Thread: www.virtualtrades.net - MMO Blackmarket forum

HobbsPF - July 23, 2014, 4:55 am

Hey guys,

I want your advise on how my forum currently looks, and what you think I can do to improve it.
www.virtualtrades.net is the link.

The site was previously called Bobbamarket, and has been branched out to Virtualtrades for around 7-8months now.

Newly moved from Vbulletin to Xenforo.

We are steadily growing into other game markets, with SEO work being undertaken at the moment.

I want to branch out into:

- Monetising Techniques
- Development servers

but I'm not sure whether many people would post there.. As for the case of monetising techniques, I believe adsense will need to be disabled to have this.

Thanks guys ?

Change the font size to something smaller

Too crowded, get rid of some ads.

The background is distracting when reading the forum.

The top 2 ads are sponsors.

The others are Adsense and even then they are limited when logged in.

As for font size, that can be done.

I quite like the background and no members have complained.

Thanks for your opinion!

Anyone else?

Would like some more feedback if possible, thanks!
