Why should we accept you?: Im a passionate gamer, I work really well in groups and love to contribute to everything I can. I put 110% effort into being in a group and can help with whatever is required as well as bring new ideas to the table! I'm also online a lot of the time and so reachable and a good representative for the group!

Why should we accept you?: I'm a down to earth guy, a life long Xbox gamer and I'm available just about everyday to assist people with any issues they may have with their consoles. I'm also able to play and be active in your gaming sector daily. The group I'm currently in is good, but nothing really related to Xbox goes on there. I'd love to join a group with a specific Xbox section for me to participate in. I feel like The Brotherhood is just the group I've been searching for. I was a member of Respawn's Xbox sector back when Astonish had that going and I even took on the role of hosting a few game nights for the entire sector. The ability to reach out to the community and give back anything that I can, whether it be making it a better group or just simply contributing to the greater good, I hope that Cyborg and the other owners of The Brotherhood will give me that chance to prove myself to them and everyone else. I know that only the best of the best get accepted to join The Brotherhood and in no way shape or form do I consider myself "The best gamer out there", but I do enjoy the competition and I enjoy making new friends via groups and Xbox. If I'm accepted into the group, I will make sure that everyone is treated the way they'd like to be treated and that everyone has a fair shake at anything they'd like to do.

To close this application, I'd like to thank Cyborg for making this recruitment thread and I'd also like to wish the best of luck to everyone that applies for not only the Xbox sector, but for The Brotherhood gaming as a whole. We may be split up into different sectors (PC, PS, Xbox), but at the end of the day we are part of The Brotherhood (well, those that are accepted are, lol).

Games you own: I'm primarily a League of Legends player but sometimes I play Age of Empires.

Links to contribution to the gaming community: Generally I'm not one to make a lot of topics. I hope that my contributions can be viewed in my post activity. I'm very active in regards to LoL having 1219 posts in that sub forum, 517 in Nexus's SF, and 388 in Instinct's SF.

Why should we accept you?:

League of Legends is a game which I am very passionate about. Season 2 I was silver and unable to reach gold which left me very disappointed. Come season 3 I worked hard at my goal for gold having not only achieved it, but going way past what I had expected. By the end of season 3 I was plat 2 looking towards diamond. Unfortunately the season ended before I could reach that milestone. Season 4 is where we currently sit and I've still not reached diamond, but that does not mean I plan to stop. With school being done I've been able to devote more time towards League but I lost quite a bit of mechanics and skill throughout the year. I was plat 5 with gold 3 mmr and have since reached my plat 3 promos and fixed my MMR and won't stop until I'm high enough to receive my diamond border. This should show that I have the drive and interest in improving as a player as well as the ability to learn from my mistakes. Many players cannot pick up on what is holding them back but I am not one of those. The only way to improve is to acknowledge and grow from your weaknesses which is my full intention. There are a lot of members in The Brotherhood who I know and who I've spoken with and I would love to be a part of a community which seems so enjoyable. In accepting me you would be accepting someone with ambition and drive. I would love to be there to learn from others as well as to help others improve. Usually I'm online anywhere between 10 to 14 hours a day which would give me ample time to play with other members of TB and I'd be happy to use voice chat if others use it as well. I can guarantee you that there will be no regrets if I am one of the applicants lucky enough to be chosen.

Why should we accept you?:

I'm an avid gamer that tries to post daily in The Gamers Lounge. I am always playing multiplayer games but as most of my friends don't share the passion for gaming like I do, they are hardly ever online and I'm stuck playing alone. I have a lot of knowledge around the games above and would be willing to do reviews and guides on the games. If you ever have weekly game nights (I remember there being a few in Infamous / Complexity) I would 100% attend. I would even go out and buy games, just to attend them. There's no other group that I would prefer to be in. I would write up daily tutorials that other members could post, aswell as writing up my own. I also have both Playstation consoles and a PC so if I got accepted, I'd be able to play with everybody from the gaming sector. I would put 110% in everything I would do for The Brotherhood.

You should seriously accept me because I've spent a good 1 hour 20 minutes on this, just typing and erasing stuff that I thought didn't fit. It'd be an honour to play the games that I love, with other gamers that love them just as much. :)

And im going to be getting a capture card here soon so I could make video tutorial for most of the newest games being made and might start streaming allot since I will be getting a new capture card. An since I don't do anything at the moment I am online on HF and on Xbox allot probley about 10+ hours a day.I love to play online games with a good nice group of people that are chill and relaxed and dedicated to playing games on the Xbox.I have quite a successful Xbox live gold membership shop and I could do giveaways per week of cretin codes like 1 year Xbox live gold subscription or others.And I know quite a bit about modding of the Xbox and games and what you can do on them so I could help people out if they had any problems with what they are trying to do. I manly stay in the halo section of the forum for gaming and the Xbox section but im looking to start expanding into other gaming section's. And that is why I think I would be a good part of the group.

In every forum that I've joined, I always loved to write articles and tutorials for it. I can provide a lot of informative and helpful threads under the name of Brotherhood. If I get accepted, I will always stay dedicated to the group. I have many skills and many of benefits I can bring towards the group, I'm sure this group will become even more successful in the future, and so will I. The group owner is very mature as from what I can see and its not like any other group "Selling spots for $15" This group only accepts the highest of highest quality members. If you were wondering how old I am, I can tell you I am old enough. I dearly do hope you read through this whole application as I spent my time on it. This group seems very High Quality, and knowing me I never join groups, but simply and dearly this will probably be my only application ever posted on this forums for a group. What can this group bring towards HF? I think this group has very much potential in setting its name, and representing itself. I believe all members in this group should be treated like other members not just because of the userbar but because how they act. Honestly I do not care if I get the userbar or not, all I care about is being apart of a group like this, and like I said this will probably be the only group I join or apply for here whilst being on HF. Thank you for reading!

PC Gaming: I believe PC is the master race and is superior to consoles. I believe it is more powerful, you can customize much more, and you can experiment with the games a wee more. I have been gaming on PC since 2008. That is the year I got a decently built computer/machine to play games on. My first game was Fallout 3 which is still to this day, my favorite game. I am able to customize my PC, install new parts, and all that simple stuff. I think it is fun to experiment & getting to know your system/machine so you how it works and such. Recently, I have been saving for my new computer build which consists of very expensive parts such as Black Titan, i7-4960X, and other parts. I hope to get my ultimate build so I will be able to stream and game at 60 FPS 1080p as I love streaming.

Links to contribution to the gaming community: Unfortunately, I haven't contributed to fellow gamers but if I were to be accepted, contributions from me, in the name of The Brotherhood will be happening.

Why should we accept you?:

Greetings.

Firstly, I'm applying to the PC-Gaming sector because I can play and communicate via Teamspeak and similar programs alongside Brotherhood members - playing with Brotherhood's gamers would be an amazing personal achievement but also would mean we would have an incredibly good time playing and contributing to Hackforums, together.

I think you should accept because I am an everyday gamer who loves to play with others - I dislike playing alone unless I am warming up or practicing. Recently I have been enjoying the Counter-Strike series ranging from CS 1.6 to CS:GO however I do also play non-FPS games such as Starbound, Garry's Mod, Mirror's Edge and many, many, more. You could say I play most-to-all games but I am not so keen on Horrors!

Secondly, I have mostly always played solo if this be playing Call of Duty, Counter-Strike or Garry's Mod. Playing solo is boring, playing with people who have the same interests and skills is an amazing thought for us to have a good time but also to show everyone we're respectable gamers who people would idolize, thus giving The Brotherhood another good image!

Thirdly, I believe that I'm a good leader and can lead when needed throughout games such as executing and planning tactics.

Concluding this, The Brotherhood's PC-Sector would be my second home if I were to be accepted; I would treat it like a home and keep the family member's in that home happy by having participating in all gaming nights, events and discussion with the family.

Thank you and kind regards,
Slimy.

Why should we accept you?:

I have played game through my whole life. Gaming is a huge part of my life, and I would love to share my passion with other gaming enthusiasts. The way I usally play game these days is alone, without talking to anyone. I would love to change that. Whenever I play will I always be on Teamspeak, Skype. However, if you'd like me to download another piece of communication software do I gladly download that too.

Thanks for reading through my application. :)

Why should we accept you?: Why should we accept you?: I have been wanting a group to submerge myself into, I game for hours after I work on my online projects & I would be extremely happy & honored to be a part of The Brotherhood's Gaming sector. Video games are a great way for groups of people to make great connections & have a great time together. I have made many friends playing online & i always have a great time no matter who I'm playing with. I'm certain I would get along with the guys in the Xbox Sector of The Brotherhood. I have been told I'm a really chill & likeable guy, I'm also a monster at Fifa 14 so if The Brotherhood were ever to enter any tournaments, I would be happy to be a part of it . I think my application should be taken over the other applicants for reason such as, my availability, any tournament we'd take part of, i can make it, any project that The Brotherhood needs done i can do. Joining The Brotherhood would be a huge step for me on Hackforums, as i have never been part of a group i would be ready to give my all to contribute & make the best of it. I don't want to join The Brotherhood just for friends to play games with, I want to join to be part of a family that is The Brotherhood. So I would contribute to more than just the gaming section. Thank you for taking the time to read this. ?

This is it so far, I don't normally make my own threads. Most of my contributions to the gaming community are giveaways.

Why should we accept you?:
Because Cyborg is my deity.

In all seriousness, I want a place where I can hang out with fellow gamers and relax. Of course we'd play together as well. Hopefully I'd be able to make some new friends during my time, but I mainly want a place to meet with other gamers. I could join Instinct, but I don't want to spend any money quite yet. I've never been part of a gaming group on HF yet, and I'm hoping this is the place where I can start. I'll represent the Brotherhood in the best possible way around the site. I'll always remain respectful and courteous. And I'll stay active within the sector as well.

You should accept me because I'm a chill person to talk to and easy to get along with. I promise right now that if I get in, there won't be a single member that'll have a problem with me. I've had my eye on The Brotherhood ever since I set foot in the groups section, but I'm not enough of a l33t h4x0r to make it past Aura into BHCPU so I'm hoping I'll still be able to join through a sector. This would be a great milestone for me and would hopefully open up new opportunities. I'm sure the friendships I make in TBH will last beyond the group and maybe even HF. Every friend I've made here has given me some form of knowledge, and I don't think this is an exception. Even though it's a gaming sector, I still feel like I would be able to learn so much from the members.

Thank you for reading my application, have a nice day!

Why should we accept you?:

Well the reason that I'd like to join The Brotherhood Gaming section is for the reason to actually play with somebody and in general have fun. I try playing with some of my friends but they are busying playing other games. So I really want to play GB and competitive with other member that have the same passion as I do. Some times I like to play GTA 5 or Minecraft to just take a day off of playing competitive and get a bit of rest because it is stressful when you play a FPS game for a bit too long. The other reason I'd like to join is to see what type of games other members play because I want to get into other games instead of just playing FPS games because when you play them for a long time they start to get boring and I'd like a game to play with other people that will let me have fun. There are others things I can help members with. For example, I can teach them some tips and tricks to competitive. I also, can teach them how to run a team and how to run a channel on youtube without dieing out. But I do really look into playing with other people since it can be a new experience. I also, can help people with some problems they got and if I got some extra money I can host contest that can be held on HF for like best Sniper or best team and the grand price can be either $50 or a game.

Why should we accept you?:

I believe that I should be accepted into the brotherhood's gaming sector because I love to play games. I am constantly looking for people to challenge me in games and public players aren't really all that good in the areas that I'm wanting to be challenged in.

I'm also a good team player, if a team mate needs help, I'll do whatever I can to help them, even if it means I go down in the process. I'm always helping other teammates out with problems and I don't ask for any help in return unless I need it. I play games whenever I can. I normally play either call of duty, or minecraft. Call of duty I'm decent at but I just play it for the experience of playing it. I don't really care about my player score or my ranking, I just care about playing the game and having fun.

Minecraft on the other hand, I just play again for the experience of playing. I feel that it improves my creativity as a person and it helps me inspire other people to be more creative.

If I were to join the brotherhood, I would finally have some people that I could play with, that could, like I said in the first part; challenge me in the areas the I love. The brotherhood seems like an amazing group that is filled with amazing people and I would like to be among them. In the case that I don't make it in the group, I would like to say that I enjoy the opportunity to apply for this amazing group

<https://gyazo.com/4ebc9f75415fe02baeb96f842552fea1> But no offenses since, I've read the rules and plan on going out of my way to make sure that the rules are followed, This is a great community that I want to be apart of it. It definitely has a lot of resources available and has been a great learning experience so far , not to mention im constantly learning new things, I think that I would definitely use my knowledge that I learn here and pass it down to other people that experience similar problems, or deem themselves worthy of being a HQ member, lets face it.. the way I see it is, its a privilege to be apart of brotherhood ...if any free slots do happen to fill I'd really appreciate consideration.

I've already expressed my desire for knowledge, not to mention my love for experimenting in the name of science!"BAWHAHAAHAA" , no but seriously though I think this community appeals to a wide variety of members and is really something that I would like to be apart of, because I too like to dabble into a large variety of different subjects and conversations, I enjoy a LARGE variety of games like I had mentioned before and plan on learning some c++ in the near future... not to mention the lounge can be a pretty fun and random place at times as well. I often like to browse the forums for problems that people experience, hoping to learn a little more about how to fix them, I remember reading some were that a website like no-ip was compromised and to try something like <http://freedns.afraid.org/> of course I'd continue to link them to the original thread and give the original poster, linking the source and being as descriptive as I can. All in all..I've had nothing but pleasant experiences so far, this community really is great.

I also believe that everyone on hf should be treated with the golden rule, no expectations, and to provide completely unsaturated products, support and advice. To recognize that hf is a privilege, and that this community is a privilege, and like all privileges they can be taken away. I plan to take full responsibility for my actions during my time here at hf, and hope that you all do the same :)

Now im no stranger to construct-ful criticism and like to have a good time..I believe the word "Troll" is overused and consider myself a really competitive gamer, If I play something, I play to win.

thanks for your time in reviewing my application, I look forward to your feedback.

I have more than 1000 hours on Counter Strike split between all of my accounts. I'm the owner and developer of a well ranked Garry's Mod community. We currently own 7 different servers, that almost always have tons of players. I spend a lot of time on Garry's Mod playing with my community members and constantly developing new content. I've been apart of the Counter Strike scene for a while, beginning on 1.6. Since then I've moved onto the Competitive Scene of CSGO, with my highest ranking at one point being Global Elite. As of writing this application, my current highest account is Legendary Eagle Master. I would enjoy putting together a team together within the sector, and helping members learn the game better, and go up the ladder. Currently I have no contributions to the gaming section of the forums, but I'd like to change that. I could work along side some other members and put together a completion of various tips and tricks to help the hack forums community as a whole. I'm also very active within the Counter Strike skin market, I currently have about $1000 worth of knife skins. I've worked my way up the marketplace from nothing to everything I have today. I'd be willing to share my experience within the market to help other members trade there way up from $0.50 skins to $50 skins. I really enjoy both the casual and competitive sides of gaming. I've devoted a lot of my time to gaming, and I'll continue to for years to come as it's a passion of mine that I deeply enjoy.

I can be very competitive, but at the same time I like having fun. I am not an active poster in the gaming section so I would understand if I weren't accepted, but I think it would be a real shame if that's the reason I wouldn't be able to join.

I have been gaming since I was literally a baby. Me and my father would play mario, crash, spyro, donkey kong, ape escapee, and so many other games. I am a passionate gamer and I always have been. When I game now I generally look for a group to play with, because it always makes things more fun. I always get along with other members, and i'm sure that would be the same if I were to get into the group. I believe in playing games legit, personally. But if I find out a glitch, I would be more than happy to share it. I am also extremely active in teamspeaks or voice services, I love talk to the community, making new friends, and playing some games. My steam profile level is level 40 already, and every game I play, I try to write a review for others to see. I am a very friendly user, that would love to join this group, I don't plan to "take more then I give". I hope to be able to help other members, and help everyone have fun! :)

Nothing outstanding on this site as of right now, a few Gamebattles glitches which got no responses. I usually disregarded the HF gaming section and utilized HF for more of a business platform. PM me for a link to another forum which I contributed on.

Why Should we Accept you?:

I've been actively seeking to play with a group of like minded players who play strategically, competitively, but with good fun. I can never find the right combination which makes up myself, if only in a perfect world I had three other teammates which were of my knowledge and skill level, I doubt I'd drop a match. I like to believe I am the perfect teammate, it's a rare sighting to see me on the lower half of the team, I maintain a solid 1.50+ kdr as well as leading the team in captures with well over 7 per game (just an average). I usually play by myself and depend on random kids to do the work necessary but with a dedicated group of gamers, we could have fun in any game (mode).

I play competitively and 99.9% of the time for the win. I have ADHD so I find myself more of an objective based player but have adapted fairly well. I've always considered myself a smart gamer and although I usually play Call of Duty, I like exploring other games. My genre category is mainly FPS but adventure games such as TLoU or Uncharted catch my attention, as well. I've been gaming from the earliest I can remember which would be, the age of 4. Playing such titles as - NFS: Hot Pursuit, Soldier of Fortune, Unreal Tournament 2000, Return to Castle Wolfenstein, Postal 2, Hillbilly Rampage, and Grand Theft Auto: Vice City.

With my wallet ever expanding, so is my variety in gaming. I have a pretty nice setup thus far and that's only expanding. I haven't planned on it, not even really thought about it for that matter but it's always an option to build a PC and expand my library even more. Out of all the people I interact with throughout my time on the Internet, they'll all be able to say I am a funny, genuine guy and a good friend. If you're looking for someone with the same mindset, skill set, and ultimately a new friend, choose me! ;-)

I must stress that I based the last portion of my application on the idea that people who play on XB1 would be playing competitively. I can play public matches and fuck shit up, or have fun. I am flexible in my play style and mind set, depending on what I'm feeling and the others around me are feeling, I can go from dropping bombs against GB nerds or playing infected and killing myself first so I can run around and knife people.

Mega Thread on how to become a better call of duty player -

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3997438>

Why should we accept you?: I believe that I should be accepted into the brotherhood because it has been a group that I have always looked up to, and now that there is a gaming sector, I would love to be a part of it! Like this has been the day that I have been waiting for! I am also a competitive call of duty player, that takes pride in what he does and takes it 100% serious. I travel, I get paid, I do everything. All together, I have never placed out of top 3 in any tournament besides major events such as MLG and UMG events, but as far as online and local tournaments go, I have made over five figures just from Call of Duty. It has really given me an outpost of my life and has allowed me to meet all the kind and caring people, while at the same time doing what I love and thrive to do. I hope to go pro one day because I am still a "Top Amateur" player. I really do pride myself in being one of the top CoD players on HF - <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4180307> - I was mentioned in this thread many times even after being not active for over 3 months. I have always been the humble player that appreciates even having my named mentioned, so when I saw this thread I flipped out lol.

Ive made over hundreds teaching people call of duty -

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4252959>

Always satisfied customers.

Also, I love to have game nights and play with fellow members :D I love to meet new people through gaming, I love to share my knowledge and learn from other people. I would also like to start branching off into different games, like LoL, CS, and even starcraft. I hope that you guys strongly consider me as a represantive under the Brotherhood gaming sector. I hope to see you all soon and to have fun!

Why should we accept you?:

I really want to be in a community where I can contribute. I know I haven't done enough, so I'm trying to do more. I'm going to be active in the subforum, and be apart of events and such. I'm learning C++ and probably Java, so I might be able to create some custom programs for The Brotherhood. I'm not a huge douche. When I was in Skill, I was making one of those huge guides that you see for other games occasionally, like one that explains all the functions of the game, and describes weapons and secret places and such; pretty much something that describes every aspect of a game, but Skill got disbanded before I could finish one of them. I can host servers and such for events, and for other players. I have a lot of passion for gaming, and I want to be able to show that through joining this group. I've actually been planning to do a few giveaways, and I think this subforum would be the place where the most people would appreciate it. I don't have the grammar of a 9 year old. I try to be as HQ as possible, with a mixture of good grammar, being able to contribute to a discussion, and actually knowing what I'm talking about it. This paragraph is a bit repetitive, because I'm not really sure what to say. I actually would love to have a collaborative effort of members of a Twitch channel or a Youtube channel, where we all upload stuff and play together, and this group is the perfect opportunity to do that, because everyone enjoys what I enjoy.

Now the apps are starting to look up. I like.

I'm going to be honest here and say that I haven't made any mega threads, tutorials or whatever. Other than on my Youtube channel of course. I have posted a ton in the sections though, and I don't plan stopping. I do have a lot of knowledge regarding a variety of games though, running game servers and what else a gamer with a lot of time would do. Gaming as a whole is a very big concept, so I can't say I'm a Jack of All Trades quite yet, but I am closing in on it. With for example reaching as far as Gold III on League of Legends before I got bored with the game, and I did that in a short period of time. That just shows I'm a very fast learner, and that I'm competitive, since I had to keep up with my friends who're amazing at the game. My most played game ever is WoW though, so I have a LOT of experience in that field. Just take a look:

Spoiler (Click to View)

Why should we accept you?:

Because I have a passion for gaming. I've done a lot of stuff in the past, given up on it because it got boring and so on. That has never happened with gaming, and never will. Hacking? Nah, I'd rather kill this fucker. Marketing? Just after I've bought these games and played them for a while. Also, out of the top 5 sections I've posted in, 3/5 of them are gaming related.

To be honest, I fucking love playing games. Just yesterday I was playing against a famous streamer and youtuber (Swiftly). The adrenaline rush was amazing, I've never felt anything like it. And I won against him, so that just made it all a lot better.

But why should you accept me into The Brotherhoods Gaming Sector? Because I fucking love games, gaming and whatever else is related to it. I'd stream every day if I had the internet for it, but I don't. I've tried though, but 999 ping and 360p doesn't really get you far. I am however able to make video content, so I'll be more than happy to guide someone via videos. Or even just chat, if that's better.

I'd really like to be a part of The Brotherhood. Find people I can play with, have fun with and share awesome moments with. I'm down for playing almost any game with the right person, so I really hope that I'd be able to get into The Brotherhood and find that person or those people there. I'd prefer if those people didn't have squeaky voices, get mad if anything bad happens or something like that. I will also make fun of you if you begin raging in League of Legends for example.

I really love the "fun" part of gaming, that means I'll often fuck around or do some weird shit. This is because I believe games are meant to be played to have fun, and not sit in silence and anger because someone killed you. Nah, instead you should laugh at what happened and do something fun. Of course, I'm competitive, so I always try to improve my game. I'll also go "serious mode" whenever needed, so no worrying about trolling or something relevant to trolling. Of course, I'm not half bad at gaming either. I quickly pick up on how games work, even if I just started playing. Depending on skill level, I should catch up to the people I'm playing with after a bit of time.

What about myself? Well, Like I just told you; I LOVE the fun parts of games, so I'll try my best to have fun while playing. Of course I'm not some weird fuck. I behave normally at all times, and don't randomly get pissed or have a mental breakdown. I also play a very big variety of games, so that's why I can play whatever is fun. Although I'm not good with horror games, they give me the spooks. I always try my very best to look as HQ as possible, using grammar that doesn't look like I just graduated from kindergarten. I'm always down to help anyone in need, the only thing they need to do is to PM me. I'm also on a lot, so my response time is amazing.

That concludes my application, I hope you consider me.

Thank you for reading my application.

Why should we accept you?: I believe you should accept me because I'm a friendly user who likes to have fun and contribute. I love learning and getting to know other people. I'm very competitive, but with that I'm also easygoing and understanding. I want to be part of a new community and try new games with new people. Right now I'm trying to get the hang of CS:GO, and I think that it would be great to find other players who enjoy the competitive version of the game. If I get good enough I'd even like to pass on what I know to other players. I've got a lot of free time on my hands, so why not spend it with a group of cool new people? I like to help others when they're having difficulty, I don't enjoy cheating on games. It takes all of the challenge away and I just feel like there's nothing left to do. I've been gaming since the age of four or five. I started out on the first Xbox, Halo 2 is still an all-time favorite. I remember the Playstation 2 as well, playing the Crash Bandicoot racing games and Spyro the Dragon. Gaming is a huge part of my life and I don't see it ending anytime soon. As new games come out there is just that much more excitement for the next adventure for me to have. There is always going to be something brand new coming out and I want it all. Getting the feel of a game will always be a new experience with the new ways game developers are thinking. Storylines in games mean a lot to me. I love getting invested in something and having it all play out until it's finally resolved. My favorite types of games are single player RPG games for that reason. MegaMan X is my favorite older/classic game. The Castlevania series has always been a good one as well. I like classic games. Except Mario. I hate Mario. An opportunity like this is amazing. It would make my day to be accepted. I want to be a part of a family here. I just hope the Brotherhood is the right one. That's about it, I'm glad I got the opportunity to write this.

PC Gaming Application

First, I would like to say thank you for the opportunity to join your group. It's one of the groups I've been the most interested in joining.

Username: Magnate

Age: N/A

Time-zone: Pacific Time Zone (UTC-8)

Games you own: The only game I own is Starcraft 2, but I usually play League of Legends.

Links to contribution to the gaming community: I haven't contributed to the gaming section as much as I'd like, because at the moment I'm on vacation, but in about a month I will be contributing a lot more.

Why should we accept you?: I think I would be a great addition to your group for many reasons, so I'll just name off a few. One of the biggest things I have to offer is my knowledge. I have been playing video games for years now, specifically around two years on the PC, but much more including all the other consoles and systems I've used. I think knowledge is the greatest power, and mine will definitely benefit the group in a positive way. Another thing I have to offer is my passion. I enjoy gaming greatly, and I think this is essential when it comes to a thriving gaming community. If you don't enjoy what you're doing, I don't think you put the same amount of effort into it.

Furthermore, another thing I have to offer is my maturity. I like to stay respectful and courteous especially when I'm representing a group, so I don't tarnish their reputation. My sense of humor is a bonus I would say, because everyone needs a laugh every once in a while. I would say my best attribute though is my resilience to negativity, and my ability to learn. I know I'm not the best, and I don't claim to be. I always want to learn more, and teach what I know. That way, I ensure someone else gains new knowledge as well, which to me is very important. If you allow me the chance to join your group, I promise you will not be disappointed. I would like to better the future of your group, and meet like-minded individuals who enjoy playing video games with acquaintances, and just overall want to have a good time.

Thank you once again.

PC Gaming: Primarily LoL and Steam

Username: bitcube / (LoL: Phyze) / (Steam: ButtFister)

Age: 21

Time-zone: EST

Games you own: League of Legends, Killing Floor, CSGO, Unturned, L4D2, and a few others I rarely play anymore.

Links to contribution to the gaming community: I have exactly 100 posts in Nexus. I would have more, but I vacation banned myself a few weeks after I joined until recently. Otherwise, I have 51 posts in the LoL section (I don't post there much anymore because it doesn't help me improve as a player).

Why should we accept you?: I'm looking for a closer, more tight-knit community for PC gaming rather than something like Nexus, which focuses only on League of Legends and has way more people than it should. Though I enjoy the group, it doesn't exactly fit my needs for a "community," really. The Brotherhood would be somewhere I would be able to share my thoughts and theories while getting feedback from people I'm close to and friends with. League is something I spend a lot of my time on and I don't plan on quitting anytime soon. Other than LoL, I do play games on Steam and I constantly buy more/download more games to play with friends. I find it to be a respite from all the stresses of work, college, and the sort. It would be great to play with a few close friends and share some fun with people I know. Other than that, my strengths lie in my ability to teach and learn. I love to play with people who are more experienced than I am in order to learn more, and I enjoy playing with people who are less experienced than I am in order to pass down the skills I've acquired through trial and error. Despite my lack of contribution to the gaming section, I find that the quality of my responses is more important than the quantity. When I do end up replying, I usually follow up with a "practical," another way of saying I add them and play with them afterwards. I find that the best way to get to know people and if accepted into the Brotherhood, I'll definitely take the time out of my day to get to know each and every member personally.

Referencing skills, I am a website designer and I love to test my abilities on a daily basis. I'll be happy to work on projects involving that whenever I do have the time.

Why should we accept you?:

I believe I deserve to be accepted into the Brotherhood for three reasons. For one thing, I am a very dedicated gamer. I have over 40 games on steam along with some non-steam games. Secondly, I know a lot about games and gaming. I try to keep up with any news that involves the games I like the most (such as Minecraft), and I know a lot of the general things you need to know to be accepted in a gaming community. Lastly, I play games a lot. When it comes to gaming, I always have spare time. I will explain these 3 points and more in the following paragraphs.

First I will add on to the point of being a dedicated gamer. See, I have been playing games for arguably 6-8 years now. I won an arcade (the last one they had, no less) from a Mt. Dew contest when I was a kid. I've owned 2 NES's, a Super Nintendo, a DS, a Gameboy and Gameboy Advanced, a ps1, two ps2's, and three ps3's. Oh, and of course, two computers. The first one being a not so good one, but now I have a fairly nice PC which is not too bad for gaming, though I wouldn't deny a better one. I think that's plenty of information to show that I am, indeed, a gamer.

Now, I will go further into my knowledge of gaming. As I stated in the last paragraph, I have been gaming for quite a long time. One of the first games I played for a long while was a game called "Platform Racing 2". Some may not know what it is. Most of you probably do, it was fairly popular for quite a while and still seemingly is. Anyway, through the community interaction on that game, I started learning how people act on games, and what some people expect of you when you are talking to them in chats/through games. I started improving my grammar. I learned when and when not to talk back to people, whether or not they're wrong, because in games there's always a person that has complete control over whether or not you can continue to play their game. These, I have learned, are sort of like the "rules of a gaming community".

Last but most certainly not least, I play a lot of games. Yeah, indeed I do. If I listed every game I could remember that I've ever played from when I first picked up my first controller to now, there would probably be over 300 different games (possibly more counting every flash game). For whatever reason, it seems I was just.. born a gamer, so to speak. Gaming tends to give me thrills and feelings that I simply don't get from the real world. Also, they provide a good escape for when I'm pissed or bored. Games are a big part of my life, and I would really like to involve myself in something like this so that I can keep it that way.

Thank you for reading my application.

I sincerely hope that you will consider me, as I feel I would fit in quite nicely with a community such as this one.

Why should we accept you?:

I think I should be accepted into "The Brotherhood" because I am a young and dedicated gamer. I'm tired of the same people on COD complaining about getting killed or simply whining. "The Brotherhood" seems like a nice and decent community that I would love to join. I'm currently saving up for a HDPVR to record some gameplay and start up a Youtube channel, but I'm far from it as I have other stuff to take care of. I strive to be the best of the best when I play. I play Videos games whenever I can. I can play for hours non-stop. I'm also a fun and chill person. I can crack jokes for hours but also stay quiet and stay serious for the whole game. Whenever I play Call Of Duty, I play serious. I do not like to go negative. I can be a total beast at times and other times be one of the worst players of all time.

It all depends on my mood and the time of day. I play and work off of motivation, me joining "The Brotherhood" will only bring me more motivation to strive for the best. "The Brotherhood" is probably one of my favorite groups besides "Miners" only because cryptocurrency is one of my addictions besides Call Of Duty. If accepted into "The Brotherhood" I will bring my gaming knowledge to the others, I will also post daily in the SF section. I hope you read and accept my application. Thank you!

Why should we accept you?:

I'd like to be accepted into the The Brotherhood because I feel that I would be a great addition to the team. I am a former member of the BHSS (Brotherhood Spy Squad) and know what it takes to be apart of the group. I have been apart of Hack Forums for a while now and consider myself to be a knowledgeable member. I also have been an avid gamer since I was young. I started back on a Turbo Grafx system and plan on buying a PS4 in the upcoming months. For a long time I was an Xbox 360 player, but I have recently switched over to the PS3. I enjoy the community and I am anxious to meet new people and game with them. I can play competitively, but prefer a more relaxed game with friends. I am an easy going person and feel that I get along with most people that I meet. I have quite a few games and enjoy playing all of them and I am open to playing new games as well. I enjoy a wide range of games and playing with friends is even better. I feel that I am active and could live up to the group standards of playing. I play a few times a week for a few hours at a time. I feel that I should be accepted because I am a dedicated player and member of the Hack Forums community and think that I could fit into the group well. I know a few members who are in the group and I've only heard good things. I feel that I'd be a great addition and hope that you consider me. I hope to learn, but also hope to share my knowledge if accepted.

Why should we accept you?:

The reasons why I should be accepted into the group would have to be the following! I am a great team player that is always open minded about anything. I get along with everyone that I come in contact with. Overall If I am added to "The Brotherhood" my performance will be outstanding when it comes to helping members out and being apart of the group. I have been a member of the community for over four now and I have met plenty of smart members on the site and I feel that I could be a lot of help with the group as well as get help. I am always here to help everyone out as you can clearly see from my feedback alone, and If I am chosen great things will happen because of it.

Why should we accept you?:You should accept me because I have been gaming since I was 6 years old, that was back in the 90's, I am a long time member of the Xbox Live Community (10 Years) I am really looking forward to meeting new people and Xbox gamers alike, I am more active now on Hack Forums and Xbox with my own apartment to live in, I work Hard, Im well likable, respectful to all people, I am VERY Good at everything I play usually. I have a lot of spare time on my hands to participate in anything you want to do, or need me for. I have had a very hard life, With my family, and money. Everything I have, I got myself, I have been on my own since I was 16 years old. I Do Work a lot during the weekends but i usually get a few days off during the week. I Am very mature and responsible, I do NOT Troll people, I don't believe that it is funny in any way at all what so ever. I take Xbox, And gaming VERY serious, I am Very competitive person when it comes to First person shooters. I Know how to hard drive mod just about anything, I can help with videos, and tutorials, I can teach people, and give lessons on how to be better for new members, or people that are not so good at certain games. I like to talk to people when I play single player games like Skyrim, Fallout, Skate Etc.. Anyways, I have been looking for the right group to join on Hack Forums, and I think I finally found the one that fits me best.

Thank You for giving me the opportunity to apply for your amazing longstanding group. I look forward to meeting all of your members, And i know that you will look into my application and see to it that I am fit to join your Xbox Gaming section of the Brotherhood.

P.S. I should be getting UB3R soon.
I did Apply, Waiting to be contacted.

Why should we accept you?:

While other kids were learning how to ride a bike I was mastering the finer points of...let's put it this way, I have been gaming for a long time and have had no life in the process. When I was 4 it was Super Mario and Mario Kart, after that it was bothering my older brother to let me watch him play CS and HoN, at around 10 my irresponsible parents bought me Call of Duty, and somewhere around 2010 the purchase of my own computer allowed me to get more serious about PC gaming. I joined hackforums back in 2012, but have only recently decided to start looking for a group I'd like to join. This led me to you guys. The Brotherhood seems like a place where I can be serious about gaming, but still have some fun. I am a pretty laid back guy, but I get stuff done. My computer is decently fast so you usually won't have to worry about any lag issues with me and I have a sound-canceling mic so only I have to deal with the annoying noise from my air conditioning. I like to joke around, but honestly I am just looking for a group of people who I can be passionate about because gaming is a very important part of my life. Thank you for taking the time to read my application (sorry if it was boring) and I hope you consider me as a useful addition to this group.

Why should we accept you?: I'm searching new challenges, new friendships, new games. The Brotherhood looks to me a great group because there is a gaming sector. I love gaming that is all. I waisted thousands of hours to play FPS with my friends. Sadly everything went to a hold up when I had some other interest than gaming. Every time I find people on the internet searching teammates. It gave me a boost to restart again and find me decent teammates. Just wan't to have fun! My gaming skills are very good. I'm seeking to someone with the same skills and make a team with it. I've never tried a real tactic when it comes to gaming. I'm more someone that is just trying to get he's team winning in every way. Gaming isn't that fun when you have no one to team up with. I've make a lot of friends due gaming and I hope, that I can make some new friends. Something that might be important, I own a Elgato Game Capture. I'm willing to record for everyone with a Playstation 3 & 4. I seek for jobs to record for people, most of them became my friends. I've never actually raged before due losing. Only when my friends are complaining and shit about each other. I truly hope that I can find new dedicated players, to play with. I hope that you enjoyed my application. My english isn't that very good. My apologise for that problem. Have a nice day sir!

I've been playing since I was 6 years old and will keep playing and using my time on entertaining, challenging and funny games. I'm a huge gamer and computer fan. I've been trying alot of games on nearly every modern console. I have been a LoL gamer since the beta, CS:S for 7 years. You won't regret accepting me into the group, as I am a positive and nice person that keeps being high quality in any way. I've set smiles on faces since 2012 on HF and IRL too. Gaming is my thing, and I'm looking forward to possibly become a profesionnal gamer in the future. I am communicating / speaking while playing games, as it makes competitive gaming easier and makes it all better. What is a game if you are lonely and not having fun? Since I have had so much experience of so many years of gaming, I like using my knowledge and experience to help others. That's what makes humanity go round, help and generosity.

I play various games and I really enjoy making small communities for games such as Garry's Mod and Minecraft. Although you may not see that much post activity inside the Gaming Lounge from me etc you'll see quite a lot in the Anime Section. This is not because I do not like talking about Gaming but rather because I'm an avid Anime Addict. I enjoy talking about Anime above all else but I am still capable of having a decent discussion regarding PC Games and I do enjoy talking about it.

I would absolutely love to join a group centered around PC Gaming although I do not have that much to offer in return. I can use a microphone and I can talk, my English isn't that bad although it's not that good either considering it's not my native language. I love having friendly conversations and I really like playing Games on Steam or other games such as "GunZ the Duel". Although I do not have much to offer but if I got the chance to join the Brotherhood I would do my very best to meet up to your standards.

I have a friend who is currently inside the Brotherhood and according to what he says it's a very decent group. The moment I saw this thread I absolutely didn't want to miss out on the chance and I decided to immediately start working on this Application.

Why should we accept you?:

Ive played games since i was a young boy and have since then played or own almost every gaming console available in this country, I have played innumerable amounts games and have a broad knowledge on a lot of genres, But since ive built very expensive gaming pc's this has dominated the majority of my gaming, If im not browsing HF im usually on steam or origin, Im a very friendly player and dont mind lending people helping hands, Im also a good team player which makes me ideal for groups playing certain games such as Civ 5 or WoW, Im also a pretty experienced in the field of Computer Hardware as i have my A+ certification so it cant hurt to have someone around who knows a little about hardware. I guess i just feel like id fit in nicely. Im not a vulgar or offensive person but i will defend myself and friends if people start acting like assholes. Many people i have played with describe me as friendly and skilled. Im a generally trustworthy person and will trust other as long as they do not try to double cross me. I also dont mind sharing some of my other steam accs. to others who would like to play the games on it. I also have a pretty well built rig so i can play most any game. My specs include an AMD Fx 9590 and an AMD r9 280x. I have a headset to talk of course. I also have a ps3 but i rarely play in it addition to my N64, NES, SegaGenesis, Gamecube, Wii, Wii u, Atrai 2600 and 7800, My gameboy color, DS lite, PS3, and xbox original. I do not appreciate the way you responded. It isn't about who you know, it is about the level of you're gaming caliber and the way you apply. No way is it about being ub3r etc. Rethink that thanks..

ONTOPIC : Have been going through apps. Some of you do need to rethink the way you apply. Some of you are not putting any effort into why we should accept you. This should be easy to write 250 words. Due to majority of the PS3 applications being too little detailed, I will give you guys a chance to edit you're application and put abit more effort in.

I thought long and hard about what to write in my application. I really did not have anything else to add. I gave you all the reasons that i thought i should be accepted. Im not going to tell you my shoe size and that i have a black xbox 360 from 2009.

I will not list irrelevant reasons just to get a higher number of words in my explanation of why i want to join.

I didn't mean to insult you or the Brotherhood as a group.

I just wanted to at least be noticed, and not ignored and sent to the back of the list cause im L33T.

It confuses me, it really does. Why do people think ub3rs are better than l33ts? Some ub3rs are just horrible people while l33ts are kind and smart. Not saying all ub3rs are bad by the way. Good luck with your application.

Why should we accept you?: I personally feel you should accept me not only because I could bring more to the group but because of my passion for gaming. Allow me to fill you in on my gaming situation..

I started PC gaming about 3 Years ago when I switched away from my xbox. My first game was Cod4 , needless to say one of the best games I've ever played...hands down. I went straight into the competitive scene of the game, playing Promod with my (irl) friends/clan . I played this for years, day in day out. I don't mean to sound arrogant but I really was amazing at the game along with my clan. If you've ever played COD4 promod properly, which I'm sure you have if you are a PC gamer you'll know all about strafing, bouncing, the wallbangs, the rushes, the elevators etc. I know it all.

I recently I've stopped the COD4 and I am playing a mixture of all the other games I listed above!

Games you own: Some of my main games I play are Garry's Mod, Counter Strike: Global Offensive, Minecraft, DayZ Standalone and Mod. I also own many more games with a steam library of 124 games.

Links to contribution to the gaming community: In my time on Hackforums I haven't really contributed to the gaming community that much other than organising a Minecraft griefing group and helping out people asking about general questions related to the games I play.

Why should we accept you?: I believe I should be accepted because I am a major old school gamer, I have been gaming on the PC for many years. I am an avid gamer and I know a lot about gaming and specific games in general. I would like to join a community that are similar to me so I can learn about new games, and help other people to learn. I am an all around friendly person that likes to have a good time gaming. As well as PC gaming I also play on Xbox 360, and occasionally my PlayStation 3. I remember starting gaming, and the first thing I ever played as far as I could recall was Super Mario on the NES. I would always visit my cousin, who was an avid gamer at that time as I am now. He would always show me new games, and I would also have to get them. I think the first online game I ever played was Runescape, this was during the 2005 time, my cousin had just shown me it and I wanted to play it straight away. This led to me discovering more MMO's and I found my love for FPS's. One day I was over my cousin's house and he was playing an awesome shooter. It had later turned out to be a game called "Wolfenstein, Enemy Territory." I remember installing it on my computer for the first time, and having no idea what to do. I eventually learned how to play and I remember my favourite gamemode was BaseRace in which the objective was to get to the enemy base, pick up the crate and get back to your base to upgrade it. Eventually I found all of that boring, when I saw on youtube that there was a new popular game, called Minecraft. I first got it when it was in 1.7.3 Beta, yet I played indev all of the time on their website. It is amazing to see how far gaming has come from all of this, to make up what it is today. Thank you for taking the time to read my application, Games you own: I don't play much PC games, however, lately I've been started playing a game called "Battlefield Heroes" again, and it's honestly one of the best games I've ever played, and I will continue playing it. There aren't much US players on the game, more of an aus/eur game, however, I am wanting to introduce it to specific people to come on and join me. I won't give much specifics about it yet, however, if I am able to join into this sector, the first thing I will post is about this game, how to play, and maybe livestream for you guys.

Links to contribution to the gaming community:I don't really "contribute" much as there isn't anything I can contribute in with PC gaming as you can basically find any mod/hack you need through Google, and posting it on here would be useless, however, I've just started becoming active on HF again, and being part of a group revolving around gaming, and other parts would be an excellent start.

Why should we accept you?: Well, I've been gaming for way too many years, and it's always been a dream to meet new friends through forums, and game with them and have a good relation with one another. I want to make the game Battlefield Heroes better than it is now by inviting some HF members (especially members of a group) to come join me and play a few rounds with me, and maybe talk on Teamspeak or Skype and just game. The game is honestly really fun and I would just love to play with a group of people. Being part of a group on HF would be amazing, especially The Brotherhood. This group has so much meaning to it, you can tell by its name, and being part of The Brotherhood would be fucking amazing. I've been PC gaming for so long, whether my PC is a piece of shit or not, I will PC game as I enjoy it more than Xbox or any other console. Even though I do own an Xbox, PS3, and a PS4, if I were to only keep one, my PC would be the one. Discovering new and fun PC games are always great, but having one favorite one is always the best. I want to share my gaming experience with a very special group and hopefully gain new friends this way. I've been playing ONE pc game for over 6 years and it's still fun to play, but it would be so much more fun to play with an actual TEAM and kick ass. Anyway, I honestly wish I could be part of this group, and I will definitely take my acceptance to my advantage if applicable.

I don't really care for making my application look "fancy" and shit, I think it's all about quantity, and I'm sure I hit the amount of words needed. Thanks for reading my application, and I hope I get accepted. ?

Links to contribution to the gaming community: I haven't contributed much to the hack-forums gaming community but I am the owner of (T.w²) Gaming-Community based out of CS:GO. I manage 5 CEVO teams, 10 Servers in total, we range from CS:GO - to games like Killing Floor. Our roster count is 160+ with 600 steam group members. We are growing at a fast pace. In my eyes I've contributed quite a bit to the gaming community in general. This is my 15th community, second self owned. All the others I was promoted to an ownership role within weeks. This group has been open for 8 months as of the 1st and is rising at a fast pace to the top of the gaming world. Slowly we are getting recognized, if there are a lot of players who do matchmaking in CS:GO there is a good chance you've seen a T.w² member here and there. Our goal is by Christmas to have 200 Official Members which is practical as we are averaging 15 applications a week and 550 new players in our GameME tracked servers per week.

Why should we accept you?: I could be a great addition to your group, I have a lot of experience managing gaming communities; and would be more than happy to have some members of The Brotherhood Gaming Sector to play on my gameservers I already host for T.w². Members would even be welcome to use our mumble, or have us host your group one for free. I feel like it would be great to meet some CS:GO players and invite them over to play on my CEVO teams. I'm a Legendary Eagle for CS:GO and feel I can also extend tips to this group. It would be a cool experience to be a part of The Brotherhood as I've never taken much interest in joining a HF group before. If I do get accepted to The Brotherhood, and there is a large pool of CS:GO players, even teams that are in the group - I would also hand out usage of my 128 Tick CS:GO CEVO Servers to anyone who wanted to use it. It would be great to let other groups use them, we have maximum 50 people playing CEVO, therefore letting this group have access would be no problem. For some games that my community current has servers on, I would also be more than happy to run events partnered with or hosted for The Brotherhood, I have event officials/staff for my gaming community (T.w²) that could host "partnered" events, or allow your group to host events separately. T.w² has planned for a long time to run a few CS:GO tournaments as money began to allow, and we're getting to that point. All of your members would be more than welcome to attend. There's not much more that I can just say why you should accept me; it's more going to be a visual thing in the future hopefully. I have services / offerings I can provide for usage, and accepted or not would have no issue handing out for usage. With years of gaming and a lot of experience, it would be a good opportunity for me to join.

Best of luck to all applicants.

I play a lot of games, and have done for a long while, so can easily involve myself in gaming related discussion. Being in Instinct is great fun, and so I feel that being part of more groups on HF would enable me to make more friends, have a bigger pool of people to game with, and just enjoy the slightly different atmospheres of all the groups. I'm a supporter of the PC master race, so if there are many die-hard console fans in the group, things could get very interesting very quickly. In total I think I've spent about £4000 GBP on my machine, so I take it very, very seriously. Other than that, I can just say how honoured I'd be to get accepted into the Brotherhood Gaming Sector, and the Brotherhood as a whole.

To be fair, the reason why Ub3rs are viewed by 'some' people as a 'higher priority' on the site is because they contributed to the sites upkeep and cared enough about their accounts and the possible features for upgrading that they decided to upgrade. Normal members and upgraded members aren't intended to be separated in terms of popularity by any means and if you were upgraded I'm sure the last thing you would say is what you posted above. There are tons of ub3rs and L33t members who have been banned and had their accounts closed on this sites, the same way that normal members have been banned and had their accounts closed. Reputation doesn't mean much and it shouldn't be used to determine a person's worth on the forum. It holds less value than most people care to believe. You'll learn really quick here, that if something pisses you off, it's best to just ignore it and if it violates policy then report it, because responding with that kind of attitude just makes you stoop down to the people you think are trying to bring you down. Don't bash the site for the treatment you get here, just be yourself and take advantages of the sites resources to improve your knowledge and skill-set. Take it easy.

I know it states I haven't played the last two weeks, there is one simple reason, I have had some problems with my other PC but I will most likely get a new one this week (need to receive my money first)

Beside my Steam library I have some games on Origin such as BF3, Command and Conquer collection a long with other games.

I have the Diablo games (all of them), Starcraft 2, WoW (Only played it for like a couple hours) Minecraft and several other smaller games.

Diablo 3 Console information thread

How many games do you have on Steam? - A thread to get people to add each other also.

Beside these I have had several informative threads about specific games or the systems, not big threads so I don't think they are worthy to be on this list.

Why should we accept you?:

That is a good question. I personally think I have a big enough knowledge withing the gaming topics. Whether it being games, systems, game development and other topics. The more I have played games and read about them the more I have got out of them.

I mostly posts in the game sections as that is the main reason why I am on this forum. Not only can I express my own opinions but I have also learned a lot from other people on here.

For me gaming is a big part, perhaps a too big part of my life. I have played games most of my life. Since I was a kid I used to play different kind of games just for the enjoyment.

My taste in games have changed a lot over the years I have been playing games. That also gives you one really big reason not to accept me. Which is currently I enjoy singleplayer games a lot more because of the stories, the character developments and all that. Once I would be one of the people who thought Multiplayer was the best part of games but in reality it isn't. Of course it's fun to play with others but the last couple years, it have been story driven games that have caught my interest.

I don't believe that people should get expectations/opinions about games before playing them as there are big differences from information/videos to actually playing the games. I have seen countless of people on this forum bashing games because the games didn't met their expectations and to be honest I think that is bullshit. If developers should meet our expectations then that would mean they should make the perfect game that would fit to every taste in games. Which would be impossible.

Beside PC gaming I play a lot on my PS3 (especially the last few weeks while I haven't been able to play much PC games). So to be honest I wasn't sure whether I should apply for the PC or PS.

For me it wouldn't do much of a difference as I play on both PS3 and PC (when it works that is) a lot. I am one of the few people who think all the fighting between systems is pathetic. We are all gamers, why should it matter whether you play on a console (Xbox or Playstation) or a PC. It's pathetic that some people think they are better than others because they play games on one of the systems. The only thing people are doing is they are limiting themselves from several games that are exclusives to a system. I would rather play a game and have fun than thinking about "If I played it on another system, the graphics would be better". For me graphics in games are just one of the tiny things. Gameplay > Graphics any day.

And basically most of my threads are regarding gaming, and also my main areas of activity

My gaming forum, <http://gamingforums.net>, a forum that we've invested almost two thousand into so far, and we aren't looking for profit.

Why should we accept you?: I'm a gamer, and I love gaming in spare slots when I'm not being a sysadmin for someone. My forum states a thing a lot, built by gamers, for gamers. I made a forum based on gaming because I'm interested in what happens in the gaming community, I like making news posts and I want to be a fair, involved board owner, make a professional forum and be in the midst of the action, not someone who's looked at differently. Enough about the forum, I play on my Playstation a lot, I've probably spent a lot of money on games themselves, that's just a list of games from my memory and the couple that are in front of me next to my Playstation 3 and 4 right now. I like to be involved, discuss, game with others (can't stand singleplayer gameplay unless the game is really fun i.e. gta, watch dogs etc). I'd love to play with other members in The Brotherhood, attend game nights, possibly host some game nights. I am interested in YouTube and streaming and have days of clips to upload, so I'd love to do some Twitch streams of some multiplayer gameplay with some ps3/4 friends on CoD, BF or basically any other game I have (that supports multiplayer). I'm a gamer, and that's all I'm interested in when it comes down to this application. I'd love a chance to meet some new people and have some fun, because at the end of the day Gaming is classed under Entertainment.

That is it besides playing with members and sharing streams I'm in I don't consider that contributing tho.

Why should we accept you?: I think I should be accepted into Brotherhoods gaming sector since I've been gaming for most of my life, I have played almost all types of games and almost every console. I Started playing Pokemon Yellow on game boy, and went on to Jak and Dexter on playstation, later moving to Halo: combat evolved on Xbox, after the xbox I moved to Xbox 360 with Halo 3 and Modern Warfare 2 since Modern Warfare 2 I've been hooked on the series still playing it. I started randomly playing then got into quick scoping, then being in clans, after being in clans, I moved to Game battles and Competitive which I can say I'm still in. If I was in Brotherhood I'd participate in gamenights (if that is even a thing) or if there isn't I'd see if it's ok starting one, so all the fellow gaming members can play with one another getting to know each other and such. Also if people who played League of Legends would play with me I'd do that aswell I'm terrible at the game Level 6 and killed about 3 champions overall. I'd get to expand my reach with gaming with fellow gamers who I do not know. Well I'm not sure how you will feel about my application I'm not the best with words never was too gifted with writing but it is a recruitment for gaming so I'm hoping my applications lack of flare doesn't have an effect on it.

Peace Devour.

I've ran a YouTube channel back in the day when I had time to upload stuff.

The whole channel was based on helping the gaming community and at that time it was Battlefield.

Here's an example: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=a9xssWfQDL4>.

There are many more on the channel.

Why should we accept you?

You should accept me because I've been into the gaming scene since 2005 and have loved it till today. I love playing competitive and attending to tournaments with friends. I like helping the community with whatever I am able to, I have previously held an online tournament called LevelBF where I was commentating while there was a 32v32 match going on in Battlefield. I was previously a console player (X360) but switched to PC shortly after since I was originally playing on a laptop and felt more comfortable with PC gaming and I felt like it had more potential.

Right now I only play Rust and LoL. I'm looking to expand my PC gaming spectrum, which is why I want to join! Becoming part of a community seems like a great way to find some new games to play, so hopefully we can all be friends and try things out together!

For what it's worth, you can check my posts in the education section. I'm truly a helpful guy, I just haven't found my place in gaming yet):

Links to contribution to the gaming community:

Like I said, I'm fairly new to the PC Gaming world. I used to play a LOT of Xbox, and now college friends have forced me into the PC world and I quite like it! If you take a look at my threads/posts, you'll see that I've contributed to LoL and Rust discussions quite often.

Why should we accept you?:

In a nutshell, I'm a friendly person who would like to learn more about gaming whilst also becoming more professionally involved within Hackforums.

Whether I'm gaming online, out with friends, or off at the library cramming for tests... I'm a personable guy who isn't hard to talk to. I'm welcoming and talkative, but I'm also not afraid to disagree. Should I be accepted into the Brotherhood, my social goals are to fit in nicely and have everyone be comfortable with me and to coexist in a manner that stimulates lasting friendships. I'm looking for some gamer buddies on Hackforums, as I constantly find myself making threads to look for fellow HF members to play games with. Should I be accepted, I'm sure this would no longer be an issue!

Like I've mentioned above, I'm somewhat new to PC Gaming. I'd like to learn more about it and share some fun times with HF members, and I think joining the Brotherhood as a NEW gamer would be the best way to go about doing so! Yea, you guys could accept the guy who's got 600 games in his steam library and can recite the storylines to each and every one of them... OR! You could accept the guy that will be fun to experience new things with. I pride myself on my desire to experience life to its fullest, and I assure you that fun times will be had by everyone if I become part of the community!

Lastly, there's the Sense of community. While I may not have been a Hackforums member for as long as some ubers, I have the post count to prove that I am involved. With all this involvement, I have yet to find a place that I fit in. It seems a lot of members fall into my category, and I feel their pain; I WANT OUT! I need a group to call mine! a group bar to show pride in! I need a group of people that I will be willing to go out of my way to help because I know that they would do the same for me. I strive to maintain a professional appearance in everything I do; I would be honored to be able to call myself a part of the Brotherhood, and more honored to be able to say that I did my part in bringing success to the group's name.

Why should we accept you?: The Brotherhood should accept me considering I have a huge passion for video games. I have been gaming for at least five years competitively and for fun. I also love to socialize with other people, I get along with almost everyone. I play almost whenever I have the free time. I love to get with other people and play a fun game with them. I see so much fun in it. I also am very good at playing as well. I am very mature as well so there will be no problems with me being immature. I am always down to be with others in any game I own. Now at last I am very dedicated with what I do when it comes to video games. I will not stop at being alright at a video game, I want to conquer everyone and everything in this said game just to prove I am better than the average gamer. I don't like being average so I will do what I can in this game to be better, even if that means looking up ways or strategies to be better at the game. I love competition I know it will always be there, someone will be better than me but I can try being better, but don't get me wrong - I love having fun with others.

I have a lot of experience when it comes to the Playstation system. Have been using it since day one and have always been a modder. Modded the 1, 2 and 3 myself. Have been modding the PS3 since day one. I play a lot and write about games regularly. You can visit the Sony gaming channel and see for yourself, I'm a very active member there.

I spend a lot of time in the 'Sony Gaming' subforum, as I deem myself very competent when it comes to PlayStation systems and PSN. You can also find me in the 'Computer and Online Gaming' and I am a passionate PC and most of all online-gamer. I live for competitive online games. That way, you can also find me in the 'Diablo' and 'FIFA Game Forum' as well as the 'FPS and Military Style Gaming' sub.

I should be accepted because I would more than regularly post in the subforum and try my best to bring more quality to you, guys and girls. I could post tutorials, game guides, character guides and in general help people that need guidance, as Instinct is not just a group for hardcore gamers, but also those that do not play as often, but share the same passion. Also, I could join in on various games and hop into gaming sessions. I am a dedicated gamer, so you won't have a hard time getting into a game with me, no matter which, as I tend to buy every game I could possibly be interested in and invest a lot of time in every single one. I am also very active on here in general and spend a lot of time online. Means.. I would work my ass off to stay in your group. Also, I am not a bad mooded, grumpy guy. Matter of fact, I love making jokes and having fun with people.

Why should we accept you?: I really, really love gaming. I think that The Brotherhood gaming sector should accept me because I am very, very active. I am online for most of the day (during the summer at least, and I'm still pretty active during the rest of the year). I really feel like I can make a lot of contributions to The Brotherhood's Xbox gaming division. I started gaming about two and a half to three years ago when I bought my Xbox. I think that I should be accepted into The Brotherhood because I'm competitive, fun, outgoing, and really enjoy playing games on both Xbox 360 and PC. My favorite Xbox game that I play most often is GTA V Online. I would have to say my least favorite game is Call of Duty, mainly because I really suck at it. My second favorite game after GTA V is Halo 4. I was in The Brotherhood for a short period before, and met all of the activity requirements until I left HF for a year. If I am accepted into The Brotherhood, I will continue to meet all of the necessary requirements. I will be fully able to complete all sector activities on time, with my greatest potential effort.

Why should we accept you?:

I would just tell a bit about myself and then you decide if you will accept me or not.

I was born in Croatia 16 years ago.

I'm very frendly and nice person and I will always try my best to help someone in need (give them advice,hug them,give them some money...) because It makes me sad to see people that once had home,family,job just stand on street and ask for some money.

If someone asked me to describe myself in 1 word it would probably be Positive because I try to be positive most of time and I look at the world from the positive side. (Glass is half full,right?)

My favorite quote is "Security is illusion" because there is no such thing as security,there will always be something that will "go thru" security because people invent things every day that can change world on better/worst side so we need to be careful what we are doing with knowledge because knowledge is power,you see when Robert Oppenheimer made nuclear bomb it changed world on BAD but when Alexander Fleming invented pencillin it changed world on GOOD side,so we need to make world better place for future generations that may come after us..get me?

I spend most of my free time playing games or going out with my friends

I hate judgmental people.

I'am more like, oh hey do you smoke? Good for you. Hey you drink? That is nice. You wear a lot of make-up? Awesome! You don't? All good with me.

I don't care if you have tattoos,I don't care if you have a lot of money or don't,I don't care if you have fucked up past or not.

I'm no one to judge,just smile and be happy!

(This is little bit off topic because I want you to judge whether or not you should accept me)

Why should we accept you?:Because I am a nice guy who loves playing video games on my spare time and meeting new people. Im also a pretty decent gamer and I am pretty active on HF.I hope to be able to join and make friends within this group and particular sector, and that will be really easy because the majority of the games I play require team work and cooperation etc. I can also greatly benefit from joining this group to help get my name out there more and more in the community as a nice guy and good gamer. The game I feel I am best at has to be Destiny. And I feel that if I were to join The Brotherhood for gaming I would need to be good at popular games that almost everyone plays and loves, and I strongly feel destiny is among them. And I am very open to learning new ways to do well in a game or just fun glitches etc. And although I havnt made any contributions to the gaming area on HF yet, I feel like that will come a lot sooner if I were to join this group because I would gain the trust of people asking for help etc. I can also help with a little bit of troubleshooting if anyone needed it. I feel like I am just babbling on at this point so I am going to leave you guys with this to read, thank you and good luck to everyone else applying.

Why should we accept you?: Some of the reasons why I think you may choose to accept me is that I am very into gaming and I will help anyone who needs help to the best of my ability. Another reason is that I will make the group proud of having me because I make HQ posts and I will always give my advice to someone in need of it. I will be able to attend all meetings or projects needed and I will also be willing to try and join new games and give them a go. I think that we can benefit from each other because I can help anyone in need of help to the best of my ability and I make HQ posts so I can make the group proud. I think I can benefit from this group because I can meet new people and find new games. So I hope you take my application into consideration and that we can both benefit from each other.

Cheers Hoode.

Why should we accept you?: I think you should accept me because I love to play video games, I am dedicated to the community, and I can contribute to the community. I really like the Brotherhood people, they are very nice to everyone in the community. I am looking to join another group also.

Come on dude, you need more effort in you're application than that.

Xbox: 360 or One I generally play both, but I play Xbox 360 more. Due to the fact not many games that I attract towards are out on the Xbox One, I plan to start playing Xbox One more whenever Grand Theft Auto V comes out for it

Games you own: I own many games, but I mainly play COD: Black Ops II just because that is probably one of my favorite games so far, and I play it almost everyday. Below you can find a list of all games I currently own.

COD: Ghosts

Grand Theft Auto V

Modern Warfare 2

Modern Warfare 3

Halo 4

Halo Reach

Titanfall

Links to contribution to the gaming community: I currently do not have any active threads in the gaming section, however I plan to contribute to the group so much with my incoming RGH Trinity. I plan to host free lobbies for members of the group, and occasionally host for members under the name of The Brotherhood. This group seems to be very big in the gaming sections, so I mean why not? I love gaming I've been doing it my whole life, don't get me wrong gaming is awesome, so why not be apart of a big group made around gaming.

Why should we accept you?: First off even though I'm a new member pretty much doesn't mean that's the reason I should be auto-denied. I'm not speaking for myself but I can bring much talk to this group with giveaways, and setting an example for this group. I believe this group has very much potential, and I know it will go far. I wish to grow up, and get known around Hack Forums by this group, I plan to wear the userbar all the time (If I get accepted) Currently I do help out a lot of people with general JTAG help & what not. I really hope you guys at least read my application because I know I am fit for this group, and just my current regular member rank doesn't mean anything. I hope to be accepted into this amazing group & get known around the gaming community.

A little bit about me ... I first got the Xbox 360 back when I was younger and I started out with playing Halo 3 when it was popular during the time, as time progressed more people starting playing Modern Warfare 2 so Easter came around and I finally got the game, I can probably say that was the first time I ever got booted offline from all the people online talking shit, still to this day they do.. Ever since I've started playing Modern Warfare 2 I got into shooting games once more games starting coming out I started playing Black Ops II, then I got in my first modded lobby which then got me interested in hosting my own lobbies so I got my own JTAG and since then I've been hosting and making good amounts of money. Still to this day I love hosting, and probably won't stop cause it's fun and mainly I'm making money with a sticky on another famous gaming forum with around a million members.

If you do get accepted, how will you contribute: If I get accepted I plan on making daily posts in the sub-forum, and even wearing the user bar everyday. I also plan on hosting free lobbies daily for this group & what not which will bring in much attention towards the group. I see no reason (Once again ... rant) to be auto-denied just for my current ranking/posts on Hack Forums, as I'm like every other user.

Thank you.

I have a fair few more, just some examples.

Why should we accept you?: First of all I would just like to say thank you for the opportunity of even applying for a position.

Secondly I strongly believe I should be accepted because

I believe I am a HQ user and an all around nice person who would fit well into the group and get along with others.

I believe one of the greatest things in life is meeting new people and making new friends which is what I aspire to do in this group. Thirdly, I have loved games since before I can even remember! Playing games is a very big passion of mine and I wouldn't mind spending time gaming with some of the BH gang! Also, I would be an active user and treat other members with the respect that they do very much deserve. I believe you should treat others how you would want to be treated. But like I said I'm a very nice person and I would not be a problem at all in the group and would not cause a fuss under any circumstances. I would obey and follow the rules just as I obey and follow the rules here on Hack Forums. I would not argue with other members and or cause an argument, I'm not applying to get in and cause issues. I just wanted to apply today and give it a shot because I have always loved the Brotherhood group and the members in it / running it are some of the nicest people and when I saw this opportunity open I thought why not give it a chance. Thank you for taking the time to read my application and have a nice day ?

Why should we accept you?:

Well, at the moment you are searching for dedicated gamers, I am a dedicated gamer. I play a lot of video games, in all genres. Not always hardcore MLG, I have my good and bad games, but I play to have fun like everybody else should be doing. I could lose 12-0 in a Fifa 14 game with my friends, but I wouldn't care because I'd still be enjoying the fact that I'm there playing together online with my friends. In the end, sure gaming is about winning, but it's mainly about having a good time while you're doing it. If you aren't enjoying yourself, then you're doing something wrong. With all the years I've spend gaming, since 2005, I know my shit. I like meeting new people, and I'd like to join your Brotherhood and connect with other gamers and members likewise. The only reason I spent 2 hours typing all of this up and putting it all together is because I really feel that I'd be a positive impact on this group. Why? Well, I'd like to have new pals to game with, that's why. I can share some of my expertise(eh), and the same vise versa. I'm a nice guy, I like helping people and contributing towards gaming and other things, a lot of people know and like me, so why wouldn't you accept me? (Inb4 not accepted). Thanks very much for your consideration.

Why should we accept you?: First of all, I have been a member of HF for around 3 or so years, I am dedicated to staying in the community and bettering it during my time here, the brotherhood will not be an exception to this trend, I will be dedicated to staying up to date and maintaining quality. In terms of gaming, I have been playing games since my first years as a toddler, and although I have changed my platforms, from Nintendo, to xbox, and now to PC gaming my desire to continue gaming wont die anytime soon and I see it being a part of my life for an extended period of time. I just began doing some LoL mentoring and coaching stuff, and I plan on offering some free sessions as well as discounts to brotherhood members. All of my clients and everyone that has actually talked to me from HF seems to enjoy my company and enjoy talking to me, and I enjoy listening and learning. If you want someone who is a good guy to talk to, relatively intelligent when it comes to video gaming, and someone who can post quality information to your subforum, then I think I am a pretty good fit.

Cheers! ?

I would jump in for PS4 as it is my main console and Destiny is coming out next month. So yeah, that will overshadow the PS3 for quite some time, but nonetheless, I could provide PS3 related activity. Reviews, support, etc. If there are enough PS4 people then I'll take the invitation and go for PC if that is alright. Just hit me up.

I feel like you should accept me because I am straight up, passionate about gaming. Ever since I can remember gaming has been a huge part of my life. Starting off with the DreamCast playing some Crazy Taxi then first finding out about GameBattles and doing doubles with my friends from school.

I game near enough everyday after work to just relax after work. The games I play vary, sometimes it's Counter Strike on the PC and then sometimes its playing FIFA over on the PS4. In general, I enjoy all genre of games and love trying out new ones.

If you did accept me into The Brotherhood, you would be bringing in an experienced, knowledge person about gaming, but most important, you would be bringing in a genuine guy who loves to talk about all things gaming and someone who enjoys speaking to new people everyday. I would be proud to represent your group on HackForums and would wear the userbar with pride.

Please consider this application, I will not disappoint. I have a serious passion for video games even at a young age. I believe this is the perfect quality group for me. If someone ever gets me into a game I'll not stop until I master it and can play fluently and amazingly. I am also very active on forums when I'm not busy with outside life, school and my job. I have enough money to buy and check out any game and support myself. I've saw plenty of HQ members come from the Brotherhood, and I'm dying to join and meet new people and have more of an understanding on other games on the pc. I am a trustworthy and caring person, and will help anyone or give tips to anyone in need of them. Also, I believe more attention will be gained through being in the brotherhood and more people will come to my giveaway threads or contests for RS/OSRS or any game that I get into in the future. I really hope this application is considered as it's an amazing opportunity for me. I wish to be recognized more and more in the gaming community. I'm not a dull person, and will always bring the best out of people and never create drama in the group. I can also talk in various communication ways (I.E teamspeak, skype, etc.). Thank you for reading my application. -#JDM

Xbox: 360 or One: I have both consoles, however I only play the Xbox One now since I have moved on to the next generation, and my astro A40s don't work on 360 cause I have the old white one (7+ years and still works <3)

I will only list my Xbox One games, but do know I have every other Call of Duty on Xbox 360 starting from MW1.

Call of Duty: Ghosts

AC4 Black Flag

Forza 5

Fifa 14

NBA 2k14

Sniper Elite 3 (Once I go buy it in a day or so)

Links to contribution to the gaming community:

It has been a long time since I posted a tutorial, back in old Respawn (Which I was apart of) it was a monthly requirement to contribute a tutorial. I can't seem to find any of them, as old Respawn was a while ago. I contribute to numerous discussions mostly about the topic of competitive call of duty, how to get better, and just general discussion. Currently I have about 855+ posts in just the Call of Duty section, and numerous more in other gaming sections. I have almost 2k posts in Old Respawn (Under my Post Activity it is called "Junk", it is not Junked, but simply a locked forum in which Astonish said he would not delete)

Why should we accept you?:

You should accept me because of the things I have to offer. Let me begin by saying just how much I have invested into gaming. I currently have about a $1k custom PC that can livestream and make videos, I have 3 monitors, totaling about $800. I own both Xbox 360 and Xbox One. I have Astro A40s, and an elgato. I do not use a SCUF as I play claw.

With this said, the first thing I have to offer is I can record/render/edit/make videos as well as livestream. This would be useful because if the group ever did like a "Game Night" I could live stream it and make a thread on HF for those to watch. If a member wanted to make like a "Group lets play" series, I could also do that.

The second thing I have to offer is my skill. I'm not trying to sound cocky, but I do consider myself a good Call of Duty player. I got the reaction time, the warrior internet and the strategy. I will admit, my gun skill is slightly above average but I do make up for it with my knowledge of maps and ability to predict what my opponent will do. By having me in Brotherhood, is anyone ever wanted to play GameBattles, or UMG I would feel confident in doing so.

Another thing I have to offer, is my loyalty. I am not sure if this holds any value, but I was in Old Respawn from the beginning, all the way till it turned into Innovation, then I left after it got rid of it's gaming section. When Respawn returned, I got accepted and stay with it until it changed to (Sorry I forget it's name already ?)

By having me in Brotherhood, you will have gained a skilled gamer, with the ability to create content for the group and the ability to engage in general discussions with the group and as well as HF.

I leave with 2 of my favorite gaming clips, in which I have got. The first is me "warrior-ing" a "GB Star" and the second is a sniper clutch with a sick jump shot across map. Since you can only post 1 video per post, one is embedded and the other is just a link. I strongly recommend you watch both <3

Links to contribution to the gaming community:I don't have a lot of tutorial/guide thread, but i try to be helpful as much as possible in the LoL subforum. i have 1000+ Posts there and made many discussion threads in the Nexus Subforum about many champions.

Why should we accept you?:

I have always liked to join gaming communities and groups, I have been gaming since I was 10, then i started playing League of Legends at Season 1, but I didn't really like it, so I moved on and played World Of Warcraft for a few years ,then I decided I'd give League of Legends a second chance, I started playing in Season 2, quit it, and played again in season 3, I was a really bad player, till season 4 came, and I climbed from Silver to Platinum, (I got a friend's account from Plat 2 to Diamond 5).

Then I recently started playing Fifa Ultimate Team on my Playstation 4, and now I have a really good squad.

I think you should accept me, cause I always like to help members who ask any question about League if I know the answer, I even got in game with many members coaching them and telling them their mistakes and how to correct them and play better overall.

I'm also very active when it comes to gaming as it's a thing I really love and can easily spend over 6 hours playing a game.

I also like competitive play, so if there's a Team for the Brotherhood then I am totally interested in joining and playing competitively and enjoying climbing the ELO ladder with them.

Also I am free to give coaching sessions to members who would really like some help on improving their gameplay and mechanics.

Hope I get accepted in this great group, and thanks for taking the time to read this.

Links to contribution to the gaming community: I gave away loads of Minecraft accounts. Like 50 or something.

Why should we accept you?: You should accept me because I'm a really big gaming fan. I love to game, from FPS to Moba's I like it all. I began with gaming when my mom and dad bought a Gamecube for my birthday, I loved it. The best game from my childhood was Brawl, me and my friends came together to play it. It was simply amazing.

As soon as I grew up my interest in the gamecube faded and new technology was there. I saved up for 1 year to buy a computer. When I got one I felt immortal. The feeling when you accomplish something you've saved up for so long. After I bought my PC I began with the game Maplestory. Back then it was still in Beta. I loved it, and I still do. That is the game I spent my whole childhood in. Also with all my friends. Maplestory was simply the beginning of my gaming "addiction".

I played loads and loads of games. Can't even remember them all. Singleplayer games I just played when I was bored, but they lost my interest pretty fast. Just finish the story, do some side quests and you are done. That's why my interest went to MMO's. I started with games like Knight Online and slowly went to World of Warcraft. I was Elite, 560ilvl pve and a achievement hunter. I am pretty good in WoW because I play for such a long time.

To this day I still play games. Mostly MMO's. Although not at the moment, I can't find a really enjoyable game. I play League with friends and Swordsman when I'm alone.

My interest at the moment goes to singleplayer games. Just for the story and to acquire more overall gaming knowledge.

About that gaming knowledge. In 2 days I'm for my 5th time at Gamescom. A nice event in Germany. I also go to Firstlook every year (A Dutch Gaming event).

I also post mainly in the gaming and it's subforum, that's where you will find me.

I hope I get accepted in the group since The Brotherhood is always a group I looked up to, and hopefully I can be a part of it anytime soon.

Well, I am an active gamer first and foremost. It is a hobby and something constructive I do on my downtime. I'm always down to game whenever possible and do not want to just join for a userbar, but to actually look for other gamers to play with that are dedicated to some games like I am. I own my own custom built pc as well as a ps4, so I have a wide variety of games I can play with other members of the group. I am not so much competitive as I am just a flat out gamer. From Minecraft to LoL, CoD to Battlefield and sports games, I tend to try most games that are out there. Currently I am running a semi successful Minecraft Forge mod server that is running the Pixelmon mod known as PokeClash. Basically, if you are looking for a relaxed and chilled gamer who is just looking to make some friends and not chase after a userbar, then I am your guy. Thanks.

I can't provide any links to threads I've made, but the majority of my forum activity is in the Sony Gaming section.

I also have assisted numerous people on this site via PM with their problems ranging from PS4/3 console issues to banned PSN accounts.

Why should we accept you?:

I am an extremely passionate and active gamer who has been around on this site for a very long time now. I've been a Playstation fan ever since I got my PS1 & Crash Bandicoot bundle for my 5th birthday! I've been playing games for almost my entire life. I simply love video games and the wide range of experiences they bring to us players. I follow gaming news very actively. If accepted I would surely amp up my posting activity and participate actively within the group. It would be awesome meeting new people play with and to discuss the things we as gamers love the most-games!

I consider gaming to be one of my main interests, I play every day. I am laid back and I just like having fun playing with friends. If accepted I would surely participate in weekly game nights, as I would love to meet new people to play with. Although I am applying for the PS3 & PS4 sector I also own a PC, and Xbox 360, so if asked I would readily participate in any gaming get togethers on those platforms as well. I would be active in the Sub-Forum and I would do everything within my power to contribute. I can provide valuable assistance for people who have console problems as well as account and security issues. I would make Brotherhood my number one priority on this website day in and day out and I would make it my mission to represent the group in a positive way. It would be an honor to be accepted, and I would do absolutely everything in my power to make sure you don't regret it if you do accept me.

To close I would like to thank all of the members involved in this recruitment, and a special thank you to Rayzah for putting up with me. I really do appreciate the time taken to review this application.

I have a HUGE passion for gaming and I feel like this is the right group for me to share my knowledge about gaming and as well learn from others. I have been playing XBOX since the original one, my first game was Halo: Combat Evolved and even since then I've been a real competitive player. Not only am I a multiplayer guy but I go HAM when it comes to getting achievements because I'll grind the game consistently until I get most of the achievements. I'm a friendly perso who is down to earth with an open mindset. I'll be happy to help anyone in need when it comes to not knowing something about a game to pub stomping with them in a public match. If someone needs help in a single player game then I am the right guy to approach because I'll be their helping you until you achieve your achievement. I don't expect to get accepted but I would really appreciate it if I did. I will be really active in the SF just as much as I am with gaming. Another Reason you should accept my application would be that I contribute to the gaming community, I give TIPS to anyone who asks me for them. I also help people in WOW, for example, I had a user on wow contact me of where a Entity was so he could sell his gems so he could sell them and make money. Over All, You should accept my application because I for one, am Nice to anyone who is nice to me, I will be mean if you are mean to me for no reason. I am never mean just to be mean. I, myself am respectful to others that show respect towards me and other members of Hackforums, or other communities, as said before I will show respect towards others, I am never disrespectful towards anyone.

I have owned 7 Xbox 360's modified and non, as well as 2 Ps3's before I had just settled with a PC and PS4/Xbone. I'm a very respectable and strategic player as well as individual in the community. I also hosted a few games with The Hollywood Angels back when they were big on Machinima for Call of Duty when the midnight release for Black Ops was in effect. I also would like to learn more from others here in the community and build onto my knowledge as well as share what I have already learned. I'm a very active reader and writer and would love to start writing more and more threads with people who are actually interested in gaming. It's hard to find many true gamers here in my state. I would like to become connected with the community in a variety of different ways. I would also like to hopefully meet some other great players and get a collective group of regulars on a few games so we can start playing competitive. I enjoy both aspects of gaming the casual and competitive, so it would be efficient to find a nice squad to group up with. Especially with new AAA titles coming out like Destiny and Evolve, I'd really like to get some strategies and some basic plans in mind for when they hit shelves. Anyway, I hope you've enjoyed this small read about myself and I'd love to be apart of The Brotherhood. I appreciate you taking your time to read this and respect you all on whichever decision you decide to make. Cheers. -Wes ?

Why should we accept you?: I would like to join The Brotherhood for many reasons but I will keep this short. First, I am looking for a group of experienced gamers that are always available to game and that can help me take my game to the next level. Second, I have heard very good things about this group and I believe that I would fit in very well. Now for a bit about me. As you can see in the list above, I own and play many games on a regular basis and my collection is always growing; although I am currently focusing mainly of getting more games for the PS4. Additionally, I have voice chat capabilities on all of my platforms. My favorite genres of games are MMORPG and First Person Shooters but despite the fact that those are my favorite i do not limit myself to only playing games that fit into those categories. Right now I am a mostly casual gamer except for on Counter Strike: Global Offensive and a few other choice games that my friends also own and play but if I were to join a group of gamers such as yourselves I feel that I would begin to game much more intensively. I am willing to purchase games in order to participate further with this group's members. If you have any other question please don't hesitate to contact me via Hack Forms Private Message. I am from Belgium, and i REALLY love to game. I prefer Sony PlayStation 3. I also have a Xbox 360 but I don't use it. I am available about every day, I think I am someone who will help where I can, so if there is something wrong, or if you need help with something, please shoot me a PM or add me on Skype!
I enjoy gaming with others, to be honest, Almost the only thing I do in a day is gaming and browse HF, My favourite game is Grand Theft Auto V. I am MAYBE Going to buy Call of Duty:Ghosts & FIFA 2014.

A guy modded my Grand Theft Auto V money & level once, I was console banned after 20 mins so i can't game until 08/31/2014.

I would really like to contribute to the community in the name of The Brotherhood.

I am also looking forward to host free services / giveaways in the name of The Brotherhood.

If I am invited to the brotherhood, I will try to be as active as i can, help people as much as i can, and if I can help you, I will surely do it!

I'm willing to participate and make some friends in The Brotherhood, share my ideas, and learn from them.

Also I would like to game with other members of The Brotherhood and have some fun with them :).

What i also wanted to say is, I have not been very active in the gaming sector, because I just started gaming again, I am going to be as active as I can, I will be very active if I would be in The Brotherhood.

So, I think I am already over the 250 words, lmao.

Well, anyone who is reading my application and wrote one too, I wish you the best of luck with your Application, and if you didn't wrote one yet, write one now, for the best group of HF (Thats what I think about it, my opinion. :P)

Games you own: This list would be too big. So I'm going to make a list of games I play actively in.

Counter Strike: Global Offensive

DayZ (Mod)

Garry's Mod

Battlefield 4

Links to contribution to the gaming community: I regularly give away skins and keys on my CS:GO account, and I've been a part of many beta tests in games.

Why should we accept you?: I started gaming at age 8 when I got my a Nintendo DS Lite and Mario Kart. I played the absolute shit out of that thing. I got new games and I didn't stop having fun with it until my eleventh birthday when I got a Xbox 360 and Forza Motorsport 3. I enjoyed Forza, but I was jealous of all my friends playing CoD 4 and other such games, but my mum wouldn't let me. I eventually got it taken away because I played too much. I moved into my dad's house a few months later following a divorce, and my dad gave me my Xbox back. I played MW2 a LOT. My Xbox sadly came to the same fate as millions around the world. The three red rings of death. On my 12th birthday I got a PC, (really low end, costed £120) and I played a LOT of Minecraft, especially factions with all my buddies. I had days and days of fun on that game. I played a little CS:S and was pretty good at that, but that was really the only game my PC could play at that point in time. A few years later, I started saving up to build my own custom gaming PC, I bought the case, dvd drive and PSU, and a few months later got all the other parts and built it myself with Google and YouTube at my disposal. Since then everything has been going great for me, I found HF (a few months ago), and most importantly I got properly into PC gaming. I started playing CS:GO a few months ago and every since I've been playing competitively with all my friends. I dabbled in Minecraft factions a little, that was fun. I play DayZ Overpoch also, I love the whole military sim/zombie survival game idea. I haven't got standalone yet simply because there aren't many features or weapons. I look forward to when the standalone is finished in a few years time. I've pre-ordered Battlefield: Hardline, because even though the the critics are calling it a "BF4 Re-skin" and are saying "BF4 isn't a finished game, why release a new one?" I find the game incredibly fun. I got beta access on the first day, and played it every since, I maxed out at level 10 and continued to have fun, throughout the beta. So, I got that to look forward to early next year. I'm also looking forward to the release of GTA: 5 PC edition, simply because the mods for it will be awesome. I've always been a modding fan.

This concludes my Brotherhood gaming sector application. I hope you will consider me for the place(s).

Regards,
Sagax.

Why should we accept you?:I think you should accept me because I have a large range of games which allows me to participate in most if not all discussions and events within the Brotherhood Gaming Sector. I have been gaming for the majority of my life and it is a passion that I really enjoy. I've owned a PS3 since the first days of release and have been enjoying it ever since. I am longing for a group of individuals that share the same interests as mine; I will be extremely active in the group as the topic is something I am extremely interested in. I have a jailbroken PS3 which allows me to get any game I want and broaden my range of games with ease. It also allows me to host lobbies/services for people and provide some support to those who need help in regards to jailbroken PS3 (although, I must admit that I've only been in the scene for a couple months so I have lots more to learn).

I'd like to join the Brotherhood's gaming sector because I would like to hone my skills as an FPS player by receiving tips and strategies by some of the best FPS players on the site. Furthermore, I greatly enjoy playing alongside and conversing with fellow group members. I also own an XBOX along with games such as Titanfall and Halo 4 but the membership has become very costly so I moved back to PS3 however, I am able to obtain the odd 7 day trial if need. I also enjoy the odd League of Legend match, but I have not been hooked on the game just yet.

Why should we accept you?:I think you should accept me because I have a lot of free time and I am pretty skilled on CS:GO and think I would be a good group member. I am active on HF but I am choosing a part of the Forum in which I would be particularly active towards. I think I could help out lots of people as I have literally owned a computer since I was 5 in 2004. So I have loads of experience considering my age, I am a fast learner and I like to learn new things and have done since I joined HF in August 2012. I could be a great team member on CS:GO as when I usually play matches I get a +kill ratio and usually finish with 25-35 kills and 8-15 deaths. So I consider myself skilled at the game. I mostly play Deathmatch though as I like the thrill of going in an area and clearing all the enemies out by my self.

I am The RAKE and that was my application to join The Brotherhood.

I think I should be chosen to join the group because I'm an avid gamer and contributor/user to the forum, and I've been looking for a group to join for ages. I want to be part of a smaller sub-community within HackForums related to something I've been doing my entire life, gaming. I've been playing video games from as long as I remember, from 1st gen Pokemon on GBA to what I play today on a daily basis (gta, cod, skate) it's something I really know best. I've been playing games competitively on and off since elementary school, and I think I'd love to get more involved with members of HackForums as far as gaming. Every once in a while I ask people on forums to come play with me, but I usually only get 1-2 replies, which I don't like because I really like a large amount of the community on HackForums and I'd love to get a chance to play Xbox with most of the users here sometimes. If the group does something like gaming nights, I'd be really interested in playing in those (kinda like Se7enSins does) where everyone gets on one game and meets up and plays together, because that sounds like a ton of fun to be part of. As a whole, I'd really like to be part of a gaming community within HF to meet some new people and try to contribute for the within the group. And yes, that was 244 words, fuck you.

Why should we accept you?: I am a huge gamer, I have been gaming ever since I can remember. I remember gaming all the way back to playing Super Smash brothers with my brother on the Super Nintendo, then moving on to new systems I got growing up like Gamecube, PS1, PS2, Xbox 360, Gameboy Advance, Gameboy Color, PSP, PS3 and playing these systems for YEARS. When I finally got bored of consoles and decided to switch to the PC master race, I got a gaming PC which I still use to this day and have been playing online games almost everyday since. The main game I play is League of Legends which I'm currently ranked Gold 4 in and sometimes play for 12+ hours a day. I'm addicted to gaming, it has always been my life and always be my life. I can contribute to this group by helping others with the games I play or just giving people someone to hangout with that isn't going to get mad over silly stuff while we play. :)

I could also help out by possibly hosting some League of Legends tournaments for fun inside the group or outside the group to represent The Brotherhood. We could get people to contribute to a prize pool and get some regular contests going once a month whether its for a prize or not.

If you accept me I hope to contribute as much as possibly and hope to meet many new faces to game with. Meeting new gamers who have as much of a passion for gaming as I do is always nice, so lets get to no-lifing some vidya games!

Links to contribution to the gaming community:

I currently do not have any active threads in the gaming section, however I plan to contribute to the group as much as possible.

Why should we accept you?:

As I always seem to have free time, I feel that I am able to contribute more by joining a gaming group or clan, rather than just playing games on my own. Therefore I would be more than pleased to be a part of The Brotherhood. But let me begin with an introduction about myself.

My name is Sirajuddin, but call me Sira. I'm a seventeen year old boy from Norway. I am studying application developer, pretty much just creating, coding and designing websites. I am currently studying HTML, PHP, CSS and in my next school year I will be studying Java - and much more. I've spent most of my spare time playing tons of games. Of course, I do have a job besides it. Luckily my job is not taking much time and I can continue playing the games I wish to play. I think this is one of the main reasons of why I am useful and a good additional in The Brotherhood.

My good skills and properties are that I am polite to everybody. Luckily I am never angry, not to anyone. Most of the time, I just laugh at the situation and step aside from it. I am also willing to help where I can help, such as guiding new gamers, give them some information, tips and so on.

Another good quality of mine is my ability to remain impartial when decision making, when I take up a role, I take pride in making choices I believe to be right and that are by the book, I have an attention to detail and want what's best for the group. I have a passion for gaming and creating stories and feel I'm an approachable person when it comes to asking for help. I would say I'm consistent in my ability to perform in a gaming position and more involved in leading by a good example in terms of game rules, good forum etiquette and being somebody who is friendly and approachable.

I do have one down-point, which is that I am disinterested fast. I want to do something. I can not just sit on a chair doing nothing, which I actually am doing in-real life. If you assign me a job to do, I will do it. To go in further on that, I am always doing my job as best I can. If I do something wrong, tell me, and I will correct it. As I wrote above, I am a quick learner and I do in fact learn from my mistakes. Not everybody does that.

Another negative side of me is that I can be confrontational if I don't have a resource to vent on. If I wasn't trying to keep myself calm and cool, I more than likely would've went hey-wire on that person, but I had someone to vent out my frustration on and that person made me feel better. After all these years in lead positions, it is something I'm getting very used to very fast and it's not exactly the most evident anymore.

I believe that I am dedicated yet not ignorant. For example, if someone feels a certain way about a situation, I'll allow them to explain whatever they're thinking and value their opinion. Though I am stable with my own beliefs, I'm extremely open-minded--a branch off of tolerance which is always a good thing for a gamer to have. As far as the dedication goes, it even expands out to tasks. If someone tells me to do something or even asks politely, I can do it without a problem and stick to that task until it's complete to one's satisfaction. This may sound nerdy, but I love to help out and do everything or anything I can. I believe that I'm extremely professional. I try to keep a calm and cool persona active at all times and I avoid most if not all arguments on the Internet. From the times I've been involved in an argument, I've managed to either push it aside or just let the other person dwell with whatever gratification they get from "winning" said argument. If I know I'm right about something, I trust myself, and I don't let that interfere with my professionalism.

I also don't let my gender get in the way of my judgement. Not only my gender, but my relationships. I feel as though I shouldn't even have to say this but I'm sure people are thinking it. I'll go more in-depth in the "bad sides" section of this application. I'm easy to communicate with and I can easily make people comfortable around me. This even goes as far as to have some people maybe...disclose a little too much about themselves to me regarding their personal life after a short time of knowing me which, as a very trustworthy person, I don't have a problem with, but it goes to show you. Because people are often comfortable around me, they tell me more or trust me more or befriend me and that kind of positive connection in the community (even if it's because of my gender) is always better than a circle of negativity!

I have tons of experience in leading/co-leading positions. I've played games such as Star Wars: The Old Republic, World of Warcraft, Runescape, Habbo, and a few more. Most of them, I've had leading positions in or have been the owner of a guild/moderator or administrator of a roleplay. I have never been removed from a staff position due to unprofessional behavior or something of that case. I've either requested to be taken off or the roleplay/guild/faction closed due to events that were entirely out of my control. Out of my six/seven years roleplaying, I'd say that a good two of those years were spent in a position of authority. More specifically, I've been a senior administrator in a SAMP roleplay known as Insomnia Roleplay, so I even have experience with San Andreas.

I am, in my own eyes, a responsible person. I accept the punishment for my reprehensible actions and I will acquiesce it if I made a wrong move. This is something not everybody does. Further into that again, I will accomplish whatever I have to achieve, especially if I have started doing it. I do not mind to spend some extra time on getting it accomplished, as long as I get it finished. My most defined personality trait is probably my hyperactivity as far as verbal interactions go. On Skype calls or in Teamspeak, I tend to loosen up around people I'm comfortable with; I laugh, I tell jokes, I talk loud and fast and I ultimately sacrifice a bit of professionalism in order to have a good time. It's something I'm toning down but it's still present. You can say that I am a fairly hard worker.

Everything in a nutshell:

- I am active and willing to contribute.
- I am coding HTML, PHP and CSS.
- I am a quick learner.
- I have a fair amount of spare time.
- I will do whatever I am told to do.
- I will put one hundred percent of effort in everything I am doing and everything I am going to do.

Why should we accept you?: I believe I should be accepted as I've always been an enthusiastic and competitive gamer, although I also do like to play just for fun. If I was accepted into The Brotherhood that's exactly what I'd like to do.

Now with my new house and new Internet I've been on a lot more in the past few months, I think this group would be perfect for me currently.

The Xbox Live section is back open?

Could you review my Application from when I applied a few weeks ago?

I really wanted to get into The Brotherhood, But the Xbox LIVE section was full.

Thank You for your time.

Why should we accept you?:

I have been gaming for as long as I can remember, I started gaming at a really young age and probably will continue gaming for a long time to come, My mother told me that her earliest memory of me gaming was when I apparently completed Tekken 2 at 2 years of age.

I started playing on the PS1 and then moved to the PS2, from there I went back in time and started gaming on SNES and N64, some years later I moved to the XBOX 360 and currently game on PC.

When it comes to gaming I like to think I am fairly experienced and personally have never been part of a group or clan... or anything remotely big for that matter.

This is the reason I am submitting an application!

I hope you consider accepting me!

Links to contribution to the gaming community: I am not really active in the gaming community on HF or other forums, I look at it alot but I am not really focussed on posting there or doing any contributions, maybe once I get in this group I will start making commentaries with fellow Brotherhood members and upload them to HF, I could make a series of it where I play random games with fellow HF members or where I challenge them to games and we do certain missions you know.

Why should we accept you?: I am a member that loves playing games with fellow HF members, I would love to make contact with new members and old members that play games too and would love to share knowledge with them, also I would love to record and create commentaries with them and upload them here on HF, so I can indeed in a way contribute and be active in the gaming sector.

I have been in a group before with a gaming sector and I loved how everyone was in contact every day playing games and what so ever and I really miss that community and the friendship, I have not played some games in a while just because sometimes it is boring to play games all by yourself, so I would love to lay contact with other gamers here on HF and play some games.

Aura knows me, I am a nice guy confirm with him <3

Why should we accept you?: So, I'm Mathias, 13 years old, quite young, you dont expect someone like be to be on this forum or something, but hey, here I am. I am a gamer in heart and soul, even if im still that young. I own an Xbox one, Xbox 360, Playstation 3, PC, Wii and a Nintendo 2DS. As you can see that means i have some consoles right there and that is because i just enjoy gaming. From Call of Duty to Fifa to League of Legends to Minecraft to Pokemon. I enjoy it all. I started young with my addiction to "digital screens" (around 5~ years old) you could say. When i was like 5 my dad owned a gameboy which he always played Tetris on and i would always sit next to him and watch with him how he played this game and was amazing how these things existed and in general just gaming. Same when my mom or dad was on the laptop and they were just randomly browsing the internet I was ALWAYS sitting next to them being amazed by these things. (I remember this because my parents and I always bring these memory up). I think gaming is an amazing thing to do, it actually has a lot of variety and is also a fun and amazing way to keep contact with friends who aren't really living close to you or something and also can make you laugh so hard sometimes. Gaming is something I got a passion for, and I know that for sure. Like I'm not some weird guy trying to make a whole story up to just join a gaming group. Like I'm not your regular guy who wants to join the group for the "funz", I actually REALLY want to join this group due to how much I LOVE gaming. I'm still young (13) so a lot can happen still but for now it is as it is and I love gaming. Everything I said is true and it may seem quite stupid but hehe, it happened. I'm going to buy a PS4 soon cause it seems like an amazing console and I would like to play games like Infamous Second Son etc. It seems like an amazing addition to my "console collection" and something I would really stick my time into playing, it's kind of the same as Xbox One I guess but some people say it's better so I'm looking out for that. Let's just hope I will get the PS4 as soon as possible.

I want to thank you for taking your time to read my application and have a nice day ?

Kind regards,

While sadly I can't say that I have made any real major contributions to the gaming community here on HackForums I saw this as an opportunity to change that. A chance to learn more, spread my knowledge, gain more respect in HF, meet new people, and share my love of gaming with fellow members. But some of you may have seen me floating around the League of Legends sub-forum giving tips here and there and offering advice. Also in COD related or PS3 related forums. But, as I have stated, I have not made any real contributions such as tutorials yet But I do indeed help out and give tips where I find that I can suitably help someone..

Why should we accept you?:

You, The Brotherhood (Gaming Sector), should accept me for a few reasons. One of the main reasons, and the reason I will start off with, is that I am hungry to learn and expand my knowledge. I am dedicated to HF and am only searching to expand my experience here on HF and in gaming in general. While not only do I want to join to play games with fellow members and create relationships, but to also be in this group and expand my experience here on HackForums--becoming more known and making my mark.

I am a 19 year old student at a local community college in the United States. I would consider myself an educated and intelligent being and I am planning on transferring to a 4 year university as soon as I get my AA (Associates of Arts). I am just starting my second year at my local college. Not only have I been a passionate gamer my whole life (Ranging from Nintendo to N64 to Xbox to PC to ... I think you get the point), but I have also worked for many private servers and have been management of staff. One worth mention I believe I should add is I was an Admin for Eternal-WoW, a private server which, at peak times, had 5,000 players online at one time. I worked there for two years and was running almost everything. This was a volunteer spot, although the company made quite a bit of money. I enjoyed every second of it and worked over 40+ hours a week on just this private server. It was (and still is) a great private server and a very well known one too.

I am very dedicated to gaming and am wanting to join a group to become more community involved and play with fellow HF members and create new relationships. I believe I would be a valuable addition and can help around. I would also love to expand my skills and learn new tips and tricks as well as share some of my own. I believe joining The Brotherhood will be perfect for me to allow me to expand my fields on HF and gaming.

THIS will also show some more of my personality and "shine light" on my views of some things about HF.

Thank you for reading this application and taking it into thought.

I've been a gamer for as long as I can remember, just something I've always loved. At one point it was all I ever did, the only thing that made me feel good. It became my escape through my depression and saved me from myself.. I owe my life to games, as silly as that sounds. I still love to play them, just a little more relaxed about it now.. I know there is only one. Now that I've become more active on HF, I'll post more help things, etc.

Why should we accept you?:

I would be a valued asset for The Brotherhood because I consider myself a fairly decent member. Ever since joining, I had not really any other goal then to be someone known, someone that can be looked up to, or just someone that could be trusted. I feel like I have got a pretty good foundation of these materials and I am hoping the community of The Brotherhood would be able to not only benefit off of me, but vice versa.

I have basically been gaming my whole life, even since I was a child playing Xbox Arcade games. I used to play a ton of Xbox 360. I have a collection of over 200 Xbox games, most are not really in use anymore, but I still keep this drawer full of all my classic games, which sometimes I will load one up in my original xbox, and play. I switched over to PC gaming not too long ago(a bit over a year). The reason why I chose to go with PC gaming was the lack of ever really needing to upgrade once you have an actual nice computer(unless you want to, of course). I played games from my laptop, slowly wearing it down to the point where most games would not necessarily work anymore. About a week ago, it finally decided to die on me, so I had to purchase something new. I recently just got myself an actual build, so I can play most games fairly well. I can also host game servers(24GB RAM, 60Mbps Down, 8Mbps Up), and contribute to giveaways, the subforum, any type of event nights, and more. I have Teamspeak, Skype, and mumble and am very willing to be active in any gaming chats. I am free for 4ish hours a day, and up to 30 hours on weekends. The Brotherhood seems like a pretty strong group, as I have seen many contributions to the forum, from all different sectors. I have been through several groups before, but I feel like The Brotherhood may be where I fit best. I appreciate your time, thank you.

Finally, I am currently an Administrator on a DayZ server that a user of Hack Forums owns. Why should we accept you?:

I have always loved gaming since I was very young. I believe this is what sparked my interest in computers and eventually led to me getting a job as an IT Engineer. My first PC game was Runescape which I played on the beast of a desktop PC, where I downloaded all the free similes and Runescape themed mouse pointers in the world! It wasn't long before I moved onto other games such as World of Warcraft, Club Penguin, etc. To this day I still play games and have recently got a really nice computer dedicated to for this purpose. I attend LAN events along with thousands of people multiple times a year whenever I can get some time off work. I'll usually be on steam most of the time or playing Counter Strike with friends. I feel like this group would be perfect for me as it is exactly what I love to do in my spare time and I am dedicated to it. I have run and administrated multiple gaming communities in the past including setting up game servers and teamspeak servers for everyone to use. I have enough time to contribute the group and would be happy to.

Another reason that I should be accepted into this group is that I am dedicated to HackForums and spend a lot of time on here (more than I should). I enjoy meeting new people online and would like this opportunity to meet some new people and expand my knowledge. I also feel that I could help and contribute to this group.

Thank you for taking the time to read my application.

Why should we accept you?: Tons of text, beware. Spoiler (Click to View) Well to start, I game a lot. Since this is a gaming group, I think I'll fit in just right. I don't know how everyone else started but I started off in BFBC2 (not the first game I played but the first game I became a beast at). I was fucking terrible when I first started but I followed a few tips and now I'm a god in most matches. I use smart tactics like placing mines in the water for when boats try to come to our base or placing them on roads in the shadows so tanks can't see them. I also planted C4 onto the front of my helicopter and drove it into an enemy's objective. I know these may sound like common sense but trust me, people fall for it all the time in BF. Many people don't use these methods so I feel like they're pretty smart. I know tons of smart ideas, hiding spots, and glitches on BF games. I play tons of COD games as well so I'll be a great member if anyone wants to play COD. I usually get on to pubstomp but sometimes I'll play league play. I have a minimum of 2.00 K/D on each COD I play except for Ghosts as I haven't been able to play it much. On BO2, my average KPG is 50-75 when I'm not trying to get 100+ or trying hard. On GTA 5, I love to do missions with other people online and I recently had a gaming channel on Youtube but I took it down because I knew I wasn't going to get more than the 2.1K I had when I did (PM me to see a video if you don't believe me) in GTA. I showed people how to perform money glitches and other fun tricks while playing GTA. I'm also very friendly and easy to get along with unless you're a dick. Once I downgrade my PS3, I'll be able to gift other members with free lobbies on the newest CODs and maybe even GTA 5. I've been gaming for more than 7 years now, I even have an old PS1 lying around in my closet. I do have tons of gaming equipment so I'll take a picture of my setup and PM anyone who wants to see it if needed. Overall, I'm a really nice gamer looking for other games to stomp lobbies with. I'm not immature but I know how to have a good time in a lobby. Check my account on BO2 if you don't believe I'm good at it. This application may make me look like a fucking geek but oh well, I game a lot. I do play a few anime games such as Naruto and Bleach when I'm done on COD. I used to trickshot a lot on MW2 but I moved to BO2 and I became a hardpoint addict which brought my K/D up a lot. I'm very useful in team games so if we ever play CTF, hardpoint, or anything like that, I'm your guy. ? Anyways, thanks for taking the time to read this long ass application. I know this is at least 200 words but if not, I'll keep going. The reason I'm downgrading my PS3 is because my laser disk scanner broke so I'll have to get my games free from the PS Store. I'll take a picture of the games I have just to prove I have them even though I can't use them currently. I'm only $20 away from an E3 Flasher and all the needed materials to downgrade! Once I downgrade, I'll do services for all the members for free. Thanks for reading my application once again, I appreciate it. ? Hope to get accepted.

Closing Words: Thank you for taking the time to hear me talk about my gaming experience and all that extra. I understand other people are trying to get in the group so if I'm not accepted, I understand. I've been building up lots of good karma though so let's see if it pays off. ?

Note: these are all in the league of legend section.

Why should we accept you?:I am an active member on HF but mostly on league. I am mainly on the league of legends section and I think I could contribute too your sub form! I want a fun group too play with and this group suits me best. I am currently gold 2 in promos and climbing. I can contribute too the group by helping member giving them tips on the game by either spectating and or just answering questions. I never rage and normally never talk in chat and if I do its normally typing timers or telling my team what too do better. But I have too admit I jokingly sound toxic sometimes when people say silly things but they normally know I am joking around. I never rage quit and if I dc its due too internet problems or power. I haven't been playing this game for very long and I hope too achieve diamond next season and platinum this season. I am always available too help out a fellow instinct members if they need help with stuff and I can talk too them either threw Teamspeak or Skype. I know I have a 60 percent warning level but I wasn't sure if recruitment is open very often and this seems like one of the most HQ gaming groups if not groups in general and I didn't want too miss out on this great group. My warning goes away in 6 days anyways if not sooner. Thank you for taking the time too look through my application and I hope too hear from you!

I don't understand this question, do you really have to contribute something? and what exactly is a contribution?

In my opinion literally anything can be called a contribution, even if you swore someone out that could be considered a contribution of your opinion or of your language it could even be called a contribution of new word learning experience. Because of some of those reasons I don't know what I should link you to, you can check my profile if you want to see what I post but other than that I don't know exactly what you want from me.

Why should we accept you?: Honestly, there is literally no reason I should be accepted.

and now you are going to yourself "what a horrible answer" but hear me out before you go judging this application.

Firstly I am a passionate gaming enthusiast but that doesn't qualify me or anyone else to join your group, however I am also a graphic designer and I have a lot of free time since I am 15 years old and in High School. What I meant when I said "there is literally no reason I should be accepted " I meant what I said but for a number of reasons one being there are always people who are going to be better than you and me and who have a way of writing in a way to convince the opposite party. Second reason being nobody in their right mind (unless they are a raging narcissist) will agree and say "I made the best application I SHOULD get accepted" by saying "should" means I have done everything asked and there is a 60-100% chance that I am going to be accepted, and I just don't feel right saying should. Would I like to be accepted? Sure! Should I get accepted? Definitely not. In these stages of our society gaming is a big part of our lives and we all find ways to express our feelings toward gaming and I feel this would be a wonderful way to do so.

I am OCD. and this has been my application for the HackForums group "The Brotherhood" and yes to answer your question, I am approved for UB3R

(Most of these are LoL related because LoL is one of the only games I play atm)

Why should we accept you?:

I feel like I should be accepted in to The Brotherhood because of my passion towards gaming. Not only am I an active gamer, but I also am good/decent at the games I play. I spent countless hours towards playing games and feel as if I can bring some knowledge of the games I play and help out others with the same passion that I have for the game. With the countless amount of time I put into gaming, I learn how to improve in the game and also monetize the game (Ex. LoL, Minecraft etc.) I also enjoy helping out others while improving myself while playing a game (Ex. LoL). With the passion I have towards gaming, I always look at things I can get to help me improve while gaming (Ex. A new PC, better internet etc) because of how passionate I am about gaming. (I bought better internet because I lagged on league too much). I also enjoy watching gaming content to learn as much as I can (LoL streams, Minecraft PVP, etc.) and for entertainment. Within the past couple of years, I've spent around 6-7 hours (if not more) a day playing video games (Not including bathroom breaks, food breaks and sleeping). Whilst playing those games, I've improved and became a big factor in the games I played. (Being a great PVPer in minecraft to a co-owner of a 300 player server and a booster in LoL.) Not only do I think I would be a good fit for The Brotherhood, but I also think I would add a lot of excitement and knowledge to the group. I'd enjoy speaking to others about games that we are passionate about and teaching them as well as learning myself. I hope that I am "good enough" to be accepted into this group as I feel like this group is one of the groups that is a good fit for me. It's a bunch of people who show passion towards gaming and love to game as much as I do which is why I would love to join this group.

Thank you for taking the time to read my application and I hope I get accepted. ?

Before I start I am going to say that I game a lot, I was professional Counter Strike 1.6 player for 8 years and after they released CS:GO I stopped because everyone was moving but I didn't want to. I am really addicted to gaming and I spend most of my time on gaming Dota 2, 7 Days To Die, Dead Rising 3, Warface and lot of other games that I've already answered on the question "Games you own". Well I think you should accept me because I have a lot of knowledge when it comes to these games and I am going to post a lot of things related for the following games: Dota 2 (I will be posting advanced/noob tutorials and everything else related to the game), 7 Days To Die (Tutorials, Tricks, Cheats and everything related to the game), Dead Rising 3 (This is new game that is just released and I will be posting a lot of different things about it). I will be posting tutorials and everything else for these games because as I can see there's no discussion for them or very less. We can exchange knowledge and give advice to get better in some games, I mean mostly in Dota 2 and 7 Days To Die because I play them mostly. Plus I will keep on making HQ tutorials, no tutorials that are copy/pasted or written in 2 lines, when I say HQ I mean really HQ tutorials that are written by me and in details so everyone can understand them. Also I spend a lot of time on HackForums which means that I am really active and friendly so we can share our knowledge and learn a lot of new things.

I'm more of a laid back kind of guy. There is no rage from me if I lose a match or if someone is talking smack. Having fun is the name of the game for me. If someone isn't having fun then what's the point of doing it? We all pay to play, so why not try to enjoy ourselves? Playing with me brings the best out in other players. Respect and common courtesy are how I roll(However fruity that may or may not sound; it's the truth). I try to help others understand what they're doing and give tips to those who seek it. I will not force advice on you. I'll offer it, and if you deny it well then that's cool too. You know where to look for me.

I'm currently in college; full time. I do have a job as well. I'm nineteen as of 9/6/14. I've been playing video games since I was about five years of age. I love grammar; yeah I'm not the BEST, but i'm proficient. Gaming is one of my major hobbies, aside from web development(recently started). I'm a music fanatic and could go on for hours about songs and bands that you may or may not like.

Favorite genre of games: RPG

Most played game: World of Warcraft(played since '07)

I couldn't think of a more fitting group for myself than The Brotherhood. Where else could I game with like minded individuals?

I have always been into gaming. When I got my first PC, I started off with CS 1.6 and now I play full competitive CS:GO. I have been into gaming and steam so much, that I made steam my business and been dealing in steam accounts past 5 years. I also play multiple other games which includes COD's (MW3, Black Ops, Black Ops 2), Origin games like Battlefield 3, 4, etc and many other games. I have a lot of knowledge about steam and I can come handy when it's related to steam. I try my best to answer any questions related to steam/CS in the HF gaming sector. I am a student, though I manage to give time to HF as well give some time to gaming and sales. A lot of people on HF know me for what I do. Brotherhood is the best group I fit in. And especially the gaming sector of brotherhood.

Why should we accept you?:

I feel as if you should accept because I am a mature, 20 year old gamer. I've been gaming for as long as I can remember. I am very passionate about video games. Playing with friends, meeting people online and forming amazing friendships and being competitive. All of these things have helped me work my through some tough times. I registered a few months ago and I'm starting starting to become active. I really hope my posts don't discourage you guys from looking over my application. I think being in the group will not only boost activity in your subforums(not saying that it's not active enough already), but it will help boost my own. I will finally have a way to communicate with others and play with people that actually want to play with others and make new friends. I am more than willing to participate in both the Xbox One and PC sector. These are some of the reasons why I think you should accept me.

Why should we accept you?:

I've always been a gamer since i was a kid, playing shooters everyday, i've been playing every single call of duty, not the next Xbox One one, ? .

I've started my way of console gaming on the first xbox, playing halo (ohh yeaaa.) and splinter cell chaos theory (That game was THE shit), and couldn't stop gaming, tried a few times, but it was too cool for school you know..

So i ended up getting the xbox 360 when it released, played COD4 like crazy, gears of war 1 and 2 (Involved in gamebattles team), but THE game that almost got me a gaming "career" (?) is Halo 2 , We had a team all set , registered and everything for a somewhat big halo 2 competition in Montreal, (I live in canada quebec).

But i was the youngest, and the only one who wasn't their friend IRL, and the leader and the co-leader ended up fighting, and destroyed the group a week before the competition.

Which stopped everything for me in Halo 2 -> COD 4 all the way. ? . Now that i'm sick and tired of i'll be playing DESTINY alot and Probably Halo master chief collection/halo 5 , which means i'll be a really active player.

I also have a good gaming background which makes me good in every games i play, H4x000R. ?

If i get to join the group i am sure i could help people out and be really active in the community, as i ... love gaming and can't stop.. tried but in the end, it's impossible to not come back ???.

Hope to be able to play with you guys on Destiny, as it's releasing on Tuesday!

Links to contribution to the gaming community: Sadly I do not have links in the gaming community as I do not post there much, I am being honest and I want to join The Brotherhood to have some active friends to play awesome games with.

Why should we accept you?: Why should you accept me? Well I feel I would be able to help The Brotherhood out with my vast knowledge on gaming and my social media connections, I can help out anyone that streams or has a YouTube channel in the group and get them way more active viewers. I also think you should pick me so I can meet some awesome people in your community, I game with very few people right now and it would be awesome to be in a tight knit group of gamers that all know each other and have fun. Now, For a little about me,

I have been gaming for a LONGG time, I started playing on the Nintendo 64 and would play games like smash bro's for ever! It was so much fun eventually we got a PlayStation and I started playing games like Grand Theft Auto and I was in love! I took it everywhere with me and would always play, I finally got a PSP and a basic Window's computer and thats where it all started. I would spend hours and hours downloading or playing countless games until I found one I really liked, I played alot of browser type games when I was younger such as MillVille, ClubPenguin and RuneScape and then I found Disney's Pirates of The Caribbean Online, I loved the moves so I figured I would try this out and I was instantly hooked I would literally play all day some days and it was so much fun, I was a founder on the game and a beta tester. They sent me plenty of cool prize packs for being dedicated and then one day they announced the closing of it. I was heartbroken so I went on to find some other games, Once again I searched for hours and hours until one of my friends told me about Steam and bought me my first couple games! It was AWESOME! I started working and I would put all my money into Steam games and Then I realized how laggy some of these were, I learned to build my own computer and now we are where I am today. I really hope you consider my application and I thank you very much for reading this. Have a nice day. ?

Why should we accept you?:

I've been an avid gamer my whole life (then again, who else that is applying wouldn't say that) and I'm not stopping anytime soon. The fun of video games for me comes from the social experience you achieve when you're playing with like-minded people both in a competitive or casual setting. I'm an avid support of Multi-player and find myself online on my console/s a considerable amount of time daily. Game nights (if they're a thing) would be something I'd be on-board with and would even consider purchasing new games for if it meant being able to play with a social group. Although I am applying for the 360/One sector, I also play games on my computer as well meaning I could interact with more than just a third of the sector as a whole which is awesome!

As far as relevance for this section is concerned, I've owned an Xbox since it first came out, moving onto the 360, and now recently just purchasing an Xbox One. I feel that I should be accepted because over the close to 5 year experience I've had on Hackforums, the two sections that still have the most of my posts in it are both the Xbox 360/One and the Halo forum with 592 and 365 posts respectively in each. While I haven't been as active in these sections as of late, I know that if I were a part of a tight-knit community with similar and varied interests, it would encourage me to start becoming more active in this sub-part of the HackForums community once again. Also I managed to get a 50 in Ranked Grifball when it came around and I'm Australian.. that should count for something.

Regardless of the outcome, thanks for your time and I wish luck to everyone else applying.

I also have assisted numerous people on this site via PM with their problems ranging from PS4/3 console issues to banned PSN accounts.

Why should we accept you?:

I am an extremely passionate and active gamer who has been around on this site for a very long time now. I've been a Playstation fan ever since I got my PS1 & Crash Bandicoot bundle for my 5th birthday! I've been playing games for almost my entire life. I simply love video games and the wide range of experiences they bring to us players. I follow gaming news very actively. If accepted I would surely amp up my posting activity and participate actively within the group. It would be awesome meeting new people play with and to discuss the things we as gamers love the most-games!

I consider gaming to be one of my main interests, I play every day. I am laid back and I just like having fun playing with friends. If accepted I would surely participate in weekly game nights, as I would love to meet new people to play with. Although I am applying for the PS3 & PS4 sector I also own a PC, and Xbox 360, so if asked I would readily participate in any gaming get togethers on those platforms as well. I would be active in the Sub-Forum and I would do everything within my power to contribute. I can provide valuable assistance for people who have console problems as well as account and security issues. [img]http://x.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/brotherhoodf.png[/img]

Why should we accept you?:

If you're looking for active gamers to Brotherhood then I'm your guy. I play quite a bit of games in my day and I'd like to have people around me who do so as well (besides IRL friends). At the moment my game collection is pretty small but I'm interested in expanding it. I'm open to try games that I'm not familiar with. League of Legends is and has been my favourite game since around 2010 and I'm ranked as Diamond IV. I wish to find other similiar players to company me. I've spent around 2.5k hours playing League of Legends (according to wastedonlol.com).

League of Legends is not the only game I've played. I've spent around 500 hours playing CS:S and about 300 hours playing different versions of the Call of Duty series. On top of that I've played some Battlefield 3, Battlefield 4 and Titanfall so I'm not new to the FPS scene. Strategy games aren't new to me either, I've played quite a bit of those in my childhood.

I'm willing to obey by the rules that Brotherhood states in order to keep my spot in the group. I'm more than happy to participate in any events that the Brotherhood might hold. I own a headset so I am able to communicate via voice if required. English isn't my native language but I've been told I speak it quite well, atleast well enough that people understand what I'm saying. My goal is to post atleast 15 times a day in weekdays and even more at weekends. I think I'm just the kind of a gamer Brotherhood gaming sector is looking for.

Why should we accept you?:The reason the brotherhood should accept me is basically because if I ever see a gaming group on a forum that I love spend alot of time on, I know it's my goal to participate and join an amazing community like the Brotherhood. Some more reasons you should accept me is I love meeting new people especially with people that have the same interests as me, not only that I know some people find it awkward meeting new people over xbox with age differences and everything but I make it seem so chill, and sometimes I'll make people laugh their asses off. And we'll hopefully there's a spot for me in this group as much as I see one.

Why should we accept you?: I think you should accept me into the gaming sector of Brotherhood because I think I would make a great addition to the group as I am always active on PS3/PS4. I am online most of the time and I think I could help out with the group. If the group were to have a battle on Call of Duty, I would be available to help. I am an gamer with years of experience as I brought into electronics my whole life.

I am a friendly person and I love to play games. I used to be very active in the COD community but left and got into third person games like (Assassins Creed & GTA 5). I am very active on GTA Online - I love to mess around on GTA 5 and join servers to kill other players. If i were to be accepted into the Brotherhood, I would be able to team up with other members who have GTA 5 and we could join session and kill people or make a session between all of us and mess around and do funny stuff.

I like to play AC: Black Flag Online and like doing Wolfpack modes even though I'm not very good at it as I am not really used to how Online mode works. If members were to have this game, I could start playing more multiplayer games with members that I never usually play. Maybe, I could do WAW zombies or Black Ops Zombie Mode with some members. c:

I love to play multiplayer games and love teamwork, communication is a big part when I play with people so you will always hear me calling out or helping others. Put me into a game and I can play any role - team player, slayer, anchor, support you name it. I have taken gaming to a competitive level by playing GB or doing local scrims. Enough about multiplayer though, I am a person who loves gamerscore whenever I am playing a new game I do whatever it takes to get all the achievements even if it comes down to looking up videos or spending hours on one achievement. Gamerscore hunting has always been my thing ever since I joined xbox. If anyone ever needs help on a game I would more than happy to hop on help. I have a mic and I am a very laid back person. Expect me to be very active in the sub forums as I am in Instinct. I feel like this group is for me because I just love gaming, and I also feel that I can bring alot to the group and learn a lot. Why should we accept you?:

You should accept me into The Botherhood because I'm an all out gamer. I've been gaming since I was 9 and I love every bit of it. My favorite type of games are FPS, I'm a big fan of destiny, and COD. I do gamebattles, and competitive sniping on almost every CoD. I was rank 14 in competitive sniping on BO2. If you don't believe me I'd be happy to 1v1 anyone.

I know awesome strategies for almost every CoD map. I'd be willing to host a few tournaments on HF under the name of "The Botherhood".

I'm a down to earth guy, I take my games serious but I can also be fun. Most of my friends don't play the FPS games that I like so I'm solo most of the time. Me joining The Botherhood will able me to make new Xbox friends that I could play competitive or casual with. I used to have a youtube channel for Gamebattles. The channel only had 1k subscribers but I published excellent videos. I'll be getting my capture card again soon, and I'll be live streaming on Twitch very often.

Recently, I just got into Destiny also. I'm currently level 22 and I have no one to play with. I'm down for Crucible all night, or maybe even Strikes. Whatever other members want to play I'll be down. As of now, I'm grinding on level 20 strikes.

I'd be happy to give any member assistance in beating a mission, unlocking an achievement, or even playing online.

Why should we accept you?: I own an HD PVR, have been a PS3 gamer since 2007, and have countless experiences in the gaming community. My biggest accomplishments are working as a Machinima/Fullscreen/TGN partner. I have 3 partnerships and have a partnership with Lionsgate (yes, the movie company) that allows me to monetize off of their trailers.

I started playing MineCraft when it was still in invitational stages (2009, if you look at my facebook page I made it right when it was publicly released).

One of my channels (I sold it) (<http://youtube.com/galaxies>) was making 4k views per day. Another channel (sold as well, I believe on HF so it may be on my thread history) (<http://youtube.com/hdtraileraman>) had 7.5m views total and was making 3k views per day.

I think I can be an asset (I'm also a retired competitive player, but I still play with a clan on Ghosts competitively). Thanks for taking the time to consider me and if you have any questions feel free to ask.

I was a part of the brotherhood in the marketing section when I owned phantom stresser, but left HF over the summer and was removed. I'm reapplying now :-)

I'm not just a competitive sniper, I'm a competitive player in general.

Sniping is just a side skill I have in CoD. As Call of Duty isn't the only game I play I wouldn't say I'm a professional CoD player just because I'm good at sniping.

If I am accepted I will consistently make sure that I provide help for other gamers, and for them to succeed with their goals. I can be competitive when it comes to gaming but for the most part I am laid back and enjoy causal game play. When I play games, I am always the person to find new niches, glitches, or cheats that I keep to myself and with my friends :). Even though I try to stray away from cheating, I usually find it fun when I have already completed the game, ie games that I have played that I have provided hacks for: Guild Wars 2, Elder scrolls, Halo 3, Castle Crashers, and many more. I currently have used other forums like the Tech Game to meet up with others, but being apart of The Brotherhood is something that I see that can easily change this. Peppermint Butler won't let you down!

I have just one quick question, I assume you do; but do you have a number of members whom are playing League of Legends currently? Or perhaps even a actual official 'The Brotherhood' ranked team?

That is just something quite important to me if I were to even be considered to be brought in. There has to be at least a slight LoL player population because, as of right now, that is my number one game by far. I spend way too much time on it. But luckily that isn't even close to the only game I play haha. I have and play tons of them.

Why should we accept you?: I could twist your leg on how I'm going to be the best member of The Brotherhood's Gaming Sector and that I'm better than everyone else; but obviously that would be lying. Although I can assure you one thing; gaming is not a hobby of mine, it's a life long passion. The amount of time I've spent throughout my life playing games is surreal, starting from saving the princess on Mario, to getting an awesome kill feed on Call Of Duty. Activity is not a problem with me; you won't find a day where I'm offline. I have a wide selection of games, so I am able to join in with others and involve myself with the group, communicating with other members. I'm a very competitive player; losing is a not an option. Winning is a must. Whether I'm winning behind the help of my team, or I'm taking victory into my own hands. The chances of you seeing me rage are similar to the chances of Hack Forums having no skids. I like to think of myself as a team player; a contributor if you must.

I don't see The Brotherhood as just a group, it's more of a community where members can share their passion for gaming. I'd be more than happy to provide for the group, things such as: Discount Code (As I state in my personal information, I work in a gaming store that allows workers to have a 25% discount on all in-store & online purchases. I'm more than happy to let other members in the group use the code to their benefit).

Written & Video Tutorials (We've all been confused on certain things at one point, so I'll be more than happy to provide tutorials to the members of The Brotherhood to expand their knowledge of certain aspects of gaming).

Walkthroughs (It goes without saying that at one point on the game you're playing; you're bound to get stuck. That's why I'll be here to provide detailed and thorough walkthroughs to help you move on; doing so without spoiling anything).

Giveaways (Whether the giveaway will include the giveaway of a game, XBL Gold Membership, custom controllers or even a console. I'll be obliged to host big winning giveaways on behalf on The Brotherhood and even to group members on a monthly basis).

I am a very welcoming person who would not hesitate to be of help to a needing member. I have made a nice amount of friends through gaming, and I wish to have the chance to continue making friends through The Brotherhoods' Gaming Sector.

Why should we accept you?: I'm really into gaming and this group is all about it. I play a lot of video games and I also like to share my methods to help others or turn their day around. I really love xbox I been playing xbox 360 since I was 9 years old. Being in this group would really increase my interest in the forum and also I would love to meet other gamers just like me that are in the group as of now. If I get accepted into this group I promise I will be as high quality as I can at all times and interact with other members maybe even create a little friendship in between us. This is one of the only groups that I would fit in and feel comfortable just because I know that the group is full of gamers just like me. I play about 5-6 hours a day on school days and maybe like 7-10 in the summer but only because I feel like gaming is the only thing that keeps me entertained. Thank you for your time and wish you the best.?

Why should we accept you?: I started playing xbox on the old xbox, I got the xbox in Christmas present by my parents and just after playing a few hours I instantly fell in love. Now here I am 6 years later considering myself a xbox enthusiast, I play every day and when I'm available to do so. I've had my current xbox 360 for over 5 years, and xbox live for over 2 years. I've played most games out there. But I tend to like FPS games such as, Call Of Duty, Battlefield, Halo, and of course Grand Theft Auto.

I would also be able help members if any technical issues occurs or if they just want someone to play with. I have a interest in helping other members in games, for example Grand Theft Auto V where I would be able to assist in missions and teach them the basics of the game if they're new to it. However I don't only play Grand Theft Auto V, I also enjoy teaming up with others to play competitive gaming on the Call of Duty series, especially Call of Duty Black Ops 2 competitions. I'm not always competitive, I do also enjoy just hanging out on Grand Theft Auto V doing missions and exploring the city.

I'd love to be apart of a group that specializes within xbox gaming, and to play with other Brotherhood members. If I were accepted I would contribute as much as possible towards the Brotherhood community and always stay active and help within the Brotherhood's xbox section.

scared of work among a group especially if its to help it grow and prosper.

I do have a desk job so forum work and such is easy and other things and atm I can dedicate usually 2-3 hours a day to gaming sometimes more so I always seem to manage my time very well. Im very positive and proactive and think with my experience and knowledge I would fit very well with in this group. Also I can play most games(accept LoL at very high skill levels)

I also love playing games, and am constantly looking to play with new people. I can help people find new games to play, I can sometimes provide keys for things such as new beta games (I gave away Curse keys at one time but no thread). I am looking for new friends on Hack Forums to play games with and get to know new things in games and learn some things. I am a friendly person who tries to get along with everyone, I am almost always neutral with everything that goes on. I try to be a fun and active member to have around as I am on Hack Forums at least once a day if not much more so I will be constantly looking at threads, posting and what not. I would be willing to take part in most of the things the group does, such as joining Skype chats, League chats, or whatever else happens. I have played games almost all my life and will most likely continue to do so and I hope I have more and more fun with new people I get to meet and play with from HF, and other places. I hope my application is taken into consideration and I would like to thank you for reading my application, and allowing people to apply.

Links to contribution to the gaming community: I am afraid I have no links to contribution, However I am always happy to help members if they are stuck or need someone to hang out with etc.

Why should we accept you?: I love gaming. I have a real passion for it. I have owned many consoles over the years. I may not seem like the type who has played a lot of games. This is due to the fact that my old ps3 broke down after 5 years so I switched to the 360 and sold them all. Then I reversed back and sold the 360. I am a solid gamer and I could play for hours. I mainly love FPS (CoD Games) Whether it's Zombies or multiplayer I would be happy to join providing it fits in with the UK time.

It would be great for me to join this group as I can meet people within the HF community who have the same interests as me on the same console, We can hang around and have fun. I can be a competitive player or I can be a player who wants to mess around unless of course everyone agrees on this. I am happy to follow whoever anywhere :)

I am a very respectful person and I am very easy to get along with. I am 25 years old and I am very mature. I am a childish person or what you would consider a troll or a person who doesn't give a damn about rules. Rules are there for a reason and It must be respected.

To people who are new with gaming, If they are ever stuck I would happily give advice to guide them. CoD, GTA, I would happily assist anyone should they need anything (Your personal merryweather) haha.

I will respect the groups rules should they accept me in and I will be a very active person within the community.

Thank you for reading my application.
