

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: DarkComet WTF

SandboxedSon - July 17, 2014, 1:15 pm

I get all my settings done in the server module, my dns and shit and when I have to go out or something I turn off my computer and then when I open DarkComet, it loses the settings and starts like it's brand new again wtf.. Is there something that I don't know about like, you can save a profile of your settings or something?? I'm so confused as this is annoying as f*ck..

iKick - July 17, 2014, 1:46 pm

Yes you can choose at the end where you create the stub (I think it's on the page where you choose the extension).

You can tick a box that says something: save profile after

SandboxedSon - July 17, 2014, 1:54 pm

(Jul 17, 2014 01:46 PM)iKick Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes you can choose at the end where you create the stub (I think it's on the page where you choose the extension).

You can tick a box that says something: save profile after yea, it's there and sometimes it saves and sometimes the saved profiles get cleared or something..

MaatiZaouri - July 17, 2014, 4:10 pm

(Jul 17, 2014 01:54 PM)SandboxedSon Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) yea, it's there and sometimes it saves and sometimes the saved profiles get cleared or something..

When you click save profile, that's just saving the server settings incase you want to create another and spread it. This happens to me aswell, all i do is add new ports to listen to the ones i was previously listening to and they come back. Also refresh your domain to your dns

SandboxedSon - July 17, 2014, 4:24 pm

(Jul 17, 2014 04:10 PM)MaatiZaouri Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) When you click save profile, that's just saving the server settings incase you want to create another and spread it. This happens to me aswell, all i do is add new ports to listen to the ones i was previously listening to and they come back. Also refresh your domain to your dnsyh same. all i do is add my ports to listen to again..