Thread: [\[New\] Introduction to new members.](#)

Zylicx - July 11, 2014, 1:41 pm

Note

: Had to remove groups images as only 15 in one thread are allowed.

I'm a new member too, but I've been on other MyBB forums in the past.

First of all I would like to say welcome for joining a #1 friendly community/forum that you can currently find.

There are many things to explore, so keep on reading...

With many sections out there you can either:Contribute: By posting new threads..

Explore: See what others have posted.

This is what the following sections are mostly about:

General

-This is mostly the main section of the forum. You can talk with other fellow members by going to Lounge or rather find your luck by entering one of the contest that members are hosting by going to Member Contest sub-section.

Hacking

-If you are a newbie wanting to learn basic things when it comes to hacking, this is your section.

This particular section offers many programs and private methods in which will expand your knowledge and learn new things.

Got a question about something? Just visit the Hacking Questions sub-forum.

Computing

-If you building a new rig or just want basic whitehat help, this can be the most helpful section for you.

Everyone with a wide knowledge will gladly assist you in building your new PC, and you can even get help on your mobile phone (in general Smartphones and tablet OS devices).

Coding

-Show off your coding skills or just learn/find new things about C++, Visual basic, Java by going to the sub-forums meant for the each coding program.

Gaming

-For all your gaming needs, this is your #1 content provider.

There are sorted sub-forums for games like minecraft, grand theft auto, counter strike, call of duty, and many more in which you won't have to think where to post about what you are planning to post.

Can't find your game, there is a Random Games sub-forum.

VIP Area

-This section is exclusively for members who decided to help the community and buy an Upgrade. If you are kind enough and upgraded, you can find content posted by other members just for you to discover!

Groups

-If you want to contribute to one particular group then simply head off to Group and Crew General Discussions sub-forum and apply for an official group. After (if) you are accepted you will gain access to the sub-forum just dedicated to the group you are in (if the group is official of course).

Webmaster

-Find a hosting for your site or simply showcase your new community board.

Graphics

-If you are great at GFX (photoshop) you can head right off to the graphics section and post your artwork.

You can also request the GFX work to be done for you by heading to Graphics Request sub-forum .

Marketplace

-Products like methods, ebooks, accounts, gaming items are sold just in this section.

If you have $, then you can find and buy things you want or need... And if you have something to sell then this is your place (watch out in which sub-forum to post).

Money

-If you really dig into this section you can make some serious $$$$. Browse ebooks posted by other members and share your own if you have a particular method.

As mentioned before, you can apply for groups you wish to join.

Reputation in one way means how well you are trusted here.

If you are a serious seller, having negative or a small reputation might affect your sales, to avoid having a bad reputation follow these simple rules: Don't scam!

Be nice to members, moderators, staff...

If posting a reply or a thread, stay HQ!

Don't spam!

Be polite!

... and just have a common sense.

As a normal member, you are not allowed to give reputation to everyone, but as you upgrade you can give up to +3/-3 reputation.

To give someone reputation, simply click on their username, and click rate:

Having an award sure feels good, but it takes dedication and a lot of work, here are some basic awards:

-MOTM

This is a monthly award for the best member.

-OMC

This is the Omnicoin award. You can purchase it here:

<https://hackforums.net/cryptocoin.php>

-Grammar Nazi

You must have excellent grammar in your posts to achieve this award.

For the rest of the awards, and how to get them simply head over here:

Wtf is this, you have 23 posts. This is fishy like my anus.

Trisomy 21 - July 11, 2014, 1:43 pm

You could have just simply linked to the Help Docs and the groups page, but uh cool.

most useless thread I've seen in a while

PRNDL - July 11, 2014, 1:46 pm

you've been here for a month, congrats kid you're still new 10/10 time to beat of to hentai

Foxes - July 11, 2014, 1:47 pm

You should remove the SE/Cracking from the hacking part, both of those are unallowed on HF, you also included some of the usergroups more than once

Sorry for that. Updated the thread! ?

ahmadrules - July 11, 2014, 2:14 pm

Anyways, you're a fairly new member and you took your time to make all of this.
Seems fishy.

If you actually made this, good job, but you could've just linked the new members to the help page.

Bosto - July 11, 2014, 2:36 pm

Nice post my friend. New & already posting HQ threads.

OnTheFly - July 11, 2014, 2:43 pm

You guys are pathetic, if a notable member posted this you'd be licking their ass and thanking them.

Shut the fuck up and appreciate the work he put into this.

@OP Good chance I'll put this in the 202 Notable Threads, good work man.

khaleesi - July 11, 2014, 2:48 pm

Nice high quality thread, OP.

Though there's still another thread basically just like this:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=2954624>

Either way, good job.

You don't really have any proof of that.

I don't see me thanking him in that thread?

Anyway, you have got a bit of a point, so I changed my post a bit.

It's not personally you, just a general stereotype that new members can't be helpful or 'HQ' as much as I hate to use that term.

Don't get me wrong the other thread was more informative, but there's no reason a newer member should be bashed for simply trying to help other newer members alike.

I understand where you're coming from, and my post wasn't actually meant to be mean or anything.

I just felt that it was just too fishy to be true.

I mean, it's rare that a fairly new member, let alone an old member, makes something this big and time-consuming.

POLY MATH - July 11, 2014, 3:09 pm

Great addition to the forums. Thanks for posting this HQ thread. It needs to be cleaned up but based off your last words, it will be.

Meow - July 11, 2014, 3:34 pm

Guys please, this guy took his time to write all that and you are just fucking with him..

OP thanks for awesome and HQ thread!

wellager - July 11, 2014, 3:35 pm

Erh nice job OP, but since you're a regular member you won't be able to edit this in 24 hours.

Hey mister "Writer", if you don't think this screams attention whore, or multi-accounter, you are a sub-par human being.

I swear there has got to be some competitor forum that tells these kids how to come on here properly and get the reputation needed to do dirty things like finger others buttholes because they have reputation.

Talu - July 11, 2014, 5:57 pm

Pretty nice and well-made thread. Good job.

Sparta - July 11, 2014, 6:00 pm

Why is a new fag like you posting shit that will be buried under thousands of threads within a week or so?

No one is going to use your thread and you are getting reputation just for copying and pasting the rules.

Get the fuck out of here, you ass kissing child.

Get the fuck out of here, you ass kissing child. It's not ass kissing. If you copy-paste this thread I wrote within 5 minutes...

And I'm being accused for multi-accounting, if I am, ban me instantly.
