iTweetBox V1.0

Developed by iTap-

Hello HF and welcome to my first major application. iTweetBox is a Twitter follow bot. It does have some minor bugs. The main purpose however, works perfectly.

IMPORTANT

YOU MUST KEEP THE .dll FILE IN THE SAME FOLDER AS THE PROGRAM

Basic instructions: You can import your username/password list by clicking the "Import" button. Note that the list MUST be in the format of 'username:password' without the ' 's, or you can enter them on your own. The paid version of this program, which will not be out for a while, will include an account creator tool, but for now you'll have to make your own accounts ?.

*Once you have imported your usernames and passwords, enter the twitter username you want the accounts to follow into the second textbox.

*All you have to do now is click the button "Follow" and wait.

*I have added multithreading so the program will no longer freeze when running.

Once it has completed, a message box will appear saying "You have added x amount of followers to your account."

I do encourage you to run it sandboxed or on a virtual machine before you run it on your main computer if you don't trust me. Feel free to scan it and post the results.

Enjoy ?

Anyways to get a twitter account list?

See thats the problem,

UNLESS, you have an AUTO mass twitter account maker

and another program to format it username:password.

Then that would be awesome!

I'm actually working on it, but there's a captcha system that's hard to bypass.

I'm having the same Issue with Windows 7 x64.

Are you also running 64 Bit or x86?

I would love this pal thanks in advance :)

Footballfan2761 - March 19, 2012, 9:32 am

The site is dead. Unable to open website. I'm using Windows 7 x86 64-bit.

"Internet Explorer cannot display the webpage"

"Server not found. Firefox can't find the server at www.multiupload.com."

Any help would be appreciated.

Tydrain - March 27, 2012, 9:08 am

Damnit site wont open, anyways it looks nice.

And about the mass twitter bot maker, I want that ^_^.
