Thread: new hacker is searching hacker group or mentor

mider111 - July 22, 2014, 3:35 am

Is there any hackers here that can teach me or refer me to a group or collective that can help me? I really need a Mentor or group that i can socialize with. I would really like to join a hacking group that will accept a newbie like me, and help me stop being a skiddie and become a hacker. The only things that i can do are :using rat, creating phishing page and some small things,and also i know the basics of C++ and HTML. Thank you! Respond or message me!

sigh

You are one of those addicted to the word group.

It's better learning if you learn by you're self. If you can't do that you should look into another topic.

You're not trying hard enough.

No... No one will waste their fucking time to teach you shit. It's pointless, if you were passionate about learning it, you'd learn it on your own.

Stick around in HF. You'll be helped by many members. There are even loads of tutorials here. All it takes is a quick search.
