

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Fraps crashed, corrupt AVI file.

milkywaythegodfather - July 22, 2014, 8:17 am

This a very important and private recording and I've tried to fix it using a few programs but failed.

Does anyone know how to fix this?

xploD - July 22, 2014, 8:19 am

(Jul 22, 2014 08:17 AM)-Hex Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This a very important and private recording and I've tried to fix it using a few programs but failed.

Does anyone know how to fix this?

If Fraps crashed in the middle of the recording, and you get that error then yeah its pretty much corrupted. You could try opening it in VLC, but I don't think it would make much difference since its only an .avi

Freebooter - July 22, 2014, 9:36 am

You can use DivFix++ to try repair AVI file.

Internet Explorer. - July 22, 2014, 9:37 am

Try DivFix++, its worth a shot.

It worked for me a couple of weeks ago.

Razex - July 23, 2014, 9:34 am this happened to me too a while ago, i just gave up after a while, couldn't fix it :(

'Cynical - July 23, 2014, 9:35 am

Y-Y-Y-Y-YOUR FUCKED.

Seriously though, doubt you're gonna get ur AVI back. :(

Ansa - July 23, 2014, 2:56 pm

I don't think Windows 8 media player supports .avi files.

Try VLC and see if it works with that.

milkywaythegodfather - July 23, 2014, 4:36 pm

Oh well, I've tried everything even google. I doubt I will get the file back. Thanks goes to everyone who attempted to help,