 year's old, got caught doing drugs, ever since then I've been clean, I got probation for 2 year's it'll be over in January. It was a mistake and I regret it.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My family always come's first, then friends, then HF.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I just love HackForums, I've never thought of leaving for a second. I don't think I could live without it.

Anything else you would like to say: Not really, good luck to everyone :)

Aurora - July 9, 2014, 9:38 pm

EDIT: Good luck to everyone else. I thought this through and decided I'm not going to be able to stand out of the many amazing applicants here. I'll apply if there's ever another recruitment thread when I have learn a better way to make myself stand out and my application. Until then, good luck to everyone else. I know Empire is an amazing group to be in.

???z - July 9, 2014, 9:39 pm

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I believe my best skills would be GFX, I believe my best GFX work are my signatures and desktop backgrounds, and the set-up, maintenance and community side of Minecraft servers, I have a portfolio in my signature for GFX examples, I don't have any examples for Minecraft servers as I haven't done anything but servers for friends in a while.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am most active in the Free Graphics Requests section as I enjoy giving back to the community and this is probably the most effective way for me to do it as it is something I am fairly skilled at and is something that I enjoy doing.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?

I really would like to join a group, I see posts from empire members are usually HQ and the userbar is incredibly beautiful.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?

I feel as though I am quite a HQ and friendly member as I have given away countless amounts of GFX work and I have also done a few small paypal giveaways. I have no negative rep, no scam reports and no warning level.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I have just finished high school and I am going to move on to A-levels in sixth form. I am a rather talented mathematician for my age as in Year 10 I already achieved an A grade in my GCSE maths; I also achieved an A grade in my science GCSE. I am waiting on the rest of my results which will be released in August this year.

When I was in year 8 I made some bad choices and committed some petty crimes such as shoplifting and vandalism which ended up with me in a sort of scared straight type program. I went to the police station and got processed but since that event I have not done anything of the sort. I used to be in to RAtIng however I dropped that as I only used it to jack RuneScape accounts as I wanted the gold to keep for myself as I am an avid RuneScape player.

I am not an incredibly sociable person in real life, I have a group of friends and all but I don't particularly enjoy hanging around with them or just leaving the house in general honestly. I am actually pretty confident in meeting new people and speaking in public however I just feel like I am wasting time by loitering on the streets with other people.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I believe my education is of the utmost importance, then my family comes next, my girlfriend included.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I loved the community overall and people seemed to take kindly to me as I contributed quite a lot.

Anything else you would like to say:

I have bought L33t and I am waiting for it to be processed. Also:

Outside of the internet world, I do want to become someone important with career and enjoying life as we should.

[img]http://www.yiddishinstitute.org/images/separator.gif[/img] What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? The people on Hack Forums. Yes, there might be a few people against you and trying to take you down but that's no reason to just quit. If you behave and follow all the rules, we can make HackForums a quiet and peaceful place to be on everyday.

[img]http://www.yiddishinstitute.org/images/separator.gif[/img] Anything else you would like to say: I would like to wish everyone luck on their application and to myself as well. Hope that you give me a shot to prove my loyalty to The Empire and to become one of you to help everyone on here.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Well, my skills reside at tagging and well, debating. First of all, tagging. I'm not the best tagger around, I don't tag in order to show off, I tag because I like doing so. I post most of my work on deviantArt, here is a link if you'd like to check it out below:

<http://vocaloidandsuch.deviantart.com/>

As for debating, I've been on the srpp for as long as I can remember. I always try to keep up a good quality of posts when I post there, and try not to get mad. Good old Void days.

In my opinion, if one desires to debate ANY topic, one should stick to a few rules. First of all, don't get mad, be respectful even if your opinions differ. Second of all, do not talk if you aren't well educated concerning a certain topic. If you're wrong, don't get cocky, and just admit it while giving credits to the other party for demonstrating their thesis and making you, potentially, change your mind.

Aside from that, I'm a person who cares for his friends, and when I mean friends, friends are like family. Not those people on HF to whom I'm nice sometimes. Friendship means a lot to me. Probably because I never really had a lot of friends. I do enjoy talking to people online, I have around ten thousand posts on HF, so if it is activity you're seeking, I guess that I'm your guy.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am mostly active in the rmg. I care about giving proper feedback to designers and artists in order to help them out, instead of the people who go there only to boost their post count with "10/10 loved it!!". Like all other HF member, I'm also active in the lounge, I consider it to be the right lung of HF's activity. HF, for me, is divided in 2 parts. The first part is made of the lounge and discussion sections, the other part is made of marketing and trading sections.

I am also active in the Anime Adventures section of HF. Anime has been, for me, a great way to spend time while cultivating and entertaining myself.

Look at Breaking Bad, look at GoT; those are both EXCELLENT series, right? Well, your Breaking Bad is my Code Geass. Your GoT is my FMA:B, just like you like to watch series, I like to watch anime. And at the end of the day, is there a real reason for me to watch anime? As in, is there a reason for you to watch series?

(hi unknown)

Many people think that watching anime is ridiculous. I do respect their opinion and appreciate their honesty, as long as you don't tell me that anime sucks, we're cool.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I want to join The Empire because, as I said, I'm a person who cares about his friends. As I said, I don't have many friends, and never had much of a family. I do not consider the empire to be a lounge group, moreover I consider it to be a group full of individuals who care for each other. I talked to a few empire members before, such as Tom and Unknown, and I noticed that both of these 2 members were actually more friendly than a lot of other members on HF. You could say that these two made me want to join!

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I believe that I should be accepted into The Empire because of my will to participate and share what I have with other fellow group members. As I said, I never experienced a typical familial life, my parents weren't there for me, I don't exactly blame them anyway, although I am not imploring you to take me in. If you're going to take me in, do know that I am not joining for the userbar or for a certain status on HF, I care not for such little things.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

First paragraph: A memory of my childhood.

I was playing with my brother in our room, we used to 'fight', or if you will, pick on each other all the time. As I said, as we were playing in our room, I jumped in the air and tried to play it courageously.

I forgot to tell you one thing: Brother's bed was made of steel, and some part of it wasn't how it was supposed to be.

I fell on that specific part of the bed, and got a lot of skin off my leg. I was bleeding, a LOT, and was painfully agonizing as I was taken to the hospital, where they did a quick operation which didn't take more than 30 minutes, there were no painkillers or what you'd call them since we were quite poor, as was the hospital. I regret what I did with every bone of my body, as I have not one but many scars due to always being reckless. I can't even feel that part of my leg now, not a hair is on it. I now have multiple scars due to my nature.

Second paragraph: Sociability

I was never really a sociable person in real life. I never liked people in my entourage, and always found comfort in virtual life. On the internet, on HF specifically. I joined 3 years ago, approximately, and I became far more sociable IVL during my stay on HF, but I still feared other people, and what they could say which would eventually hurt me.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life are few to be honest. I was never a person with a lot of goals anyway, but my priorities would be my friends, my real friends, ones I can trust with what I have to my name, and as much as I dislike him... my brother, Black Soul on HackForums. I wouldn't ever want to see something bad happening to him, we were through a lot of bad things together, somethings you'd call immoral from the hands of our father.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

To be honest, I joined HF to make money essentially. I don't even know what I sold in order to get a few bucks online, but I was completely ignorant in marketing. You can see the outcome of my stay now: I'm in a crypto currency group, own a OMC faucet and have over twenty thousands of them. I couldn't ask for more.

I was led to say later on by the community on HackForums and the people I met here. I wouldn't be who I am today without these people, nor would I possess what I currently have.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are

I've been into the business genre for around three years. As a youngster, I would use my parent's eBay account to buy and re-sell video games. I fell into a habit of gaining money along with the habit of business. Ever since, I've had only one motive in life; business. I strive to find work around business whenever possible because it is my passion, a vital part of my life. Additionally, I've started investing in stocks for some extra fun. On Hack Forums, I sell various high quality services ranging from eBooks to social media services to currencies.

Which section are you most active in and why?

My most active section would be the Marketplace mainly because of my addiction to business. Helping new comers in business is a passion of mine which I accomplish in a quixotic manner. Along with giving out advice, I tend to advertise my own products for some extra cash.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?

The Empire seems to fit my genre and the name tends to revolve around something big. I'd definitely wish to make some new friends in the group and share my ideas within it. Additionally, I'm quite fond of the user bar that comes with the membership. Seems like a nice group in general.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?

Personally, my degree for helping others in need is extreme. It'd be honorable to join a group such as The Empire to lend out my ideas as well as get some new ones. My quick, sharp business mind will help get along with the members and individuals in general. I'd be more than glad to educate myself in the group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you[

I was born in Mumbai, India on a Sunday. My life started in a harsh way due to some of my physical disabilities. Every single person in my family worked hard to conquer this great difficulty and they succeeded. I was ready for life around the age of three. I've loved to help others in need because I knew what it felt like to get love. My family never let me down and always told me to hold my head up. Today, I'm the sharp, business-like individual only because of my family. Only because of their support and love, I'm capable of earning hundreds of dollars online to help them out.

Around the age of seven years old, I moved to California, United States of America and ever since, I've resided here in the south. I had a passion for reading books from a young age along with a deep passion for computers and technology. I'd sit on my computer for hours as a youngster just admiring it. Most of my time also went to reading novels. In my opinion, knowledge is power.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

The most important thing to me would be my family, especially my Mother. Since my difficult birth, my Mother has struggled for me. She was my hand rest in hard times and my companion in the good times. She'll always have the biggest space in my heart along with my family as a whole.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

After joining, I noticed there were quite a number of active members. I was interested in getting to know their personalities along with meeting some business partners. Additionally, I noticed some individuals who were struggling in the field of business and I just had to help them out.

Anything else you would like to say?

This group, no doubt, seems like an amazing place to be in. It'd be a pleasure to be a part of this group to get to know more personalities. After all, relationships are much more than any amount of money in the world.

(Really awkward, I apologize.) :(

Name: Mizaki

Age: 19

Gender: Guy

Religion: Agnostic

State/Country: Florida

Time Zone: EST

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

My skills are mainly related to programming / coding, I know C++, HTML, CSS, PHP and a little Java. I also have web hacking skills such as XSS, and SQLi (I have a few tutorials in my threads which are related to web hacking and other related web hacking related hacking). I also have extensive knowledge in RATING, key logging and setups (HTTP, IRC and RATs). I work with Kings and Jokeh with setups that vary from the type of setup they wish to have, RATS and all other type of setup related items. I know how to crack passwords with Hashcat, I have a tutorial on how to configure and set-up Hashcat in my threads..

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am most in the beginner hacking section due to that fact that I enjoy helping out newcomers to the forum, and I enjoy sharing my knowledge to the people who may not know as much as I know in certain topics, although I do not claim to be the most intelligent person I do know more then the typical beginner in the beginner hacking section.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

As I have became more active on HackForums I have realized that I want to be in a family, not a group. A family where I could help my fellow brothers out with problems they may not know how to solve and be able to represent how high quality the family that I am in is.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I have dedicated a lot of time and hard work into this forum and I have helped out numerous people. I have gave away money and all other things, including multiple tutorials and just purely dedicating my time to help out the newcomers in the beginner hacking section. Which like I stated, I spend 95% of my time in. I also am a very helpful member and mature member, half of the newcomers get treated with abuse and I let them know that it'll be okay and I'm going to assist them with whatever problem they're having, no matter what color your skin is, no matter what your age is, no matter what way you type, proper in-proper. I will help you out, I do not care what others think about me. I am really this type of person due to the fact without people like me, I wouldn't know as much as I know today and I hope I can pass at-least some of my knowledge down to some newcomers so they can do what I'm doing, I do not think I am the best helper here, because I truly am not. I am more a realist in situations like this, but I will tell you that I will try as hard as I can, I will give it whatever it takes to help someone out with the problem they're having. That's why I feel as if I deserve a spot in The Empire

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

My alias is Mizaki, my real name is Jason. I am 19 and I live in the Florida. I dedicate 95% of my time on this forum whenever I am not with family or with friends. I joined HackForums around 2013 where I came upon it when I use to play a lot of video games and wanted to get into hack lobbies and how I would create mod menus (never found out how, but I do know how now. Although that doesn't really matter since I don't play much games anymore) I mostly spend my time in the beginner hacking section helping out newcomers and I also am in the RAT and e-whoring sector of HackForums. I found out my love for computers when I was about 14 years old where I would go on websites that have video games that were made in Flash and JS, I would be amazed on how they worked so about a few years later I discovered what programming was, and I didn't really mind it until I wanted to make mod menus and hack lobbies for Call Of Duty. I then learned how to write CFG mod menus for MW2 and learned how to RAT and how RATS work and as well how key loggers work. I don't really have much about me because I am a fairly boring person, but that's the main jest of myself and me.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My main priority in life is keeping family close, becoming successful and help people out in the long run. I have accomplished nearly every single of those tactics ever since I joined HackForums and I am very grateful for everything I have been given. I just know that friends, family and success comes first. I love my family with all my heart, because without them, I'd not be the man I am today. Without my friends, I wouldn't be the person I am today and without success, I wouldn't be so happy and I honestly love being successful, not even money wise. Being successful in what I like to do, which is help. I really think without the beginner hacking section, I wouldn't be able to feel so good about myself for helping out so much newcomers. I have these on the most important priorities in my life because I know every single one of them will be by my side no matter what, especially my family. Family will always have your back because they all stick together and fight through whatever problem they're having..together.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Honestly? Not much, I learned how to write CFG mod menus and left for a while and joined back after I picked up a lot of knowledge in coding, ewhoring, rating, and all the other items that I listed as a skill I have. But I decided that when I had enough knowledge to help new comers out I would give back to the community that gave me the strength and courage to learn what I know today, so honestly I would know nothing and be nothing without HackForums

Anything else you would like to say:

Not much besides I wish everyone who entered the best of luck and I also want to say, I accidentally closed my browser half way through making this and had to write it all again. I want into this group that badly. In general, I love this group. It's my dream group, it isn't a group where every competes with eachother. It's a laid back, nice group where I can be myself and not have to act like someone I'm not just to impress people. I really hope you take my application into consideration and I become apart of your family. Thank you for reading my application, I truly appreciate it.

Honestly, I haven't always been this way. I was raised Catholic my whole life, going to formal mass every single Sunday. Religion has always interested me, I absolutely love reading all of the different stories and learning morals from them. Why, you might ask why I do not believe in God? I'm basically just in a position at the moment, where I want to see what's really out there, and learn more about things. I was brought up Catholic my whole life, meaning that's what I was influenced by, but what if that wasn't right? What if being Mormon was the right religion to be for example? I am still finding my way with this right now, but I will not deny there is something probably there. If there is something that you don't understand, or have any questions, feel free to ask me anything.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Social Engineering

I have been doing these sorts of things for a long time. Talking to people is something that I have been really quite good at, whether it be gaining information on someone or simply just being friendly. I haven't been doing this a whole lot anymore, but it's definitely something that I am good at.

E-Whoring

I have been E-Whoring for quite some time now, I haven't been making a living off of it, but I have definitely been pulling in some extra cash. I don't think there really is a need to go into more details, it's pretty self-explanatory.

English

English and my writing are things that I am getting into for school. Exploring new styles of writing is like discovering a whole new world, yes like in Aladdin. I have been writing things, especially for music for about two years. English has probably been one of the only classes I have always kept my grade above a 95. For some reason, I just love the class and everything about it. Hopefully one day you'll see in one of my songs that I write :D

Monetization

This is something that I have seriously been doing, and making a living off of. Monetizing and investing money is something that has always interested me. Since January this year, I have been able to make around $11k which is pretty good I would say from just sitting on the computer when I "work" and still being able to live my life.

Music

Not sure this really matters, but it's something I am good at, so why not. Music has been my life ever since probably 8th grade when I got my first iPod. I remember when my friends used to always used to be listening to music, but I hadn't really known what music could be like other than the music that my father always had playing on the radio, which was NOT bad music, I just wasn't really exposed to what was out there. Pretty soon, I started getting into drumming for school, and was in Marching Band Freshman year on drumline, well until I got kicked out xD I started doing music on my own after that, playing instruments such as the drums of course, piano, guitar, and vocals. Over time, the music I listened to change a lot, and went through I guess you could say phases? I would listen to Oldies Rock, and then got up to the dubstep phase, and now I'm listening to Death Metal, which I actually love and can relate to with the lyrics and what not. I have been writing music for a while now, mostly emotional songs about how I'm feeling and how life is going and those sort of things. I have started trying to take this more seriously and get in contact with other people serious about a musical career, but things aren't looking so great at the moment..

GFX

I have been doing GFX since I was 14 years old. I started out with just a pen and paper like most, basically drawing out whatever weird abstract things came into my head. Soon, things started becoming clearer what I was drawing, and I found myself drawing "Graffiti" style words, making really cool designs. I started doing other styles of fonts other than graffiti to expand my knowledge basically, and found myself getting into Calligraphy. The more and more I drew, the more confident I felt in myself, so I attempted drawing people. I was absolutely terrible, and it was probably one of the worst experiences in my lives when my friend completely thought my work was a joke, which I do agree, it was terrible. Then I realized that maybe drawing realistic people just isn't my thing, so I started watching various Anime with my older brother, who introduced me to the starters such as Naruto. I started drawing Anime Characters, and they turned out to be really good honestly. I was extremely picky about making them look exactly like they did in the Anime, without tracing them of course, and started drawing those characters. After a while, I soon was introduced to Photoshop by my brother, and he gave me a bunch of basic tutorials and basically everything I knew for a while. I got better after watching various YouTube tutorials on how to do things, and the knowledge just basically sank in. I wouldn't say that I am an expert, but I can assure that I definitely know my way around.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I spend most of my time in the Marketplace section. I only ever do deals here on Hack Forums, and I have been ever since I joined. The most time though, would have to go to either the sub-sections: Online Accounts, or Appraisals and Pricing sections. That's basically one of the things I do to make a little extra money here and there and so on. Other than that, I like to post anywhere and everywhere that I can apply my knowledge to, hopefully being able to help someone out!

Why do you want to join the Empire in Particular?

There are many reasons why I would like to be a part of the group; I guess I should just list them out for you. Why would anyone not want to be part of a group? Being in a group is a great way to be an active member of the community, and also leads to meeting/working with new people, and that's definitely always fun! Besides the amazing user bar that it comes with, which I do have to say greatly reflects on the group in itself, I have heard many things from the people that I have met here on Hack Forums about how Empire is probably the greatest group there is to be, and I would definitely like to be a part of that. Empire is home to some of the most respected members in my opinion and I would love to join them.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?

I believe that I should be accepted into The Empire because of many things, which some of those things you will see on your own. I feel like The Empire is home to some of the Highest Quality, dedicated users to helping out with the community to basically set an example that I believe I have what it takes to be that member. Simply enough, I have dedication, and that's something that you won't find everywhere. Also, my love for helping people makes me stand out from the rest of the crowd, making me pretty unique. I believe that everyone should be given a chance, even if everyone thinks that they are just a troll or what not. What I mean by this, is when someone creates a Thread, asking for legitimate help, and people just brush them off telling them that they are not here to help "noobs" and what not, which is absolutely not okay. Now, you won't find me dedicating 100% of my time to helping people out, but I will take a few moments, and guide them to the right direction, because I have the common courtesy to do so.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you

(I have negated some minor details that I didn't feel was necessary to share, you'll be able to tell why I hope.)

I'm going to start off by saying this now, so you are not confused. I was not ever good with girls. Ever. I was never good enough, and they would always end up leaving and finding someone else, or just becoming frustrated with how much of a wishy-washy person that I was. This was around the time I was first discovering my deep love for music, when I was in this relationship with this girl that we will call "Susan". (No, her name is not really Susan). Susan was what you would call "emotional" or "emo" for short, and would always have these anxiety attacks or be depressed. This would continue on down our relationship for a long time, eventually until she reached the breaking point, and decided she wanted to take her life. Fortunately, I was there and let's not get into too many details, but I tried stopping her, but nothing seemed to work. I started singing to her, with a guitar that she had in her room, it was her favorite song, called "The Morticians Daughter" by Black Veil Brides. To my surprise, which me singing was actually to calm myself down so I didn't have an anxiety attack, it worked. She calmed down, and everything actually seemed to be getting better. I also sang to her "If it Means a lot to You" by A Day to Remember, which that day forward we agreed that dating wasn't our thing, and that we should be best friends. I always think about that day, the day I realized I can actually impact someone with music, and that's one of the main reasons I really want to do music in my future, it's who I am.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Well, I am going to have to be honest even though this might sound cliché and dumb. My family and those that I love are my top priorities. Even though we argue and fight all the time, we are always here for one another, and that's how it should be. After that, comes school which I really need to be doing my best in, not because I want to do work, but because I need to get the education and the degree for my future. Music is definitely one of my other priorities. Music is my life, and I wouldn't give it up for anything. After everything else, I put myself. I'm not really a selfish person at all, don't get me wrong though, I do love my stuff, but I put others before myself.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hack Forums after first joining?

Well, I first joined Hack Forums to learn how to "hack", I mean haven't we all? Pretty soon though I made my first deal. I bought my first "OG" account, and actually became good friends with the person. Most of my Hack Forums days were just me doing deals for the first parts, and then I decided that posting in Threads, and being a part of the community more than just money was the right way to go, which it definitely was. I have made some good friends here, and I am glad I stayed after first coming here. I intend on staying here on Hack Forums for a while, so yes, I guess that does mean all of you are stuck with me <3

Anything else you would like to say?

I would like to say 'Thank You' to all of the friends that I have made here on Hack Forums. Such as: Ethan (We've played hours upon hours of Minecraft. Also, Ethan, Anni. LOL)

adampelletgun (Also, for helping me understand the rules, and what not :D)

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: My skills are minimal when it comes to hacking, but I tend to do very well with marketing. Although I don't have much on-site proof of my accomplishments, I would say one of my best qualities is building rapport. For example, when I'm selling an item on Craigslist (Local Classifieds Website), the first thing I like to do with the customer is ask them for their name and how their day is going to connect to them on a more personal level. Depending on how they answer the second question, will determine how the rest of the conversation plays out. I also love to sing and dance. I would say that's one of my best and most entertaining skills, as being a singer has always been my lifelong dream.

Which section are you most active in and why? My most active section is the Vices section. The reasoning being is, I am knowledgable in this area after a long experimental phase in my life, and I would like to help others make more thought-out and wise decisions than I did.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I haven't been on HackForums for that long, but after seeing The Empire's user bar quite a few times, I decided to do a little research, and see what the group is all about. I came to the conclusion that I liked what the group stood for. I also liked how high quality, and helpful the members are.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel like I would be a good addition to The Empire, because I only have The community's best interest at heart, and I would like to assist others. I also would like to learn from knowledgeable, and sophisticated members who know what they're talking about, and actually have some type of desire to teach.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: At a young age, my parents got divorced. I would have to say this was one of the most influential and memorable moments of my life. At the time, I didn't quite understand what a divorce even was, but once I realized I would only be living with my mother, I felt as if life just knocked the air out of me. I would get very emotional, and ask for my father to see me, but he moved to another state, so I wasn't able to see him very often. Now, it's the present, and I know both my mother and father love me greatly, they just couldn't stand each other. I believe that this made me stronger as a person, because I had to teach myself a lot of things a dad should teach you, and I also had to help my sick mother all the time. Seeing my mother so weak and fragile, made me realize that life is precious, and to live it up everyday, because you never know when it's your last.

I would say that I'm an emotionally sensitive guy, who cares greatly about other people's feelings. I can be an introvert at times and shut out the world, but as I mature, I understand that this isn't the path I would like to follow. Recently, I've been trying to meet new people, and try new things.

I think all these experiences have made me the kind, understanding and humorous man I am today.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? The most important thing to me is my daughter, hands down. She is a blessing, that I cherish and love with all my heart. Without her as my motivation, I honestly don't know where I would be right now. Providing the best life for her is what drives me to finish my education, and keep my chin up. She is the best thing that has ever happened to me.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I stayed active on HackForums, because I liked the community. Also, in the short period that I've be on this forum, I've learned so much, it's incredible. I love knowledge, because I believe knowledge is power. The more I learn, the skills I'm able to utilize to assist other people with their lives.

Anything else you would like to say: All I would like to say is, I know I'm a new member, but I can assure you I have every desire to stay active on this forum, and high quality.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

My skills are mainly related to programming / coding, I know C++, HTML, CSS, PHP and a little Java. I also have web hacking skills such as XSS, and SQLi (I have a few tutorials in my threads which are related to web hacking and other related web hacking related hacking). I also have extensive knowledge in RATING, key logging and botnet setups (HTTP or IRC). I work with Kings and Jokeh with setups that vary from botnets, rats and all other type of setup related items. I also have a hashcat setup which is used for cracking hashes with wordlists. I am not the most experienced in cracking hashes and I do not have the best wordlists but I do know how to crack hashes and bruteforce passwords.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am most in the beginner hacking section due to that fact that I enjoy helping out newcomers to the forum, and I enjoy sharing my knowledge to the people who may not know as much as I know in certain topics, although I do not claim to be the most intelligent person I do know more then the typical beginner in the beginner hacking section.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

As I have became more active on HackForums I have realized that I want to be in a brotherhood, not a group. A brotherhood where I could help my fellow brothers out with problems they may not know how to solve and be able to represent how high quality the brotherhood that I am in is.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I have dedicated a lot of time and hardwork into this forum and I have helped out numerous people. I have gave away money and all other things, including multiple tutorials and just purely dedicating my time to help out the newcomers in the beginner hacking section. Which like I stated, I spend 95% of my time in.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

My alias is Mizaki, my real name is Jason. I am 19 and I live in the Florida. I dedicate 95% of my time on this forum whenever I am not with family or with friends. I joined HackForums around 2013 where I came upon it when I use to play a lot of video games and wanted to get into hack lobbies and how I would create mod menus (never found out how, but I do know how now. Although that doesn't really matter since I don't play much games anymore) I mostly spend my time in the beginner hacking section helping out newcomers and I also am in the RAT and e-whoring sector of HackForums. I found out my love for computers when I was about 14 years old where I would go on websites that have video games that were made in Flash and JS, I would be amazed on how they worked so about a few years later I discovered what programming was, and I didn't really mind it until I wanted to make mod menus and hack lobbies for Call Of Duty. I then learned how to write CFG mod menus for MW2 and learned how to RAT and how RATS work and as well how key loggers work. I don't really have much about me because I am a fairly boring person, but that's the main jest of myself and me.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My main priority in life is keeping family close, becoming successful and help people out in the long run. I have accomplished nearly every single of those tactics ever since I joined HackForums

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Honestly? Not much, I learned how to write CFG mod menus and left for a while and joined back after I picked up a lot of knowledge in coding, ewhoring, rating, and all the other items that I listed as a skill I have. But I decided that when I had enough knowledge to help new comers out I would give back to the community that gave me the strength and courage to learn what I know today, so honestly I would know nothing and be nothing without HackForums

Anything else you would like to say:

Not much besides I wish everyone who entered the best of luck and I also want to say, I accidentally closed my browser half way through making this and had to write it all. I want into this group that badly.

I've seen this user and he's a great guy in my opinion. I guess I'll 'vouch' for him. :)

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: I am very skilled in helping people with personal life issues. I am a Senior in college, and have been through almost every high and every low. So I would say I am pretty knowledgeable. I can code decently. I Drag Race and build cars, IRL.

Which section are you most active in and why? The lounge, groups, and Innuendo. I am active in these because the lounge is where crazy weird things happen and I like to discuss these crazy and weird experiences and conversations. The groups, because I love connecting and chatting with the members within my groups. Finally, Innuendo, because I have been through many of the problems that memebtrs post about, and I love to help them through the situation.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I was once part of the Empire, and I loved every second of it. I miss the group very much and have high hopes that I will one day be apart of the Empire once again. Empire is a group of highly social and intelligent individuals. Empire is a group that I see very highly.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I believe that I deserve to be on the Empire because I am a hardworking and very understanding user. I do not see myself as a LQ member. I love the unity of brotherhood. I am very trustworthy, and very reliable.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: I am a 21 year old senior in college. I am studying Criminal Justice and Wildlife Management, and Psychology. I either want to be a Game Warden, or I would love to further my Psychology schooling and help others. I Drag Race on the weekends and drive a s10 Chevy with a 405 Big Block engine. I go from -100 Miles Per Hour in 5 seconds. I love the outdoors, I hunt, fish, and play paintball. I work on cars and have helped my father restore multiple cars. Such as Nomad's, Chevy Cheyennes, and Camaros.

I am in fact a Free Mason, and I know what brotherhood is all about. I am part of the most charitable fraternity in the world. I spend countless hours doing charity and helping people within my community. I will the give the shirt off of my back to someone that is less fortunate. I have always been raised this way. I always reach for the star, because if you don't you cant reach your ultimate success. And I strive for the best in life. I am not easily defeated. I have lost many loved ones in the past few years. I dont let anything stand in my way. This is because you don't know how much time you have left here on this planet, and I want to live life to the fullest.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? God always comes first.

Family is second. And everything else is last. Without God and Family, I could not tell how my future would be. The following quote is something I live by on a daily basis and the quote is as follows.

"Don't walk behind me; I may not lead. Don't walk in front of me; I may not follow. Just walk beside me and be my friend." -Albert Camus

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? When I first joined last December I was fairly new and still learning the ropes. After I somewhat got the hang of how things worked around HF I instantly fell in love. I check and am active on HF every single day. I have met many individuals that are now my friends. I always come back because I love to help people and I feel I can help many individuals here on HF. I also stay because I love to learn. I am not afraid to learn and am always eager to.

Anything else you would like to say:

Thank you very much, I appreciate the time you take to read these applications and select the cream of the crop to be apart of your group. I look forward to the chance that I can one day "again" be apart of this amazing group. Have a nice day, and thank you again.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

As an introduction to my application to Empire, I started off HackForums as a skid, I wanted be top notch at marketing, but also coding my own applications. I joined HF because I was quite experienced with VB.Net at that time, not knowing any other languages besides the basics of Java and Python. I was obsessed with a game called MapleStory during that time, before there were hackers and it turned into a 'Pay To Win' genre. Exploring the forum a bit made me interested in the marketing side, one time I was in a Skype Chat with a bunch of people who were marketers at HF and told me a famous quote by Guy Kawasaki, a chief founder of Apple, "When you enchant people, your goal is not to make money from them or to get them to do what you want, but to fill them with great delight." The words were so deep and meaningful to me, I immediately dropped coding as my first priority to HF and moved into marketing.

During my marketing career, I met a few people along the way, the rest have closed accounts or are banned, one still HQ, he was MatthewBMX. He introduced me into a game called Minecraft, no longer do I play but the game taught me leadership and creativity, I ran my own server under my controls and design. I quit Minecraft after having server issues and moved back to marketing, where I released my first unique ebook on getting your YouTube Account to make your own partnership(like IGN or Machinima) without verifying with Google and everything. It was great, but it got leaked straight afterwards. I had experience in Legal Services, such as DOXing or Detracing yourself, marketing, coding and security.

Which section are you most active in and why?

The section I am most active in is the Marketplace Discussions, although I had a ton of posts in Free Services and Giveaways, since I was very poor when I joined. My aim on HackForums is not to earn money, but expand my knowledge to myself and everyone else. I have a few free and paid mentoring classes before, on DOXing and Detracing, also on Ewhoring.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I have seen Empire a lot around the Giveaway Sections, Innuendo Section with Help Desks and their products. Empire was the first group I wanted to join, then 143. Both were very High Quality, the art of giving was just what I wanted. Back when I joined, my parents had a very poor background, I learnt in my family that poor people are always the kindest, as they don't expect much, they don't need to expect much, but they just want respect, on who they are, not what they buy.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I have not interacted much with Empire Members, but just admiring them and how they act towards situations are just purely amazing. Empire is such a strong and High Quality group, no wonder they were stable over these years. My aim in Empire is to Open up a Help Desk, aid and encourage people to learn with my free mentoring on subjects I can teach and also giveaways. Sharing and gaining knowledge would be my number 1 priority with the group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Who am I? What am I? I sometimes question myself how to answer it, very lost in words and thought. I try to picture myself as 'someone' to the audience, but still, I can't. Around me, besides my parents, I was treated as a nobody, I wasn't really wanted, just because how poor I was. Our households income was decent, just the schools parents were very rich, we lived in a very rich neighbourhood. My grandfather was rich, he had a backup of his savings in case one thing happened. He gambled. Lost 50% of this fortune, my father shared with the other family members and there was only a house given to him. He worked hard everyday, trying to support the family, sometimes night shifts too, all the time overtime, just to earn an extra $100. I learnt to be a good person, not be an alcoholic, or to gamble. I treasure the words very deeply inside me.

Now today, I see myself in the mirror and may ask myself, What am I? But I'll simply answer, "A Businessman from HF."

Where do your priorities in life line? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life are taking care of my family members. My family was bankrupt due to gambling, one thing I'll never do in my life. Everything around me is important to me, but the most important values to me are relatives and families, friends, HF and the community. If it wasn't for HF, I wouldn't be somewhat earnings quite a lot, supporting the family and its bills.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I'll be honest here, I was in pain and nearly tears when I got repfucked and banned around December 2013. You may laugh, but it was the moment when I went back on HackForums in early 2014, should I just quit HackForums....Or Should I....stay? I was on negative 9, not a bad number, but the maximum number of rep I had was 17. I felt my life was over, no one would trust me and the world changed in HF. But being brave and strong, I gave it a go. I was accepted for Ub3r and I bought it, made new friends and I reunited back with MatthewBMX, one of the first friends I had here. He taught me to stay strong, if you are stronger than your enemies, you will have none. If it wasn't for the big risk on buying Ub3r, I wouldn't have made it here. Thanks Omni.

Anything else you would like to say:

I really hope I get accepted by the reviewers, if you have any questions, feel free to message me. But thank you for taking the time to read this. Much appreciated.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

GamingI'm a very active gamer and play Playstation 3, however I do play a lot of Minecraft.

I've been gaming nearly all of my life starting out playing the super nintendo followed by several other consoles.

MarketingI've ran several successful shops and businesses on Hack Forums during my stay here.

I've dabbled with social media, xbox live memberships, and even booter sales. PersonableI'd consider myself an easy to get along with person. I work in a job where where I meet new people everyday and I feel that the skills I've learned communicating with people everyday have transferred onto the forum and I am an easy going person.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Appraisals and PricingI believe that I have the most posts out of anyone on the forums in the appraisals and pricing section. I personally have good knowledge when it comes to pricing social media items. I like knowing that I've helped a member price his or her item and that I've aided them to get a better understanding of the value of their product. As much as I like the section I also dislike to an extent. I feel that many members who appraise items mislead newer or non-upgraded members and I'm not afraid to be the black sheep who tells someone otherwise. One thing that I've noticed about that section is that members tend to chain off of others appraisals. To put this in simple terms people copy the first appraisal and others follow. I'm not afraid to be the person that speaks up so that the person getting their item(s) appraised is not mislead in any way, shape, or form. Appraisals and pricing is a place that I consider to be my favorite spot on the forum and I will not let others ruin that for me or the other active members of that section.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I was a founding member of The Empire back when it was Detroit, Hades, Tibit, and myself. I really liked the group at the time and feel enough time has passed to where I can give it a second chance. I have changed leaps and bounds since and am ready to appropriately represent the group in a positive way. I had a lot of good times during my reign and continue to carry on and be an active member, if I were to be accepted. I feel that the time after my leadership ended has been dull and I'd like to give a new spark into my Hack Forums career. I feel that if I was to be reaccepted into the group I would be able to fit in and contribute.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I don't deserve to be in the group any more than the other applicants because I feel we all want to be accepted. I feel that as a person I've grown leaps and bounds and am ready to accept the responsibility of what was previously asked of me two years ago. I'd consider myself an easy going guy and can mix into a group of people as tight knit as The Empire. Although I feel that I've become an old dog, I could still show these young guys a few new tricks. I am an accepting and understanding person who knows what it takes and am willing to accept that challenge.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm going to try and not repeat myself with any previous questions, but I'll give it my best shot. As whoever is reading this my know I was an original member of The Empire. One moment that stands out in my mind was my battle with prescription drugs. This was two years ago when I first accepted my responsibilities as leader it was mentally draining for me. I found myself as a nineteen year old drug addict who was facing some major life decisions ahead of me. I was able to overcome them and broke my addiction about a year after I had left the group on a rampage. I feel that I've learned from this experience and it has made me realize that even a middle class kid from the suburbs can experience the most heavy of addictions and overcome them. I personally hit rock bottom and have battled my way up and out of the trenches. It has helped me become a better and more accepting person. I feel that I'm more self-disciplined and understanding towards other people and it has carried onto the forum dealing with different members and accepting them for who they are.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

As of right now I am a twenty one year old college student. My main goal in life is to graduate college with a degree in Psychology. I will do anything in order to accomplish that and that's what is truly most important to me right now. However I do feel my job is a very important priority as well. I'd prefer not to mention where I work for security of the business, but it's a huge priority in my life. I currently work full time and it consumes my life, but I can't say that I ever have a dull moment. I love my work and the people I encounter on a daily basis, they keep me going and striving. Another priority I have is my family and friend. Over the past three years I've gone through hell and back and my friends and family are always people I can count on the keep my going. They are my rock and I wouldn't be able to get through without them.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hack Forums after first joining?

I first joined the forum to sell my gamertags back in the summer of 2011. I was finally convinced by a friend to join and I am glad that I decided to stay. The main reason I keep coming back in the community. I have many friendships with members and they're people who I've considered letting live with me for a week or two when they come visit. It's the relationships with people who I'd never get a chance of meeting that keep me here. I also have learned to love the appraisal and pricing section on Hack Forums. I currently have over 4,800 posts in that section and I take great pride in that. I feel that I am helping members get a better knowledge of the online markets of different items every time I make a post in that section. I think that educating members on the current market of items helps the community and keeps them from being harassed or ripped off by others.

Anything else you would like to say:

I really don't have much that much to say. I feel that I'm ready to give The Empire a second shot. I feel that my life is now on track and I'm ready to right my wrongs and continue on where I left off. I am not requesting any position back, but I do plan on devoting my time and I plan on working my way back through the ranks. I feel that enough time has passed to where I can forget and move on from my previous mistakes. I'm ready to meet new people and I feel that I would be a great addition to the group. I'm a more accepting person and I'm now a firm believer in change. I feel that I'm ready to devote my time and meet new people. I'm here to learn and educate on a number of topics that go past the skills that I've listed.

If you have any questions I'm only a PM away.

Server Stress Testing --> Running servers, execute attacks etc. Marketing --> Investing & Selling of/in products. Knowing how and where to invest to get profit out of your projects.

Which section are you most active in and why? In the RAT, SST & Seller section. I am active in the RAT section because I want to share my experience, tips & tricks with other users and help them out. (I have my own RAT helpdesk). The SST section because I am running a (hidden) project right now and I am supporting a stresser in the section too. The marketplace/seller section because I was selling e-Books & I like to see what other users are interested in.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: Well, since I joined Hackforums, staying HQ was the priority for me. I always tried to be as helpful and as high-quality as I could. The Empire looks like a high-quality group with friendly & helpful users.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I invest a lot in helping people on Hackforums and I try to stay as HQ as possible. I also want to gain more experience and learn things from other members.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: I am Fadi, 16 years old and I live in the Netherlands. I love sport and I am in my last year of my secondary school. I try to spend some time on the internet, but I don't want to sit behind my computer 24/7 and I combine school & sport with internet.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? For me, most important is to stay close with my family, stay loving my parents, try to do as much as I can for other people & be happy.

 What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I first joined Hacforums to gain experience from other users and try to improve my skills. After browsing on HF for a few days I really liked it & most of the users were friendly. I immediately started to be active & I bought L33T in my first few weeks. As for now I am still active & happy that I joined HF.

Anything else you would like to say: Thanks for this recruitment, I really like this group and I wish everyone a good & peaceful day. ?

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm active everywhere I seem fit to give any knowledge I can to any individual who inquiries.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I used to be in The Empire before I became inactive, and now that I'm back I'd love to be back and apart of the family again.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

If I were to be apart of The Empire again then everything I do on HF from helping people, making new designs, or sales/giveaways would also reflect on The Empire and not only myself. I can help bring a great name to this group along with every other member within.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

My life revolves around music and electronics. I've played several instruments for about 7 years and I've participated in numerous groups. At the age of 15 I was already playing for my local college's orchestra along with 2 professional orchestras as well. I also participate in school competitions through a group called SkillsUSA for Electronics Technology. I took 1st place in my region (county) and went on to take 1st place in States. Going on to Nationals was great. I didn't place very well, but in my first year of doing these competitions, I managed to get in the top 2% of the USA for electronics technology. I plan on either majoring in Electronics and then minoring in music or visa versa to have a set career path.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life do revolve within music and electronics, but family and friends always come first. I never do anything I cannot do without finding my own way out ahead of time along with preventing putting myself or others in jeopardy. I treat everyone's life as important as my own.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I actually went inactive several times throughout my time on HF due to computer problems. My original PC gave out due to a memory card and graphics card problem so I went without a computer for almost a year and a half. Buying one again in September I came back to HF on and off. I came to help others, but mainly myself. I used HF as a knowledge base without giving back to others. It was wrong. Now I'm back to make a difference in anyway I can and plan to see that through until the end.

Anything else you would like to say:

I believe everything else I've said has covered everything you would like to know. Thank you for reading, and good luck to anyone else applying.[/color]

I've been planning to apply for awhile now and I'm not going to pass this chance up again. I'll probably end up submitting a video entry so I'll submit it via PM when ready.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I lack skills concerning technology. However, I do have some skills in real life. I am good at debating (I often get in debates with my friends and they ultimately admit I'm right) and manipulating people (I know what people want and subtly control them using that information).

Which section are you most active in and why?

I've been increasingly active in the SRPP section. I love to express my ideas in a polite manner, and get feedback in the same form. This is exactly what the SRPP section aims to do. The smartest members can be found on that section, and, as I will reiterate in the penultimate question, I am attracted by intelligence. Another section in which I've been active is in the Writer's subforum. In particular, the Writer's lounge. I'm not so sure why, but I think it's because everyone treats the others as scum without feeling any hatred (which I find really funny), and because they have a great sense of humour overall. I tend to post in the Rules, Announcement and Feedback when members need help and I know what I'm talking about. I like to provide help, but I don't like to deceive members. When the question is overly ambiguous or I simply don't know the answer, I refrain from posting. Lastly, I'm also active in the Free Services and Giveaways section. As much as I hate to beg for things, if someone wants to give me something, I normally won't refuse it. This section has helped me a lot, mainly because I have difficulties in obtaining virtual currencies like OMC or Paypal. This section partially paid for my ub3r. I would probably not have it right now if not for that section, and as such, I am very thankful for all the members who give stuff away.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I will be honest. Aside from the introduction of The Empire in this thread, I know few about the group. However, this is a General Recruitment, which is perfect for me. I couldn't get accepted (or didn't apply) in most groups for my scarcity of skills revolving around technology or marketing. If this group accepts people for being who they are rather than what they know, then I would love to join it. Joining a group and finding friendly people, that actually like to help others, that respect other members, is, in my opinion, much better than joining a group and finding people who know how to program, but that have no concerns for regular people.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

As I've stated, I have a deficit of talent in technology. Therefore, you shouldn't accept me for that. Even so, I believe I still may have a shot at this group at the expense of my helpfulness. If I happen to know something that someone in need of help doesn't, I will always do my best to help them. I want to help people because it gives me an immeasurable pleasure to know I made someone's life better. Whether it has to do with emotional issues, or any other miscellaneous subject, I will help whenever I can. That is the one and only benefit I can bring to the group, whether I should be accepted or not on its account is on you.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

This was definitely the hardest question for me, for I didn't know what to say. I tend to keep an open mind about everything (hence my religion). I have always been interested in people: how they think, how they react, why they do what they do. For this reason, I've always been interested in the realm of psychology. Additionally, I have been very keen on maths for nearly my whole life (ever since I was 3 years old or so). I'm also a person who studies hard, but gets great grades in return. What makes me who I am? It was my friends and family who shaped me. My interest in mathematics only exists because of my family. My love for people was caused by my friends kindness. They were the ones who made me into the good person I am today.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I like to focus on the future. I study hard for this reason, as the grades I get now will shift my future. Some people prefer to live in the present, but I never forget that today's present was yesterday's future. If I invest my time on the present, it will pay off in the future.

I never cared much about money. I was raised with few things (in fact, I'm very lucky to have this computer) and I am glad to have been raised that way. This allowed me to care much more for my well-being. I want to have a job that I appreciate doing, instead of doing it for the money, I want to have a family, but most importantly, I want me and people around me to live happily.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I will answer this question a bit subjectively, since I know not if this is the real reason. I think that the reason I stayed for nearly two years is because, generally, people from this forum are much smarter than those in other forums. I've always loved intelligent people, perhaps due to the similarities they share with me. Sometimes I think other people don't understand me, my ideas, on account of their stupidity. In this forum, that no longer verifies. There are many people who share my worldview. I usually don't encounter people like these on other forums, or even in real life. This is why I think I stayed on hackforums for so long. But I repeat: I'm unsure if that's the real motif.

Anything else you would like to say:

I apologise for not making a video application, but I have no camera.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: Gaming- I've been playing video games for the better part of my life. I've done almost every kind, I'm most fond for FPS tho.

Technical knowledge- Use to repair and build bicycles, and now I fix printers, copiers for a living.

Which section are you most active in and why? Over Appraisals and Pricing section, but anymore I only post in Infamous Sub-Forum (And Empire before I was removed lol).

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I've been in it a few times I did like it defiantly one of my favorite groups I've been in. Also I'd like to get closer with some of the members I met in it in the past.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I've been here for a while, not going to say I should be invited since it's not up too me. I do joke around a lot and mess with people but I can be serious when I want to be or need to be.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Well my parents were divorced when I was 6 so I don't remember a lot of my Mom and Dad together, both remarried and happy now. I have 1 half brother who turns 13 this Christmas (Maybe he'll join HF lol). Recently I found my girlfriend of 2+ years was cheating on me and is pregnant if anyone hasn't seen check my threads. That is probably the most memorable thing in my life since I will never make the same mistake again with women.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? As of now my families happiness and my happiness. I'd like to move out this year, I can defiantly see it happening.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I just liked being a part of the community and people messaging me for my help or opinions. I got used to it and started posting all around rather than just the Gamertag section which was the reason I joined.

Anything else you would like to say: No not really, I'm sure you guys will pick good members to be in The Empire.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I currently work as senior systems engineer supporting anything Active Directory related. So my expertise is definitely in engineering and administering Active Directory. I also do a lot of work to make it secure. This could be anything from deploying new Group Policies to running scans and looking for vulnerabilities.

I also do quite a bit of work with virtualization. I generally deal with maintaining a VMware environment, but I do get to dabble my hands in a little bit of Hyper V as well.

In all I have a pretty broad skillset within the IT industry, more specifically, in the federal space.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am kind of all over the place. I generally will just check the new posts. If its something I can contribute, then I try to do my best to contribute actual knowledge, and leave the flaming and bashing to others. That's not my thing.

I would venture to say that I probably tend to post more in the penetration testing section as that's where my interests are, but I also do like the Linux and Windows section and contribute where I can.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I am looking to join a group for the camaraderie as well as being able to gain more knowledge from like minded individuals. I have a thirst for knowledge, which I believe has led me to the point in my life where I consider myself successful. Who knows, maybe I contribute to fellow members by setting an example by showing others how I got to my position in life.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I am a pretty trustworthy and loyal individual. I am educated and mature. I am motivated at anything I decide to do. If you're not going to put forth your best effort, then why bother doing anything at all?

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am currently in graduate school finishing up a masters in IT and cyber security. I have 4 classes left (two semesters), I work full time as a senior systems engineer for a large DoD contractor, I have a family (wife/kids), and I am an avid hockey player. I am also prior service military and believe in helping other veterans.

I believe that my military service is what made me who I am today. Prior to joining, I had no intention on going to college or doing much of anything. One day I get a call from a recruiter, so I figure, I have nothing else better to do, so why not talk to him? Three months later I was in boot camp and on my way for an adventure. I learned a lot of good values which I still carry with me today. Now because of the military I have a college degree and working on a masters, a great job, an awesome family, and a house that I own. I would not have accomplished any of this without the military.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My family (wife/kids) are my priority. Finishing graduate school and doing the best I can in regards to my employment come after that. A man is nothing without a family, so they should ALWAYS come first.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I originally joined and at first I would just view posts. I generally didn't have anything to add or comment on. In the last few months I have come a lot more active and enjoy posting in the community. I have come to find that there a lot of smart people here, if you can weed through all of the harsh comments which sometimes show themselves here.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I don't like making the specifics public knowledge.

I can provide specific examples, in private (XMPP + OTR, over Tor), but for the sake of enumerating them here...

PHP, MySQL, Javascript, HTML, CSS - over 10 years of experience

Java - 2 years of experience

Security research - 4 years

Cryptography - 2 years of research, 1 year of implementation

Track record of submitting patches to open source projects - <1 year, ongoing

SQLite - 2 years of experience

PostgreSQL - 1 year of experience

Microsoft SQL Server 2012 - 1 year of experience Which section are you most active in and why?

Aside from the Lounge, where I find myself participating whenever an interesting discussion comes along, I mostly visit the Coding and Programming section to see if there are any programming questions I can answer. Specifically, PHP Development, since that is the language in which I am most proficient.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I've been perusing some of the other groups and they don't sound that enticing. I'm not here to make money through questionable means (ad-click exchanging, etc.) nor am I here to DDoS people I disagree with. In addition to being an "Official" group, The Empire doesn't throw any red flags for me.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

In practical terms: I'm confident that my skills can hold a candle to most experts', even if some of you will totally school me in areas outside of my domain of expertise. I have no delusions of grandeur nor unwarranted self-importance. I remain calm even under great duress. These qualities are rare and, potentially, make me valuable.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I believe that technology should serve people; consequently, nobody should be inhibited by technology in their pursuit of happiness. I began programming when I was in middle school, building simple webpages for various interests of mine at the time, and helping friend and family with simple websites whenever they asked. Shortly afterwards, I was hacked repeatedly by many different script kiddies over the course of a couple of years, and I learned how to secure my websites the hard way.

As time went on and I learned more and more about web application security, I discovered there was a gap between my knowledge and the average developer. To bridge this gap, I began contributing bug-fixes to popular PHP projects-- not only to fix the bug, but to engage developers in discussions about why it was a bug, how to identify similar bugs, and (hopefully) how to explain it to other developers.

People often accuse me of being a white-hat. I don't accept this label, as I find most of what self-proclaimed white-hats do to be very questionable. Selling exploit code to the NSA isn't exactly in the best interest of innocent people or especially political activists. I believe software should be secure by default, publicly auditable, easy-to-use, and available everywhere... especially cryptography.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I care mostly about my friends, whom have stuck with me through good times and bad, and who accept me for all my insanity. In general, the qualities I value in others are honesty, integrity, loyalty, compassion, and self-motivation.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I lack access to any reliable form of transportation, so I'm far removed from all of the developer/hacker happenings in Orlando. I decided to join HackForums to see what the community is like and, potentially, start an AFK meetup in a venue near where I live. So far, my experience has been positive and I'm sticking around for lack of any reason to leave.

Anything else you would like to say:

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I don't know if you consider lying a skill, if so I am most likely a very intelligent man. I have a very good understanding of marketing, advertisement and specific reach. I grew up dealing drugs at a young age which I have of course given up on now. I think a lot of my people skills may have come from that!

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am usually most active in the lounge. I am a calm easy going person who likes to simply chat with others. I can of course hold a serious conversation but I am easily approachable. Other then that, the marketplace because I just love buying things.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I want to be in any official group that doesn't require payment as it shows a proper, high quality member. Aside from that, The Empire in general stands out to me due to the members who are apart of it, my opinion on them and the beautiful userbar.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

This is a tough question, my opinion doesn't matter as it is up to those who are reading this!

However, I can hopefully benefit the members who are apart of the group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Wow, I think I had this exact same question word for word at the entrance of grade 6!

I have suffered from a few mental illnesses, I am one of the first teens to approach and apply for a medical marijuana card. I strive in physical fitness, struggle in school, and do great in business.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Family. I don't care if we are blood. If you were there from the start you are family.

There are only select few I can trust with everything.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I wasn't for the first few months. After me and my friend had hacked somebody for 4b on runescape I asked how he had set up the JDB. Hackforums, what a surprise! I had then become active here again.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I have many skill-sets dealing with online security, web design, programming, and tools i.e remote administration tools, keyloggers, and botnets. As I know many of these are very easy to learn, I have spent a good bit of learning each of these items listed. I have been studying web design for almost a year now. Everyday I would work on a new design for a website I thought of but was never put into action because I didn't have the money to start the business due to low income & partners that couldn't invest. I believe that I could make a successful business due to marketing strategy I have came up with for the nearly-done project I am working on currently. I plan to release it very soon & expect the program to get a few sales at the start but as more people realize I am more trusted, I expect to see the sales sky rocket. I have not been a big marketer but lately I have been getting into it due to a larger income, investment ideas, and other people who are willing to invest with me. I hope to find others in The Empire who share ideas with me and possibly make a new product happen. I am intermediate in Visual Basic & an experienced web designer. I find Visual Basic very fun, easy, and great to work with since it is very easy to learn. I have been programming/coding applications of my own in Visual Basic for a month now & learning new things everyday. That is basically it for the programming stage of this application. Onto something a lot more basic such as botnets, remote administration tools, and keyloggers. I am experienced with these tools. Nothing to be proud of but as I still consider it a skill if you are able to find decent niches to get a great amount of victims/slaves/users/etc. I plan to release an ebook for spreading very soon as well since I have discovered a new method that is very easily done in less than an hour & your victims will skyrocket. Thank you for reading, I hope you will not find this dull application hard to read or boring.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am active in many sub-forums. This would include The Lounge, Remote Administration Tools, Botnets, IRC Bots, and Zombies, PHP Development, Visual Basic, and lastly the Marketplace. I am active in many sections due to social interaction & helping others to resolve their issues. Most of the time I troubleshoot the users issue until I am able to fix it. Anyways the reason I am active in the lounge is mostly the user interaction since there are so many people active in that sub-forum/section. I enjoy talking to other members and sharing my thoughts to them. Onto another section such as the Remote Administration Tool section. I am very experienced troubleshooting issues with remote administration tools, keyloggers, or botnets. As I am new to the forums, many people do not trust me yet since I do not have a lot of reputation, awards, groups, and posts. The users that have contacted me purely out of trust & frustration because they could not get their issue resolved, they have vouched. I feel that is enough about simple tools such as botnets, keyloggers, and rats. I am new to visual basic & the .net framework, so I am studying books & watching a lot of tutorials dealing with the whole .net framework. I am currently working on a project that I wish to sell in the near future that, in my opinion, will sell very well. I also enjoy programming since I am the one who controls the program itself, as I find it very interesting. For example, if there is an issue with the program, it is up to me to solve it. I cannot depend on others as that would defeat the purpose of learning a programming/coding language. I would like to program/code with others in The Empire if anyone would like to teach me, learn from me, or have fun & share thoughts together. As I have a deep passion for programming, I am experienced in web development. I have been studying and putting my knowledge to use everyday for the past 8 months in PHP, HTML, HTML5, CSS, JavaScript, and others as I do not want to fill the post up with languages. I enjoy creating websites for not only my own enjoyment but to make money & create a site other people will enjoy using. As of now, I am adding to my portfolio for others to look at my previous work so they know I am 'the real deal.' I believe that is it with programming as I have ran out of things to say & talk about. Onto the marketplace idea. I am a new member and I know I am not highly trusted at the moment but I plan to get there. I want people by my side running a business that are knowledgeable, down-to-earth, and easy to get along with. In the future, I am releasing a program I have been working on for the past week that I believe will sell well. I previously stated that in the programming part of my application since I am the one who programmed/coded it. Thank you for reading this part of my application if you have made it this far, good day.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

As I am new to Hack Forums, I haven't heard of The Empire in the time of my presence. I think as me being apart of The Empire, it would benefit not only me but the group. I will offer help to resolve issues to the members of The Empire if needed at anytime. As I am new to Hack Forums, I haven't heard a lot about The Empire but the few things I have heard is great things. I want to be able to represent The Empire by doing giveaways, helping others, and more. I feel as if I do this, this will get the group more respect. A few other reasons is because members I look up to are in The Empire and it would be my pleasure to work by them side-by-side. It would mean a lot to me to see how people in The Empire discuss subjects & hear their thoughts of what is happening on Hack Forums. If I have more people side by side with me, I will be able to invest into more giveaways of all sorts for the users of the community of Hack Forums. Thank you for reading & reasoning with the idea of me joining The Empire.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I know I am not the most 'trusted' member or the most 'looked up to' member on the forums. I plan to change that by doing giveaways, tutorials, and helping the community of Hack Forums. If you give me, Bosto, a chance I will apply myself to the best of my abilities to improve Hack Forums, The Empire, and my knowledge. I feel as I could offer a lot to The Empire by supplying others with help, tutorials, and a friendly users to be able to chat with. I know you may not accept me for not being non-upgraded but I am upgrading to l33t to fix the trust issues when I sell future products and dealing with Hack Forum users in general. I have knowledge in many fields that are useful to help people in general life, life online, and life on the forums. As I expand my knowledge everyday, I will pass it onto the others of the group & the forums.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

My name is Bosto and the reason I am here on Hack Forums is to not only pass on my knowledge but to learn from other members as well. I want to be able to help everyone with their issues thus giving me a nice personality. I am very easy to get along with and most users would say 'down-to-earth.' Six years ago is the first time I was actually interested in computers. I was really into the game RuneScape, Facebook games, and other games I have forgotten. I had the thirst for money, greed, and ruling over people in the game. I looked for tutorials how to use remote administration tools, keyloggers, and botnets a long time ago. I was into it and was fairly decent in spreading to the targeted crowd I wanted to infect. I made over 7 Billion GP on RuneScape every month. I was then bored of RuneScape & started selling the gold which was a GREAT time of my life since I had so much money coming in from a game I loved and the supply for gold was almost unlimited due to my spreading. I then started to get into things more advanced such as botnets i.e. Zeus, Conficker, and others. I was into things far out of this forums rules so I will not discuss. Allow me to get into more depth with my 'gaming' career. I loved xbox 360 gaming and the fallout game series because it was so fun to me & appealed to me in every way. Recently, I have gotten into computer building, computer overclocking, and streaming. I am proud to say I built my highly costed build last week. The parts took me a while to get but I believe it was worth it. If you want to know the parts, you can shoot me a private message me if it means that much to you. In summary of this paragraph ; I love gaming, ruling, and helping others.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I have a lot of priorities in life and they are fairly simple. I want to keep my family in front of any problems no matter what they are. If you can already tell, I enjoy helping others if they have problems with life, tools, or gaming. I aim to be very successful and expect to be no where near poor or even considered poor. I liked to be looked up to, not looked down to. That really matters to me because I want to be a high persons in society which benefits me the most. The people I surround myself around is a huge factor in my life. If you are a low-life druggie, I'm likely not to hang out/talk with you. If you are a rich businessman but you are rather stuck up, I won't talk to you as well. No matter how rich or poor you are, if you treat me with respect I'm going to do the same right back to you. It's a priority of mine to respect everyone as I like to talk to people & cheer them up. I cannot think of anything else my friend, thanks for reading the list of my priorities.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? The main factor is basically the marketplace & gaining respect. I want to have an impact on the community of Hack Forums as I feel that would benefit the experience of myself. I hope to experience a lot more in my journey of Hack Forums and plan to learn about a people, marketing, programming, coding, and more. Thanks for reading as I have to go now so I'm going to keep this short.

Anything else you would like to say:
Good luck to everyone who applied and wish success to everyone.

Thanks for reading my application, good day.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

1. Graphic Design - I've found quite a strong passion for designing, ever since I was 15 years old I loved creating art and sparking my imagination. Started off with signatures, then moved onto more professional work such as logos and banners, even web design.
2. Programming - I want to pursue computer science as my major. I want to code for the rest of my life because I love the critical thinking it requires and the outcome is always a great feeling when you finish up a class or even complete the final version of your program/product. I know quite a few languages; HTML/CSS, PHP, Java, and VB.NET.
3. Marketing - I also have an eager ability to attract an intended audience's attention by eye opening forms of advertising and the confidence I obtain while distributing a product for sale.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I found myself everywhere around the forum, it's hard to pick one specific section. But if I had to make a decision it would be the Hosting Services section because I run a promising web hosting service. You can also find me around the Partnerships, Hiring, and Personnel because I love the fact that I can partner up with another person and work on a project for the experience.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

It seems like an adequate group of fellas, seems like a great experience and a better way of being around hackforums. It's also great to meet new people and build a relationship with.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I believe I can bring a lot to the table, not just my skills, but my chill behavior and my uprising to do better with a group of people will excel within our relationship.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm a pretty cool guy if I do say so myself. Some of my hobbies are playing soccer, basketball, going to the gym, partying, drinking, smoking, and of course having a good time. I'm a really laid back kind of person, I go with the flow and I'm down to do anything. I have a day job at a private lending company where we loan private money to people or organizations. I love meeting new people and getting to know them, it's a great attribute I have when it comes to girls. I have a great family who I very much love and a group of friends that I would do anything for. Nonetheless you can probably figure out that family and friends are very important to me.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My family and friends are what's most important to me. I put them first no matter what. If they call and need me to come over and help, I'm there within a heartbeat, no hesitation.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

It's always nice to have something to do online, and learning is what I like to do. HF has a wide variety of tutorials and guides to learn from and gain knowledge. I have very much to learn throughout my experience on HF.

Anything else you would like to say:

I think I've said enough.

Thanks ?

Antigen - July 10, 2014, 11:42 am

I've PMed my REAL voice application to Tibit and 'Sin. Here is a computer generated voice application of mine.

Name: Antigen

Age: 21

Gender: Guy

Religion: Christian

State/Country: Kerala/India

Time Zone: GMT + 5:30

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I'll start from my plus points to where I do sucks. I do have my skills in white hat security and solutions, if you visit Computing section then you might have seen me there. I spent lion part of my HF time in Computing sections helping others. I had a little training session from MRT member named Corso sometime ago. WHH bring me new challenges everyday as Malware and computer problems evolve, it's great to explore and solve new problems. I've my experience in Malware removal and windows diagnostics. I've created a handful of tutorials for Computing sections, and I try my best to help members in there at any time.

I do know to code in various languages, which are C/C++, Java, Python, Assembly, Visual Basic, HTML and PHP. As a computer science student I get to do coding in many languages. I'm currently in 3 web development projects IRL and just completed an android project called AIVA, it's a Siri like system with Home Automation integrated(PM me if you need to see it). I'm currently working for my main project "Server load balancing system" in php.

Aside from programming, Another area of my knowledge is "Hacking", I used to be passionate about hacking when I got here(HF) and I used to learn as much as I can about hacking, as a result I have limited knowledge in certain areas like SQL Injection, Cross site scripting, LFI and RFI such. Now a days I don't feel like refreshing my skills or knowledge in Hacking as I used to be. Anyway I still spend time in Hacking section helping newbies.

Ok that's all about my skills set. You'll get to know about more in coming sections.

Now I'll open up the box of weakness, I am a total newbie in graphics. Now you should know why I haven't made glittering graphic application for recruitment, I also don't have luck in online money making, may be because I am totally new to that area but I have made little but decent money with Adsense using my blog. Speaking of business I've did multiple paid works in web dev. I'm currently focusing on business in hackforums that could make me profit, I do started selling in Ebay and it's going very well as of now.

Which section are you most active in and why?

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/hat_white.png[/img]White Hat Help

As I stated above Computing is the section I'm mostly active in Computing section, specifically Whitehat and Windows 7/8 subforums. I love helping members and solving problems, also I'm in for the Brotherhood Computing section help. I also wander through Smart phone section specifically in Android and networking sections as well.

Hacking

I find it funny and entertaining when newbies ask silly questions like "How to hack fb", jokes aside I was the same kind when I got here for the first time, so I always try to help new members in Beginner hacking section and Website/forum hacking section. Speaking about this section, I find it sad when so called "L33t Haxers" try to troll newbies even though their questions are noob, everybody had a first time huh.

[img]<http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/hacker-coding.png>[/img]Coding

From the days of my first PC, I have been always fond of programming, I always mesmerized by the way how softwares/games were created, I do learned to code in batch when I was 12 year old and later it goes on to Visual Basic 6. Now I used to code in many languages so I find Coding sections helpful and knowledgeable, I spend a good amount of my time learning there even though I don't post there very much.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/crew_recruit.png[/img]Groups

I consider myself a very friendly and talkative person, I do love to chat in group lounge and group activities, I believe a group is their own special place like a home. I'm currently in Brotherhood and it's a nice group. When it comes to The Empire, I've had a quite beautiful/nice time when I was in Empire previously, I'll talk about that in later.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/referral.gif[/img]Market Place/Money

Even though I'm not an active member/poster here I do always surf through that forums to keep myself updated about current trends and activities about HF market, I plan to start a business asap as I'm in need of money.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I feels like my answer to this question and next one is going to be very same, I wanted to be in a high quality group where members care for each other, have productive skills and knowledge. I like the group, activities, super-active lounges and overall quality of the group. I'm positive that I'll be much better with The Empire when it comes to my HF career. Friendly members.

High quality SF.

Knowledge and entertaining threads in SF.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

Now let me say why I personally feel I deserved to be in The Empire, I can honestly say Empire is the best group I ever been in to. I was in The Empire some time ago, I happened to made a mistake(in which I regret very much) which cost me my position in Empire. Me and x adamx k talked about this in some time ago and he said I can apply once again after re-organizing the sub forum and group completes. When I was in the group I really enjoyed the company of the people in Empire, I quickly made many friends there and I had long nights chatting in group Lounges. I really like the high qualityness and friendliness of the group and the knowledge members had. I remember the group and sf as it was in yesterday. What makes me deserves to be in Empire is my knowledge, attitude, hard work and trust. I can honestly say you can check my entire posts I had in Hackforums, but you won't ever find any low quality posts or anything.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Albert, that's my real name, I'm passionate about Computers from the day I got my first computer. I'm a friendly, nice and optimistic person, my hobbies aside from computing are Touring(with my motor bike), swimming in lakes and ponds, fishing and reading(World news or current affairs).

I'll tell you about one crazy experience I had in my childhood, when I was like 8 year old, one day I was watching my brother and his mates playing game in countryside, and I was not allowed to join him because I was very minor, I got bored standing watching the game, so I started to wander in that place, then I saw a goat, you see I was very fond of Horse riding in childhood as I saw much in movies, I just thought of an idea that why shouldn't I try goat riding lol ?, sure as hell that Goat can carry me ! I quickly jumped on to that goat and sat like a King ! not a second later the goat got freaked out and run like hell ! with me in it's back, oh my god that was the single most frightening experience I had ! Goat dumped me in a Canal ! lol luckily nothing happened to me but my bro and all others made me a laughing stock for a long time ???, I couldn't even type this experience without laughing as of now.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Most important thing - Family, I honor and love my family more than my life. My values and integrity come next, I do have my own values and codes, I live by them. I value friendships and relations. My career and passion comes next, as I've been stated before Computing/Computer science is my love and life so I would try my best to find a good career in Computing related job possibly Software Engg. My passion is to contribute to open source systems and make sure the advantages of Computing is getting to all people no matter place/finance.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?
Knowledge, knowledge and knowledge
Friendly community
Felt like cool place to hangout in.

Anything else you would like to say:

Not much, but I would like to thank Tibit, leaders and members of The Empire for giving us an opportunity to join and get to know about The Empire. I was waiting eagerly for the next recruitment since the last one where I thought I might get accepted ?. My best wishes to all fellow applicants.

Good day.

Seen several interesting applications, already noted down 3 people that will be accepted.

Be sure to make sure your application is not visually appalling. If it hurts our eyes to read it then we will likely skip over it. Video / Voice applications usually have the best shot at being fully reviewed by all leaders and sticks out more as they are rare. We have a pretty high acceptance rate of video and voice applications.

(Jul 10, 2014 09:48 AM)????Colors Wrote: CITE This is a very nice group.

I was in it but then I was kicked, could I re-apply?

Yes. Every single member on the site is allowed to apply. Only ones who will be auto-denied are known scammers or have applications that hurt our eyes to read (example: ones that are a sold bright color) as we usually skip over those.

Yup, we've done that for a few recruitments, makes it really easy to skip half the applications for not reading the thread clearly.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: I'm a gamer. I love video games and I see myself as decently skilled on most games.

I've also practiced the piano for 7+ years and on occasions I also sing. I enjoy karate and I'm currently a green belt.

Which section are you most active in and why? The Lounge. Mostly because there's a wide variety of subjects to discuss and I enjoy hearing peoples stories.

I'm also quite active in the League of Legends section as it is my main game that I'm playing at the moment.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I want to belong somewhere and this is one of the first groups I've ever applied for. I also want to be apart and contribute to the subforum.

The reason why I want to be in The Empire specifically is because I see a lot of really fun and cool members in here and I'd love to join them.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I view myself as a HQ member and I'm a very entertaining person to talk to and play games with. I have no life so I spend most of my time on various teamspeaks talking to people and playing games.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm Alex and I come from a small town in Sweden. I get easily charmed although I've only been in 2 serious relationships in my life and I'm still a virgin. My life revolves around video games and the internet. Some people view that as sad but honestly I couldn't be happier. I can experience whatever I want without having to go anywhere.

Music is also a huge part of my life. I game to music, I browse to music, I eat to music and I sleep to music. Hell, I even wrote this while listening to music.

I will also include a thread I wrote about my life as a gamer a while back in the "Anything else you would like to say" section.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? I live to please myself. I do whatever I enjoy and don't care that much what other people think of it.

I'll stay in school as long as possible and hoping that I can get some kind of job within psychology. I stay away from alcohol and drugs (Yes, I know alcohol is a drug) but I want to experience weed sometime in the future.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Unlike a lot of other users, I do not remember how the hell I stumbled upon this wonderful forum. I lurked for a long while until I felt that I was comfortable with HF and it's rules and norms. When I felt comfortable, I started posting away.

There's not much more to it than that.

EDIT: Will probably turn this into a voice/video application instead as I feel this will be very boring to read through. Stay tuned.

Time Zone: See above

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

- Forum webmaster. I have been using forums for many years (about 8+), and I am familiar with most softwares (vB, MyBB, IPB, XF, phpBB, etc). I have ran about 10+ forums in my lifetime and been on many others. I just love forums too much.

-Coding. I am currently learning coding on Codecademy and maybe one day 1 on 1 live tutoring. I am still VERY NOOBY and still willing to learn a lot more.

Which section are you most active in and why?

The Lounge. Why? Because it is the most active section of the whole forums. It is the only place with over 5,000,000 posts and many other forums on the web don't even have that many posts as a whole. Plus, it's basically a discussion about everything else general that does not belong in the other categories which is about 99%, and I love conversing and expressing my ideas with people all over the world about things, maybe things that you would not have discussed in real life with your friends, families, etc.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I wish to join The Empire, to be a part of a clan and feel that I belong. I want to help a group on Hack Forums as best as I can, because I still have never seriously ever been in one. It would fill the missing piece of the puzzle I have on this forum. I want to join not to wear the userbar or anything, like most idiotic people do, I just wish to help people and feel like I belong somewhere.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel that I should deserve to and be accepted into The Empire, because of my activity, firstly. I have nearly 9,000 posts and ~14 posts per day, and all within less than 2 years, which in my eyes is quite impressive, and most of it is not filled with junk low quality posts, as you may suspect. I also feel the need to be accepted due to the fact that I am here pretty much everyday, at least for 3 hours or maybe more. I also feel that I should deserve a spot in The Empire because I am a pretty helpful user. If someone as a question that I have knowledge in the field, then I will try my best to help out. I want a spot in The Empire in order to make new friends and get to know Hack Forums, and it's group system better, as whole.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

The time I cut my head open

So, I remember at the time of when I was around 6, my brother and I were in a store with my parents, who I believe were shopping for clothes. We were wandering around without our parents, when we came upon some toys on the floor. My brother, too young to understand, picked up a toy, and threw at my head. The object appeared to be really sharp or something, because the next thing I knew, was that I was bleeding all over the place from my head. I ran around the store frantically looking for my parents, but not crying the slightest bit. I finally find them on the line checking out the items. They rushed me to the bathroom to clean out the cut and they put a band-aid. I was not taken to the hospital or anything, because thank goodness, it was not a deep cut, and I was pretty fine. So what does this represent? Maybe bravery for my ability of not crying during this event, in which many other kids probably would have? No clue.

Working as a camp counselor

So one summer, I worked as a camp counselor with a group of 4-5 year old boys. The camp was in need of counselors, and I was in luck to find a position on time. The days were long and hard, let me tell you that. The pay was shit, but what I enjoyed most were the kids, or at least most of the kids. There this one kid, named Chet, who seemed like a nightmare, but for some reason, I was the only counselor out of the 12 or so in my division to be able to calm him down and got him to like me. We developed a bond together, unlike with him and many other counselors. I really loved all those kids, all the trips I had with them taught me a lot about little kids and one day about my own kids.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Education, living life to the fullest, and being successful as possible (having a good job, making good money, and being able to support for my family). They are all equally important to me.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

The activity. When I joined, I wasn't really that active, but when I eventually started becoming active, my eyes truly opened wide to discover that this forum was actually really really active, unlike what I thought of it at first. The activity was just amazing, and hey, no shit Sherlock, this is the world's largest MyBB forum. Later on, what led me to stay was the forums. I loved the variety of different sections we had for different discussions and especially The Lounge.

Anything else you would like to say:

Honestly, no. Just want to say, thank you for taking the time to read and consider my application, and best of luck to all other applicants.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

?The most knowledgeable person you'll ever meet to-do with RAT's, spent most my time learning about them a few years ago. (Also have 1371 posts in the section on this site.)

?Coding - Very fluent in PHP, HTML, Perl and C#

?SQLi and XSS

?Wifi Cracking - Know how to and have cracked WPA and WEP keys many a times.

?Forums - Have set-up, moderated and admin-ed numerous sites which ran vBulletin, Mybb, phpBB along with others.

?Gaming - I'm a gamer and a very good one at that. 1v1 me on any game and you'll lose.

And alot more.

Which section are you most active in and why?

At the minute I'm active in most sections but my most active section in-particular is the RAT section, I enjoy helping people in that section, what can I say.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I want to join The Empire simply because being in a group means you get to meet new people and create new friendships. Aswell as it being an awesome group with many of knowledgeable members. I feel I can contribute like I have done before in The Empire, which I was once an original member of, but I left because I was going to be inactive for some time (was around 4month) and felt someone else deserved my spot. I had over 354 posts in the sub-forum as you can see from my post-activity. ?

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I, Curt, feel I deserve to be accepted into The Empire because I want to join the family that is, The Empire. I have alot of knowledge which I think The Empire members could benefit from aswell. I think I should be accepted due to me being a previous member, who was highly ranked in The Empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm 19 years old and work in a warehouse for a reputable supermarket. I'm a huge gaming enthusiast and also a huge football (soccer, for you Americans) fan. When i'm not on HF i'm usually at work or hanging out with friends or at the gym. If im not doing that you can usually find me on the Xbox playing Call of Duty. Short and sweet, just like me. This is me in a nutshell. ?

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities and What is most important, is my family and friends. Along with my job. A bit cliché, I know...

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I was a member of another forum for over a year and came across a thread about Cybergate a 'RAT' which at the time, I had no idea about. So I was intrigued about this and did a bit of searching in Google and came across a tutorial on HF which was posted by the member 'Plutonium' if I remember correctly. It required me to sign up so I did, I read the tutorial and set me up a Cybergate. I then left HF and went back to the other forum I was a member of. I later on that week went back to HF due to me learning about Darkcomet a more advanced RAT and since then, never looked back. There's a lot more to it than this but this is a vague explanation of what led me to HF and ever since i've just come to love the site, the people and what it's become.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: My skills are very basic. I can find loopholes in promotions like Spotify's one month trial to get unlimited amounts or making unlimited Google Voice accounts. You have to know the connections and find out how they can connect to one another.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Gay Fucking Requests Cuz You Want Free Shit: Because the free section can no longer hold Spotify/Netflix or any non-free account I just generally stay there to dump my accounts on people.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I don't really do a lot around the forum anymore, so I'm pretty much looking to spend more time in the group to increase my activity. I was in here a long time ago and it everyone liked it. Joining again would be fun.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I believe I should be considered to join because I'm always around helping people from giving accounts or giving suggestions in the Windows 8 section of the forum. I'm on Hackforums sadly every day and activity plays a huge role in a group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: I am a very laid back person that believes everyone makes mistakes and everyone deserves a second chance. I've always put others before me and realized money isn't everything on this forum. Whenever possible I can help someone for free, I will do that.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Right now school. Then next my girlfriend. In no way will Hackforums come before any of those two things.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Giveaways. As that slowly was cut off I gradually decreased my activity, but am still around answering messages from people giving them accounts/advice.

Anything else you would like to say: I'm a noob.

Be sure to make sure your application is not visually appalling. If it hurts our eyes to read it then we will likely skip over it. Video / Voice applications usually have the best shot at being fully reviewed by all leaders and sticks out more as they are rare. We have a pretty high acceptance rate of video and voice applications.

Yes. Every single member on the site is allowed to apply. Only ones who will be auto-denied are known scammers or have applications that hurt our eyes to read (example: ones that are a solid bright color) as we usually skip over those.

Yup, we've done that for a few recruitments, makes it really easy to skip half the applications for not reading the thread clearly.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: I tend to develop through a variety of skills each day and am always willing to learn about new things and such. I mostly specialise in RAtIng, Crypting, eWhoring. I have been doing the previously stated three things throughout my time spent on the HackForums and I would love to learn new things. I soon to be designing and creating my own Crypting service and even creating my own Crypting software to sell onto the fellow HackForum users. I am also very interested in Monetizing Techniques and am always striving to learn and find out new ones whenever I have some free time on my hands. Some skills I would like to improve on and in fact learn about have to be SQL Injections and Coding. Sometime throughout my career I would like to know how to do SQL Injects successfully and also Coding.

Which section are you most active in and why?: I know it may not say this on my post activity but I like to think as myself as being fairly active on the 'Beginning Hacking' section of the HackForums. I tend to go there to help out other members with whatever questions they need answered and try my hardest to give them a accurate answer. I like to do this because I like to give back to the community what they had given me when I had first joined the community.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I personally want to join The Empire in particular to bond and share my ideas or queries with the other members. By me joining I reckon I could aid the group with some questions they have about what I specialise in and I could answer them accurately which means that they are eligible to develop a better understanding about the stuff I specialise in. I am also a very chilled member aswell.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I personally feel that I deserve to be in The Empire because it could give me an oppourtunity to develop and learn more skills as my career goes on and I also like to help out other members of the community with any questions that they need answered(pretty much what I said above:smile)

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Nothing really much to say here other then the fact that I'm a chilled out guy, easy to approach and just chill in general?

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?: The most important thing to me at the moment has to be my computing. It has been with me throughout my life and I hope to work with Computing Science when I'm older and perhaps even start my own business of designing/repairing and building computers. On top of that I would also like to become a helpful and well-known member of the HackForum

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?: The thing that kept me stay active after first joining was the ability to learn more and more everyday about Hacking or Monetizing etc. There was always new hacking tutorials coming out about how you do specific stuff. There was a chance for you to be a Student and learn other stuff. Overall the community together made me stay and there was rarely any negative people on here who brought anyone down and such.

Anything else you would like to say: Hope it was a good read!

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: Helping people, giving advice, no real black hat or any of those type of skills. Mainly I lurk around in the Personal Life section. I enjoy talking with others and giving/receiving advice. I also like to help people around in the Vices section with advice and what not.

Which section are you most active in and why? Innuendo and Vices currently. In Innuendo I like giving advice to people and talking with others who have the same kind of problems that I have. In the Vices section I mainly just talk and give advice to people who are beginners with vaping and what not.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I believe I could be of use to the Empire and I could lend my experience and knowledge with helping people .I know a lot of The Empire members and I see them around the forum a lot. I believe I could lend my experience and help to The Empire and to The Empire members I see around in the Personal Life section.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Well, at about age 14 depression hit me after my dad left our family and no one helped me for a long time, we talked to doctors, therapists, those kind of people but none of them really helped. Then my friends online and in real life started to help me and within months it was like I felt brand new, I was able to get off some of the medication I was taking and I was happy again. I'm into freestyle BMX and it's my main hobby even though right now my bike needs some new parts for it to feel brand new again. I like to help people in the Innuendo section a lot. I'm also in the Vices section quite a bit too which I've just started posting in. I feel like I'd be a great choice for The Empire.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Family and friends. Without my family I wouldn't have a roof over my head and without my friends I wouldn't have had all the help they gave me when I went through depression and what not.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Groups mainly, the first group I was in was Skill which I had some good times in until it was sold. Then I got accepted into Infamous and it's been a blast there and still is even though the group is being sold soon. The users are also another big reason of why I've stayed on HF, I've met a lot of people here and made some pretty good friends

Anything else you would like to say:

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: Well, As of late; I've been working a lot on learning programming, And I seem to be doing alright with it at this point...I plan on releasing a program to the market place. Even though I'm just starting out I guess I'd consider Programming somewhat of a skill :P. Other Than that I honestly don't have any other skills than listening and helping people through their problems. (I was going to list Gaming skills on here but then I realized that I'm terrible at almost every game I play :P)

Which section are you most active in and why? At the moment I'm probably most active in the programming section. This is for a couple of reasons; The first reason is, as I said earlier in this app, I'm releasing a program soon. The second reason reason is; In the fall I start my 3rd semester at community college and I'm taking CIS125 (Programming and Problem Solving) and I feel its best to go into that class somewhat ahead of everyone else. Other than that I'm pretty active in the marketplace to see whats being released and what I may consider buying in the future. (I don't really post much but I have A LOT of time online...That's mostly because I really dislike posting when I don't have to on some things and on others I just don't feel my opinion is really worth sharing)

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I feel that the Empire is a very high quality group and I feel as if I'd fit in well among the current members.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I wouldn't necessarily say that I "deserve" to be in the empire I feel if I where to say that I "deserve" to be in the empire I'd feel as if I was stuck up and I'd have a stuck-up tone/sense of entitlement.

But anyways to answer the question; I feel as if I'd fit in well, and I feel as if I could grow as a member If I where to be in the group. I also feel as if being in the group would help me make friends here on the forum. (Currently I really am a loner on this forum :P)

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Well, A little bit about me:

I'm a college student at a local community college, I plan on majoring in CIS (Computer Information System). As of rite now I'm not sure what exactly I'm going to specifically major in. Rite now I'm trying to decide between a programming major or something else within the realm of CIS (Only because the Programming major requires a ton of math (I'm not that great at math)). I'm also a Martial Arts Instructor (of Isshin-ryu karate) at the Dojo

I attend. Plus I'm really into scouting and I'm actually almost up to Eagle Scout (For those of you that don't know that's the highest rank in the BSA). Also along with my involvement with the BSA, I'm also a recent Vigil Honor recipient for my Order of the Arrow lodge. (Also Order of the Arrow is sorta like the honor society of scouting.) There's really not much more about me that I can say.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?
Hmmm...College>Family>Scouting>Friends>Gaming>Everything Else

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?
Hmm...Its hard to say, honestly I really like the community and the sense of involvement, I like watching arguments all through the forum over small stupid things. Hmmm I love watching the troll posts in The Lounge. Umm...Also I really enjoy reading posts like "I need to hack my ex's facebook to see if she cheated on me" in the beginner hacking section.

Anything else you would like to say: Thanks for reading :) Have a nice rest of the night/day depending on where you're at. (:

EDIT: Wow my post count is a "little" off...hopefully that can be overlooked.

Monetizing:

I am really good in monetizing, I do many things to make money online and offline. I currently run a currency exchange service, which can be found here. I have much more ways to make money online of course, but due the lack of time I don't keep myself busy with other things than exchanging since I have a job. I work as bookkeeper on a partycentrum, since I work on a computer I have a lot of time for HF.

Gaming:

It's one of the things I do daily, but I don't spend more time on gaming than my friends or family. I really enjoy playing Call of Duty games and soccer-related games like FIFA 14. I currently play on my Playstation 3. I play on Steam as well. I used to have these consoles as well: XBOX 360, PS1/2, Nintendo Wii, Nintendo DS and PSP. These have obviously became too old and I gave them away, except the XBOX of course.

Music:

I am currently a part of a small music band and I really enjoy it, I'm a singer. I and my other band-members have made several songs and music videos. I can even show you it to the leaders, but on PMs only because I don't want to share them on HF. I don't want my real private life to be involved with HF.

[img]<http://i.minus.com/iOEVKsmaTh5J8.png>[/img]

Currency Exchange:

The currency exchange section forum I am the most active in. I get daily a huge amount of money in many different payment processors and this is a motive for me to exchange them and make more money. I run a currency exchange service, which can be found here. It's been a week since I started this service and I've made a good amount of money already. I'm trying to find people in order to exchange and make money. It's like an investment. To be honest, I like to work with payment processors and such and I like to run this service.

The lounge:

I'm really active in the lounge, just like the most members of HF. I am active in the lounge because it's about anything. There are some interesting threads which can't be found at other sections. The fact is that there is just much to talk/discuss about in that section. The lounge is full of people I never heard of, so while posting I also make new friends. It's funny to be active there, even though a lot of threads don't have quality.

The Empire subforum (535 posts):

I've been a member of Empire and even though a lot of time has passed since I was removed, Empire's subforum is still number 3. I used to post a lot in Empire's subforum. I had a couple of threads of which a few were giveaways. I would most likely become a post-whore again in Empire if I get accepted.

Marketplace Discussions:

I really like to post about marketplace-related things. It's interesting for me to read about products, services, payment processors, software and anything that is marketplace-related. I also keep an eye for community alerts, like imposters or members that went into a scamming spree. There are a lot of PayPal-related threads there, members are asking help for their problems with PayPal and I have a lot of knowledge about PayPal and I'm helping them.

[img]<http://i.minus.com/iOZYDvb8A2sCE.png>[/img]

I've seen the quality of The Empire already, it's one of the best groups I've been in and honestly the best organized group. I want to take this whole forum to the next level which is in The Empire I believe. I would be honoured if I could release things and host giveaways/contests in the name of The Empire. I want make new friends, learn new things and teach others with my knowledge as well. The members of The Empire are high quality and treating each other with respect, they're like a family, I love to be a part of that. I have heard many positive things about The Empire, for example the big donations from Tibit. I have many friends who are in The Empire and from what I heard, it's a great group. I'd like to participate in group activities. I want do things as whole group instead of myself alone. I have uncountable reasons why I want to join The Empire, but these are the main ones. The Empire is a high quality group with high quality members, who doesn't want to be a part of that?

I think I have proved myself as high quality member. I will do everything I can to bring Empire to the top. I will stay active and do many positive things in the name of The Empire. I am really helpful and friendly, I will help members of Hack Forums within and without the subforum with various subjects and I will always do my research before posting in order to avoid mistakes and such. I would be proud if I become a member of The Empire again.

I have a lot of things to offer for The Empire. This is what I am planning to do:

- Releasing new free products in the name of The Empire.
- Hosting giveaways & contests in the name of The Empire.
- Making high quality tutorials in and out of the subforum.
- Backup for the members in The Empire (Such as helping them when in trouble)
- Donating to the head of Empire in order to help for sticky's and group giveaways.
- Open help desks to help people for example with monetizing.
- Helping people forumwide with anything I have knowledge off.

I'll make high quality posts in and out of the subforum, I'll do everything I can to make myself a good addition of The Empire.

Here are some examples of my giveaways:

Well first-off, my name is Martin and I am 19 years old. This story happened in my last visit to Turkey.

I went to Turkey for a few days and some touching things happened, which changed many things in my life. We have a small house in the eastern side of Turkey almost at the borders of Iran, that's where my father was born. It's a house in a small village.

One night my friend came to our house and told us, "There is a family with eight children. They have not eaten for days," My brother and I took some food and we went. When we finally came to the family, we saw the faces of those little children disfigured by hunger. There was no sorrow or sadness in their faces, just the deep pain of hunger. We gave the rice to the mother. She divided it in two, and went out, carrying half the rice with her. When she came back, I asked her "Where did you go" She gave me this simple answer, "To my neighbors-they are hungry also".

We were not surprised that she gave, because poor people are generous. But we were surprised that she knew they were hungry. As a rule, when we are suffering, we are so focused on ourselves we have no time for others.

The mother said "Allah sizden razi olsun", which means "God bless you".

Religion

What's more important than religion? I am a believer, even though I am not yet sure in what to believe. My father is muslim and my mother is christian. I stick to the interlard of the Islam, but I'm not 100% believing in it yet. There are a lot of things that can't be proven about Christianity/Islam, which makes it even harder for me to decide and stick with one religion. I do believe that religion is the most important thing in life. Basically, we're living in a "fake" world in order to proof that one is worth to go to heaven or hell once they die.

Family

One of the most important things in life is my family of course. My family is one of the most important things for me to be a happy person. I have 4 brothers and we're really close with each other. We help and support each other with anything at all, financially, mentally or physically. We stand for each other. This doesn't only count for my brothers, but to my whole family, parents, uncles, cousins etc..

Career

I'd like to have a good career in order to have a good future. I hope that one day I'll have a well-paid job that I like to do with pleasure. Why? Because I want that my children and family can benefit of this money. I don't want to die before I see that my children have a good future. I'd like to build them a good future.

I've had a lot of motives to stay active on HF. These are/were my motives:

Reputation:

First of all, I used to have like 1,300 reputation points before I was repfucked. Even though this may sound retarded, it caused me to stay active. I was well-respected and was one of those who had the most rep on HF.

Marketplace:

Since the beginning of my accounts lifetime, I always had a product that I was selling. That "product" could be anything, something that could be sold just to one person like a OG Twitter account or an ebook or currency exchange. Many marketplace-related things caused me to stay.

Usergroups:

I've been in 17 groups since my accounts lifetime. These caused me to stay active on HackForums. Groups are always nice. There is always something you like about a group. I don't know why, but I was addicted to some groups.

Science, Religion, Philosophy and Politics subforum

If something happens in the world, bad or good I want to discuss/debate about it. If it interesting for me of course. I can't talk with friends or at school about some subjects. I mean, my friends would be like "What the hell? What is this nerd talking about? Why does he open a subject like this?" So, I prefer not to debate about political/religious subjects with my friends, but on HF.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: Web design/development, SEO

Music -- guitar, piano, and drums

Computers (Computer Systems Tech. Certified, currently going for the Diploma)

Business, more specifically marketing (Spent one year studying business)

Writing

My skills are not limited to what I've listed. I just feel those are most relevant to HF.

Which section are you most active in and why?

The Lounge, however many lounge posts tend to be site related questions and I love assisting others with their questions regarding HF; RANF section is my third most active section. However, I don't limit myself to one section. You'll see that I'm very active in quite a few different sections. HF has so much to offer.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I know a lot of Empire members well and they're all such chill people. They're easy to communicate with and they have such a good sense of humor.

The Empire has been around for awhile now, and the group has a great reputation.

I won't lie, The Empire's userbar is one of the sexiest UB's on HF.

Before I had to leave The Empire due to school/work I was really enjoying the SF and getting to know everybody better. I miss The Empire.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I have a lot to offer both HF and The Empire. I'm the kind of individual who spends tons of time helping members with their issues whenever I can. I also get along with most people I meet, and I'm very funny if I do say so myself. I will always post in the SF, and I'm very active in general. I am respectful, well educated, and I can represent The Empire in a positive fashion.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I will tell you something memorable if that's alright with you. When I was just a little kid (around 7 years old or so) I watched my first music video ever through MTV. The song was called "Watch This" by Swollen Members. I was only 7, so I wasn't sure what the hell I was watching, but I loved it! About 12 years later, I finally heard that song again and I immediately looked up the group who wrote it and downloaded all of their albums. I was inspired so I continued to learn more about the group; I found out they were from my city! (Vancouver, BC Canada) They were also performing in the winter so I decided to purchase a ticket and go with a few friends. Well, the leader of the group (MadChild) definitely looked a lot older and arguably more depressed than I anticipated but they still put on a kickass energetic show. I've loved rap my entire life, and these were the FIRST rappers I ever saw perform. After the concert I was able to go backstage and meet all three of them! I asked Madchild if I could buy them a beer and they said yes! We all went out and this is where things got really interesting for me. I got to learn everything about these guys -- I mean everything. I learned about their inspirations, stories, struggles etc. I told them they were the first artists I had ever seen perform a video and they were touched, so touched that they actually offered to collab with me on a beat (I'm an MC but not seriously, just drunk freestyles and fun tapes) I said no because I'm not looking to become a rapper and I didn't want to hold them back. However they showed me how being kind to those who respect you can change someones life -- permanently. They didn't have to say yes. They could have told me to fuck off, or pop a cock in it but instead, they took the time to learn about their fanbase and that will always stick with me. They were so generous, and that's something I always try to practice.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My top three priorities are Family, school, and happiness. I'd say family is most important to me, my parents specifically.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I was learning a lot about Python, JavaScript and I had access to cheap XBL shops! What's not to love?

Anything else you would like to say:

I would have never left The Empire if school wasn't such a hassle, however I'm ready to join for good. I've become much more efficient in balancing work/school/HF and The Empire is one of the few groups I respect. I'd LOVE a chance to join.

Thanks for reading.
Clark.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

•Coding:

I am almost fluent in python. I still have a lot to learn and look forward to it.

•Social Engineering:

I can easily get people to download my files but I haven't tried anything more then that yet. Such as trying to get someone fired from their job.

•Graphics:

I have been making graphics for around a year now and I've learned so much. I still have so much to learn and again, I look forward to it greatly.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Well, according to my post activity section, I am most active in the lounge. Which I agree with in a sense. Personally, I think I am most active in most sections. Every other minute I check the new posts section to see if there is anything I can help with.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Because when I first joined Hackforums, I set a goal for myself. That I was going to one day join empire. Empire looked like a group with amazing owners and participants. I loved how they constantly worked together and helped spread knowledge.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I think I should be accepted into the empire because I love gaining new knowledge, and spreading my existing knowledge. I'm sure that I would learn a lot and feel that it would be beneficial to my future.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Ok, Let me start out by showing you something that I posted recently about my view on a touchy matter:

(Jul 10, 2014 05:41 PM)420™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think we should. I mean if they can't even comprehend basic things that we all take for granted, they can't have a very good life right? Imagine you are the mother or father to a child in a wheelchair, that can't read, write, or do the basic functions that we all do. Would you really want to spend the rest of your life caring for this child? and I mean the REST of your life, you would constantly have to watch your child. You wouldn't be able to get a job. You wouldn't be able to enjoy your life to it's full extent. Personally I would either put the baby up for adoption, or euthanize it.

On the other hand, there needs to be balance. How can you tell someone who doesn't have any mental issues, apart from someone who does, in a world where we execute people with mental issues. The universe and our feelings are like a balance. If you remove one from one side, the other side falls.

As you can probably tell from the quote, this was on the question "Should we euthanize the Mentally Ill?"

I feel that this quote depicts who I as a person because it shows that I live my life with a balance. Although I'm not religious, I believe that life is like newtons third law; Every action has an equal and opposite reaction. I live in the same way. I give as I take. I hosted an OMC giveaway awhile back, even though I only have 126OMC I gave 15/uber, 10/leet and 5/member. I ran out fast, but before I had the change to close it. I had 2 extra people who asked for them. So what do I do? I went and mined 25 omc so they could have them aswell.

Another thing that describes me is my imagination. That might be a little bit vague let me go into more detail. I recently got into writing, and made my first short story ever. Of course with my imagination, I had to make said story for the only place it belonged. r/nosleep. Linked Here I have a fairly abnormal imagination and it gives my life and the lives of those around me, more joy.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Giving to the needy. Whenever I see a homeless person, I always give them a dollar and wish them the best of luck.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I stayed active on this forum because when I had joined, I was having some troubles in my life. And this forum was the only place I could go to get away from them. Since then, I have had a major boost in my life, and hope that it will never revert back to where it once was.

Anything else you would like to say:

Total time spent on this app: 6 hours

Just noticed that I said "Giving to the nerdy" instead of "needy". Changed it.

Not as bad as that one time when someone applied to the BH GFX sector with an application written in the Windings font. But yeah, be creative in your application layout, and make it eye catching. But at the same time, we don't enjoy reading a 1k word application that strains our eyes.

Which section are you most active in and why? The 2 sections I am most active on are Computer hardware and Android OS. These are the two sections I enjoy working on and learning more about.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: Would like to join a new group with high quality discussions and interests.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: Honestly I feel many others deserve it too, not just me. Although I want to join to discuss with members with similar interests as me.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: I have been through a lot, yet in the end I always manage to stay positive. At the age of 16 I started to work, I wanted to earn some money for the small things I want. Whenever I can I would help my friends by giving them small little things like buying them their own minecraft account or movie tickets. I consider myself as someone who likes to help people, it makes me feel good to help those in need. Currently I am going to college to study in computer engineering, with the profit I will be making I wish to start a scholarship.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

- I am quite decent with overall computer usage and knowledge, and I am often the one called on to "remove the virus" or "fix the computer". Though aside from that I am extremely interested in website penetration testing and security, as well as overall computer security and "hacking". I thoroughly enjoy learning about such things, hence my current user group.

- I am decent with graphical art, though I'm not FBA member. I will often make logos for friends and I enjoy improving my Cinema 4D, Photoshop, and video editing skills.

- I thoroughly enjoy theological debates and discussions, and I will happily discuss religion and science with anyone, as I enjoy seeking truth and knowledge. Though I was raised in a baptist home, I am currently an agnostic theist as I don't see any sufficient evidence for Christianity or any other religion.

- I am also good in overall athletics, though I doubt that is really cared about, though I could, of course, be very wrong.

Which section are you most active in and why? I have no idea, but if I had to guess I would probably say, currently (I fluctuate a lot) the Beginner Hacking Section, The Website and Forum Hacking, and the Legion private SF. My reasoning behind being active in the Beginner Hacking Section is because I enjoy helping people increase their knowledge and skills, and I also find some of the remarks some of the skids their make hilarious.

Why I am active in The Website and Forum Hacking section is simple; I enjoy helping people and learning a little bit as I go. It's like a Beginner Hacking Section exclusive to Web Hacking.

Now my activeness in the Legion SF is due to my love for the people there and the overall group. I love being in an exclusive community where I can talk with people I love about things I love.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I remember being in The Empire probably around 6+ months ago and I really enjoyed the lounge like, chill, and accepting sort of an atmosphere. I would love to be in a group like that again. See, the reason I got kicked was due to inactivity, but now that summer has rolled around I will be anything but that and on the rare occasion I am out on vacation I will of course inform the admins about my away time.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel I deserve to be in the Empire due to the things I have to offer. I believe I will help strengthen the community, and I think I could thoroughly help some members in the group due to some free services I have to offer, and I think the Empire would be a great place to find candidates for those services.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Now this is where I may lack a little, and that is because I dislike sharing much about me, but here I go. I have gone through quite a bit in my time. Anywhere from classmates making groups in honor of despising my middle school self to being molested to ending up with cops at my house and being dragged to the ER, I have been through some rather interesting times. See, those times are the times which inspired me to offer my "Let's Talk" service which is essentially an online counselling service for those who are depressed, anxious, etc.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? I would like to affect the world in a positive way in one manner or another. I would love to be a vigilante hero, but that is unrealistic, so instead I would prefer to help people and to save lives. I do not want to be forgotten, and I want to be put down in history as a good person, and hopefully a hero of some sort. Despite how much of a childish dream that is, I still have it due to how many scum are on our earth today.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? The learning aspect of it was fantastic. There were great people who were willing to help you with anything and everything you needed help with. That has kept me here, and now I have even more reasons to stay here, such as members like Vinnie who love me to death and don't hate me at all.

Anything else you would like to say: Thank you for reading my application, and thank you for giving me a second chance with this group. I hope I am accepted, though I understand if I am not.

Sincerely,

- Ceoff

Which section are you most active in and why?

I've posted the most in The Lounge overall but lately I have been the most active in the Vices section. I normally come to HF to relax and I find the vices section to be a great place to discuss my love for drugs. There are a few knowledgeable members there and I like seeing what they have to say. I also like giving advice and sharing the knowledge that I've acquired.

I used to be really active in The Lounge for the same reason. Even though I'm considered to be old by HF standards, I still find the community stimulating and fun to be around.

In the past I was very active in the RATs section. It used to be my main focus but I have moved onto better things computing and hacking wise.

The reason I shared my past sub forums that I was active in is because I want you guys to see how I've grown since first coming to HF. I think I've grown from a skid to a pretty mature member even if I'm not a 1337 hax0r.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

The Empire is one of the groups I've noticed in the past. I like that you guys have been around and it seems like you are here to stay. Members in the Empire stand out to me and always seem to be HQ. I'm not in it for the userbar but I would wear it with pride if I got accepted.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I deserve to be accepted because I've put in so much time to HF. I've never fallen into the trap that some of the other older members fall into. By that I mean I've never scammed anyone or tried to infect fellow HF users. I don't flame the regular members just because I'm Ub3R. In my opinion, I've put in a hell of a lot of work when it comes to trying to be as friendly and helpful as possible. I try to take everything I know and use it to better the HF community.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I struggled a lot as a teenager to fit in. I was lost in life and I thought that the way people treated me at school was a reflection of my character. What I didn't know then that I do now is that I'm a unique and kind person. People saw that I was different and chose to exploit that. Now I've found my niche in life when I see others I went to school with still having no clue who they are. I view my time on HF as a positive experience because I've discovered that I have a real love for computers.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My top priority in life right now is school. I really want to do well in school because very few people in my family have graduated from college. Neither of my parents graduated from High School so I've already broken that cycle.

My second top priority is my social life and family. I've moved all the way across the country which has made me appreciate my time with family and friends more. HF is also a priority to me because I view it as a part of my social life.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I was inactive for a time but my activity has increased since the Vices section was put in. I think another reason I've stuck around is because I think it's a great place to learn. I also don't know many people who are into computers like me so I enjoy the fellowship with other members.

Anything else you would like to say:

I would have done a video for my application but I'm really so much better at writing than I am at talking out loud. I don't think you would have enjoyed a spoken application very much.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I am experienced with remote access tools (RATs) and money making online. I have used my skills to make a lot of money for myself online and I enjoy sharing that knowledge with others. I am also very knowledgeable when it comes to vaping, I have taught many members how to vape correctly and save a lot of money.

Here are some examples of my skills:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4286615>
<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4220855>
<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3452656>

I know a lot of what you see on my threads is just paid help. I have helped many members though pm and on skype. I am going to start giving more of my knowledge out more often for free. I am am starting to back away from the hacking scene, but I still have the knowledge to teach others. I plan to be more active by helping the members who join here to learn. I also plan to help more members with vaping.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Beginner hacking and virtual game items. I like helping people learn about RATs, also I have ran a very successful runescape gold shop.

I have done many large deals with members on here for runescape gold. This is how I ave made a good amount of money online.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I would like to become a more active member on this site. I have talked with other people who have been a member and they say that it is amazing. I think I can make some new friends and help teach others in the group. Also I would like to represent the empire when I am helping others that are not in the group.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I don't feel I deserve to get accepted yet. I am lacking some of the profile statistics and I haven't been that active. I feel that by joining this group it could help get me active in the community and I can earn my right to be in.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I use to be addicted to cigarettes and I discovered vaping over a year ago. I don't smoke cigarettes anymore because of vaping. I know that they are not that good for you, but I believe they are a much better alternative than smoking cigarettes. My life has improved tremendously from switching to vaping. I feel healthier and I feel like I can breathe better.

Another thing vaping has done for me is that it helped me make new friends. I have a lot of people I know online from hackforums, who I have taught to vape correctly. I have also learned a lot from these friends in return. I talk to a lot of these people regularly just like they were real life friends because of vaping.

Vaping is like a hobby in some ways and it helps me stay away from cigarettes. I spend a lot of time looking into the best parts, builds, products. Vaping has caused a lot of postie changes in my life and has helped me become a better person.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Right now it is work for me. I am trying to make better choices in my life and get past all of the negative stuff. I am doing very well for myself after all I have went through.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

A lot of it was the marketplace. I have stayed legit in the marketplace the whole time I have been here. I have made a lot of money by being legit that it would be pointless to scam.

Anything else you would like to say:

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to apply for this group. I would like to meet the requirements fully soon, and hopefully I can get a chance at joining.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: For starters, I'm rather good with malware and such, botnets/RATs/keyloggers specifically. I own a setup service that I run with Jokeh and we both work on this around the clock. I'm in the process of learning HTML/JavaScript/CSS and I may learn PHP at some point. I have rather decent social skills and I work well with people, though I usually keep to myself and in life I'm more of a "speak when spoken to" kind of guy.

Let me do a general breakdown of my strong suits in an effort to make it easier for whomever may read this.

Monetizing -

I've worked with monetization for almost two years now. I've ventured into CPA, PPD, affiliate marketing, etc. I strive to be the best I can be in a given subject area whether it be in monetizing, malware, or just general life. I've spent a large amount of time perfecting my skills and believe me, I've read my fair share of eBooks and put a fair amount of time into monetizing. If you ask me, what's the BIGGEST problem with internet marketing? Saturation would be the #1 cause, because what are you going to do with a saturated method? Little to nothing to be honest, you can't make money off of a saturated method, but if you put your own unique twist on it, who says that it can't make you tons of money? I'll try to keep these short, as it gets boring just reading walls upon walls of text.

Malware -

There's really not too much I can say here; I work with botnets, RATs, keyloggers, things of that nature as well as cryptography. I enjoy working with Jokeh on creating our own botnet and seeing it grow and come along into a fully working product.

eWhoring -

I've worked on eWhoring for quite some time. I don't make anywhere near as much money as I'd like to, but I'm getting better as the days go on. I've purchased numerous VCWs and I have an extensive ~12 GB pack that I use whenever I decide to go eWhoring and I can usually pull about $100 a night if I'm not under pressure.

Social Engineering -

I've received numerous products or services through social engineering. For example, my current headset was obtained through SE, as well as my earbuds and a few other common every day items that aren't really worth a mention. I don't claim to be the best, but I'm doing alright!

Gaming -

I'm a huge and avid gamer. Since I was about nine, when I started with the game "Star Wars Galaxies," I've been gaming. Since the SWG days I've obtained a gaming laptop which I intend to get rid of after I save up enough for an Origin PC. I enjoy gaming because it's really just a huge stress relief and I can have a good laugh while gaming and I always enjoy hearing that someone understood that reference I just made from a game. I don't enjoy anything like League of Legends, DOTA, etc, but MMOs are really enjoyable to me, such as SW:TOR, Battle of the Immortals, War of the Immortals, things of that sort!

Musical Talents -

Does this really matter? I'm not sure but I'm going to put it anyway. I really love music and I have it playing almost all the time. I love things like EDM, dubstep (technically not EDM,) and just electronic music in general. I also like Green Day and bands similar to them, and I'm always willing to listen to new things, although I don't particularly care for Jazz/Rap. On the side, I'm learning to DJ, so there's that!

Which section are you most active in and why? That's a really tough question. As far as commenting goes, I'm fairly certain I'm most active in the malware sections (botnets, keyloggers [not all that much], and RATs.) Reading wise I absolutely love the general discussion section because I get to read all these sometimes funny, sometimes serious, sometimes goofy stories or things going on in other member's lives and get that good chuckle or gives me a new insight on life. I'd love to see the "Religion/Politics" section become a lot more active, though.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: Through my browsing of HF I've always loved your userbar and it always caught my attention, so there's that. :P I've also seen your members constantly be polite, respectful, and understanding as well as many other traits throughout their postings and I can't really say I see that in any other group. You guys (and gals if there are any,) strive to be the best and I admire that in all honesty. It's something that's a rare trait on HF and I also can't say that I've noticed other groups displaying any of these traits as much as the Empire.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: While I haven't spoken in depth with your group's members, I feel like I could be a good addition. I have a grand knowledge of malware in general, but I also don't claim to be the best. I feel like the Empire could benefit from someone such as myself that has an extensive knowledge on malware, monetizing, concepts of that nature.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: This is going to be the toughest part of this entire application. I'm going to put the following in spoiler tags because I feel as though it may not be something everyone wants to read, so you've been warned.

Spoiler (Click to View)

So, in the recent months I've kind of matured much faster than I thought I would. I'm currently a sophomore in high school, and I wouldn't have ever thought I would have grown up as much as I have. What kind of spared all of this was the loss of people dear to me. There's a reason I put this in spoiler tags because this could trigger some people and if it does I'm sorry for that. Over the course of two years, four close friends took their own lives and I was flung into something that's normally considered an "adult" world. Without going into detail, two of the four I was the last to speak to and I didn't see it coming at all. I held myself personally responsible for the longest time, justly or unjustly.

I since became really, not necessarily selfish but I keep to myself a whole lot more now. I enjoy speaking with people still but I just feel extremely different from those events. To kind of make this quick and simple, I'm your normal HackForums number, I'm not exactly special in most regards, and I'll admit there are likely a lot of better applicants than myself.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? So this is another difficult question to answer. I feel like family's really important and loved ones are important. As important as that if not a little bit more important is your own well being and your own happiness. Another important thing has to be money, and I hate to say that, but studies show that money can relate to happiness and while I don't feel like I should get money in order to be happy, everyone needs money, however money will never be more important than the first two things listed.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? When I joined, I was a lurker for a bit. I looked at some things that a non-registered member can and I found it kind of cool and interesting. So once I became a member, I immediately had my friend tell me "Here, get L33T! It's worth it, I promise!" I looked at the features and I thought it was a cool deal and I had actually $19 laying around, so I just went ahead and bought it, so I've invested in this site, and I saw potential for myself and others on here, and I thought of some business opportunities on this forum and I've needless to say worked on them.

Anything else you would like to say: Nothing really, I just hope that whoever has read this wasn't too bored and enjoyed it. Also, I speak both English (obviously,) and Spanish rather well. I'll be editing it time to time to make it more interesting, an edit will instantly occur following the post to make this more unique, as I don't exactly have the full editor at the moment. :P Thanks for reading! ~Kings.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I have many skills ranging from physical to mental, so here are a few:

Social Skills

I am extremely adept with social skills. I love talking to people and getting to know them. I am an all around enjoyable/sensible guy. I like to talk a-lot to my friends, and make new ones. I sometimes get told I talk too much, but I don't see that as a bad habit, it just means I am being social. I love getting to know people and hanging out with them, such as in Teamspeak or Skype.

Technological Skills

I am also extremely adept in technological skills. Hand me a brand new device, not even talked about or released yet, and give me a day and I will find out most everything you need to know about that device. I am very intuitive when it comes to technology, and love playing around with it and trying to use it to the most of its ability.

Hardware skills

I am not sure if this goes with technological skills or not, so I made a separate section for it. I am very good when it comes to computer hardware. At the age of 12 I built my own PC, and that is still my PC today. My troubleshooting and problem solving skills for computer in hardware in software is through the roof. There is no computer I can't fix.

Gaming Skills

I enjoy gaming on my PC, PS3, and Xbox360 (More-so my PC though). My Steam account has 110+ games on it, and I am sure more will be on it in the future. I love gaming with my friends, as it gives us a chance to sit back, relax, and just overall have fun. Most people listen to music to mellow themselves out, I use gaming. I have been a gamer ever since I was 3 on a Windows 98 machine.

Typing/Grammar skills

I feel like I am somewhat good when it comes to typing and grammar skills. I can type upwards of 85 WPM or more, with perfect or near perfect grammar. I learned to type a long time ago when my mother bought me a "Mavis Beacon Teaches Typing" program for the computer.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am generally most active in the marketplace and the Instinct subforum. The reason I am active in the marketplace is because I generally like to see what kind of items or services HF users are selling, and if I would like to try one or not. I used to run my own account shop a long time ago, and only a couple months ago I started selling vapes.

I am active in the Instinct Subforum because of the social aspect of it. I just love chilling in the Instinct Lounge talking to some friends. It's mostly random stuff and we can talk about anything. I love chatting about random ideas, sometimes it makes you think and laugh at the same time. That's my kind of social lounge.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

The Empire looks like an awesome group with awesome members. I have looked up to The Empire ever since it was made. The members in The Empire are outstanding and brilliant in every aspect. It's clear you guys want the "best of the best", and I feel like I am ready to join this group. I feel like I can fit in extremely well and make the most out of all the opportunities that present themselves within the group, whether it be being social and making new friends, or helping out the group in some way. I am up to the challenge.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I am going to be honest as possible with this question. There are multiple other people that have applied that are more "high quality" than me, or seem to be better. To be honest, I feel like all of us have an equal chance of getting in, and for me to compare my application to another ones, and ask why I should get in over them, is just not possible. Every last person that applies here is awesome and put a lot of time into their application, like me. There would be no reason to take any of us over other people that applied, because we all put time and effort into our applications. The only thing that sets us all apart is our personality, in which I believe I have the upper hand. Other than that, everyone here put in a ton of time and effort into making their application what it is, and everyone deserves a fair chance at getting in.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

When I was just a small toddler, around three years old, I started to play around with computer games. I started to play that game that there was like a platform at the bottom and there was a ball that would come down and hit that platform and bounce back up and hit bricks and make them disappear. Then I moseyed on to the Playstation One, where I started to play Battletanx and Spyro. In about the year of 2007 I got a Playstation 2 for the first time. I loved it so much back then. I played it a ton. Once I grew up and I was about 12 I bought a Playstation 3. That was one of the best purchases in my life. I still use it today.

Around when I was in fourth grade my grandfather died from brain cancer. We figured it was Cataracts that were making his eyes bad, then once he got an xray/autopsy it was evident that he had a tumor that had stage four brain cancer. He lasted about 2 and a half years after that until he died. I spent more time with my grandpa than I did with my dad because my dad wouldn't do things with me, so the death hit me extremely hard.

I joined Hackforums because believe it or not I was curious about hacking. My dear old friend Texno showed me this website. I got to know people here, but I got off to a rough start. Not many people liked me when I joined HF, to be honest. I didn't fit in well until about September of last year. As of right now I am currently going on one year without a negative reputation point by anyone, and I feel pretty proud. I do my best to not make anyone angry, because that's when the negative attitudes start. The world is better without negative attitudes.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life is going to college and getting a Masters Degree in Software Engineering. After I go to college I plan on getting a job, and settling down in a suburb and starting a family. That's what's most important to me.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Being social caused me to stay on Hackforums. I went through a couple rough patches, but it's all smooth sailing right now. I loved talking to people on HF. A-lot of them had something good to say, and I love talking to them about it. The only section on here that I don't like is the SRPP section. The SRPP section is filled with immature kids who know nothing and neg people for not agreeing with them. Anyways, I have made many friends on Hackforums so far, and I look forward to making more!

Anything else you would like to say:

I would like to thank you for the opportunity to apply for The Empire, a group that I have looked up to since I joined, and I thank you for reading my whole application. It means a-lot, even if I don't get accepted. Again, thanks for the opportunity and I wish you a good day.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I make a decent amount of money. I started business maybe 2 years ago with social engineering and with grey hat and went through all that and finally came into white hat. Now I am buying a selling Doge Coin and I make anywhere from 30-50 dollars a day. When I first started I made a k in 2 weeks.

I am also playing around with 1k in stocks as well.

I have learned quite a bit around those fields and I am quite good with business in general. I also game a decent amount if that means anything.

Which section are you most active in and why? This is important as we will have specific sections of the group based on member interests.

If you look at post activity it would show that all of the marketplace sections would be my most active. Once again the reasoning of this is because of my business interest.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

The Empire. I believe that this group if by far the most notorious and infamous. It seems like the kind of group that you don't want to mess with yet be close with them. I see it as Al Capone running the Alcohol Game as The Empire runs the Marketplace with your most HQ products.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

First off I think I should be accepted to maybe become a student. As I told you I have done business for years. And 100 dollars a week is very nice, yet there is still more to learn. As well I can teach other members method and get them up on their feet as I was back when I started.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I don't really know where to start. A few years ago I sat at the xbox thinking well, I receive allowance but what my parents supply for all my purchases simply what does that accomplish. I tell my parents, "Stop. I will be self sufficient from now on." From there outward I began to learn. I received A's in school as my parents wished for but I focused none of my attention to school. It was on business, money, and the importance of all of it.

Throughout the starting year I did multiple things. I first decided to start a little bit of social engineering and went on to that got a 3ds and a Kindle. Sold both to make maybe $300 and that was my starting ground. Then I tried to make ebooks and sell them. I finally came up with an EBay method that was greyhat but worked pretty well for me. That month with the method I went on to make $200 and I was relatively proud of it. In the following months I was just selling products on EBay completely White Hat. Then I was playing with that game for quite a while. A couple months go by if not a year, and I finally find myself a partner. However this kid wasn't all that rich. He didn't have a dad, and he didn't have any money him self. We together went on to make quite a bit of money. I in the following 6 months made around 1k whilst he made like 200. I went on to teach this kid all he knows today and he finally was able to get himself a gaming computer, xbox, and multiple other small items.

We fast forward to 3 months from present day and I decide to start doing something completely legitimate. A dogecoin business. I went on to sell dogecoin for those next 2 weeks and make a k. Now we fast forward to present day where the income is less but in the past 3 months I have pulled in about 3 months, $1700 from various services. It has been going alright but I have lost some of my work ethic.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Well I would like to say Family, Business, School, and Friends. Almost in that order. My family is quite important and the welfare of them matters. However the welfare of them doesn't necessarily match up to the welfare of me. I focus so much on Business that on the list of orders it is more important then school. I still continue to get A's however I find economics and business much more interesting. I also care about my friends.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Well to be 100% honest again, the Marketplace.

Anything else you would like to say:

If you read my application and deny me please tell me. I would like to thank you for reading it.

Thanks.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:Gaming
Helping Others

Gaming

it all started at a very young age, when my parents introduced me to the Gameboy Color and Playstation 1, when I played games such as: Super Mario Bros. Deluxe, Pokemon Blue, Gran Turismo 1, Rayman, and many others. From there I received a Playstation 2 and an Xbox as a gift, leading me to play more mature titles including: Counter Strike, Halo, Grand Theft Auto, Metal Gear Solid, and many other similar titles. At this point I was better than the average gamer I was faced with. And now I play multiple genres of games on the Xbox 360, Xbox One, PC, and some iOS games. This is just my Steam Account: Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Helping Others

This I am not sure how to correctly 'word' it, but I suppose this is good enough. Throughout my entire life I have gone through hard times and many of those times, I had to learn to deal with it by myself, which sometimes was difficult. Because of this I want to help others as much as possible, weather it be relationship issues or even something as simple as losing a friend over some cliché argument, I am more than happy to assist anyone as much as I can.

Which section are you most active in and why? The Lounge and Innuendo, I am active in The Lounge due to the many variety of topics that can be created and discussed upon, and I'm active in Innuendo in order to read people's thread and give them suggestions/advice if needed.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I want to join The Empire because I see this group as one big massive family, I speak to multiple members within the group and they tell me just how friendly and kind everyone is to one another, and I feel as if I would fit in with the other members.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:I personally feel that I deserve to be accepted into The Empire because I constantly try and strive to be the best possible example of myself, I do this by just being myself. Being friendly, kind, and always willing to give a helping hand. I feel as if this can help benefit The Empire by bringing positivity to the members.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Hello I'm Highway, I am a seventeen year old College student studying Information Technology, and moving onto studying networking.

What makes me who I am is my dedication and ability to dedicate myself to anything that I desire, this usually includes self teaching myself some computer or networking knowledge, helping others (with advice, financial advice, tutoring, etc,) and trying to create a better person out of myself every single day. I also enjoy playing video games, communicating with fellow peers, and just having a good time.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? As a college student, my priorities lie in my education, I want to succeed and go to university in order to have a decent salary in a field of my interest. After that my priorities lie in ensuring I help others. By this I mean I attempt to help as many as people as possible in various ways, this includes giving others advice on whatever it is that they need, helping the homeless by supplying food/water, helping them find jobs, etc.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? When I first joined, I joined with the selfish intentions of just leeching in the Free Services & Giveaways Section. After lurking around for a few months I found a Hackforums TeamSpeak server in which I was kindly welcomed and helped around on HF, and introduced to my first official group. This made me realize the potential of this forum and how kind some of the members are.

I'm good a graphics and art, many different styles. I usually just go with the flow to whatever I'm in the mood to do. I've done UI/UX, 3D Animation, Modeling, Vectors, Logos, Branding, Illustration, Photography, Digipainting, Photomanipulation, and just regular drawing.

Which section are you most active in and why?

The RMG section, because graphic design is what I focus in.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

To see what I can learn from you guys and offer what I can in return.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I'm not trying to make myself look self centered here.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm pretty straight forward and honest, and like to have fun. I'm believed to have Bipolar Disorder but the reason I'm not fully diagnosed is because I would prefer to learn to handle myself over time rather than deal with the side affects of medications and or become dependent on them. I was going to school for animation but due to hating the class I've changed my views on what I want to do in life.

I'm bad at writing paragraphs.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I have no idea honestly, I'm just going with whatever happens. But the goal is to at least go into something art related in the future.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I am a very good social engineer, experienced gamer, anime connoisseur, and i'm very social. I have been able to dox many providers, products, and companies. I have been gaming since the original Xbox's release, and still own an Xbox 360 along with some PC gaming. I have completed various animes and I am still watching a few. As for my social life, I can start a conversation and become friends with almost anybody!

Which section are you most active in and why?

Vices and Anime Adventures because I smoke cannabis regularly and like to read trip reports; I also love anime very much and I like to discuss my favorites and recommend new ones to others.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I was looking over the possible groups I could join, and The Empire stood out the most because I like the name and this group is all about being friends and socializing.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I believe I deserve and should be accepted into The Empire because I am a very social person and would love to make friends with everyone currently in the group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well, for one, my name is GNJ or Warfare. I am an anime junkie and regular pot smoker. I started these habits at a younger age, and still hold onto them. Over my life, i've been able to make friends fairly easily, and love to talk about topics I have in common with others. I was born in Ohio, but raised in Las Vegas. Some favorites: Attack on Titan, football, spaghetti, the color blue, Arianna Grande, and White Widow/Blue Dream. One moment that changed my life was when I was in 6th grade, and my favorite football coach gave me advice about life. A lot of it is a blur, but he told me a lot of things I did not know that day.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life right now are my family, friends, schooling, and work.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I was amazed by the amount of knowledge and cool people there were on here. Most people were very helpful, and I decided to continue my run on here.

Anything else you would like to say:

I hope I am accepted to The Empire. I can make it a lot better and become friends with most of you :D. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Looks like quite a few people didn't read the OP, will make reviewing applications a bit easier when we can deny a good chunk of members for not following instructions. ?

Also, please don't PM me with questions about your application, I likely won't get back to you for a week or so, you'll get far quicker replies by posting your question(s) here on the thread or contacting another leader.

Stoke - July 13, 2014, 3:10 am

Name: My name is Dan, but many people call me Stoke / Stroke (Please don't call me Stroke.)

Age: I am 17 years of age, it is my birthday today. :)

Gender: Guy

Religion: I believe I am Agnostic.

State/Country: I am originally from Naples, Italy, but I moved to the United Kingdom when I was 12 and I am moving back to Italy in a few days time.

Time Zone: Greenwich Mean Time Zone (UTC+00:00)

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: Well, where to start? My main skill and something that I believe I'm good at is monetizing. It's a skill that I've been working on for 3 years now and have come across so many different methods that I would be able to share with people in the sub-forum if I am chosen.

Gaming - I am fairly good at gaming and I am passionate about it, I used to play all the time with members of Hack Forums when I was in Complexity / Very short time at Infamous.

Web Design - Something I've been doing for a year or so now, I will make something for The Empire if you would like to judge my skill level.

I think I'll leave my skills at that.

Which section are you most active in and why?

There's not a section that doesn't interest me. I just click New Posts and if there is a title that gets my attention, I check it out. But I don't go out of my way to post in a certain section besides The Gamers Lounge.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

There's not a group I'm more enthusiastic about. I believe it covers a lot of topics which is certainly something I'm interested in. There'd be a lot of things to learn whilst I could be teaching others new things.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I've spent two hours on this application so far, and I'm only half way through it so I better get accepted. ;)

Just joking.

I'm not going to lie and tell you that I'm 'perfect' for The Empire. I can offer you all I have and just hope that's enough. I've spent two months online and have given over $600 to the Hack Forums community. I'm a HQ member and I can be nothing more than a HQ addition to your already great group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well, my name is Dan, I'm 17 from Italy. I am a very active Hack Forums member, spending my free time trying to help as many people as possible whilst trying to become knowledgeable in every section on here.

Something memorable would probably be; - Around 8 years ago at 9 years old, my cat suddenly went missing around June 27th. I loved this cat to pieces so when he went out and never came back, I was literally searching the whole street for a month with my flashlight. (I can imagine you're getting pretty bored so I'll get to the point.) Around 6AM on Christmas morning (Yeah, 5 months later.) He was just sitting there on my pool table. Turns out an elderly woman was feeding him and kept him in her house until she died.

I'll tell you a little story of why I am me. After suffering from depression since I was 12, at the age of 15 I decided to venture on tumblr and just search through it. After around 4 hours of searching through tumblr 'trends', I came across a quote that went on to save my life. When I was 15, I was around 17 stone (238 pounds), which clearly was morbidly obese . I'll try and find the quote, but it meant that much to me that I went on to lose 6 stone of that. - All because of one 5 word quote.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I love to learn new things, there's nothing I love more. Other than that, it's my family and my job.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

The community I guess. This was my first and is going to be my last forum. I have a special place in my heart for the community of Hack Forums. (Besides that god damn snail eater.)

Anything else you would like to say:

I have spent two hours 33 minutes on this application. Most of the time was due to being hit offline 16 times which meant I wasn't able to preview my post. I wish luck to all other applicants.

1n9i9c7om - July 13, 2014, 6:25 am

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: In all honesty I do not have any particular skills that are worth mentioning. I do not do any GFX nor do I have any particular things I am especially good at.

But if I had to mention some points as to where I believe to be a little skilled in I'd definitely go with the following: Typing English, when it comes to typing English I can be a little above average considering it is not my native language.

Speaking English, I have some experience with it but still mispronounce certain words such as "Job" as it ends up like "yob or yab" for me.

Grammar, although my Grammar might not be the best I still consider it to be one of my perks. I do realise most of them aren't actual skills, but if I had to mention some particular skills that I believe to be good in, it will definitely be included in here!

Which section are you most active in and why? I am currently the most active in the Anime Adventures section right now due to the sheer fact that Anime is my biggest interest. I also visit the Lounge, Member Contests and the Gaming section. I do play games such as Garry's Mod and League of Legends quite frequently though!

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I really like the name of the group including the group image. That is not the main reason I want to join though as the Empire seems to have outstanding members inside their group! I am unsure if I meet your requirements though but if I do I would surely love to have the opportunity to join! I would absolutely love to discuss something with a group of respectable members such as the Empire! The Group really stands out to me and I am inexperienced and have never actually been in a group inside HackForums.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I actually don't believe that I deserve to be in the group due to the fact that I am probably not as active as most other users and have a low amount of rep/posts. But I am still trying because I really want to be in this group, I would love to have the experience of being in a group as I have never actually been in a group on HackForums before! :)

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Well I am Ryner a 16 year old guy! I spend quite a lot of time playing this game called Garry's Mod and working on a community by the name of Xenon-Gaming with my friends! I also got my big interest in Anime from my elder brother who decided to bring me into Anime by having me start watching some Animes with him such as: Bleach, Naruto, One Piece and Death Note back when I was very young.

Watching these Animes started my big interest for Anime which led me towards watching so much Anime I completely ran out of Animes to watch! I also have the same problem with Mangas, Manhwas and Manhuas. I tend to read and watch quite a lot concerning the Japanese culture!

I have social anxiety and thus I had some problems going to school, my attendance rate was quite low but my class seemed to like me and I had some friends in my class. It was the fact that every time I was among a huge group of people it felt as if I didn't matter and was looked down upon, I can't exactly describe the feeling I get when I was in a huge crowd of people. But I can say for sure that I do not feel comfortable at all! I have always been like this ever since childhood and I have never really liked large crowds of people. I still went to school but my attendance was around 65% at the time.

My first crush was actually someone who confessed to me on Facebook, seemingly I didn't believe her as she did it on Facebook and made a public post about it so I went ahead and believed that she lost a bet or something and did this against her will. Later on it turned out she was serious and noticing that I ignored her feelings I started to hate myself a little but after 2 days I started thinking more and more about her, eventually I realised that I had fallen in love with her. The funny thing was I have never actually had an actual conversation with her.. Not even on school and it was really awkward when we got matched up with each other in group projects.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Pretty much just enjoying myself in the present and not paying that much attention to the future. I'm quite a careless guy and I'm aware of the fact that my future is a little grim but as long as I am enjoying my present I don't see the problem with it! My biggest priority is keeping in-touch with my friends and have a social life, I do fail a little with that as I have social anxiety but my friends seem to acknowledge that and they seem to have gotten used to my awkwardness! :P

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? It was definitely the way my friend introduced me to HackForums! He told me about the eBooks, hacking in itself and all of the different kinds of groups! Certain users whom made quite a lot of money and the Owner of the website "Omni". After getting to hear all of this from my friend I immediately grew interested in HackForums and decided to give it a try! What kept me going was that HackForums didn't disappoint me one bit, In-fact it just keeps surprising me and I simply can't grow tired of it!

Anything else you would like to say: Thank you very much for taking the time to read my Application! I am still working on it and reading through it to see if I can make it better.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I am quite good talking to people, both through voice and text.

I know how to use both Photoshop and Sony vegas quite well. Especially when it comes to photo manipulation.

I'm unsure if this can be considered a "skill" but I am very passionate about school, and I have an average grade of 5.6/6.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm mostly active in the lounge, however I help people out whenever I see anyone needs help in other parts of the forum. View new posts is my best friend when it comes to that. :)

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I feel like the Empire is a really good group, built up, and supported by the highest quality members on Hackforums

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I contribute as much as I can to the forum as I can. I feel like this will raise the trust I get from people by a long shot. The people in this group do also seem very intelligent, and nice to talk to about interesting topics.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

If I would need to highlight something about myself would it be that I really enjoy helping other people out. It gives me a warm feeling to my heart. I often help out people both in real life and on HackForums if they are having bad thoughts like taking suicide, or are just sad in general. I try to keep the places I'm being in (Like Hackforums) as happy as possible. If other people are happy, I'm happy!

I'm quite the introvert if I have to say so myself. I don't like clubs, and I only have a couple of friends. However, that's the way I like it. I recharge my "batteries" being alone, on HF and helping people in need out.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

The most important thing to me is that people around is having a good time, or at least not being directly sad. Also, I'm quite the philosophical thinker. I really enjoy sitting down, listening to some classical music while I think about how the space is built up.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I really enjoy the way Hackforums is built up, and the people that are here. Many people here really introduced me to new and fun things, and I have told people about my experiences, and how they may get use of them. I think that the thrill of helping people out, and never knowing what I will be posting on next has held me very close to the community since day one. :)

Anything else you would like to say: Thanks for reading through my whole application, and good luck to everyone else. :)

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

- My main skill is probably marketing, I run one of the biggest Social services shop on the forum at the moment, it is very successful. I invest alot of time and money into it and have marketed it very well, I have been making lots of profit with it recently and I get lots of sales everyday. ?

- I have a broad knowledge of Computer Hardware , I have built many PC's including my own which I was picking the parts for exactly a year ago now! I thought myself everything I know about them because I have a genuine passion for it

- I can do some programming (C.) and flash animation, I recently did a 26 week long course on web desing/Coding/animation/photography/editing. So I am pretty good at all of those things I listed, . I learnt an awful lot from it that I didn't know before. The web design aspect of it is by far my favorite.

- I'm not sure if you this can be counted as a skill, but I guess it is.

I am a pretty good gamer, I play the competitive scene, I played COD4 Promod alot and the deathrun mod. I am pretty skilled at gaming but I mainly do it as a hobby now, to chill out with my friends.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] Which section are you most active in and why?

The market > The Service offering section > Social networking services .

Why? Because I run a very large and successful social services shop there at the moment. I get alot of sales and customers so I am always posting. After that it is probably the lounge because I like to kickback and have a bit of banter! ? although in terms of my post count I post more in the lounge I have more of a presence in the market.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I really like the look of The Empire, I have only seen High quality stuff from it and it looks like a group of talented people all in their own way, since I joined it was always a group I have wanted to join and I believe I can bring more to the group.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I personally feel I should be accepted into The Empire because I believe I can bring alot more to the table, I am a good marketer and I have plenty of other skills.I am a very active user on the forum and I also post alot. I would be honored to represent the Empire group. I have also never had a Scam report or bad reputation at all. Overall I truly feel that I would be an asset to the group. ?

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am a 16 year old teenager from Ireland. I am a very social guy I love to kick back with my friends and chill, just have a good time. I am also a bit of a nerd, lets explain...

It was about 3 Years ago that I got interested in PC's . I took to them quickly and understood them. It all really started with COD4 because some of my friends played it and before I knew it I was playing the competitive scene! I had to build myself a better computer , so I did. I spent about 3 weeks educating myself on everything there was to know about building a computer. One thing led to another and I am now obsessed with anything technical, As stated above I did a course in my collage about Programming/Flash animation/Photography/Editing etc.

I am now the "tech monkey" in my school year ? so whenever something happens I'm the one to fix it for them. All of this combined has shaped me into the person I am now. A bit of a nerd, but not a no-life nerd ,I am a very sociable guy and love going out. I also recently got a job working at Intel Ireland for a while with my uncle, which I am very grateful for.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life are being a successful person, not necessarily money-wise , but in everything.. Pride, Education, grades, learning, socializing etc. The most important thing to me has to be my Family and friends. They are who have made me who I am. And my computer is also very important to me haha. ?

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Well, I first joined to go to the market to buy a cheap copy of BF4 , which I got. After that I just got hooked, I enjoyed every aspect of the forum, I decided I wanted to try and join in and make my mark , so I did. I opened my own shop which has gown nicely and I have made my mark. I cant leave now, I just love it to much. ?

Anything else you would like to say:

Thanks for reading my application , and I hope to hear back from you soon. Have a good evening ?

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: I'm considered by most to be an intellectual, as seen by my positive feedback from my Homework services. I've built a burgeoning relationship with many of my customers and continue to help their grades, whilst receiving a steady income, bolstering my skills in the academia as well as a businessman. My ability to micromanage my 4 AP classes as a sophomore in high school while concurrently being an active HF member, avid Runescape pker, and MLG try hard in halo 3 i think directly show my abilities as a well versed guy. I have a strong interest in video editing, and used to make runescape pk videos. If you would like to see some of these videos, I will post them here, and I can show proof that this is indeed my content. This would probably be the epitome of my videos simply because of the simplicity of the editing and the hits (if Runescape is foreign to you, this might not be the easiest to understand the difficulty in attaining this clips) but nevertheless,

Furthermore, if you go to my channel you can see the various other content that I've produced, primarily Runescape. I'm also a growing artist who likes to draw and sketch things, mainly when I'm high because that's when I'm most creative. My GFX works are abysmal, because I haven't had the time to learn, but with some tools and paper I can create some pretty nice pieces of work. I've designed a few shirts and have a shoe design service in real life. Call me Mr. Entrepreneur.

Which section are you most active in and why? I'm most active in the marketplace, because I'm always trying to flip cryptocurrencies and enjoy seeing the OGs that go for sale and all of that stuff. I also have my own service, so I have to be active in order to retain customers. Next to that I would say that I'm very active in the gaming section, specifically the Halo sub forum. I'm no Walshy, but I'm decent at Halo 3 and love sweating in that game, and the HF community in terms of Halo is solid, so I go there to see what's up from time to time.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I want to join Empire for several reasons. For one, I feel that my ability to be well versed in many areas will bring a diversity to the group. I feel like I have the ability to promulgate knowledge on members, while also gathering information about business and contributing to community events. I would love to make videos for empire video events, I honestly think that would be really fun and cool, and also make videos for empire products for various users, etc.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I think I deserve to be in Empire because I will add quality to the group, and have multiple well versed skills that I would gladly share with members of the group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: I used to be quite a fat kid when I was growing up. The reason I bring this up is because all of this application has been about my abilities, nothing personal. This however, is personal. I was 200 pounds in the 7th grade, and I knew I needed a change. The amount of times I read the "Videogame Diet" and dwelled online for weight loss ideas is beyond me. Eventually, however, through lots of self motivation I was able to get to 140 pounds, lean and clean. Currently I lifting and have a dedicated gym schedule, which makes my schedule even tighter than before. For me to overcome and lose over 60 pounds of fat I feel shows my perseverance; I never give up.

Other than that, I'm an avid gamer and a pretty smart individual if I say so myself. I am quite funny to be around, love competing and love chilling. The best way to get to know me is to talk with me!

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My priorities are primarily in school. Without paying attention in school and working hard now, you're setting yourself up for failure, and so I always take the hardest courses I can manage and try and get a good education, taking advantage of the free shit cuz I'm frugal. After school, my physique is extremely important; probably because I neglected it the first 14 years of my life.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I liked the diversity of all the subforums, etc. I kind of got hooked to the idea of being apart of something bigger. I've learned so much of HackForums, like when I first joined (keep in mind, this is 4 months ago) I had no clue how to even make 5$ (online). I was partnered with someone for a HW service and I started seeing the $$$ roll in so I'm like dayum I'm in.

Anything else you would like to say: I hope I get in.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Good grammar, excellent knowledge of French, English and Dutch, and fairly good knowledge of German, pretty good knowledge of Crypto Currencies, football,...

Which section are you most active in and why?

I guess lounge, though I do post in group subforums and crypto related forums too.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I think it's a group that would suit me excellently and it gives me the opportunity to meet new members and share interests in the subforum as well as give help to the members of the empire that need it, and I really like being in groups.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I've been a member of HF for the past 2 years and I've always stayed loyal all the time. I feel like I can bring a positive influence toward the empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I grew up in quite a wealthy surrounding and country, so I had basically everything you could want (in terms of food and clothing that is) in kindergarten I skipped a class because I was too clever and this is why I have a hard time socializing with other people at school, because frankly, they're just too retarded from me and half of the time they don't get what the fuck I'm talking about or I make a joke that is above their level of humour and they just can't understand. Now my 2 friends from my class both dropped to another class because they were not smart enough to keep doing this.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Definitely family, family always goes first, because they might just be gone the next day and you'll feel bad for not giving them enough attention. I've always had a weak for family, I have amazing grandparents who I can always call and they'll always help me. My grandfather is really clever also and he helps me with any maths problems I have and my other grandfather is really kind and social and he always ensures a good laugh, he has quite some trouble using computers though so I have to help him with that but I don't mind spending some time with my grandfather.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

The members on here, lately it's been going pretty bad though because the amount of trolls on the forums these days is not even normal anymore, I mean there's at least 1 troll thread a day and sometimes it gets really annoying but it's good for a laugh sometimes too.

Anything else you would like to say:

I'd love to be a part of the Empire. There has been put a lot of preparation in this application and I can certainly say I really did my best on this application. Alwell the more I do these kinds of things the easier it'll be for me to write a curriculum vitae.

This has been Fatboy Slim.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Information Gathering: Spending time gathering allot of information on the target or even befriending them if it becomes necessary.

Python3: Still learning python at the moment but have a good understanding

Reverse Engineering: Just basic reverse engineering like: Ioncube 8.x and my friend created a program that can deobfuscate ZKM and Allatori(works rather well)

Risk Assesment: I've done a risk assesment course IRL and it comes in handy doing certain projects online.

SQL injection: Just basic sql injection but tbh i would rather use sqlmap and dump everything then manually do it since what is the point? why not run instead of crawl?

XSS: Well i don't really count that a skill but it comes in handy with XCS XCS: Creating databases with cross site scripting names or creating files with xss names and then waiting for the admin to go check his database/phpmyadmin) or admin to go check file uploads.

RCE: Wouldn't really count it as a skill since's well ITS LIKE A GOD DAMN TERMINAL

LFI: Yeah not hard to do at all just have to either have a FPD or just do it blindly

RFI:...yeah the easiest thing in the world seriously

Cracking programs: ie: Metasploit, SAINT Security Suite etc not hard at all Perseverance: ie: Not giving up and continuing on a project(I've had a site that would go up and down while i was trying to do blind sql injection, it took months but i finally got what i needed)

Advanced Linux Knowledge: I have been working with Linux for a long time and know exactly how to use what i need and I prefer: DEBIAN

Metasploit: I know how to success fully use metasploit to the fullest extent without going all hailmary on a site/computer

Nmap: I use nmap daily and it is by far one of my favourite tools i have ever used by far, i constantly scan different parts of the internet just to see what is open

Which section are you most active in and why?

Currently I am most active in the Pentesting and Forensic Section.

Because its nice to either help people or let out steam by yelling at dumbasses posting in the wrong section

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Actually I am not sure, it seems like a nice group.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I don't see why i should or should not as that is ultimately your choice either way.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

A few years ago i developed agoraphobia and could not leave the house.

All I had was my computer and the internet(8kbp/s internet).

I would spend months downloading games and movies.

Then i got infected.

It was so new and scary i remember thinking my friend was a badass for being ddosed.

I pretty much vowed to get back at him but he went off the grid when he saw i was being serious.

I was doxed, harassed, and got threatened to be swatted(I said good luck since they had the wrong address and in Australia a swat team doesn't come smashing down your door)

I got put on medication which didn't help

It took 2 years to fully get out of my agoraphobia.

But when it was all over i went out and got my year 10 certificate and then spent the rest of my time back where i felt at home, my computer.

I weigh around 50kg and I am average height, i have high metabolizim so i can eat and eat then shit it all out without gaining a pound.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities: Family > Pets > Knowledge > Computer > Sleep

Family will be their for you forever even if they are not physically infront of you

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Well I joined just to see what is was.

Then i got infected by a user named: MineCrack

I swore i would never be so dumb and started learning.

And it has become an addiction to learn new things related to computers and/or hacking
Anything else you would like to say:

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I have a variety of skills. And it's not just hacking, cracking, ect. But when it comes to any sort of "hacking" skills, site cracking is where most of those skills lie. I also have a great why of finding exploits to other things. Which explains a lot of my sales threads. I also have skills in helping & mentoring people. I'm known to be a great person on this forum. I've never judged anyone & I can honestly consider myself a great person that this forum is grateful to have. Twitter is also a place where I have a lot of knowledge. I own over 30 accounts which all have a total of 4mill+ followers. I've use that to help members on here grow their accounts.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Marketplace. HackForums is where I make most of my money besides my full-time job. I also spend most of my time here in The Lounge, Innuendo, & Health. I like to hear about people's problems & questions & try to answer and help them as much as I can.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

The Empire seems like one of the few serious groups on here. Every member that I've dealt with from The Empire seems to be the most mature & professional people here on the forum.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel like I deserve to be accepted into this group because of all the good I've brought to this forum. I consider myself an extremely mature member & The Empire is full of members like myself. But of course, anyone can say that. Feel free to explore my threads & see for yourselves! :)

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I consider myself a good person. I've had a lot happen to me recently though.

Last year in October my stepdad passed away. Me & him didn't really get a long, but it was still a big hit on me since I had to step up & be the man of the house. 2 months later, my girlfriend broke up with me right before Christmas. That hit me the hardest. Being the man of the house, paying bills, taking care of my mom & younger brothers, has been extremely difficult. It's been 6 months since my & my girlfriend broke up. It was because of distance issues. She lives 2 hours away. Yet I still drove every weekend to see her. Don't get me wrong, we had an amazing relationship. To this day she still tells her family that she loves me & thinks about me all the time. And I feel the same exact way. We both still love each other but she assumes it just won't work.

In the beginning of this year, I wanted to join the USMC. Not just for myself, but to be able to support my family in the future a lot more than I can right now. But that didn't happen because of my heart condition.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Family. Family is my ONLY priority in life. That's the reason I work, that's the reason I do what I have to do to make money.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

This forum has given me hundreds of opportunities to make money & learn. I used to only stay in the Marketplace section, but after checking out other sections I realized that this forum has much more to offer than just physical things.

Anything else you would like to say:

I appreciate the chance you are giving me to join. I really hope you guys consider me & I can honestly say that I enjoyed the time filling out this application :)

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I guess I'm kind of good at minecraft.. Occasionally do a few things regarding RAtIng, but it isn't exactly my main cup o' tea, as I don't tend to like illegal activities. I am also a pro at using spell check.. ?

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am mainly active in the lounge, as I enjoy chilling out and such.. I do also go around helping members around the RAtIng section and a few other sections, but generally I stick to the lounge.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

By being in the Empire, I would be able to become more into the community, get to become friends with some other active members of the community, and just get more 'connections' in the community.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

Honestly, I don't believe I deserve to be into the Empire. Really, who deserves anything really? From a religious standpoint, no one deserves anything and we should remain humble and simply respect others.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I have grown up in what many would consider "the hood." Due to this, I have gone to the computer as a "safe haven" so to speak.. A place where I could get away from all of the hate and shit that goes on around me irl, and let me be who I want to be around people that aren't simply going to just shoot me down because they're just looking for their next buzz or their next high. I used to live in a fairly nice neighborhood, but my dad formed parkinson's disease, which caused him to lose his job as a truck driver, simply because he couldn't drive such large distances with all the physical and mental damage it was causing him.. The person we purchased our old home from ended because someone involved in fraud, who pretty much fucked us over and ran off with our money while leaving a bank wanting their shit back, which resulted in us getting foreclosed and looking for a cheap home in the city, since after that, all our income was from my mother as a cashier at Family Dollar.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Things that are important to me in life would be my family in friends. Next would come school and my educational life. After that, I would put my computer and all of my digital belongings.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

What caused me to stay would probably be some of the members sense of humor... Members like RedSpyGentleman who is kind, yet mean at the same time.. And members that I believe would be able to help me with projects that I may choice to have or pursue.

Anything else you would like to say:

I don't know why all I would say.. I have already stated much of my history and who I am.. Really, I am just a kid who would like to learn and get to know members of the community so that I may hopefully get some long lasting friendships in the community.

Some very nice applications, I can see a large number of members being accepted this recruitment.

Edit: Maybe if Tom is kind enough, he can add this to the OP.

Since the recruitment is about half way through, if anyone wants to contact me about reviewing their application, I will do that. My review comes just from reading your application, and from my opinion and experience within the group. I can not tell you whether or not you'll get accepted, nor am I involved in the process of officially reviewing/accepting applications, I'm just a member looking to help some people out. Thanks!

It's been over four years now since I have been reading the threads and I have learned a big sum of information from this site well enough to port forward, set up your rat, spreading your rat, and lastly crypting the rat. I have enough experience to help members out with most of the problems I see on the forum!

GamingI'm a very active gamer and play Xbox360, Xboxone, Runescape.

Since my early Childhood I have been a gamer and I wouldn't change that for the world.

MarketingI've ran several successful Ebooks on Hack Forums during my stay here as well.

MonetizingI Receive a good amount of Money from my online earnings! I usually Use CPA, PPD, Ebay, and HackForums to produce my online earnings.

E-WhoringMy experience is more then enough to help any member out with making money!

I'd also like to get out before you deny my application just for being a new member here I'd suggest you to read through it dearly because I will not fail to surprise you as a new member.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

First of all I would like to start off I have very many skills from communicating with others, leading all the way to competing. I'm a very out spoken person, and I believe I can do almost anything don't get me wrong I'm very confident about myself. I've had a few other skills in the past from Java through HTML. Lately I've been working on Graphic Designing simply because many people are making a very good amount of money off of it so I might as well try it, and who knows? You might need it in the future. Below you can find a list of skills that I've held in the past years.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I recently joined and you can't get me wrong but most likely I'm willing to stick around in the coding tabs and The Lounge section. Simply coding because I've been coding for around 2 years, so I thought I might spread my experience around the forums, and most likely open up a small business on HF. On the other hand The Lounge never fails to make me laugh from all of the stupidity or even funny media that is posted in that forum. I suggest that anybody that is having an bad day check out that section, as once again it never fails to make me laugh.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Please before you deny me for just joining the forum I suggest you to read throughout this whole application, I promise you I will make you feel like I've been a member here for around 3 years. Simply I'd like to join The Empire due to the group quality and what not. This group doesn't fail to deliver it's high quality members around the forum. As stated above I wish to help members on this website, and most likely start my own business. Well I would like to join The Empire so I can be in this group with all of the members as I grow into a trusted member on HF. I would like to start out good on here, and never stop going forward. This group has much potential in the future, and I would be proud to be apart of it. Just because I only have a few posts doesn't mean I should be denied ... I've been staff on many forums before, and or in groups I know what I'm doing and I never fail to let everyone know that. I get along with people very well, and think I could bring great success to The Empire with my skills.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I could bring much help into the group, with my skill set. One of my most valued skills is communication I never fail to get along with someone unless they're just ignorant to me. I am %100 never mean to anyone or do I insult anyone, which is a great factor in The Empire. I know I'm a new member of HF and most new members are pretty much brain washed and just wanting to join the forums for leaks and what not. I'm here to grow into a better person, learn different things, make good friends. This is probably the only group I'll ever apply for since it caught my eye.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I grew up in a regular household with a good family, I've been an only child for a while now and like it. I wouldn't have a problem with having a little brother but soon I'll be moving out and going to college. I have a great life, and wish some other people that go through a lot could have the life I have. I love my parents, and pretty much everyone. I never fail to make anyone mad unless they don't comprehend with me. I've been successful throughout my life, yes of course I've had my ups & downs just like everyone else, but you just have to remember to keep moving on.

I play many sports and one of my main sports is football. I've been playing football my whole life, and I would like to stick with it I've tried almost every sport but football never fails on me. I'm pretty well known around my county for my skills in football or just getting around and making everyone happy. I have many friends and like I said I live a good life wishing everyone could see how I live.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I'd say the most important thing to me is my family/friends. I mean sometimes you'll run into friends that aren't actually friends but you have to face the fact that if they don't like you, then that's that. They don't know what they're missing out on. My family is the one who raised me, and I'm very proud of them doing that or else I wouldn't be here right now. I tend to help everyone I can to live a better life.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?
Most likely the members, I've met around 15 members already and have talked to them on skype and most of them seem friendly. I mean yeah I'm going to come across a road in the future and might go down, but I'll always be able to get back up and keep on moving. This community has much potential and is growing every second so why not be apart of it?

Anything else you would like to say:

That is all pretty much, please I hope you read through this application and if you need any other information about me don't hesitate to contact me via PM!

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:I have great knowledge of the top 2 mobile operating systems, iOS and Android. With the mobile market growing each and every year knowledge of these to the level I have is really a good thing to have. I do also have what I'd say is a reasonably good knowledge of computer hardware and building PCs, I've never personally built one but I'd like to think I could. Most of that I've learnt through the subreddit /r/BuildAPC. Although Android is something that is very specific to each device and thus it is hard to have proof without posting half of my post history, there are a few main examples I can think of.

Examples:[\[Nexus\] How to Unlock Bootloader, Install a Custom Recovery and Root](#) by On?x
[\[The Empire\] How To Install ADB and Fastboot The Easy Way!](#) by On?x

I am listed as an Android Expert in Rooting, Modding, Apps, ROMs; The Basics of Android by Abel

I am a Writer for the HF News Mobile News section

36% of my post activity is in the Android Operating System subforum Which section are you most active in and why?My top 5 subforums for activity are:Android Operating System

The Empire

The Lounge

Computer Overclocking, Customising and Hardware

I'm active in the Android, iOS and COCH sections simply because I really do enjoy learning about technology and helping others enjoy it too. I was active in The Empire subforum because the community in this group is amazing and I really regret letting myself get kicked. I'm active in The Lounge because it's relaxed and somewhere to get a laugh, also because sometimes things from my other top subforums are posted there instead and I wouldn't want to miss them. Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:This was the first group I ever joined and I think for a while it was actually the reason I stayed on HF. It was a great way to talk to a group of like minded individuals and seems to still be that way. I wish I was never kicked in the first place. Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:The skills I have are possessed by very few people on here, we all know who they are. People who have such a particular and sought after set of skills really add quality to online communities like this and I think me being in the group would simply allow you to add another high quality member to your current list. Also, I guess I chat a lot and The Empire is really good for that and people seem to at least not hate me. In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:So who am I? I am a kid living in Scotland who plays Rugby, a little bit of Cricket, and does quite a lot of Cycling. I go to an Independent all boys school. I studied English, Physics, Computing, Maths and Geography this past year at school all at Higher level. Next year I hope to take Adv. Higher Physics and Maths (Mechanics) and also do a Crash Higher in Business Management; that all may change depending on my results this year though, I might do Adv. Higher Computing if things change. Not sure what to say about something memorable that happened in my life since anything that is significantly memorable is not appropriate for here... Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?Family (Well, most of it, most of the time), Fun and Friends. What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?After joining there was about a year where I had almost no posts, it wasn't until more of my friends started being active that I started being active. Once I had found where I wanted to reside (Android section) it kept me interested for a while but recently this group actually kept me here. Anything else you would like to say:As suggested, I'll also be making a video or soundcloud clip for this application. I won't just read it like a script either, that'd be pointless and boring. Lastly, whoever formatted this app needs to not be a noob next time and do it properly... I can tell it wasn't Adam who made this or he'd have spent 100 hours adding countless list tags.

I have also posted a few exploits and I was the first to publicly release a drop hack which still works today, I am also an Ex-Mod for Bot Of Legends so I tend to help people set up BoL if they need it.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I think it's a group that would suit me excellently, it gives me the opportunity to meet new members and share interests in the sub forum. Looks like a great group in general and I have heard some great things about the group. Not to mention the amazing looking user bar :heart:

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I think I would be a good member to have around, I am HQ and I think I would be perfect.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Bit of a memorable experience, so while I was living in Mallorca we owned a business a café to be precise, and there was a set of terracotta stairs which led to the basement, everyday I would jump off the top of the stairs and grab the ledge, but one day the day before we broke up for our 3 month summer holidays I went to jump and I grabbed it but then I slipped, my head smashed against the ground and blood was pouring out of my ear, (I was not conscious at this time so im just quoting my mum), I will end this story for now but TL;DR I could not go in the sea for 3+ months due to the bone healing behind my ear so my holiday was pretty crappy :D

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Enjoying life which may end soon due to WW3 :O

Gender: Male

Religion: None

State/Country: TN, USA

Time Zone: Central USA/Canada

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: RATting, eWhoring, Hardware, and I'm pretty good at photo manipulation.

Which section are you most active in and why? I don't know which I am most active in, I post in a lot of different sections because I mainly look at the "New Posts" page and post in any thread I find interesting or that I could help someone in.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I want to join Empire because I have never been in a group before and want to see what it's like. i have heard good things about Empire also.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I believe I should be accepted in Empire because I am a dedicated user of HackForums and I contribute to the community as much as I can and it would be nice to have a second community to be a part of.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: I am Evanescence, I'm a 16 year old guy. Something memorable that happened in my life is on September 16th, 2011 I started dating my girlfriend, who I love a lot and I am still with her to this day. I am a bit of an introvert but once I get to know people I can be very open with them.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Most important to me are my family and friends, without them I would be very lonely and be bored all of the time.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I found HackForums while googling something, I forgot what it was that I googled, but whatever it was I guess a member of the HackForums community had a good answer for me or helped me a lot, so I stayed for a bit longer and learned that HackForums was full of these kinds of people and that I wanted to learn a lot about technology and computers.

Anything else you would like to say: I would like to say that I am very grateful to the HackForums community for helping me and chatting with me these last couple years, thanks everyone!

Mostly inside groups and Wifi-hacking. Sometimes i help inside the Pentesting forum

Except my hacking skill Im a good listener and a good friend, and will give some good advice when i see that ppl need them.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Well to be honest, i want to rejoin again. I have been one of you guys but at the time i didn't have the time to in to many groups. Well time has changed. a lot of my HF friends are inside the Empire aswell.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

Well. I do hope i can provide something to the group, and especially when i got time, and that's why im applying again.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

1) Well Im married, got 2 beautiful kids and I live in the southern part of Sweden, however I lost my first born daughter, only an hour old.

2)I love BBQ and an ice cold beer. the next best ting is to spend time with my friends

3)I left my last job cos the boss was a enormous bastard

4) ^ above was a mistake, i changed job from first and second level support in a Swedish ISP in to do logging in forest.. Im stronger than ever and more fit than ever, but im bored as hell and want back :/

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Family always comes first. That's the most important thing in the world, second friends and then HF

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Well It was s shitty thing. Somebody i dont wish to call a friend nowadays infected me with a keylogger and i wanted to know more. after that i forgot about the site until i was searching the net on a way to hack a Sip account (IP-telephony) and after that i was stuck here. The more you talked to the ppl, the more fascinated i got in the site

Which section are you most active in and why?

I try to be active in The Lounge and meet new people, but I find myself browsing the "News and Happenings" section a lot recently as I like to stay informed about what's going on around the world as well as to see what other members of the community think.

If you look at my post activity though, you will see I am almost everywhere.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

The Empire is one of the most renowned groups on HF that I see everywhere.

The member base is fairly sized and I can see myself becoming a part of the group and making some new friends here.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel as though I should be accepted because I spend a lot of time here, I love to learn new things and I love to teach other people new things.

Overall, I feel I could be a great contribution to The Empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

My real name is Jay and I'm currently a Biochemistry major at a large University. I absolutely love my life and everything that I am working for.

I graduated HS with high honors and a 4.15 GPA. I took 8 AP classes and passed all of my AP Tests. (HS Transcripts as well as AP Score transcripts are available upon request).

I am now on a full ride at the college of my dreams and I have high hopes of one day becoming a Cardiothoracic Surgeon.

All of my life I have always wanted to help people and as my father is a surgeon as well, it's only right that I follow in his foot steps.

I don't know what else you want me to say about myself, but when I'm not studying, I spend a lot of time here.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Finishing college with an acceptable GPA and getting accepted into Medical School is definitely my number one priority right now.

I love HF and having fun, but I love what I do even more.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I remember when I very first joined, I began (like every other skid) exploring the RAT and SST sections.

Amazed by both, I began to dig deeper until I finally broke out of my skid bubble and was able to see how amazing this forum really is.

I began to study Java other incredibly useful ideas that are all over HF.

Which section are you most active in and why? Online Accounts, as I am greatly interested in overpriced usernames.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular? The name is pretty fuckin' cool. Also, the members that I have seen are friendly and High Quality users.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I believe I am a High Quality user that does not represent the lower classed part of HackForums, and would continue as well as aid in the high quality picture of The Empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: I am Tutorial. Originally I had joined HackForums because I believed that I would immediately become someone that could take down Google with a single command, but quickly, after being online anytime that I wasn't at school, I realized that there are plenty of things that I could learn from other users in this community. I began to go through every subforum to help better understand what the term "hacking" meant. I have made a list of what I wanted to learn, in order, as I want to have a career that has to do with computing.

As for my offline life, I am any normal teenager. I am in advanced classes in school, I play percussion in my school band, and I have a girlfriend. I am not one of the extremely popular jocks or theater kids, but I am somewhat known in my school. If you wish to inquire more into my offline life, I will be glad to provide more information to anyone that is reviewing these applications, as I have no desire to put my entire life story online publicly.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My priorities are to further better myself as a person, and to make sure that when I pass on, I will be known for something.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I have remained part of the community because a lot of the members here are very friendly and generally brighten my day.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: RATs, Java, Botnets, Forensics little Pentesting, and a little SQLI.

Which section are you most active in and why? This is important as we will have specific sections of the group based on member interests. League of Legends, Remote administration tools, Botnets, and White Hat Help (I don't post too much as I am more learning and just browse it).

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: Well, I feel like The Empire is a tight pack and everyone is treated like a family in The Empire. Also, The Empire has some very respectable and great users.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: Well, I think I could help other members out tremendously. I can create tutorials/guides and give back. Also, I would love to help out as much as I can.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Well, to start off with I am a sophomore in Highschool. I am 16 years old and I play Football and wrestle for my highschool. I am on Varsity for both. I am also in all AP classes. I care about School a LOT. I want to go to college and then move onto med school to become an anesthesiologist. I wanted to become an anesthesiologist when I first found out what they were when I was in surgery a few years ago. I thought it was really interesting. It was so fascinating how they put you to sleep and what not.

Well, I have always been into sports and learning. When I was little I asked so many questions. I have always loved to learn new things and that's why I joined HF. HF changed my life and I have met so many people on here. All those members I have met and kept a strong friend relationship with are really good people. They have taught me things and I have taught them things. I haven't gotten close to a lot of people on HF but the ones I have I think we will be friends for a long time to come. A lot of my IRL friends have also taught me a lot of things in life and shaped me. I think if I had a different group of friends I would be internally different. I also think my family shaped me. I have learned so much from my family. They have pushed me to my potential and that has helped in a lot of my success.

Well, I have gone through a lot of hard things in life but I have pushed through them and they have made me a lot tougher and have taught my numerous amounts of lessons. I have gone through a lot of bad events but I think every bad event that happens you just got to put your head up and think of the good things. I haven't been dealt the best hand in life but I have learned to make due with it and turn it into something great. I have pushed through a lot of things and will continue to. I am not someone to give up or quit. I will keep pushing and coming back until I succeed.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Family, Sports, Friends, and School. I put Family before everything else.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Well, I think it was Knowledge. This forum is filled with it. Every subforum you go in you learn more and more. Everyday I would hop on HF and just browse learning all sorts of things. I have learned things from Botnets to how to make graphics. I love Hackforums and I still learn everyday.

Overdose - July 18, 2014, 11:34 pm

Name: Brian

Age: 17

Gender: Male

Religion: Coptic Orthodox

State/Country: South Carolina, USA

Time Zone: EST

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I am amazing with RAT's. I am also very skilled in port forwarding most routers. I have basic social engineering skills, not to the point where I can earn myself free stuff, but to the point where I can get people to believe what I would like them to believe. I am a Ratter for the most part. I can set up any rat, port forward almost any router, and drive by's and all that good stuff.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm mostly active in the lounge and in the remote administration tool's section. I like the lounge because I can actually connect with everyday people like myself and see what they are going through and give my feedback and maybe even possibly help them out with their work..job..life..anything I can do. I am active in the Remote Administration Tool section because I just like helping people out. It's just something I like doing...helping. I remember when I first joined that no one would really help me out, so as I advanced in my knowledge and skills, I would help out the other members that were in the same position as me when I first joined. Just helping people makes me happy.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I've seen a lot of members of Empire around, and every member I have seen has been very helpful, and very high quality. Both in the way that they talk to the other members, as well as their services around HF.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel like I can bring a lot to Empire. I offer RAT services, as well as port forwarding, and I just help people out in anyway that i possibly can. That's my joy and my purpose in this forum, is to help people and give them what they need.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Let's see..where do I begin? I'm a kid that has moved from jersey, to charlotte, to south carolina, where I am now. A lot has happened in my life that makes me realize what I need to do in order to keep my life in check. I have met a lot of friends, and I have lost a lot of friends. I have learned life lessons that will guide me through out the rest of my life. I learned that you will never actually learn until you actually experience it.

I have learned that the less people you talk to, the less problems you will have. I have learned that most people really could care less about you. At the end of the day, all you have is yourself. These lessons and experiences have molded me to become who I am today. Who am I today exactly? I'm a 17 year old, going into college, who isn't really open to anyone else, due to the loss of friends and the amount of backstabbing that has been done to me.

I find myself somewhat humorous, easy to get along with, and just an outgoing person in general, once you actually get to know me of course. I just don't like being the same as everyone else, that's boring. Life is a lot more entertaining and fun when you are different. I change more and more as time goes by, learning more life lessons, and meeting new people. This is who I am as of today.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life lie on to three things. My family, my friends, and myself. My family is probably the most important to me because I know that without them I wouldn't be half the person I was today. And I am glad to say that they have been there for me no matter what. No matter what happens to you in your social life, They will always be there for you.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Just the environment in itself, the variety of people that you get. You can't really find that anywhere else to be honest, this forum is very unique. From the topics and sub forums, all the way to the people. You got the white hats, ones that are %100 for security of the computer, while you have the blackhats. Just a mixed variety of these people...I feel like I belong here. I love it.

Anything else you would like to say:

Honestly, I hope to get into the Empire. It would be a huge honor for me, to be known as a HQ and very helpful member of HF. I wouldn't have it any other way. I feel like I belong in this group, it seems right for me. Thank you for giving me this opportunity to become a member of this amazing group. ? ?

Name: Gt403cyl

Gender: Guy

Religion: I am not religious

State/Country: Canada

Time Zone: EST – Eastern Standard Time -5:00 GMT

Skills: My main skills in relation to technology would be problem solving along side logical thinking. Generally If I don't know the solution to a problem I can usually research and implement the solution fairly quickly, this is providing I am unable to find my own solution.

Other Skills include: c# Programming

White Hat Computer Cleanup / Malicious File Removal

RAT Setup

Willingness to learn

My most active section: I am most active (as of this post) in "Beginner Hacking" the reason I have many posts in this section is that I enjoy helping others whenever I can.

Reasons I want to join The Empire: I believe I can be a helpful and productive member in the group. I have been a member on the forums for some time now and would like to be a part of a tight community within the Hackforums.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I Personally don't believe anyone deserves to join any group. I beleive if the individual is found as acceptable then they should be offered the membership. As for why should I be accepted, that's for the group to decide.

About Me: I am likely a fair bit older than most of the applicants at 31 years of age but this allows me to bring more life experience and maturity to the group.

I started working with computers back when x386 processors were still new and my Father bought a new PC for the family, he started out very strict about how long we could be on it and the internet was only to be used for homework, nothing more. After some time passed he bought a new PC, a 486 DX66 and handed me the older 386, since then I have been "playing around" with computers and electronics in general.

The most memorable moment I had was when I had my parents friends bringing over their PCs to our house so I could do the maintenance, malicious software removal and/or repairs when I was a young teen.

Aside from working on computers, I also enjoy working on cars (Classic Muscle preferred), listening to music is something I can't go without from the time I wake up to the time I go to bed I have some form of music going to break the silence.

My Priorities in life: My Priorities are: Taking care of my son and family
Working hard at my career
Helping others

What made me stay active on Hackforums: Well to be completely honest I was a lurker for the first while, I would read a lot, learn about different topics and once I started to offer advice I found I had a lot to offer the community so here I am.

In Closing: I just want to say I appreciate you taking the time to review my application and await your response.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I honestly can say that I don't have set "skills" that I recognize, but I have knowledge of a broad range of topics ranging from computing to gaming. This is something I just recently realized about myself; I don't commit enough to hobbies. From musical instruments to networking I'll often dedicate a lot of time to the subject but soon after quit and never seem to touch it again. I've been trying to fix this problem ever since I actually acknowledged that it was becoming a serious issue for me. Web development and web design sparked my interest a few months ago and I've been actively pursuing courses online (Udemy (warez disallowed) is my main site), following blogs, and speaking to other developers to actually pick up these skills to remember and use rather than setting down and forgetting. Crypto currency fundamentals and trading strategies, Minecraft server management and advertisement, web development, and computing are all topics I would consider my "skills". As stated earlier, my skill sets were never up to par since I'd previously give up, but now that I've changed my ways I can actually post valuable information such as my thread, Web Design +

Development | Resources & Repositories by Mittens which was a result from my recent attachment to web design. I jump around a lot in my interests, two years ago graphic design was all I could think about but now I barely open up Photoshop. I honestly wish I could say that I could program this, make this, design this, hack this, but I'd be lying. My "skills" are definitely not to the extent of other members on this site but I try to learn and teach what I can.

Which section are you most active in and why?

According to my Member Post Activity it's The Lounge, but I would consider my second top section, Crypto Currency to currently be my most active section. The latter ties strongly with my explanation behind the What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? question. Crypto currencies are something I could babble on about for hours given the opportunity, and the wide spectrum of knowledge is what I love to spread. Investment tips, mining configurations, general knowledge surrounding Bitcoin, currency exchanging and overall help are my strong points on contributions to both the Crypto Currency and lesser the Currency Exchange section. Following the auction of my Minecraft server I'm not too involved with the game or community management as I used to be, but there's still a plethora of information I have learned from the three years of playing it that I pass on to others in the Minecraft or Minecraft Server Management sections.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Being accepted into The Empire in particular would be a pretty big achievement for me personally. Since I have become active again I found it difficult to find friends. After joining Instinct and Infamous I met so many new people with both Skype and Teamspeak that I know wouldn't have been possible without the groups. The only problem with that statement is that I bought into both Instinct and Infamous. Being accepted in a group from a proper application would make me feel like I'm actually doing something right on this forum and have learned a thing or two. The Empire is one of the few semi-large groups that isn't using "sectors", "teams" or buy-ins to recruit new members and I enjoy that about it; the group feels more prestigious to be invited in. There are few groups that don't have an outrageous fee or have recruitment currently open and they're the ones that will survive from the community within the group, not the monetary profit from buy-ins or fees.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

Albeit the 60+ posts per month of the account's age guideline doesn't exactly fit with my registration date, I fit the remaining requirements perfectly. The group description reads, The Empire is a group of dedicated individuals that will share knowledge within our private sub-forum on a variety of subjects and that's something I've already been attempting to do; pass my advice and knowledge down to other people who need it. I can't speak on what the group forum consists of, but I am positive there would be ample room for me to educate or spark discussion in. With only 66 members, being invited to join The Empire is one thing. Actually living to the standards and setting a prime example of a group member is another that I feel I can accurately do.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

About 1½ years ago I was unexpectedly diagnosed with scoliosis and was admitted to surgery for correction the first week of July, 2013; just about one year ago. Although this wasn't a life threatening illness, I struggled from back pain daily on top of uneven shoulders. Along with scoliosis, I have a slight, but noticeable, case of pectus excavatum. The surgery ultimately changed my life. Prior to the operation I was already underweight, but after leaving the hospital I became severely underweight. After a few weeks of recovery before I could stably walk again I knew I needed to gain weight but I didn't know how to do so safely. Forums and websites along with a few books about nutrition and bodybuilding left me with all the needed information to gain both my weight back along with a nice physique. It wasn't until months after the surgery I could actually lift, but when I started I didn't stop. My bodybuilding experience this past year not only gained back the much needed weight, it provided me insight on how important nutrition and overall health of your body is.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

A brief synopsis of my priorities looks something like this:

Education / Career

Health

Relationships

Of course I could have continued on with the list and include other priorities but these are the top three I feel are most important in order. This image sums up my stance on life priorities; you can't try to attempt more than what's safe for you. Education is key to success, that's quite an agreeable statement and I put it over everything in my way for, you guessed it, my career. My health is also not something I lay aside, I'm conscious about nutritional and physical choices I make to keep myself fit. It's been procedure for me for a little under a year to lift at least five times a week and it's done nothing but make myself feeling happy and healthy. Arguably, many people would rank "family / friends" or even God as their first priority in life but I put it at the bottom. Teenage years and especially the decade or so after are extremely important times in your life where the decisions you make then ultimately shape your future. Good study habits and proper education (#1 and #2 on my list) are routines you want to get engraved in your head young so it will stick with the remainder of your life. Don't get me wrong, relationships are definitely important to me but education and health are ranked such higher when younger.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

My original reason for joining was to buy/sell Xbox gamertags by recommendation of Soulmate who ensured me that the market was at it's prime and money was to be made. That's unfortunately all I did back in late 2011, buy and sale gamertags only. After I sold my remaining tags I had, I felt no need to continue being active on the site since I both didn't like any of the gamertags being sold after many were getting banned and I didn't establish any relationships with Hackforums members during my early days. It wasn't until I came back to this site in early 2014 with interest in Minecraft server management and crypto currencies that I decided to actually understand what it's like to be a part of the community here. I've been on numerous forums in my early teens but I had nothing to contribute to them and the majority of them were strictly discussion forums. Coming back to this site with more knowledge than just gamertags really changed my entire outlook on why people post on forums in the first place. Throughout the time I was inactive I became heavily involved with crypto currencies and followed subreddits devoted to them for months (and I still do) learning about the fundamentals behind the code itself and picking up trading techniques from livestreams. My knowledge payed off and I was soon actually making money from trading numerous alt-coins which led me to my involvement in Minecraft servers. I co-owned an extremely successful and profitable server that was topping voting sites in under four months until recently selling it for personal reasons. Personal connections and advertisement techniques were the most valuable information I walked away with from my experience and I attempt to help other servers I see fit with them.

Anything else you would like to say:

I appreciate your time and consideration by reading my application, it means quite a lot.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Money making - I have made £3k+ online using various techniques and I'm keen to build up these skills more and to then teach others once I believe I'm knowledgeable enough to do so.

Writing - I feel I'm a good writer and I would be able to contribute towards writing a group news (if one is currently running, if not I could perhaps look into making a new one.

RATs/keyloggers - Decent knowledge and could offer some assistance if required.

Gaming - I have a PS3 and I love playing Modern Warfare 2, even if it is considered 'old' now. ?

Which section are you most active in and why?

Probably the lounge, I like to feel a part of a community getting to know people as individuals, I feel the lounge is chilled and laid back enough for this to be done with ease. I also like to visit other sections that I feel I can help with, especially the eWhoring and RAT section.

A Little About Myself

My name's Sam, I'm from the UK and I'm 18 years old. I'm currently in full time employment and I am moving into my own flat next month! This means I should hopefully be more active on HF. I am currently saving up money as I'm trying to create my own product and bring it out to shops accross the UK, but in order to do that I will need to have lots of money saved. I feel I am quite entrepreneurial and I think this is also another of my strengths.

I feel I am an approachable guy, and will always be there if anybody has any problems or needs any advice.

I was a very active member of Empire when it started, I loved the group and I think Tibit is a great guy. I was removed from a group due to a problem with another member, which I always felt was unlucky on my behalf. However, I wish to come back and contribute again to the group. Also I wish to get the chance to communicate with the old members, as well as getting to know as many of the new ones as possible!

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: One of my major skills would defiantly be software debugging, most people in my life come to me for any issue they have pertaining to software, which not is this only a skill, it's also a hobby as I quite enjoy doing this. I usually help them with normal everyday problems such as Internet Debugging, finding out why a piece of software isn't working the way it should do and several other things, I'm quite well known in my local community for doing this also.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I would say that my most active section would be the Marketplace and Hacking sections right now, For the marketplace I'm usually around there to help answer questions that I might have some knowledge about, as for the Hacking section, I'm usually around there in the E-whoring section as I find it quite funny to see how it goes, and receiving money for something I enjoy doing is a dream worth chasing in my eyes.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I've seen how Empire users act and it's like your involved in a family, I'd love to be in the Empire surrounded by other users who have interests which are somewhat the same as mine. It would also be something like a support circle to fall back on if I ever needed help with something that I was doing.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel that I should be accepted to the Empire because I'm overall a friendly person and I won't do anything to harm anyone unless you do something either extremely bad to someone or myself. I also feel that I'm reliable, kind and generous. Three qualities that I feel are crucial to anyone to be accepted into a group such as the Empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

It all started when I was relatively young, I was going into an operation. I asked my parents what was going on and they refused to say in case it worried me, before I was put under, I asked whether I'm going in for an operation (because we were walking there) and my mum said no. However I then discovered that it was in fact an operation. At the time, I was confused and I didn't understand what was happening until the operation was complete and the surgeon told me what happened, but because of his accent and me being young and all, I couldn't understand him so I just went along with it.

It got me slightly mad looking back at it now, as those words have bound themselves to my head since, and at around the age of 12 I decided to become more self-independent, with only me to rely on. This did cause a few struggles in my life but everyone has them I guess. Since then, I've become more disciplined, mature whilst not losing any of my personality characteristics. These characteristics and the self-independence has made me who I am today and I haven't regretted the decision to do this once.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Currently, exams. However my other priorities include my volunteer work at a local youth club, which helps look after children on Thursday's which I quite enjoy doing. However, the things most important to me are, exactly in this order, family, exams and friends.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I decided to stay at HackForums because of the community. Everyone was so kind to one another when I joined and I decided that instead of just registering to get the stuff that I needed and get out, I should try and get involved within the community. So I did and this is where I am today.

Anything else you would like to say: I would like to thank you for your time and have a great day!

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: My best skill would be people skills, I could communicate with people really well and I put a lot of effort into helping people. I'm also pretty good with computers (repair, malware, etc).

Which section are you most active in and why? I'm most active in the League of Legends section because it's the game I play the most. I love to read posts there, and even though I don't post there much, I go to check it very often. I also look around for anything League of Legends in the marketplace.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I really feel that The Empire is a high quality group that I would love to be a part of. It would feel great to be able to help group members and communicate with members that are guaranteed to be high quality in a private group.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel like throughout the 4.5 years that I've been on HF, I've helped hundreds of members and made many high quality posts. I think that I'd be able to help members that require assistance and be able to share all my experience / knowledge with any member that requests it. I feel that I'm a great person (determined by my personality) that others would love to speak to.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: What makes me me is my unique personality. I seem to get along with just about everyone, but I'm very blunt. I feel that I'm blunt about things because I think honesty is the best policy. Even if it's a friend, I won't lie to them to make them feel better, as that's just counterproductive. Telling the truth and being straight-up about things is what I think the best method is. I feel like I'm an intelligent person who tries hard to make the best decisions in life. I was always kind of the fuck-up in life, but as of recently, I've changed that. I was a C student, simply because I never cared and never applied myself. As of a few months ago, I've discovered what I want to do in my future and I've worked harder than I ever before. I'm very passionate towards my goals and will continue to work hard to achieve them.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My priorities in life lie around balance. Since I'm still in school, I really center my life around athletics and academics, but won't sacrifice my social life for it. I try my hardest to balance all 3 and feel like I've done a good job so far. What's most important to me is reaching my final goals in life, which are becoming an investment banker on Wall Street and having a child and being a great father.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I really wanted to learn to hack because I just thought it was interesting. Afterwards, the gaming section is what kept me into HF.

Anything else you would like to say: No, but thank you for the opportunity to join.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:
sudoku

yea i don't want to brag in here or something but i'm just really good at sudoku, like sometimes i play on my cellphone and i beat the extreme and then ppl would be all like "wow alexander no way you beat the extreme haha youre so handsome please touch me in inappropriate places" and then i would be just like "meh" because really sudoku is not hard for me sometimes the app and ppl say that sudoku is hard or something and i never know what they mean because i always beat it but my mom says it is because i got it from her because she's good at sudoku as well and i believe my mom because she never lies here are a few examples of my work

[img]http://www.sudokukingdom.com/images/rules_solved.jpg[/img]

[img]http://static.guim.co.uk/sys-images/Guardian/Pix/pictures/2010/8/23/1282581946799/The-world-s-hardest-sudoku-001.jpg[/img]

^ this was a hard one but as you can see i beat it because i'm good at sudoku

people always say that i'm fabulous idk if it's try but like literally more people than i can count on my 2 hands (so more than 8 ppl) have like told me this so im gonna say it is true i know you guys would like some truth but just look at my GFX of my application and you will see that i'm really good in blending in the pictures with the overall appl ication like really subtle if you noticed it and also online people tell me this you can for example see this in my reputation as well and if you see i also have 363 rep which is a lot in the hf community so im also trusted

^ these users called me a faggot so i must be fabulous but im not hating because theyre telling the truth and im a guy that wants the truth to be told so i never lie as well

im really good at word search too if u dont know what it is it is a grid full of letters and you have to find words and ppl say im intelligent so i find the words really quickly this is a picture of me solving a word search \(Click to View\)

im also very skilled in using skype i can for example make group calls or just regular calls as well but many people dont know you can also just type in skype which i do very regularly so i'm also skilled in that not only in talking over mic but unfortunately i dont have a camera so i wasnt sure f i should add this skill but i decided to do it anywy because i use skype a lot and so i know how it works picture of me's skype as you can see he's (me) is very active and skilled

as you are reading my application you can also see that i'm very good at GFX and layout making i dont know if u noticed all thse gifs and pictures that i subtle blended in so that it makes my application more beautiful if you did then props to you

Which section are you most active in and why?:i'm very active in the lounge because i like ppl for a friendly chitchat but i also like the innuendo section because i like sex as well i mean not the vulgar i just like you know haha the thing that comes with it i dont mean erektion i just mean sex is cool so im in the innuendo too and sometimes i'm in the SRPP too because i'm a very intelligent user and i want to voice my opinion and arguments without lookin at other ones

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: because i know tom and tibit and i would like to have really fun in this group together with them i think that would be nice

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: because i will be an asstit to your group and i will participate in lots of projects and i will also make new ones in which i think it will require my time so that is why

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: one thing that was quite memorable was when i was cycling and i saw these cats alongsidde the way and now people would be like "ohno poor citties you didn't leave them behind did you" but i just kept on riding jsut to break the hipster mainstream because im not like all the other people and applicants as well so you see that was memorable bc im not mainstream and didnt do what everybody would

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? the most important is my family but i also like the internet like hakcfoums and reddit and 9gag is funny too sometimes i read things and i really LOL like its so funny i dont get why they use the name gag tho like y would anyone gag on a 9 that is ridulcous but maybe they do it because ppl then think baout it and so it sticks in their memory and honestly if that is the case then they are very clever and i would like to learn from them but i also like hackforuls as you can see so tats also why im applying for this job and my mom also always tells me that i do nothin with my life so if i get accepted i can rub it in her face and say i do something with my life

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? because i really like the community and i've met lots of cool users on this site

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: Marketing/Business: I have taken several business courses during school. I am also taking a specialist business program offered to the most prestigious students in business, this specialist program entitles me to an automatic acceptance in university (if I take a business course) + a grant of some thousand dollars. I haven't really done much with my skills on HF however as I have never really bothered to sell anything here.

Coding: I am proficient in Java, Visual Basic, Batch & Lua, I am in the process of learning C++, C# & Python.

Projects I have worked on during my time on HF:

LazerVPN: A VPN project originally started by Ty but was then sold to Arrow. The name and website are still the same however. You can find the thread here and you can find a picture of the client in the spoiler below

Spoiler (Click to View) [IMG]http://s1.postimg.org/t6h4uj7lr/ssf.png[/IMG]

Note: After being sold to Arrow my name is no longer on the client as they use there own coder, however if you need additional proof you can feel free to private message Ty.

YouTube View Bot: While I was in Empire I was coding this but due to some complications I didn't bother releasing it under Empire's name as Tibit didn't allow it, so I named it Iconic's YouTube View Bot. You can find the project here (free release)

Other skills that aren't exactly applicable to the group:

Spoiler (Click to View) Social Engineering, Penetration Testing, SQLi Injection, Rooting.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] Which section are you most active in and why? I am mostly active in Hacking Requests & Beginner Hacking. In the hacking requests section I would usually help people if they have a compelling story i.e. want to find out if my girlfriends cheating on me etc. etc. in the beginner hacking section I mostly post tutorials, I have enclosed some below this paragraph.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: During my time in Empire I enjoyed the group I loved every element and aspect of it however I was kicked out for my low post count in the Sub Forum. The community within Empire was amazing and I truly do miss the group.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire? During my time in The Empire I was extremely active in the Skype chat despite not being as active in the sub forum. I have been nothing but HQ on Hackforums despite the fact I'm not an Ub3r. I do not have a single scam report open nor have I received any negative rep. I am constantly expanding my skill set as well as helping others along the way. I also have my skillset to the offer The Empire which will help the group make money.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well I'm an open book and really anyone that I know can tell you that. I turned 17 not to long ago, and I am going to Grade 12 next year. I specialize in business mainly but I also take computer courses on the side as I am in love with them. I am the captain of the wrestling team at school and am extremely active in sports. I have a job which I work from Monday to Friday 3PM to 11PM.

I don't know what to make my second paragraph about so I'll just make it about the time I got my first computer and it's effect on me. I think it started around when I was 9 years old. My Dad bought a computer since it was the "shit" and if you had one you were the coolest kid on the block. I spent most my time on it wasting it away playing pointless flash games. One day I stumbled across a page on hacking, I have always loved the idea of it ever since I was a kid and upon reading the page I began to educate myself. It was going great until my dad took away the computer since I spent all my time on it however when I was 13 I got it back and once again started educating myself. I started with YouTube and worked my way across numerous sites and webpages. A couple of months ago I stumbled across Hackforums and have ever since then remained loyal to the site. Hackforums to me was an endless library of knowledge and I couldn't help but waste my days on it.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? I think my top priority right now is my education. I hate school and thought of going to it but I go and study anyway in the hopes to get a good job and further educate myself. After Education I would rank family, friends, sports, hacking and video games.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I have briefly touched on this during my 1 to 3 paragraph "mini essay" above. I stumbled across Hackforums and continued to stay on this site because Hackforums is a library filled with endless knowledge. There are tons of people in the community with similar interests and beliefs with you causing this community to attract me even further.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img] Anything else you would like to say: I promise to not make fun of Avatar ever again, I will fulfill my post count weekly and will remain loyal to the group. Also I was one of the few non upgraded members to join The Empire when I was first accepted, that must say something about me. I thank you for reading my application and appreciate you hosting another recruitment thread. Good luck to all the other applicants.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Online Monetizing: I use several methods to make money online, both blackhat. I currently sell a few products here on HF.

Other methods that i use are Ewhoring, affiliating, hacking runescape acconts and more.

Ewhoring: As mentioned above, i can make about $100 everyday with Ewhoring if i nolife a whole day.

SQLi: I know how to access database information on websites vulnerable to SQLi.

RATs: I consider myself a "RAT expert" because i pretty much know how to quickly troubleshoot RAT errors and problems. This is why i offer a RAT mentoring service where i mentor beginners on how to setup and manage a RAT. Apart form that service i have a free RAT help desk with almost 1.8k posts.

Malware removal: I know how malware works and i am capable of removing any malware manuallly on a computer without the use of any antivirus software.

Tennis: Apart from those computer skills, i also have a skill in tennis. I am pretty good in the sport and play around 1-4 times a week.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I would love to represent The Empire. High quality group and has an epic sub forum. I have previously been a member of The Empire and it has has the best subforum from all groups i have been to. What i like about the SF is because it has interesting topics and it is very active.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I am an active dedicated member who likes to socialize with different people. I am mature and not a troll and i wish to share my experiences with members of the Empire

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I have a passion for IT and even more hacking. I am an internet addict and i am always looking on how i can improve my knowledge. I am always looking to learn something new. When i'm online i like to browse HF and watch movies. I'm a huge Breaking Bad fan <3 When i get bored i usually go play on my PS3, i mostly play FIFA and COD. Nothing huge has happened in my life yet, although i am looking forward. HF has been a huge part of my life lately, i learned how to make good easy money online, learned a lot on several different subjects and got me very interested in IT and hacking. I plan on keeping active on HF as long as it's running.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

The internet and Tennis.

[img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

The thing that made me stay very active is the enormous commnity there is. I really like the instant interaction with users on some interesting topics. And you can learn a lot from HF, there are many talented users here.

Thanks for reading.

I cannot wait to see if I make it. I truly hope I do. It's a shame I made it a while back and it has probably already been reviewed as I have started learning Dart and I would have loved to throw that onto my application.

Self-Made - July 19, 2014, 2:57 pm

I have never been in a group before. I just recently bought leet and uber and I want to become more active. I don't meet the requirements, but I want to know when you guys will be recruiting again.

420 Blaze It - July 19, 2014, 3:06 pm

Today is the day when the truth comes out, good luck everyone! :P

Troye - July 19, 2014, 3:10 pm

Recruitment will be closing in less than 24 hours.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Malware analyser and security researcher

I have been doing this right now for a really long time right now. I have been analysing and researching malware. How they work, what they do and how they are created and their goal. I can recognize lots of malware by hearing the problems. I have been helping a lot of people with their problems both on how to resolve problems on working with them as on removing them. I have been trying to post more in the Whitehat section and it's pretty good (feeling) to help others. I have found a 0day in PDF and might report it to Adobe and I hope to find many more of them.

Marketing

I have been marketing for a long time and know how to work with online networks such ad-networks and go so on. I have earned plenty of money on studying the market and trying to develop what the custommers would like. I'm really experienced within selling things and I know how to please my customers. I'm a really friendly guy but just don't mess with me. ?

Money making

I have my own methods on how to earn quik cash and might write a free book on how to earn some money in a fast way. I have very nice methods that are both blackhat and whitehat.

White hat helper (newb)

I have been recently helping people with their problems, like explained my first skill I'm really good on analyzing malware and how to get rid of them. It gives a really good feeling when I have helped somebody with their problems and feels like I'm a friendly cop. ?

Graphic design

I have been graphic designing in the early stages on being on HackForums. I have been designing a lot and I started to like it. I don't have much to say on this. My portofolio is located on <http://asterea.minus.com>

btw. I also made a thread design for TE back when I was member.

Networking/pentesting (newb)

I'm a really beginner in this, I would like to learn more about this. I know how to use the main tools and how they work and want to expand my knowledge within this field.

Gamer

I have been gaming for a long time, from Pokémon Yellow to right now League of Legends. I have been playing games since I was a little kid and they gave me a feeling of being happy and lucky to be able to live this life. I really enjoy gaming and I hope I can play a lot more. ?

Which section are you most active in and why?

The lounge

Beginners hacking section

Botnet, zombies and IRC

I'm the most active in these sections since I like to help people and to relax a bit in the lounge.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Because I want to rejoin the group since it was so active and had many nice people in it. It felt like a real family and I love being in such a group like this as Instinct. I hope I can be in a group with cool dogs cats like TE. ?

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

Because I have put a lot time in helping other members and I feel deserving something back for it. I hope karma won't beat my ass ?

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My family, friends and being accepted as how I'm.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

The great people, friends I met. The shares and the nice community. I hope I can stay here for another 2 years.

Anything else you would like to say:

Don't be mad I scratched dogs away ?

And I wrote this on my iPad so it's difficult to add graphics without fucking it up ?

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Monetizing

Gaming

Social Engineering

Writing

Teaching

Helping

Debating

Every HF user has their own skill set. For most, it tends to be the usual: marketing, coding, gfx, etc. I'm not experienced in those categories(although I am trying to learn.) My skills are different than most, and they make me who I am today. I'll try to keep this short yet informative, as nobody likes reading walls of text.

Monetizing - This is pretty self explanatory. Everybody likes making money online, and I'm no exception. I only started online earnings after joining HF, so I don't have mad stacks yet. But I have enough that I can hopefully have some great giveaways and donations in a month or so for my birthday/1 year anniversary.

Gaming - I consider it a passion. I started playing video games since a young age, around the time I was 7 or 8. Since then, I've fallen in love with gaming and still do even today. I started off on the classic Mario games on the GameCube, then moved on to sports and adventure games on the PS2, and finally made the jump to first-person shooters on the Xbox. I tend to play for fun and relaxation, but I also sometimes play competitively.

Social Engineering - I was first introduced to social engineering when I joined HF. It seemed really interesting at the time, so I decided to try it out. I used it to get free Xbox live codes for a little while, which I eventually ended up giving away.

Writing - I've always had a knack for writing. When I was young, I wrote tons of stories for school and academic competitions. My grammar and spelling was always spot on, and while other kids hated that stuff, I enjoyed it. I was recently given the opportunity to join the Writers official usergroup, for which I am extremely grateful. I sometimes enjoy writing in my free time.

Teaching - If there's something I know and understand extremely well, I won't hesitate to educate others about it. I've always thought that knowledge was meant to be shared. Otherwise, what good would it be to have it? I currently am part of my school's tutoring team, and before our school starts, we help teach elementary school kids down the street from us.

Helping - I love helping other people. Whether it's hosting giveaways or providing emotional support, I help people in any way that I can. After I help someone accomplish their goals or feel more confident, I get this sense of satisfaction that keeps me coming back. In school or in public, even the little things like putting the chairs up at the end of the day or holding the door open for someone make a difference. In my opinion, it's worth going the extra mile to see the reactions. The best part? Knowing that I can put a smile on someone's face.

Debating - Debating is a sort of side hobby of mine. I get into friendly arguments with my classmates all the time. I'm on the school's debate team as well, and we've won several tournaments. Whenever I have the time, I enjoy heading to the SRPP section to get into some discussions with fellow members.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm active in quite a few sections, not all of which I post in regularly though. Most of my posts are in free services and giveaways because, well, I like free stuff. I also host my own giveaways whenever I have something to give. I also spend time in the lounge, because it's a fun place to relax and discuss anything. I visit the cryptocurrency section as much as possible, but I don't really post there, because I try to read and learn as much as possible.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

It seems like everybody wants to join the Empire, not just me. It's a great group that's been around for a long time and hasn't changed much. It has tons of friendly members, and a number of my HF buddies are in it. I've heard only good things about the Empire, and I decided that I want to see it for myself. Plus the leaders are all chill. I see it as a community within HF, and I feel like I would fit right in with everyone else.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

There isn't much I can say here without me feeling like I'm trying to boost my own ego. I don't deserve it any more than the other applicants, but I sure as hell want it. I waited months for the general recruitment because my skills weren't enough to get me into other ones like programing and gfx. I guess that means I automatically have a lesser chance of getting in. In the case that you choose to accept me, I will stay active within the subforum and get to know other members. I see this as a chance to open new doors. I made a few friends here, and it got me upgraded to uber and made me a part of the community. I can only imagine where the friendships made in the Empire would take me.

I'll try to learn as much as I can within the group, because I know there are many talented members in it. I'll probably get into some discussions here and there, but that all depends on whether or not you accept me. And I'm cool. I won't try to kiss your ass 24/7 just to be liked.

Plus, I could help you guys create your drunk adventure stories!

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Hopefully you got an idea of who I am through the first part of this post, but I'll try to cover it anyway. I grew up as the youngest of 4 children, always overshadowed by my 2 older brothers. I looked up to them as role models and friends, etc. I had a pretty normal life, so I won't bore you with it. I like playing video games, just like any other kid. I love basketball, playing it and watching it. It's been my favorite thing to do since I was 5 and first discovered it with my uncles. I'm also trilingual (English, Spanish, and Urdu.)

When I saw "something memorable that made you who you are," something came to mind immediately. When I was 10 years old, I was diagnosed with appendicitis. I was a fifth grader at the time, just a little kid enjoying his life. When I found out, I thought it was life-threatening, when it really just required a simple surgery to fix. Keep in mind how scared you would be if you were a 10 year old who thought his life was in danger. So I went to the hospital and my parents stayed with me every day until we left. Everyone I knew came to visit. My friends, extended family from around the world, everyone. I got more visitors in a day than I can keep track of, all of whom I love dearly.

Once the surgery was over, I got to lay in bed all day, watch TV, play games, and have food brought to me, so I wasn't complaining. But I couldn't wait to get back to my life and see everyone. When I returned to school, I found a surprise waiting for me. The entire grade had gotten together to make a giant "Get well soon" card. The artists of the school made some amazing drawings, and everyone signed it with a personal note. Then, the "special someone" of my life gave me a teddy bear with a stuffed heart as a sign of happiness that I was okay. I kept that teddy with me to this day, and it's sitting on my desk in front of me as I type this out. Seeing all of that made me realize how lucky I was to be surrounded with the people I love. I learned how much people truly cared about me and I started to appreciate my life a lot more. I no longer take anything for granted, and I'm glad I went through that.

My life isn't perfect, but if I were to relive it, there's not a thing I would change.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Without a doubt, education and religion. I can't express in words how much my parents have taught me the importance of education. I was placed in advanced classes since the 4th grade, and I still am even today, as I take almost all AP classes. I went to the best elementary/middle school in Houston, and currently go to one of the top 25 high schools in the nation. Education is a huge part of my life.

Secondly, religion. I've been a Muslim since birth, and so have my ancestors, as far back as we can remember. My family is more religiously active than most in our community, and we volunteer at local mosques fairly often. I pray every day, go to the mosque whenever I have the chance(it's pretty hard because I'm in school during prayer times.) Actually, it's Ramadan right now, so I go to the mosque every night. That's pretty much it, I guess.

Of course, I find time for fun and friends. We all live in the same neighborhood, so we get together and go to the gym or restaurants pretty often. And like I said earlier, I like playing basketball in my free time.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I originally joined in search of Xbox live codes. I felt bad about leeching off generous people, so I decided to stick around until I could give something back. I ended up making some useful tutorials on how to get xbl, go figure. Then I met a member through a 143 poetry contest, and he got me upgraded to leet. Soon after, another one of my friends upgraded me to uber. I felt like part of the community after that, so I stayed.

Anything else you would like to say:

Accept me you noobs! I even made everything right-aligned so I'd stick out.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I've been in the XBOX JTAG/RGH modding scene and the business scene. I also code many different languages myself as in PHP, C#, HTML, & VB.net.

I've coded many different tool's for JTAG/RGH consoles, example's:

Voice Synthesizer, that sends commands to Console.

All COD Tool with Halo Reach & GTA, sends commands to Console that modifies the game.

COD: Ghosts Bypass, bypasses Demonware Server's so you can go on and play the game.

I've also coded many other tool's, non-jtag/rgh related:

VCC Generator (generates VCC's with $0.00 on them)

Bolt Tools (Skype Resolver, Domain Resolver, Cloudflare Resolver, Ping, File Pumper, Extension Spoofer, Ip Tracker, & Icon Changer.)

imGaySerialGenerator (Generates Chromebook, iPhone, Xbox Consoles, HP Computers Serials)

Twitter/Instagram/Xbox Live Username Taker (sign into your account, enter the gamertag/username and you want and we will wait until it becomes available!)

TCP Chat (connect to a server, and chat with friends, no logs!)

I've also coded many other tool's and website design's (Website hosting got suspended, so I can't show you.)

Busniess

I've been into business also, I love money! Made many different eBooks, made service's, etc. It all started at school when I was selling Candy, and then became big @ school, then moved to a different forum's and sold my work. Now on HF!

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm most active in the JTAG Mods section, because I've been modding XBOX Consoles for quite a while, probably over a year now, and it get's quite fun when you learn something new about it. It always seems interested in that section, because people may be needing help, or they are releasing a tool/source. I like it, and it's what I've been doing for a while.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I've seen in on the forum's alot and it would be a great opportunity for me to join Empire and meet new people!

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I'm a very mature guy, I don't have a low self-esteem and I'm a very nice friendly person here on the forum's and in real life!

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

For a hobby, I make music, write code, and ride scooters with my buddies. You can check my music out @ <http://soundcloud.com/phorasounds>. Maybe one day, I'll be a developer for a big company or make music/beats for people that need it and make a lot of money. I go out to the skatepark's, fuck around, shoot some clicks with friends and throw it all together for a collab!

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My family is my #1 priority! Without them, I don't know what I would do. I think about it every now and then if something happened to them, it would be devastating. I've lost a lot of family, and oh.. It feel's horrible!

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Everyone seemed HQ (well most) so I decided to stay on HF, and got an upgrade!

Anything else you would like to say:

Thank you for reading my application.

Name: Trevor

Age: Just about 18
Gender: Male
Religion: Raised Christian; No personal affiliations
State/Country: USA
Time Zone: Central USA

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Social Engineering:

I'm very good at talking myself into positions in which I can advance myself or get something that I want.

I've talked my high school tech center (5 college grads with IT degrees) into letting me have Admin access to the network. I had access to passwords, remote control of all of our school issued netbooks and more when I knew just about nothing in the field.

Marketing:

I'm very good at marketing products and services. My social engineering skills are very helpful for this. I know exactly what the target audience is for a certain product and know how to manipulate their thinking to gain the most amount of sales. I know how to word advertisements and talk during transactions to convince the buyer to purchase the product.

Intelligence:

I would consider intelligence a skill. I am a Sophomore in college/university and I am very dedicated and committed to learning and experiencing new things. Intelligence is key to being able to adapt and learn new things quicker and with less of a curve. This makes me perfect for adapting to any role or situation that I find myself in.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am active in any section that has a thread that catches my eye. I use the recent posts page to find threads that interest me in any section and to find people that are seeking help. I would say the lounge/marketplace would contain the majority of my posts. There is a lot of discussion that takes place in the Lounge and I am interested in finding products or ideas that interest me in the Marketplace.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I want to join The Empire because when I first joined and started becoming more and more active I noticed that the most highly respected, most helpful and knowledgeable members were the ones that were in The Empire. Certain members helped me out with questions I had or gave me advice on what to learn next.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel that I belong in the group. I am very helpful even when I don't know exactly what needs done to help the poster. I go out of my way to find solutions or ways to help the person who needs help by searching on search engines, hackforums and any related websites. I am very knowledgeable in many subjects. I can contribute to The Empire in positive ways and make people notice how High Quality the group is.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I grew up in a middle class family in Midwestern United States. Going through elementary and middle school I always breezed through my school work, easily made friends and wrestled and ran track. I have a magnetic and warming personality. I make people feel good and love having fun.

I made it through middle school and started high school at a private catholic school (No religious affiliations, it was just a very good school). The school had an online computer program that was a bit more difficult than actual classes and allowed me to go at my own pace, which I loved. After taking a couple courses on the program I decided to just go all out and see how much I could get done. I signed up for AP Microeconomics and AP Psychology and the next day stayed home from school. I finished AP Microeconomics in 5 hours and started AP Psychology which I finished in just over 2 hours. My counselor and myself were extremely impressed that I was able to complete 2 AP courses and earn the credits in the time of a school day. It was fun and engaging to learn new things faster and go at my own pace. By the third month of my first year, I had already earned half of the credits I needed to graduate. Keep in mind that these courses were not a joke; they were harder and had more work than the actual courses. By the time I finished my first semester I had all of the credits I needed to graduate except for my Physical Education and Religion classes that could not be taken online. I decided to stay for a couple more years to get those instead of just transferring to some public school and graduation immediately. I finished everything I needed to graduate in the middle of my Junior year and come the end of the year I graduated with the class a year ahead of me except I had over twice as many credits as I needed.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I am currently attending college/university. I decided to go to the University of Nebraska at Omaha on a full ride academic scholarship to do literally whatever I want. After a year there with a 3.8 GPA and honors, I decided to switch majors and attend a different college/university and dual major in Biotechnology and Neuroscience and then get licensed to practice Psychiatry. The most important things to me are my body and my education. I consider myself very attractive and make it a point to take care of my body.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I decided to stay because it has a booming Marketplace. Perfect for someone like me to learn and even make some extra cash. Over the last six months I've become more active in all forums helping people and trying to become known.

Anything else you would like to say:

I would just like to say that I would love a spot in the group and would go to lengths to keep my posts extremely high quality and help as many people as I can. I will stay active and follow all rules. I would be ecstatic if I was offered a place in the group that helped me so much when I first joined.
