I just finished watching the anime myself and can't wait for the special episode coming out in September but I wanted to know some funny comments about the anime and your reaction if the anime was indeed real :)

I will reply, enjoy.

P.s. Try to put yourself in one of the character roles to get more funnier results xD Thoroughly enjoyed this anime.

If it were real though, with the amount of blood people lost, I don't think there'd ever be a shortage of blood for patients requiring transfusions.

It'd be awesome being all overpowered for once by wearing that goku uniform (one who named it is a genius) lmao and yeah the anime was pretty nice and i def. enjoyed the ending , it was so cute xD

Well it wouldn't be awesome since there will be evil and people that abuse it. So it'll be a horrible idea. A death notebook is a way better idea than this.

If it were real the first thing I would do would be find Nonon and win her over to marry me of course. What else would I need?

Same thing could happen with a Death Note, people might abuse it and there will be evil.

But the characters in the end defeated evil so I would want to be a character just to be on the thrill ride of having so much power and defeating evil and losing it, I will lose something I always had with me but the memory itself is golden.

Mako is still my favorite character lmfao xD

Her explanation to things sometimes lol

I would also join Nudist Beach so fast. Not because there's nude women there or anything.
